CLAIMS OPEN FILES ARE INADEQUATE AND 'PHONY'

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Senator McCarthy tonight accused the Truman administration of "deceit and dishonesty" in dealing with his charges of Communists in government. McCarthy was accused in turn of failing to offer "any evidence whastoever" about wholesale disloyalty.

McCarthy, speaking at Chicago, assailed President Truman's action in making available to the investigators state department loyalty files on 81 cases cited by the Wisconsin Republican. He said these files were inadequate and "phony."

But Senator Myers of Pennsylvania, deputy democratic leader in the senate, said in a speech at Honesdale, Pa., that McCarthy had failed to come through with anything but "new charges" when investigators tried to pin down his allegations about state department employes.

Myers, who did not mention McCarthy by name, declared that the government's employes "have been given a clean bill of health after thorough investigation' during the government's four - year loyalty program which works "hand in glove" with the FBI.

"We can't afford," Myers said, "to lose our faith in the integrity of the department of state at this critical point in world affairs."

As for the loyalty files released to the investigators, the Pennsylvania Democrat said that the committee is studying them since it has "no evidence from those who have brought the charges."

McCarthy asserted that to do a real job of investigating, "all of the files must be broken open," and he mentioned the files of the FBI, civil service commission, central intelligence agency, army intelligence, navy intelligence and the secret service.

TRAINMAN AVERTS MAJOR DISASTER

What Could Have Been Piling Wreck Is Mere Sideswipe

DUNCANNON, Pa., May 6.—(AP)—A quick-thinking trainman saved the Pennsylvania railroad's Broadway Limited from a possible major disaster today.

The hurried telephone warning got the fast - moving passenger train off with a sideswipe mishap that killed no one and injured seven train workers.

An eastbound freight train jumped the tracks at 6:10 a. m. (E. S. T.) about 18 miles west of Harrisburg. Its engineer, B. H. Coyle, Harrisburg, wasted no time in using his inter-train telephone to warn the crew of the Broadway Limited coming up behind on an adjacent track.

Funeral For Mrs. Ben Taylor Slated Today

Mrs. Ben G. Taylor, 73, of West Monroe, died in a local hospital Saturday afternoon following a 16-day illness. She lived at 403 Mill street.

Mrs. Taylor had been a resident of West Monroe for 54 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church and the W.O.W.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Rosa Mae Taylor; five sons, Earl, West Monroe Fire Chief, Hilton, Pineville, Harvey, Albert, and Aubrey, all of West Monroe; six sisters and one brother.

The body will be at Peters Funeral Home until time for the service in West Monroe Methodist Church at 4 p.m. today. Rev. R. H. taples will officiate, assisted by Rev. Jaroy Weber. Interment will follow in Hasley cemetery under the direction of Peters Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be F. L. Stricklin, Jesse Heard, F. A. Brown, P. A. Colvin, F. C. McConnell, and Hugh Balfour.

RED ARTILLERY PELTS CHUSHAN

Nationalist Base Likely To Be Next Communist Invasion Target

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 6.—(AP)—Chushan Island, Nationalist base believed next on the Chinese Communists' invasion list, was pounded all day Friday by Red artillery, official Nationalist dispatches reported today.

The bombardment from Communist-held Kintang Island, three miles to the west, finally was silenced at 10 p.m. by combined Nationalist land, sea and air action, it was announced.

No details were given, but the Nationalists said the Red bombardment was blind and most shells fell into the sea.

One hundred miles southeast of Shanghai, Chushan is the base from which the Nationalists blockade the mainland and is considered here as the last stumbling block to a Red invasion of Formosa, 350 miles farther southeast.

In a speech released today but given Friday, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Chek said, "military preparations for the defense of Formosa are all complete," but added that some equipment still was needed and "much is to be desired in the political, economic and social mobilization."

Chiang's remarks were made at a meeting to commemorate the founding of the revolutionary government in Canton in 1921.

He reiterated his view that the present war was against "Russian imperialism" and "is not a problem of China alone but a question for the entire world."

Chiang said that last December he had overruled the advice of his military men to abandon Hainan Island because he felt its defense was important to all southeast Asia.

He said an "informal warning" had been given to the countries concerned, but they had not responded, and the Communist invasion in April forced the Nationalists to withdraw.

Ten-Point Challenge Is Hurled At Truman

G. O. P. Forces Move To Counter Effectiveness Of President's 16-State Campaign Junket; Call His Mission A Tour For Socialism

By John B. Owen

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Republicans threw ten broadside charges at the Truman administration today and challenged the President to answer them on his 16-state campaign tour which he begins tomorrow.

G.O.P. leaders already have laid plans to make a series of replies to the Truman speeches. They got in the first word with a statement accusing him of resisting attempts to "drive Communists from his administration."

The statement also laid the loss of China at the administration's door—"a major defeat in the cold war."

Its issuance underlined a new G.O.P. strategy of trying to nullify the Truman "give 'em hell" type of campaign which upset Republican calculations in 1948.

The statement came from National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson; Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, chairman of the senate campaign committee, and Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York, chairman of the house campaign committee.

It derided the president's official opening of the national congressional campaign as a "quarter million dollar cross-country junket" by our commuting president."

Mr. Truman's trip, the first of a series aiming at a Democratic victory next November, was described by the Republicans as a campaign for socialism. They declared that President Wilson in 1918 and President Roosevelt in 1938 tried to elect a congress and lost seats to the Republicans.

Reportedly Leaped From Old Traffic Bridge On Dare From Friends

Rescue operations were being conducted here last night for the body of a 26-year-old ex-paratrooper who leaped from the south traffic bridge on a dare from friends.

Firemen late last night had not recovered the body of Curtis Anderson, of Seigle Addition, west of West Monroe. He had been employed by a cab company in West Monroe.

West Monroe police gave the following account of the incident.

Shortly after 2:30 Anderson was crossing the bridge with a Mrs. Gloria Russell when they met two friends, Curtis Campbell and Loyd Tannehill, who were crossing the bridge to Monroe. After a brief conversation Anderson said he was going to jump over the railing into the river.

His friends thought he was joking and dared him to do so. "Not here," Anderson replied, "but wait until we get further down the bridge."

About middle ways across the bridge Anderson leaped and began to swim downstream. He went several hundred feet before apparently becoming exhausted and submerging.

Campbell said he jumped in the river to rescue Anderson but was stricken with cramps and had to turn back.

The witnesses to the jump notified West Monroe police who started an investigation and summoned firemen. West Monroe officers were later joined by Monroe police who assisted in the inquiry.

Tannehill said he tried to stop Anderson's plunge as he brushed by but failed.

Dragging operations continued late into the night with no report of success.

Commission Presses For Oil Import Curb

BILOXI, Miss., May 6.—(AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission urged the federal government today to take quick action to curb foreign oil imports.

The commission adopted a resolution calling on the state, commerce and defense departments, together with President Truman, to "put into action such measures as are needed to reduce oil imports to a more reasonable figure than is current today."

The commission attached figures tending to show that since the United States became a "net importer" of oil in 1948, the percentage of foreign oil to domestic production has increased greatly. Prior to 1948, the commission said, the U. S. exported more oil than it imported.

The commission also urged that "importing companies be required to make known their firm estimates of imports of oil and petroleum products for the next six months."

In another resolution the commission reaffirmed its earlier stand on tidelands, saying the oil rich submerged lands off the American coast should be the property of the states and not the federal government.

Nicaraguan President Dies In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—(AP)—The president of Nicaragua, Dr. Victor Roman Y Reyes, died at Hahnemann Hospital here tonight. He was 77 years of age, and suffered from cancer.

President Roman came to Hehnemann Hospital — where he had served his internship a half century ago—to undergo treatment for a cancerous ulcer of the stomach. He was operated on April 3.

Last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered yesterday.

NEW PHASE IN SOVIET GERMAN POLICY LOOMS

Kremlin Possibly Planning To Ease Up Occupational Controls

By Richard Kasischke

BERLIN, May 6. — (AP) — Berlin buzzed with reports tonight that the Russians are preparing some dramatic new step in their German policy.

These reports, none confirmed, hinted the Kremlin might be aiming to beat the Western powers to the punch on some such action as easing occupational controls, a move which would be popular with the Germans.

Other speculation was that Moscow might move to tie Soviet-controlled East Germany into its ring of cominform satellites in anticipation of West Germany's going into the Western European Council; reduce occupation forces or write a separate peace treaty for East Germany.

The outraged German reaction to the Russian announcement this week that the repatriation of German prisoners of war is ended suggested the Kremlin has a propaganda problem on its hands. Hope for the return of missing husbands, brothers and sons was killed in thousands of German families.

The West Berlin press said the three top men in East Germany's Communist government had been summoned to Moscow to receive "important new decisions" on German policy from the politburo, the ruling organ of Russia's Communist party.

GEORGE MADISON BAR PRESIDENT

Bastrop Attorney Chosen As Association Meeting Ends Here

George T. Madison of Bastrop was inducted into office as the new president of the Louisiana Bar Association at the concluding meeting of the group Saturday morning at the Hotel Frances.

The session which ended the two day convention of the legal group here also featured an address by Julian P. Alexander, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Mississippi. Alexander's talk, titled "A Word From Our Sponsors," stressed the necessity for a greater understanding and increasing consciousness of the rights guaranteed Americans under the constitution. "Democracy," said Judge Alexander, "depends on a conscience to guard it. It is not an organization, but an organism; not a catchword, but a crusade."

Alexander stressed the importance of the moral, more than the intellectual, view to the preservation of the liberties Americans enjoy. He said that democracy can not be neglected or taken for granted, for "the vultures of the Volga feed on the carcass of democracy."

The visiting jurist maintained that religion, and a respect for religious principles are the real safeguard of the democratic way of life.

Resolutions adopted by the association at the meeting included a statement by the group opposing the convention outlawing genocide now awaiting approval by the congress. The convention was approved in principle by the reporting committee, but approval of the document was withheld on the grounds that the statement

Bergman, Rossellini Arrive In Switzerland

LUGANO, Switzerland, May 6.—(AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini arrived here secretly yesterday, the Swiss telegraph agency reported today.

The brief agency report said the couple arrived "in strict incognito" and their precise whereabouts was not known. The report did not indicate whether their baby came with them or how long they intended to remain in Switzerland.

There have been reports, without confirmation, that they intend to be married in Switzerland.

Englishman Ices Down Argentine

NEW DELHI, India, May 6—(AP)—A tall, bearded Englishman was charged with assault today for pouring icewater on Argentine Ambassador Oscar Tascheret in a "Gay Paree" fete at the Imperial hotel last night.

Booked as J. K. Edwards, he gave bond to appear in court Monday.

Witnesses gave this account of the incident:

Edwards doused Tascheret with a pitcher of icewater and the ambassador replied by throwing the pitcher at Edwards, hitting him in the back. Edwards threw it back but missed.

Guests had souvenir berets and apache scarves and French police whistles. The Argentine's party kept on blowing whistles when other guests wished to hear a team of comedians.

When Edwards walked over and spoke a word to the ambassador, Tascheret blew a whistle in his face. Then followed the upending of the water pitcher.

The ambassador complained to the hotel manager. Police were called. They said the ambassador told them he feared a "further breach of the peace" but nevertheless Edwards was permitted his freedom.

WEST MONROE VOTING TUESDAY

Will Ballot To Complete List Of Aldermen; 4 Now In Race

West Monroe voters will go to the polls on Tuesday to elect two aldermen in a runoff primary.

The candidates are Jack Bagwel, owner of Bagwell's Gardens; B. H. Dyar, co-owner of the Larche & Dyar Department Store; John Peek McKee, co-owner of the McKee Radio Service; and J. N. (Cuz) Rogers, owner of the Red Bird Cab Company.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. All of the candidates said they are hopeful that a heavy vote will be cast.

Three members of the five-man board of aldermen have already been chosen. J. Y. Pipes was elected in the first primary on April 4, and Hugh Taylor and R. C. Jolissaint were automatically elected when Lee Hawkins and S. D. Kennedy withdrew from the second primary race.

All voters should vote for two candidates and two only, since to vote otherwise would spoil a ballot.

Nude Body Of Woman Found Mangled On Rails

FLINT, Mich., May 6.—(AP)—Police checked federal fingerprint files today in hopes of identifying a young woman whose nude and mangled body was found strewn in pieces along a railroad track. Genesee county sheriff's officers said they were seeking the whereabouts of a 23-year-old mother who lived near the scene of the grisly discovery.

She has been missing since 3 p.m. Friday.

Relatives of the missing wiman, Mrs. Maxine Huffman, viewed the remains but were unable to identify them positively.

Horrified crewmen of a Grand Trunk & Western freight train found the mangled pieces of the body at 10 a.m. today.

HAVOC THREATENS

Entire Population Of Canadian City May Be Forced To Evacuate

ARMED FORCES ORDERED INTO RELIEF OPERATIONS

WINNIPEG, Man., May 6.—(AP)— Red river flood waters swept over hundreds of blocks of this big grain center through broken dikes today and threatened to force evacuation of the city's entire 300,000 population.

All but one of the city's dikes were swept away when the river rose 1 1/3 feet in 24 hours, reaching a flood stage of 26 feet, 4 1/2 inches at 11 a.m.

The city council, at an emergency meeting, was told the river might rise another five feet.

Deputy City Engineer A. J. Taunton announced the city had abandoned all efforts to keep the waters back.

"Our sources are exhausted and things have gotten out of hand," he said. "It is no longer a question of defense but of relief."

J. W. Sanger, general manager of the Winnipeg Hydroelectric Company, was quoted by the Winnipeg Tribune as telling the city council:

"Total evacuation of Winnipeg may be necessary."

He said such a major evacuation of the population, in event of a further rise of five feet, would have to be handled on a "national organization basis."

During the day the flood claimed its first life in greater Winnipeg.

Lawson Ogg, volunteer flood fighter in the suburb of St. Vital, was caught in a wall of water which burst through a barricaded door into a house where he was working. He drowned.

It was the second fatality in three weeks of severe floods sweeping the Red river valley.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, general officer commanding the army's prairie command, was appointed director of flood relief throughout the valley. This did not mean martial law, however. Civilian authorities remained responsible for law and order.

The Royal Canadian air force sent 120 men from its base here to aid in flood work and called about 80 reserve airmen to duty.

Thousands were evacuated from homes along the swift-running river. Hotels turned their dining rooms into dormitories for refugees. The R. C. A. F. station at Stevenson Field, well removed from flood danger, prepared to handle 500 refugees in its hangars.

About 200 patients were removed from two municipal hospitals in the Riverview section of Fort Rouge.

Street car, bus service and telephone communications were disrupted in sections, one bridge was knocked out and another was opened to traffic only intermittently.

Aircraft were pressed into service to fly in bedding, blankets, rubber boots and other supplies from Calgary, Halifax, N. S., Ottawa and other places. Two amphibious troop carriers were en route from Ontario army camps.

A new flood menace was reported by engineers at Grand Forks, N. D., who said rains the last few days were raising headwaters of the rambunctious Red river sharply.

City Government To Be In Hands Of Students

High school students from Neville and Ouachita will take over the reins of city government next Friday, it was announced yesterday by a spokesman for the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is promoting the idea for the second year.

May 12 has been designated as Jaycee Student Government Day.

Students will go to the polls to elect their representatives for the posts. The election will conform as much as possible to a real city election, including registration, nomination of candidates and campaigning.

The purpose of the government day is: to develop an interest in local government among high schools students to the extent that this interest will be retained in later life; to arouse in all citizens a feeling of personal concern about local government affairs; to demonstrate to office holders that their efforts receive thoughtful attention, and also bring to their minds the importance of training youths in citizenship to encourage Jaycees to be more active in matters in local government.

Tot Found Unharmed, But Exhausted; Lost Two Days

FORT LEWIS, Wash., May 6.—(AP)—Three-year-old Tommy Jenkins, sought for two days by thousands of soldiers and civilians, was found today, tired and dirty but apparently unharmed.

His 45-hour absence was unexplained. Tommy was put to bed immediately and soon was sound asleep.

When found all he could say was:

"I'm hungry."

The army provost marshal theorized the boy had been kidnaped and returned but an army doctor and the boy's father doubted it.

Maj. Thomas H. Lane, a doctor at Madigan general hospital where Tommy was taken immediately after being found, said the boy's condition indicated he had been lost.

His legs were red and slightly swollen, he was hungry and his body was red as though from exposure, Major Lane said.

The youngster and the Irish setter dog with which he disappeared were found on the enlisted men's beach at American Lake, 1,500 yards from his home.

Major Artir M. Heape, the provost marshal, based his belief of a possible kidnaping on the child's relatively excellent condition.

The low temperatures during the 45-hours the boy was gone, coupled with sporadic rainfall which drenched the area, were cited by Heape as possible support of the kidnap theory.

Near the spot where Tommy was found were a number of bath houses and small buildings used by the army personnel. He could have been sheltered in one of the buildings during his absence, although they were supposed to have been thoroughly searched.

"We know he could not have been near the spot where he was found," Major Heape said, "we had searched every inch of that ground many times."

The boy's parents, Sgt. and Mrs. William H. Jenkins, were reunited with the boy briefly before he was put to bed.

"Bless him, bless him. Mama's darling," Mrs. Jenkins cried with relief

The father, a little calmer, said he did not believe anyone would try to kidnap the boy for the money they could get out of it.

Middleground Excels All Contenders In 76th Derby

By Gayle Talbot

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, May 6.—(AP)—Middleground, a chestnut racer from the fabulous King Ranch in Texas, came arunning in the stretch at Churchill Downs today to outgame everything that challenged him and win the 76th Kentucky Derby with something to spare.

The son of Bold Venture, never in the early contentoin, proved himself a better colt than Your Host, the California favorite, Hill Prince, the Virginia threat, and all the others of 13 rivals when the chips were down.

He ran the classic mile and a quarter in two minutes, one and three-fifth seconds, only one-fifth of a second off the derby record set by the immortal Whirlaway in 1941.

He rewarded R. J. Kleberg, Jr. owner of King Ranch, with $92,650, and gladdened the hearts of the great Texas contingent in the crowd of close to 100,000. Hill Prince finished second, Mr. Trouble third and Sunglow fourth in a field which was strung out for considerable distance.

Hill Prince ridden by Eddie Arcaro, made a stubborn run at Middleground within the last 100 yards, but he couldn't take him. Only two weeks ago they exactly reversed the order of today's finish in the $40,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Your Host, the pride of the west coast, went out in front as he was expected to do. The fleet-footed winner of the Santa Anita Derby dashed into the lead in the first run down the stretch and looked like the probable winner approaching the mile.

But then he failed to live up to the hopes for him, and as the big field came into view around

Shortly after 2:30 Anderson was crossing the bridge with a Mrs. Gloria Russell when they met two friends, Curtis Campbell and Loyd Tannehill, who were crossing the bridge to Monroe. After a brief conversation Anderson said he was going to jump over the railing into the river.

His friends thought he was joking and dared him to do so. "Not here," Anderson replied, "but wait until we get further down the bridge."

About middle ways across the bridge Anderson leaped and began to swim downstream. He went several hundred feet before apparently becoming exhausted and submerging.

Campbell said he jumped in the river to rescue Anderson but was stricken with cramps and had to turn back.

The witnesses to the jump notified West Monroe police who started an investigation and summoned firemen. West Monroe officers were later joined by Monroe police who assisted in the inquiry.

Tannehill said he tried to stop Anderson's plunge as he brushed by but failed.

Dragging operations continued late into the night with no report of success.

Commission Presses For Oil Import Curb

BILOXI, Miss., May 6.—(AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission urged the federal government today to take quick action to curb foreign oil imports.

The commission adopted a resolution calling on the state, commerce and defense departments, together with President Truman, to "put into action such measures as are needed to reduce oil imports to a more reasonable figure than is current today."

The commission attached figures tending to show that since the United States became a "net importer" of oil in 1948, the percentage of foreign oil to domestic production has increased greatly. Prior to 1948, the commission said, the U. S. exported more oil than it imported.

The commission also urged that "importing companies be required to make known their firm estimates of imports of oil and petroleum products for the next six months."

In another resolution the commission reaffirmed its earlier stand on tidelands, saying the oil rich submerged lands off the American coast should be the property of the states and not the federal government.

Nicaraguan President Dies In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—(AP)—The president of Nicaragua, Dr. Victor Roman Y Reyes, died at Hahnemann Hospital here tonight. He was 77 years of age, and suffered from cancer.

President Roman came to Hehnemann Hospital — where he had served his internship a half century ago—to undergo treatment for a cancerous ulcer of the stomach. He was operated on April 3.

Last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered yesterday.

Tot Found Unharmed, But Exhausted; Lost Two Days

FORT LEWIS, Wash., May 6.—(AP)—Three-year-old Tommy Jenkins, sought for two days by thousands of soldiers and civilians, was found today, tired and dirty but apparently unharmed.

His 45-hour absence was unexplained. Tommy was put to bed immediately and soon was sound asleep.

When found all he could say was:

"I'm hungry."

The army provost marshal theorized the boy had been kidnaped and returned but an army doctor and the boy's father doubted it.

Maj. Thomas H. Lane, a doctor at Madigan general hospital where Tommy was taken immediately after being found, said the boy's condition indicated he had been lost.

His legs were red and slightly swollen, he was hungry and his body was red as though from exposure, Major Lane said.

The youngster and the Irish setter dog with which he disappeared were found on the enlisted men's beach at American Lake, 1,500 yards from his home.

Major Artir M. Heape, the provost marshal, based his belief of a possible kidnaping on the child's relatively excellent condition.

The low temperatures during the 45-hours the boy was gone, coupled with sporadic rainfall which drenched the area, were cited by Heape as possible support of the kidnap theory.

Near the spot where Tommy was found were a number of bath houses and small buildings used by the army personnel. He could have been sheltered in one of the buildings during his absence, although they were supposed to have been thoroughly searched.

"We know he could not have been near the spot where he was found," Major Heape said, "we had searched every inch of that ground many times."

The boy's parents, Sgt. and Mrs. William H. Jenkins, were reunited with the boy briefly before he was put to bed.

"Bless him, bless him. Mama's darling," Mrs. Jenkins cried with relief

The father, a little calmer, said he did not believe anyone would try to kidnap the boy for the money they could get out of it.

NEW PHASE IN SOVIET GERMAN POLICY LOOMS

By Richard Kasischke

BERLIN, May 6. — (AP) — Berlin buzzed with reports tonight that the Russians are preparing some dramatic new step in their German policy.

These reports, none confirmed, hinted the Kremlin might be aiming to beat the Western powers to the punch on some such action as easing occupational controls, a move which would be popular with the Germans.

Other speculation was that Moscow might move to tie Soviet-controlled East Germany into its ring of cominform satellites in anticipation of West Germany's going into the Western European Council; reduce occupation forces or write a separate peace treaty for East Germany.

The outraged German reaction to the Russian announcement this week that the repatriation of German prisoners of war is ended suggested the Kremlin has a propaganda problem on its hands. Hope for the return of missing husbands, brothers and sons was killed in thousands of German families.

The West Berlin press said the three top men in East Germany's Communist government had been summoned to Moscow to receive "important new decisions" on German policy from the politburo, the ruling organ of Russia's Communist party.

GEORGE MADISON BAR PRESIDENT

Bastrop Attorney Chosen As Association Meeting Ends Here

George T. Madison of Bastrop was inducted into office as the new president of the Louisiana Bar Association at the concluding meeting of the group Saturday morning at the Hotel Frances.

The session which ended the two day convention of the legal group here also featured an address by Julian P. Alexander, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Mississippi. Alexander's talk, titled "A Word From Our Sponsors," stressed the necessity for a greater understanding and increasing consciousness of the rights guaranteed Americans under the constitution. "Democracy," said Judge Alexander, "depends on a conscience to guard ti. It is not an organization, but an organism; not a catchword, but a crusade."

Alexander stressed the importance of the moral, more than the intellectual, view to the preservation of the liberties Americans enjoy. He said that democracy can not be neglected or taken for granted, for "the vultures of the Volga feed on the carcass of democracy."

The visiting jurist maintained that religion, and a respect for religious principles are the real safeguard of the democratic way of life.

Resolutions adopted by the association at the meeting included a statement by the group opposing the convention outlawing genocide now awaiting approval by the congress. The convention was approved in principle by the reporting committee, but approval of the document was withheld on the grounds that the statement

Bergman, Rossellini Arrive In Switzerland

LUGANO, Switzerland, May 6.—(AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini arrived here secretly yesterday, the Swiss telegraph agency reported today.

The brief agency report said the couple arrived "in strict incognito" and their precise whereabouts was not known. The report did not indicate whether their baby came with them or how long they intended to remain in Switzerland.

There have been reports, without confirmation, that they intend to be married in Switzerland.

Twenty-two persons were injured in Pittsburgh, Pa., when a bolt of lightning struck this trolley on a downtown street. It shattered windows and started a fire. Forty passengers were aboard.

Englishman Ices Down Argentine

NEW DELHI, India, May 6—(AP)—A tall, bearded Englishman was charged with assault today for pouring icewater on Argentine Ambassador Oscar Tascheret in a "Gay Paree" fete at the Imperial hotel last night.

Booked as J. K. Edwards, he gave bond to appear in court Monday.

Witnesses gave this account of the incident:

Edwards doused Tascheret with a pitcher of icewater and the ambassador replied by throwing the pitcher at Edwards, hitting him in the back. Edwards threw it back but missed.

Guests had souvenir berets and apache scarves and French police whistles. The Argentine's party kept on blowing whistles when other guests wished to hear a team of comedians.

When Edwards walked over and spoke a word to the ambassador, Tascheret blew a whistle in his face. Then followed the upending of the water pitcher.

The ambassador complained to the hotel manager. Police were called. They said the ambassador told them he feared a "further breach of the peace" but nevertheless Edwards was permitted his freedom.

WEST MONROE VOTING TUESDAY

Will Ballot To Complete List Of Aldermen; 4 Now In Race

West Monroe voters will go to the polls on Tuesday to elect two aldermen in a runoff primary.

The candidates are Jack Bagwel, owner of Bagwell's Gardens; B. H. Dyar, co-owner of the Larche & Dyar Department Store; John Peek McKee, co-owner of the McKee Radio Service; and J. N. (Cuz) Rogers, owner of the Red Bird Cab Company.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. All of the candidates said they are hopeful that a heavy vote will be cast.

Three members of the five-man board of aldermen have already been chosen. J. Y. Pipes was elected in the first primary on April 4, and Hugh Taylor and R. C. Jolissaint were automatically elected when Lee Hawkins and S. D. Kennedy withdrew from the second primary race.

All voters should vote for two candidates and two only, since to vote otherwise would spoil a ballot.

Nude Body Of Woman Found Mangled On Rails

FLINT, Mich., May 6.—(AP)—Police checked federal fingerprint files today in hopes of identifying a young woman whose nude and mangled body was found strewn in pieces along a railroad track. Genesee county sheriff's officers said they were seeking the whereabouts of a 23-year-old mother who lived near the scene of the grisly discovery.

She has been missing since 3 p.m. Friday.

Relatives of the missing wiman, Mrs. Maxine Huffman, viewed the remains but were unable to identify them positively.

Horrified crewmen of a Grand Trunk & Western freight train found the mangled pieces of the body at 10 a.m. today.

By Gayle Talbot

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, May 6.—(AP)—Middleground, a chestnut racer from the fabulous King Ranch in Texas, came a-running in the stretch at Churchill Downs today to outgame everything that challenged him and win the 76th Kentucky Derby with something to spare.

The son of Bold Venture, never in the early contentoin, proved himself a better colt than Your Host, the California favorite, Hill Prince, the Virginia threat, and all the others of 13 rivals when the chips were down.

He ran the classic mile and a quarter in two minutes, one and three-fifth seconds, only one-fifth of a second off the derby record set by the immortal Whirlaway in 1941.

He rewarded R. J. Kleberg, Jr. owner of King Ranch, with $92,650, and gladdened the hearts of the great Texas contingent in the crowd of close to 100,000. Hill Prince finished second, Mr. Trouble third and Sunglow fourth in a field which was strung out for considerable distance.

Hill Prince ridden by Eddie Arcaro, made a stubborn run at Middleground within the last 100 yards, but he couldn't take him. Only two weeks ago they exactly reversed the order of today's finish in the $40,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Your Host, the pride of the west coast, went out in front as he was expected to do. The fleet-footed winner of the Santa Anita Derby dashed into the lead in the first run down the stretch and looked like the probable winner approaching the mile.

But then he failed to live up to the hopes for him, and as the big field came into view around

HAVOC THREATENS

Entire Population Of Canadian City May Be Forced To Evacuate

ARMED FORCES ORDERED INTO RELIEF OPERATIONS

WINNIPEG, Man., May 6.—(AP)— Red river flood waters swept over hundreds of blocks of this big grain center through broken dikes today and threatened to force evacuation of the city's entire 300,000 population.

All but one of the city's dikes were swept away when the river rose 1 1/3 feet in 24 hours, reaching a flood stage of 26 feet, 4 1/2 inches at 11 a.m.

The city council, at an emergency meeting, was told the river might rise another five feet.

Deputy City Engineer A. J. Taunton announced the city had abandoned all efforts to keep the waters back.

"Our sources are exhausted and things have gotten out of hand," he said. "It is no longer a question of defense but of relief."

J. W. Sanger, general manager of the Winnipeg Hydroelectric Company, was quoted by the Winnipeg Tribune as telling the city council:

"Total evacuation of Winnipeg may be necessary."

He said such a major evacuation of the population, in event of a further rise of five feet, would have to be handled on a "national organization basis."

During the day the flood claimed its first life in greater Winnipeg.

Lawson Ogg, volunteer flood fighter in the suburb of St. Vital, was caught in a wall of water which burst through a barricaded door into a house where he was working. He drowned.

It was the second fatality in three weeks of severe floods sweeping the Red river valley.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, general officer commanding the army's prairie command, was appointed director of flood relief throughout the valley. This did not mean martial law, however. Civilian authorities remained responsible for law and order.

The Royal Canadian air force sent 120 men from its base here to aid in flood work and called about 80 reserve airmen to duty.

Thousands were evacuated from homes along the swift-running river. Hotels turned their dining rooms into dormitories for refugees. The R. C. A. F. station at Stevenson Field, well removed from flood danger, prepared to handle 500 refugees in its hangars.

About 200 patients were removed from two municipal hospitals in the Riverview section of Fort Rouge.

Street car, bus service and telephone communications were disrupted in sections, one bridge was knocked out and another was opened to traffic only intermittently.

Aircraft were pressed into service to fly in bedding, blankets, rubber boots and other supplies from Calgary, Halifax, N. S., Ottawa and other places. Two amphibious troop carriers were en route from Ontario army camps.

A new flood menace was reported by engineers at Grand Forks, N. D., who said rains the last few days were raising headwaters of the rambunctious Red river sharply.

City Government To Be In Hands Of Students

High school students from Neville and Ouachita will take over the reins of city government next Friday, it was announced yesterday by a spokesman for the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is promoting the idea for the second year.

May 12 has been designated as Jaycee Student Government Day.

Students will go to the polls to elect their representatives for the posts. The election will conform as much as possible to a real city election, including registration, nomination of candidates and campaigning.

The purpose of the government day is: to develop an interest in local government among high schools students to the extent that this interest will be retained in later life; to arouse in all citizens a feeling of personal concern about local government affairs; to demonstrate to office holders that their efforts receive thoughtful attention, and also bring to their minds the importance of training youths in citizenship to encourage Jaycees to be more active in matters in local government.

France Will Ask For U. S. Arms To Fight Guerrillas

By Carter L. Davidson

PARIS, May 6.—(AP)—France will have plenty to say to U. S. Secretary of State Acheson about the cold war in Europe, upon his arrival tomorrow, but wants first of all quick help in her shooting war against Communist-led guerrillas in Indo-China.

French Communists called today for a "peace demonstration" during Acheson's two-day visit to this city.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman is expected to tell Acheson that France needs prompt and plentiful supplies of guns to win the four-year old war against the guerrillas of Ho Chi Minh.

If the aid is not sent quickly, French diplomats say, there is a danger that Russian-supported southeast Asian Communist fighters may sweep through all of Indo-China and imperil both Thailand (Siam) and Burma.

Acheson is to confer in Paris also with his top advisors on Germany. But the Acheson-Schuman talks are expected to stick close to the worsening situation in southeast Asia.

The United States already has promised some military aid to Indo-China, but France says it is both too little and too slow.

France has some 120,000 troops, from her regular army, colonial divisions and the famed foreign legion, fighting the guerrillas in the jungles and rice paddies. The war cost is estimated at $500,000,000 a year.

Ho has recently been getting help from Red China across his northern border, the French say. Russia and other Communist nations have recognized Ho's jungle regime as the gvoernment of Vietnam, one of the three states of Indo-China. France has installed former Emporor Boa Dai as chief of state and promised Vietnam eventual independence as a member of the French union.

France may promise to speed up this independence for Vietnam and the sister states of Laos and Cambodia in return for swifter military help.

Communist victories in China, followed by the recognition of Ho by Soviet orbit, changed the war in Indo-China from a colonial security measure to a "war against Communist world domination," a foreign office informant said.

France also will insist to Acheson that all military aid given for the fight be channeled through French hands rather than Indo-Chinese.

Presbyterians For Rehearsal

A rehearsal will be held at the First Presbyterian Church this morning at 9:30 o'clock for the formal opening of the new educational building on Sunday May 11.

On the coming Sunday, the fine new building will be placed in use for the first time and the exercises today are to comprise a sort of "dress rehearsal" for the event itself.

All are asked to be on the scene at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

VALLEY FORGE TRIP ALLURES

Boy Scouts Look With Deep Enthusiasm On Jamboree Outing

Arrangements are now being completed for the Ouachita Valley Council Boy Scout Jamboree contingent to have a very interesting and educational tour as they travel to the National Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., this summer.

J. W. Webster, who is chairman of the countil's jamboree committee, stated yesterday that almost all travel arrangements had been made for the Scouts of the Ouachita Valley Council who will make up Louisiana's largest jamboree contingent. Webster said that the group would leave Monroe by bus on Sunday, June 25, and return to Monroe on July 10. During this period, Scouts will be at Valley Forge for 10 days and visit many other places of scenic and historic interest.

It has also been announced that the Attakapas Council, of Alexandria, will have its contingent of 15 Scouts and one leader join the Ouachita Valley Council Scouts for the trip.

The route of travel for the jamboree Scouts will be highway 11, through the states of Tennessee and Virginia. This is one of the most scenic routes in the eastern part of the United States. Stops are to be made at Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, National Bridge, Virginia, one of the caverns in Virginia, and Gettysburg National Military Park in Pennsylvania.

On the return trip from the jamboree, boys who are fortunate enough to go will visit Washington, D. C. Congressman Passman has made up the itinerary for the group for its two-day visit to the nation's capital. Places to be seen here include the federal bureau of investigation, bureau of printing and engraving, the Capitol, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Robert E. Lee's home, Mount Vernon, Smithsonian Institute, and the Library of Congress.

The Jamboree Scouts will be away from home three Sundays, so religious services are being provided for them while they are away. Services will be held at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on June 25 before the group leaves, and at Bristol, Virginia, on Sunday morning, July 9, on the return trip. At the jamboree, special religious services will be held for all major faiths.

Most patrol and troop equipment for the jamboree has now been obtained and council officials are now formulating plans for the pre-jamboree training camp to be held at Camp Ki-Ro-Li June 18-23. Scouts who are to attend the jamboree have also been getting personal equipment ready for the event.

The jamboree committee urges that all boys going to the jamboree pay their entire jamboree fee by May 25. After this date, alternate Scouts will be substituted for those who have not paid their fees.

'Can't Happen To Me' You Say

"That can't happen to me!"

How many times have you said that?

The letter below is a fictional one, but it is typical of the many received by your local Red Cross Chapter. Go ahead and read it! Maybe after doing so, you'll think twice before saying again, "That can't happen to me.

"Dear Red Cross,

"My name is John Doe. I have never before paid much attention to the Red Cross drive because I guess I never could see why I should contribute since I never could see how the Red Cross would ever be able to help me.

"Believe me, I know different now! My family and I were made homeless by the flood waters of a couple of months ago and if it hadn't been for the Red Cross, we probably would be yet.

"They gave us clothing to replace our's that had been lost in the flood and they found us a home in which we could live until the waters went down and we were able to move back into our own little house. Yes, they fed us and clothed us and gave us a home. . . . All I can say is "God bless the Red Cross and thank God for the Red Cross.

"Please accept the enclosed as my contribution to your wonderful organization and the marvelous work it is doing for us Americans. —And believe me, I'm one who will never again say, "Oh! That can never happen to me."

"God Bless You All,"
"Joh: Doe".

The goal for Ouachita parish has been set at $38,500. That's less than 50 cents per person. Don't you consider each member of your family worth at least 50 cents?

We of the Red Cross aren't asking you to give till it hurts. We're just asking you to give so that when and if disaster should strike, we can make sure it doesn't hurt you, your family and your neighbors!

Over 200 firms and many individuals have yet to be contacted in the current Red Cross fund raising campaign. Monday and Tuesday, May 8 and 9 have been set aside for this purpose.

Syracuse University's Archbold Stadium will have 6,000 new steel seats in time for the fall football opener against Rutgers, Sept. 23.

School Lunches Cost La. Four Times As Much As Rest Of Nation Combined

SHREVEPORT, May 6. —(Special)— The state of Louisiana spends nearly four times as much of its own public revenue annually on free or part-free school lunches as do all of the other 47 states together, according to a nationwide survey made by The Shreveport Times, details of which will be published in Sunday's editions.

The Times sent a questionnaire on school lunch finances to the state superintendents of education of the 48 states. Replies were received from every state, in most cases over the signature of the state lunch program director.

A tabulation of the replies shows that where the Louisiana state legislature has appropriated $9,716,277 for distribution to parish school lunch programs for the current school year, the legislatures of the other 47 states combined have put only $2,611,000 of state money into their programs. Both figures are exclusive of federal cash aid, which the states reported as totalling about $60,000,000 and of federal aid in commodities. Louisiana received $1,745,000 in cash federal aid for school lunches this year, and $4,839,000 in commodities (wholesale prices) from federal agencies, making a total of more than $16,300,000 of federal and state cash and commodities put into the Louisiana program.

The Times also summarized a statement from the Houston, Texas, school board which has rejected more than $1,000,000 a year in federal cash and commodity aid to handle its school lunches with local contributed funds, with only needy children certified by welfare agencies included. This report showed that with a school population of 90,000 Houston finds it necessary to feed an average of only 1,500 children a day at an annual cost of less than $30,000. The Times pointed out that there is no way of knowing whether the Houston ratio of needy to total school population would apply in Louisiana, but that if it did the total cost for school lunches for the needy in this state would be only about $165,000 per year as compared to the present total of more than $16,300,000.

The Times made its survey because of efforts expected in the session of the state legislature opening tomorrow night to confine future state school lunch appropriations to lunches for needy children only, instead of attempting to give free or part-free lunches to children of rich and poor alike, as at present. State Senator C. E. Barham of Ruston and State Representative Jesse Verrett of Lake Charles, the latter a high school principal, have announced they will lead such efforts. Some members of Louisiana's present state administration have taken the opposite view by favoring entirely free lunches for every school child.

Only five of the 47 state departments of education outside of Louisiana reported any demand at all in their states for an all-free lunch program for all children, regardless of economic need. Only five reported any present demand for all-free lunches confined to needy children, but it was specified by a number of states that their present school lunch program, whether exclusively with federal funds and commodities or with additional state funds, is aimed at filling that field.

The five states reporting some demand—none reported much—for all-free lunches for all children were: Arizona, California, Kansas ("slight"), Nebraska and South Carolina. New Mexico officials answered "uncertain" to the question on this point. California, Maryland, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and South Carolina reported some demand for all-free lunches for the needy only. Virginia reported "not much demand," but that lunches for the needy already are supplied by the welfare department.

In the states where state appropriations have been added to the federal funds for school lunches, Illinois ranks second to Louisiana's $9,716,277 with an appropriation this year of $1,850,000. Its federal cash aid was given as $2,339,160 against $11,745,000 for Louisiana. Illinois school population was given as 1,500,000 compared to 500,000 for Louisiana.

Utah reported $480,000 in state appropriated school lunch funds against $330,000 federal cash aid, with a school population of 150,586. Minnesota added $200,000 in state funds to $1,100,000 in federal cash for lunches for a school population of 484,766. Rhode Island added $80,000 state money to $220,903 federal money for 131,928 students. California reported $1,000 state funds without an explanation of the unusual sum. Federal aid was $1,674,312 for 1,580,221 students.

New York state listed another odd figure—$2,900—in state funds added to $3,395,902 federal cash for a school population of 1,874,816.

The Times is publishing a tabulation of the answers from all 48 states to eight questions on school lunch programs which were included in the questionnaire. Copies will be sent to all members of the state legislature for whatever use they wish.

SPRING STORMS RIP E. CANADA

Multi-Million Dollar Trail Of Destruction Left Behind

By The Associated Press

A vicious spring storm roared off into eastern Canada Saturday, leaving a trail of multi-million dollar damage, at least eleven persons dead and scores injured in the central United States.

The winds, which reached hurricane force in some places, battered a nine state area Friday and throughout the night.

Three persons were killed in both Iowa and Wisconsin, two in Illinois and one each in Nebraska, Texas and Ohio.

Cooler temperatures followed in the wake of the storm and locally heavy rain or snow fall fell in North Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and the Lake Superior region.

The winds, which reached up to 100 miles an hour in gusts in a few spots pounded the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

The gales flattened buildings, uprooted trees, smashed windows and ripped out communications. Damage in Superior, Wis., alone was estimated at several million dollars.

The winds followed on the heels of Thursday night's tornadoes in Texas and Oklahoma which killed one person and injured several others.

France Will Ask For U. S. Arms To Fight Guerrillas

By Carter L. Davidson

PARIS, May 6.—(AP)—France will have plenty to say to U. S. Secretary of State Acheson about the cold war in Europe, upon his arrival tomorrow, but wants first of all quick help in her shooting war against Communist-led guerrillas in Indo-China.

French Communists called today for a "peace demonstration" during Acheson's two-day visit to this city.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman is expected to tell Acheson that France needs prompt and plentiful supplies of guns to win the four-year old war against the guerrillas of Ho Chi Minh.

If the aid is not sent quickly, French diplomats say, there is a danger that Russian-supported southeast Asian Communist fighters may sweep through all of Indo-China and imperil both Thailand (Siam) and Burma.

Acheson is to confer in Paris also with his top advisors on Germany. But the Acheson-Schuman talks are expected to stick close to the worsening situation in southeast Asia.

The United States already has promised some military aid to Indo-China, but France says it is both too little and too slow.

France has some 120,000 troops, from her regular army, colonial divisions and the famed foreign legion, fighting the guerrillas in the jungles and rice paddies. The war cost is estimated at $500,000,000 a year.

Ho has recently been getting help from Red China across his northern border, the French say. Russia and other Communist nations have recognized Ho's jungle regime as the gvoernment of Vietnam, one of the three states of Indo-China. France has installed former Emporor Boa Dai as chief of state and promised Vietnam eventual independence as a member of the French union.

France may promise to speed up this independence for Vietnam and the sister states of Laos and Cambodia in return for swifter military help.

Communist victories in China, followed by the recognition of Ho by Soviet orbit, changed the war in Indo-China from a colonial security measure to a "war against Communist world domination," a foreign office informant said.

France also will insist to Acheson that all military aid given for the fight be channeled through French hands rather than Indo-Chinese.

Presbyterians For Rehearsal

A rehearsal will be held at the First Presbyterian Church this morning at 9:30 o'clock for the formal opening of the new educational building on Sunday May 11.

On the coming Sunday, the fine new building will be placed in use for the first time and the exercises today are to comprise a sort of "dress rehearsal" for the event itself.

All are asked to be on the scene at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Stubbs Memorial Class To Meet

Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible Class will have its usual Sunday meeting at 9:45 a.m. in the Paramount theater today. The president of the class is James Jones and the speaker for today, John (Jake) Humble, who always delights with his instructive talks.

There will be the usual good music by Leon Hammonds.

MONROE TEMPLE TO MEET

Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in Castle Hall, 127 1/2 St. John street. All members urged to attend.

Boy Scouts Look With Deep Enthusiasm On Jamboree Outing

Arrangements are now being completed for the Ouachita Valley Council Boy Scout Jamboree contingent to have a very interesting and educational tour as they travel to the National Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., this summer.

J. W. Webster, who is chairman of the countil's jamboree committee, stated yesterday that almost all travel arrangements had been made for the Scouts of the Ouachita Valley Council who will make up Louisiana's largest jamboree contingent. Webster said that the group would leave Monroe by bus on Sunday, June 25 and return to Monroe on July 10. During this period, Scouts will be at Valley Forge for 10 days and visit many other places of scenic and historic interest.

It has also been announced that the Attakapas Council, of Alexandria, will have its contingent of 15 Scouts and one leader join the Ouachita Valley Council Scouts for the trip.

The route of travel for the jamboree Scouts will be highway 11, through the states of Tennessee and Virginia. This is one of the most scenic routes in the eastern part of the United States. Stops are to be made at Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, National Bridge, Virginia, one of the caverns in Virginia, and Gettysburg National Military Park in Pennsylvania.

On the return trip from the jamboree, boys who are fortunate enough to go will visit Washington, D. C. Congressman Passman has made up the itinerary for the group for its two-day visit to the nation's capital. Places to be seen here include the federal bureau of investigation, bureau of printing and engraving, the Capitol, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Robert E. Lee's home, Mount Vernon, Smithsonian Institute, and the Library of Congress.

The Jamboree Scouts will be away from home three Sundays, so religious services are being provided for them while they are away. Services will be held at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on June 25 before the group leaves, and at Bristol, Virginia, on Sunday morning, July 9, on the return trip. At the jamboree, special religious services will be held for all major faiths.

Most patrol and troop equipment for the jamboree has now been obtained and council officials are now formulating plans for the pre-jamboree training camp to be held at Camp Ki-Ro-Li June 18-23. Scouts who are to attend the jamboree have also been getting personal equipment ready for the event.

The jamboree committee urges that all boys going to the jamboree pay their entire jamboree fee by May 25. After this date, alternate Scouts will be substituted for those who have not paid their fees.

'Can't Happen To Me' You Say

"That can't happen to me!"

How many times have you said that?

The letter below is a fictional one, but it is typical of the many received by your local Red Cross Chapter. Go ahead and read it! Maybe after doing so, you'll think twice before saying again, "That can't happen to me.

"Dear Red Cross,

"My name is John Doe. I have never before paid much attention to the Red Cross drive because I guess I never could see why I should contribute since I never could see how the Red Cross would ever be able to help me.

"Believe me, I know different now! My family and I were made homeless by the flood waters of a couple of months ago and if it hadn't been for the Red Cross, we probably would be yet.

"They gave us clothing to replace our's that had been lost in the flood and they found us a home in which we could live until the waters went down and we were able to move back into our own little house. Yes, they fed us and clothed us and gave us a home. . . . All I can say is "God bless the Red Cross and thank God for the Red Cross.

"Please accept the enclosed as my contribution to your wonderful organization and the marvelous work it is doing for us Americans. —And believe me, I'm one who will never again say, "Oh! That can never happen to me."

"God Bless You All,"
"John Doe".

The goal for Ouachita parish has been set at $38,500. That's less than 50 cents per person. Don't you consider each member of your family worth at least 50 cents?

We of the Red Cross aren't asking you to give till it hurts. We're just asking you to give so that when and if disaster should strike, we can make sure it doesn't hurt you, your family and your neighbors!

Over 200 firms and many individuals have yet to be contacted in the current Red Cross fund raising campaign. Monday and Tuesday, May 8 and 9 have been set aside for this purpose.

Syracuse University's Archbold Stadium will have 6,000 new steel seats in time for the fall football opener against Rutgers, Sept. 23.

School Lunches Cost La. Four Times As Much As Rest Of Nation Combined

SHREVEPORT, May 6. —(Special)— The state of Louisiana spends nearly four times as much of its own public revenue annually on free or part-free school lunches as do all of the other 47 states together, according to a nationwide survey made by The Shreveport Times, details of which will be published in Sunday's editions.

The Times sent a questionnaire on school lunch finances to the state superintendents of education of the 48 states. Replies were received from every state, in most cases over the signature of the state lunch program director.

A tabulation of the replies shows that where the Louisiana state legislature has appropriated $9,716,277 for distribution to parish school lunch programs for the current school year, the legislatures of the other 47 states combined have put only $2,611,000 of state money into their programs. Both figures are exclusive of federal cash aid, which the states reported as totalling about $60,000,000 and of federal aid in commodities. Louisiana received $1,745,000 in cash federal aid for school lunches this year, and $4,839,000 in commodities (wholesale prices) from federal agencies, making a total of more than $16,300,000 of federal and state cash and commodities put into the Louisiana program.

The Times also summarized a statement from the Houston, Texas, school board which has rejected more than $1,000,000 a year in federal cash and commodity aid to handle its school lunches with local contributed funds, with only needy children certified by welfare agencies included. This report showed that with a school population of 90,000 Houston finds it necessary to feed an average of only 1,500 children a day at an annual cost of less than $30,000. The Times pointed out that there is no way of knowing whether the Houston ratio of needy to total school population would apply in Louisiana, but that if it did the total cost for school lunches for the needy in this state would be only about $165,000 per year as compared to the present total of more than $16,300,000.

The Times made its survey because of efforts expected in the session of the state legislature opening tomorrow night to confine future state school lunch appropriations to lunches for needy children only, instead of attempting to give free or part-free lunches to children of rich and poor alike, as at present. State Senator C. E. Barham of Ruston and State Representative Jesse Verrett of Lake Charles, the latter a high school principal, have announced they will lead such efforts. Some members of Louisiana's present state administration have taken the opposite view by favoring entirely free lunches for every school child.

Only five of the 47 state departments of education outside of Louisiana reported any demand at all in their states for an all-free lunch program for all children, regardless of economic need. Only five reported any present demand for all-free lunches confined to needy children, but it was specified by a number of states that their present school lunch program, whether exclusively with federal funds and commodities or with additional state funds, is aimed at filling that field.

The five states reporting some demand—none reported much—for all-free lunches for all children were: Arizona, California, Kansas ("slight"), Nebraska and South Carolina. New Mexico officials answered "uncertain" to the question on this point. California, Maryland, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and South Carolina reported some demand for all-free lunches for the needy only. Virginia reported "not much demand," but that lunches for the needy already are supplied by the welfare department.

In the states where state appropriations have been added to the federal funds for school lunches, Illinois ranks second to Louisiana's $9,716,277 with an appropriation this year of $1,850,000. Its federal cash aid was given as $2,339,160 against $11,745,000 for Louisiana. Illinois school population was given at 1,500,000 compared to 500,000 for Louisiana.

Utah reported $480,000 in state appropriated school lunch funds against $330,000 federal cash aid, with a school population of 150,586. Minnesota added $200,000 in state funds to $1,100,000 in federal cash for lunches for a school population of 484,766. Rhode Island added $80,000 state money to $220,903 federal money for 131,928 students. California reported $1,000 state funds without an explanation of the unusual sum. Federal aid was $1,674,312 for 1,580,221 students.

New York state listed another odd figure—$2,900—in state funds added to $3,395,902 federal cash for a school population of 1,874,816.

The Times is publishing a tabulation of the answers from all 48 states to eight questions on school lunch programs which were included in the questionnaire. Copies will be sent to all members of the state legislature for whatever use they wish.

SPRING STORMS RIP E. CANADA

Multi-Million Dollar Trail Of Destruction Left Behind

By The Associated Press

A vicious spring storm roared off into eastern Canada Saturday, leaving a trail of multi-million dollar damage, at least eleven persons dead and scores injured in the central United States.

The winds, which reached hurricane force in some places, battered a nine state area Friday and throughout the night.

Three persons were killed in both Iowa and Wisconsin, two in Illinois and one each in Nebraska, Texas and Ohio.

Cooler temperatures followed in the wake of the storm and locally heavy rain or snow fall fell in North Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and the Lake Superior region.

The winds, which reached up to 100 miles an hour in gusts in a few spots pounded the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

The gales flattened buildings, uprooted trees, smashed windows and ripped out communications. Damage in Superior, Wis., alone was estimated at several million dollars.

The winds followed on the heels of Thursday night's tornadoes in Texas and Oklahoma which killed one person and injured several others.

Lattimore And China Policy

A four-man broadside has been delivered against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin in reply to his repeated charge that Owen Lattimore was the "chief architect" of our Far Eastern policy in the days before China's fall to the Reds.

The four men were no ordinary citizens. They were Secretary of State Dean Acheson and three former secretaries, Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes and Gen. George C. Marshall.

To gauge the meaning of their statements, let's go back a little. McCarthy began by making charges of communism in the state department None of his publicized cases panned out, and he finally wound up by putting all his chips on Lattimore, whom he accused of being a Red and an agent of Soviet Russia.

Lattimore never worked for the department, but McCarthy nevertheless insisted he was the maker of our China policy. He saw that policy as deliberately encouraging the Chinese Reds' victory over Chiang Kai-shek.

Lattimore's political leanings stand today in some doubt. He has denied being a Communist or a Russian agent. Louis Budenz, former Daily Worker editor, has given strong hearsay evidence that Lattimore was a Red. But other top Communists, Earl Browder and Bella Dodd, have contradicted Budenz—for whatever their testimony is worth.

But it must be clear to all of us that whether Lattimore is a Communist or not can make no difference to the present Senate inquiry unless it is established that he did indeed exert a powerful influence on State Department policy.

That's where the four secretaries fit in. These are the men who have guided U. S. foreign policy in all areas for virtually the entire period since 1933. The only gap in the record is that represented by the tenure of the late Edward R. Stettinius—a span of less than a year.

Without exception they declare that Lattimore was not in any sense or in any degree the architect of our policy in China. And since they were and are the men finally responsible for that policy, they ought to know.

Of especial weight is the word of General Marshall. It was he who undertook a mission to China before he became secretary of state, thus acquainting himself first-hand with the situation. It was he who headed the department when the fateful decisions on China were made.

Competent reporters agree Marshall himself made the choice not to support Chiang Kai-shek to the extreme extent necessary to save his government—by making it a virtual U. S. protectorate.

To prove his charge about Lattimore's influence, McCarthy therefore must show that Lattimore somehow affected Marshall in that decision. To that Marshall now says:

"The statement referred to is completely without basis in fact. So far as I and my associates can recall I never even met Mr. Lattimore."

McCarthy has tried to suggest Marshall was a dupe of Lattimore and that the general's appointment as secretary was a "pathetic thing." Certainly it is possible for a man to be influenced by the views of a man he has never met—for his subordinates may incorporate those views in reports and advisory conversations.

But the burden of proof that such influence was actually exercised is still upon McCarthy, and he has not yet established the link he claims existed.

The Rsearch Council

A group of Louisiana citizens who are interested in better government have organized the Public Affairs Research Council of Louisiana, Inc., a non-political, non-profit organization designed to promote citizen interest in better government.

Through research and education, the council plans to suggest to elected officials at local and state levels—irrespective of faction—procedures which careful study has shown will (1) reduce the cost of government, (2) provide more and better services to the taxpayers, and (3) put government on the soundest business basis possible.

Certainly no objectives could be more commendable, and none could call for more united support. The cooperation of every citizen of Louisiana is necessary if the council is to succeed in its gigantic task. A large membership is vital if the council is to do a representative job.

Thirty-six other states and virtually every large city have proven that such research organizations are worth every effort that citizens put forth to make them work. They have been responsible for economy, worthwhile reforms, and the elimination of waste and round-about procedures in government.

If Louisianians support the Public Affairs Research Council as wholeheartedly as the organization deserves to be supported, there is not a doubt that it will do for the state and its cities what similar organizations have done elsewhere.

We submit to the people of Louisiana this new organization as the most conscientious effort yet made in the state to provide a real democratic system, wherein all citizens who are interested can have a part in their government.

The world is not alone in being full of a number of things. An Oregon doctor found a pocket knife and a key in a man.

WALTER WINCHELL

Memos Of A Girl Friday

Dear Mr. W.: Remember when Sinclair Lewis and William Saroyan startled the literary pipple by refusing to accept Pulitzer Prizes? Well, here's a skewp: The National Institute of Arts & Letters awarded Henry L. Mencken a special gold medal for his "life's work" as an author. Mr. Mencken (alling in Baltimore) turned it down. Whereupon the institute, reeling from the blow, said that the medal had been struck, inscribed, and engraved—and, besides, the speech planned by Mark Van Doren was written and they were going ahead, anyway! Good old Menck, now 69 and so sick, a critic to the end. . . . You said yesterday that the N. Y. Times' Pulitzer winner for top reporting (Meyer Berger) never finished his 2nd year at high school. But what you didn't punchline is that the Times still won't give a hearing to an aspiring reporter who hasn't a collitch degree!

After the Pulitzer award to Rodgers, Hammerstein and Logan for "S. Pac." Author Edna Ferber wired Rodgers: "For once, the whole world agrees on one thing!" . . . Stella Roman was telling friends the importance of "Pacific" getting the Pulitzer ribbon. "It means," she said, "another $100,000 at the box office". . . . "Zatso?" said a wag. "Where are they gonna put it?"

This happened at the U. N. unveiling before Vishinsky left for Moscow. . . . A boy asked Gov. Dewey for his autograph. One of the officious Dewey aides brushed off the lad with: "He doesn't give autographs!" . . . "My parents voted for him," almost wept the kid. . . . Vishinsky (standing alongside) took advantage of the situation and made a gesture to win over another American. "Here, son," said Moscow's missionary, "I'll give you my autograph". . . . The boy's father told it to friends of mine. Imagine.

All the hoss-players in the NBC newsroom on May 1st bet Trout Lake to beat Walter's Boy at Pimlico. The idea being that the staffers figured a horse with part of Bob Trout's name might have a chance against the one with part of yours. Soooo, wot hoppin'? Walter's Boy won and Trout Lake ran 2nd. Just like in real life, ha, ha. . . . Speaking of radio folks, a radio editor on a Cincy paper is deaf and a television editor (same town) is blind. He hates Kukla, Fran & Ollie, which the poor man can't see. . . . Jack Barry, who has 4 clicks on the networks, starts a 5th via NBC shortly. . . . Hudnut wants you to simulcast via Teevy immediately. Means you can't leave town.

In reviewing "Peter Pan" not one critic mentioned the singular fact that 2 years ago the star, Jean Arthur (who plays the title role), gave up the films for a course at Stephens College in Missouri. And who teaches at Stephens? Maude Abrams, for whom James Barrie originally wrote the classic, that's who. Miss Arthur's britches, by the way, are tested every day for rips. She's the most delightful thing Pan - ts . . . Here's a heckuva note: Jean Bruce answers readers' problems in the Nashville Tennessean. One wife, signing her query "Frightened," wrote: "My husband is living with another woman. I want to get a divorce but he says he will kill me if I do. What shall I do?" The answer was: "Call his bluff". . . . Haw!

Newest drink among the around-the-clocktail set is cherry julep. Yummy. . . . Marcia Henderson's father didn't put up any money for "Peter Pan." She out-auditioned the field and Cole Porter predicted last year nothing can stop her. Very pretty girl plus talent. . . . Felix Young's swank spot is now Hollywood's top rendezvous, to hear the coasters in town rave about it. Glammer, violins and atmosphere. . . . The mail response from Berle's Telethon for the Runyon Fund is enormous. Every letter contains folding money and checks. First two days' mail lots better than last year's. . . . John Fredericks' designer, Fred, is bringing back Moroccan veils. His theory is that women need more mystery.

Rita Hayworth, a little heavier than she was, keeps a jealous orb on her Prince Chomming. A letter from there adds that since he smashed his leg the job is a little easier, but she's taking no chances. She laaahves him so. . . . Kay Swift, one of Broadway's top tunesmiths in the 30s, is back with some ditties and something of her life story in "Come Share My Love," due at the Musical Hall soon. . . . Bob Ruark's heard the call. Plans making a movie in Spain this summer. . . . Loved G. Allison's comment in his review of the new show at the Riviera. "Nobody who was nobody was there," he flipped. "Only requirement for admission was money!"

CBS sent out this memo to all its network salesmen: "Hooper's new ratings tend to show that television gets more of the audience than is actually the case. With the application of some simple arithmetic, we can now show how serious this bias is. How much it penalizes radio. . . . He is overestimating TV ownership and arbitrarily reduces the ratings of radio programs and inflates TV programs. In short, Hooper is placing about 40 per cent of his phone calls in TV ownership :N. Y. area) is liberally estimated at about 30 per cent. The net effect is that Hooper's 'all homes ratings' tend to be at least one-third higher than they should be for TV and about 15 per cent lower than they should be for radio" . . . . Hmmmmm.

Wednesday's N. Y. Herald Trib devoted most of its page 21 to two stories we tipped several days before. The King of Siam writing the "Peep Show" score and Hancock getting Luckman's post at Lever Bros. . . . Chatted with George Jean Nathan. Discussed "The Cocktail Party," which I loved. He says it is "well-written bosh". . . . Ja see Time's radio section? Uses berlesque. Wondered when they'd get around to it. . . . Have a lissen to Jan Garber's delightful disc of "Star Dust." Muted cornet renders it the way Hoagy fathered it. . . . A high spot in, "Tickets, Please!" (with the Hartmans) is Roger Price. Bigtime guy. . . . The Floyd Odlums (Jacqueline Cochran) say they aren't keeping any secret. How dull! . . . Here's one to make you feel good. DeWitt Wallace, publisher of Reader's Digest, will reprint "Runyon's Last Story" (about the fund) by Collier's Albert Q. Maisel in the Aug. issue. Oughta bring in another million. . . . Bevin's operation was a failure. He's recovering.

Billy Rose:

PITCHING HORSESHOES

SIR LAUNCELOT WITH A UNION CARD

Back in the days of Cro-Magnon man (look, he's showing off!) the gent who made a hit with the girls was the one who could lick his weight in ildcats — and then eat them. And in the meandering millenia which followed, it was the lad who could slay a dragon, hijack a ship, evict a king or make faces at Al Capone.

Today, in case you haven't noticed, the ladies are making eyes at a new hero — one who goes into combat with a picket line instead of a pike. I refer, of course, to the Walter Reuther type of labor leader — that knight in shining injunctions who, when he feels like flexing his biceps, can hang a padlock on the Chrysler plant or cause the White House fluorescents to burn late o'nights.

For instance, there's the story of Jim Terry which is making the rounds of union locals these days. I don't know whether it's history or hearsay, but I'd like to pass it along to prove that every time a new hero-type appears it's only a case of the old wham in new buskins. . . .

As I get it, Terry, sort of a tallish version of Jimmy Cagney, is business agent of a building employees' union in a large eastern city, and about a year ago, when his local got into a hassle with the landlords, he pulled his porters, scrubwomen, janitors and elevator operators off their jobs. A week later, however, the owners sat down with Jim and his committee, and after a few hours of give, take and cigar smoke, worked out the perfect contract — the one that gives each side the chance to claim fulsome victory.

Afterwards, to show there were no hard feelings, the head of the realty board invited Jim to his home for dinner, and there the labor man met the capitalist's daughter, Alice, a lucious tilt-nose fresh out of Vassar. And Jim, to hear them tell it, went for Alice as if she were a pension plan.

"I like you fine," the girl told him a few nights later, "but somehow I can't help wishing you were in another line of work."

"A business agent is a pretty important fellow these days," said Jim.

"I know," said Alice, "but I'm not talking about importance in that sense. What a girl really wants is a fellow who can do something big for her — something that makes her feel she's the only girl in the world."

"If you're talking about yachts and diamonds," said Jim, "that lets me out. But I'll bet I can do something to prove I love you that none of your rich boy friends can duplicate."

"As for instance?" asked Alice.

"As for instance," said Jim, "have dinner with me tomorrow out in the country, and after we have had a drink and a dance I'll show you what I mean."

Well, it turned out to be one of thos eevenings — the wine was red and honest, the orchestra was mostly fiddles, and as the pair drove back to town Alice didn't seem to mind when Jim went in for a bit of one-arm driving.

It was 1:55 when they reached the edge of the city and the business agent parked his car on a hill overlooking the skyscrapers of the downtown district. At exactly 2, a hundred scrubladies and janitors, all members of Jim's union, pulled a hundred switches, and at 2:01—or so the story goes—capital surrendered to labor without a struggle.

What had Jim done to make his girl feel she was something special? Well, when the switches were thrown in the blacked - out skyscrapers, in letters five stories high and a city-block wide, the lighted windows spelled out,

OUR CHILDREN

STUBBORN SOPHIE

"No, Sophie. You said that the wrong way. It is 'Funeral note, not 'Fun-neral,' The soldier is being buried, you know. Try it again." The girl in the front seat giggled. Sophie's cheeks flamed, her mouth shut in a tight line and she sat down.

"Oh, come Sophie. Anybody can make a mistake. We all do. Come. Try that again." Sophie did not move a muscle.

"Sophie. Try. If you won't recite I will have to mark you failure." Sophie did not show that she heard save by the deeper reddening of her cheeks. The teacher put a red mark on the roll and called the girl in the front seat to recite, which she did with a shake of her curls and in perfect English and cadence.

When Sophie's report went home the teacher had written this note in explanation of the failure in literature: "Sophie is stubborn."

Naturally Sophie's mother and father were distressed. They questioned Sophie about it with the same result the teacher had secured—utter and resolute silence. Father scolded and mother pleaded, but Sophie held tightly to her resolution to be silent. When she was alone in bed that night, she cried until the bed shook with her sobs.

Wakened by the sound of the child's weeping, her mother went to her and said, "Sophie, Sophie, don't cry. I know you don't mean to be bad. Just try. That's all we want. Just try to do what we ask you to."

What the teacher and Sophie's parents did not know was that Sophie felt so ashamed of making the mistake, so hurt at being laughed at, so bewildered by the teacher's disapproval, that she could not speak. She was not set in willful opposition to the teacher nor to her parents. She was choked by humiliation and shame. Too sensitive to brush such things off as some happy children can easily do, she stood mute.

We teachers and all parents have to deal with the child as he is and not as what we want him to be. There are children who can laugh off a mistake, who can take a joke on themselves, who can get out of an embarrassing position with cheery nonchalance, but there is the occasional oversensitive one to whom a mistake is a disaster. Deal gently with such children. Win their trust and affection before trying to help them overcome their difficulties.

BIBLE THOUGHTS:

And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer nor ax nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building. — I Kings 6:7

No hammers fell, no ponderous axes rung, lide some tall palm the mystic fabric sprung. Majestic silence. — Bishop Heber.

What Others Say:

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

HOOVER AND THE U. N.

A rather large minority of editors favor Herbert Hoover's proposal to reorganize the U. N. without Communist nations, or to create a new united front against communism. But majority opinion is that, despite Russia's misuse of the U. N., the time has not yet come for the west to take the responsibility of declaring it a total failure; and that Hoover's alternative united front, as compared with present western collective security efforts, would involve a choosing of sides for which the west is not yet militarily prepared and which many nations would not favor now.

Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator (Ind.-Dem.): "Herbert Hoover's proposal to throw the Communist nations out of the United Nations or form a new U. N. without them is untenable. . . . It would be impossible to throw the Reds out, because of their veto power. The proposal thus boils down to forming a new U. N. without them. . . . It is true as Mr. Hoover says that we have two worlds, not one. But our hope is that in time—a long, long time — conditions will so change as to narrow the gap."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.-Rep.): "Too much emphasis has been placed by critics of the Hoover plan on his first suggestion, that we oust Russia from the U. N. . . . His second proposal is the really important one, that we form outside the U. N. or within the U. N. under Article 51 a new united front of free nations. If the state department believes it is valuable to have a debating forum with Russia in it, that is all right. But only when the free nations . . . face the expansionism of the Russian Communist movement with unity and strength will there be any hope that Russia . . . will abide by the rules of the U. N."

New York Times (Ind.-Dem.): "Those who are determined to remain free are already drawing together in something of a united front. Some aspects of that movement, such as the North Atlantic Pact . . . have already been formalized. . . . These steps are all taking place within the general framework of the United Nations and in harmony with its Charter. Whether they require new international machinery is debatable. If this trend continues, as we think it must, there will have come about, in effect, a reorganization of the United Nations through a closer union of the free members of it."

San Francisco (Calif.) News (Ind.): "Hoover believes the time has come either to oust Russia and her prisoner countries from the United Nations or to form a new united front . . . which would, for most practical purposes, displace the U. N. . . . We can't win this war of false fronts, phony slogans and political infiltration simply by sitting in trenches waiting for the enemy to mount offensives, as we have been doing. We must assume the offensive and hold it. . . . The free world will follow us if we will point the way. What are we waiting for?"

New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune (Ind.-Dem.): "At this time there are, we fear, greater possibilities of loss than of gain in a 'stand - up - and - be-counted' challenge to peoples under the Communist shadow. When the Atlantic defense pact has been implemented by arms and equipment sufficient to give its European members a feeling of security, and our own armaments are sufficiently restored to enable us to make good our military commitments for their protection, the 'moral mobilization' of the freedom-loving nations . . . may be brought about on the motion of those other nations . . . on a scale to guarantee peace. . . ."

Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal (Ind.): "There can yet be peace on this earth and the earth's peoples can be freed of the blighting, ever present fear of war. It can come to pass at whatever moment the God-believing nations of the world decide that they have had enough of Communist minority domination and follow the course which Mr. Hoover has mapped. It is that way in which peace is enforced by the combined spiritual, economic and physical strength of all who love liberty and would preserve the dignity of man."

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "Hoover's injection of the devil theory of history into the picture was, to say the least, unhelpful. He knows better, we believe, than seriously to maintain that all the atheists are on the Russian side and all the God-fearing people in the western world. There are millions of believing, God-fearing Russians. How otherwise was the gang that runs Russia compelled to re-establish religion? . . . There is something to be said for pushing along with the United Nations as now set up. . . . The Kremlin crowd can thus more easily be watched."

Thurman Sensing,

Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council:

STATE DEBTS IN THE SOUTH

The southern states are steadily gaining a relatively more favorable position among the states of the union in the matter of state debts. This is encouraging in two particular aspects. First, it indicates that the south is in a relatively better economic position than at any time since the War Between the States; and, second, it indicates the New Deal - Fair Deal "spend and spend" fever has not infected the south as a region like it has some other parts of the nation.

There is, of course, a variation even among the southern states in the trend of state debts in recent years, and it is interesting to note the change in the three years following the end of World War I, as shown in the following table:

	Gross Debt 1946	1949
Alabama	$ 63,522,000	$ 57,012,000
Arkansas	134,619,000	121,739,000
Florida	1,269,000	15,539,000
Georgia	8,358,000	3,187,000
Kentucky	5,656,000	8,350,000
Louisiana	158,034,000	162,568,000
Mayrland	34,699,000	69,182,000
Mississippi	65,747,000	76,161,000
Missouri	63,545,000	51,370,000
North Carolina	101,868,000	76,705,000
Oklahoma	27,261,000	38,513,000
South Carolina	75,595,000	96,426,000
Tennessee	76,500,000	97,469,000
Texas	12,187,000	24,404,000
Virginia	22,530,000	18,532,000
	$919,616,000	$982,828,000

As shown by this table, the total debt of the 16 southern states increased $63,212,000 during these three years. This increase is more than accounted for by three states alone—Maryland, South Carolina, and Tennessee. These three states cannot claim any credit for the fine record the south has made during the post-war years in holding down or decreasing state debt, although it should be noted here that the greater part of Maryland's increase has been in "enterprise debt", that is, debt incurred to back revenue yielding projects; also, that almost one-third of South Caroling's debt is of a similar type.

But when we compare the increase in the total for the 16 southern states with the increase in the total for the 32 states outside the south, it is then that we note that the south as a region has great cause for satisfaction. The total debt of these 32 states increased during the three years from $1,450,592,000 to $3,041,645,000 —an increase of $1,591,053,000. The debt of all 48 states increased from a total of 2,370,208,000 to $4,024,473,000.

The Southern states not only compromise one-third the states of the nation but they also contain one-third the nation's people, so it is perhaps even more striking to note the improved relative position of the south by noting that the south's share of the total state debt in 1946 was 38.8 per cent, while by 1949 it had declined to 24.4 per cent. Of course the economic status of the south has for many years been below that of the national average, for reasons with which any historian is familiar, and therefore the present amount of debt owed by the southern states is much more in line with the south's proportionate share of the national wealth than has heretofore been the case. It will be noted that on a per capital basis the average southerner owes $19.65 of state debt, whereas the average citizen outside the south owes $30.41.

All of which brings to mind the possibility that instead of the proponents of federal aid bestowing all their "sympathies" upon the south in the years ahead, it may be necessary for them to turn their attention in other directions; it may be necessary for them to call upon the states of the south to aid the "less fortunate" states in the rest of the country!

Charles B. Driscoll:

New York Day By Day

NEW YORK — Readers of this column have known of a sister of mine in Wichita, Margaret Driscoll Kennedy. Many have written me about her or some member of her family whom they have met. She died peacefully on a recent spring evening, after many months of gradually failing strength. Burial is in the lot next to that of the eldest sister, Marie Driscoll Blood, who died four years earlier, almost to the day.

Margaret was the laughing member of the family. Most of the rest of us were always inclined to be serious, thoughtful, and some of us even studious. Margaret was a good student and a good public school teacher in her youth. But she loved to laugh. Best of all, she could laugh at herself when she made a mistake, or when one of us teased her.

During a summer vacation she accompanied Aunt Fannie to Erie, Pa., where she had been born, and saw Niagara Falls in the company of a young man, Tom Kennedy, who had, a year or so before, lost his wife, a cousin of ours. They were married in Wichita a few months later. Tom and six children, also many grandchildren, survive. May God be close to them with consolation.

Clyde Brion Davis, a knowing person, who wrote "Playtime Is Over," a year or so ago, has done a beautiful piece of work in "The Age of Indiscretion," just published by Lippincott. It's a good exposition of the truth that life in America today is far better than was life here in 1900, or there about.

I'm inclined to believe with Davis that life in 1900 was not so wonderful, as compared with today's doings. I know that my mother had a washing machine called The 1900. She had been washing on a washboard up to that time.

We had no power except horsepower and hand power. The latter was used for operating the washing machine. It was a big wooden tub, mounted on a ball-bearing dingus. You pushed out with your arm, and pulled back. You did that all day long, if you had a family to wash for, and sometimes a hired man or two.

But this was considered a marvel, a blessing, and I suppose it was, compared with the washboard.

Well, the washer in our laundry runs by electricity, and that's not an indication of great wealth or majesty. All up and down the street they have them. J. P. Morgan didn't have one in 1900.

I like this man Davis. He's thankful to be alive in this America, half a century after the nostalgic days so often called The Turn of the Century.

Mrs. Nellie Lee Gannon, Jacksonville, is 73, she tells me. She is the mother of two, grandmother of two, and great-grandmother of two. She remembers her grandmother and her great-grandmother. What a stretch of history there!

Mrs. Gannon is one of seven brothers and sisters, all but one still living. She runs a business in her town, and attends to it daily.

A low bow, three times, to you, Mrs. Gannon!

Lattimore And China Policy

A four-man broadside has been delivered against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin in reply to his repeated charge that Owen Lattimore was the "chief architect" of our Far Eastern policy in the days before China's fall to the Reds.

The four men were no ordinary citizens. They were Secretary of State Dean Acheson and three former secretaries, Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes and Gen. George C. Marshall.

To gauge the meaning of their statements, let's go back a little. McCarthy began by making charges of communism in the state department None of his publicized cases panned out, and he finally wound up by putting all his chips on Lattimore, whom he accused of being a Red and an agent of Soviet Russia.

Lattimore never worked for the department, but McCarthy nevertheless insisted he was the maker of our China policy. He saw that policy as deliberately encouraging the Chinese Reds' victory over Chiang Kai-shek.

Lattimore's political leanings stand today in some doubt. He has denied being a Communist or a Russian agent. Louis Budenz, former Daily Worker editor, has given strong hearsay evidence that Lattimore was a Red. But other top Communists, Earl Browder and Bella Dodd, have contradicted Budenz—for whatever their testimony is worth.

But it must be clear to all of us that whether Lattimore is a Communist or not can make no difference to the present Senate inquiry unless it is established that he did indeed exert a powerful influence on State Department policy.

That's where the four secretaries fit in. These are the men who have guided U. S. foreign policy in all areas for virtually the entire period since 1933. The only gap in the record is that represented by the tenure of the late Edward R. Stettinius—a span of less than a year.

Without exception they declare that Lattimore was not in any sense or in any degree the architect of our policy in China. And since they were and are the men finally responsible for that policy, they ought to know.

Of especial weight is the word of General Marshall. It was he who undertook a mission to China before he became secretary of state, thus acquainting himself first-hand with the situation. It was he who headed the department when the fateful decisions on China were made.

Competent reporters agree Marshall himself made the choice not to support Chiang Kai-shek to the extreme extent necessary to save his government—by making it a virtual U. S. protectorate.

To prove his charge about Lattimore's influence, McCarthy therefore must show that Lattimore somehow affected Marshall in that decision. To that Marshall now says:

"The statement referred to is completely without basis in fact. So far as I and my associates can recall I never even met Mr. Lattimore."

McCarthy has tried to suggest Marshall was a dupe of Lattimore and that the general's appointment as secretary was a "pathetic thing." Certainly it is possible for a man to be influenced by the views of a man he has never met—for his subordinates may incorporate those views in reports and advisory conversations.

But the burden of proof that such influence was actually exercised is still upon McCarthy, and he has not yet established the link he claims existed.

The Rsearch Council

A group of Louisiana citizens who are interested in better government have organized the Public Affairs Research Council of Louisiana, Inc., a non-political, non-profit organization designed to promote citizen interest in better government.

Through research and education, the council plans to suggest to elected officials at local and state levels—irrespective of faction—procedures which careful study has shown will (1) reduce the cost of government, (2) provide more and better services to the taxpayers, and (3) put government on the soundest business basis possible.

Certainly no objectives could be more commendable, and none could call for more united support. The cooperation of every citizen of Louisiana is necessary if the council is to succeed in its gigantic task. A large membership is vital if the council is to do a representative job.

Thirty-six other states and virtually every large city have proven that such research organizations are worth every effort that citizens put forth to make them work. They have been responsible for economy, worthwhile reforms, and the elimination of waste and round-about procedures in government.

If Louisianians support the Public Affairs Research Council as wholeheartedly as the organization deserves to be supported, there is not a doubt that it will do for the state and its cities what similar organizations have done elsewhere.

We submit to the people of Louisiana this new organization as the most conscientious effort yet made in the state to provide a real democratic system, wherein all citizens who are interested can have a part in their government.

The world is not alone in being full of a number of things. An Oregon doctor found a pocket knife and a key in a man.

Memos Of A Girl Friday

Dear Mr. W.: Remember when Sinclair Lewis and William Saroyan startled the literary pipple by refusing to accept Pulitzer Prizes? Well, here's a skewp: The National Institute of Arts & Letters awarded Henry L. Mencken a special gold medal for his "life's work" as an author. Mr. Mencken (ailing in Baltimore) turned it down. Whereupon the institute, reeling from the blow, said that the medal had been struck, inscribed, and engraved—and, besides, the speech planned by Mark Van Doren was written and they were going ahead, anyway! Good old Menck, now 69 and so sick, a critic to the end. . . . You said yesterday that the N. Y. Times' Pulitzer winner for top reporting (Meyer Berger) never finished his 2nd year at high school. But what you didn't punchline is that the Times still won't give a hearing to an aspiring reporter who hasn't a collitch degree!

After the Pulitzer award to Rodgers, Hammerstein and Logan for "S. Pac." Author Edna Ferber wired Rodgers: "For once, the whole world agrees on one thing!" . . . Stella Roman was telling friends the importance of "Pacific'" getting the Pulitzer ribbon. "It means," she said, "another $100,000 at the box office". . . . "Zatso?" said a wag. "Where are they gonna put it?"

This happened at the U. N. unvelling before Vishinsky left for Moscow. . . . A boy asked Gov. Dewey for his autograph. One of the officious Dewey aides brushed off the lad with: "He doesn't give autographs!" . . . "My parents voted for him," almost wept the kid. . . . Vishinsky (standing alongside) took advantage of the situation and made a gesture to win over another American. "Here, son," said Moscow's missionary, "I'll give you my autograph". . . . The boy's father told it to friends of mine. Imagine.

All the hoss-players in the NBC newsroom on May 1st bet Trout Lake to beat Walter's Boy at Pimlico. The idea being that the staffers figured a horse with part of Bob Trout's name might have a chance against the one with part of yours. Soooo, wot hoppin'? Walter's Boy won and Trout Lake ran 2nd. Just like in real life, ha, ha. . . . Speaking of radio folks, a radio editor on a Cincy paper is deaf and a television editor (same town) is blind. He hates Kukla, Fran & Ollie, which the poor man can't see. . . . Jack Barry, who has 4 clicks on the networks, starts a 5th via NBC shortly. . . . Hudnut wants you to simulcast via Teevy immediately. Means you can't leave town.

In reviewing "Peter Pan" not one critic mentioned the singular fact that 2 years ago the star, Jean Arthur (who plays the title role), gave up the films for a course at Stephens College in Missouri. And who teaches at Stephens? Maude Abrams, for whom James Barrie originally wrote the classic, that's who. Miss Arthur's britches, by the way, are tested every day for rips. She's the most delightful thing Pan - ts . . . Here's a heckuva note: Jean Bruce answers readers' problems in the Nashville Tennessean. One wife, signing her query "Frightened," wrote: "My husband is living with another woman. I want to get a divorce but he says he will kill me if I do. What shall I do?" The answer was: "Call his bluff". . . . Haw!

Newest drink among the around-the-clocktail set is cherry julep. Yummy. . . . Marcia Henderson's father didn't put up any money for "Peter Pan." She out-auditioned the field and Cole Porter predicted last year nothing can stop her. Very pretty girl plus talent. . . . Felix Young's swank spot is now Hollywood's top rendezvous, to hear the coasters in town rave about it. Glammer, violins and atmosphere. . . . The mail response from Berle's Telethon for the Runyon Fund is enormous. Every letter contains folding money and checks. First two days' mail lots better than last year's. . . . John Fredericks' designer, Fred, is bringing back Moroccan veils. His theory is that women need more mystery.

Rita Hayworth, a little heavier than she was, keeps a jealous orb on her Prince Chomming. A letter from there adds that since he smashed his leg the job is a little easier, but she's taking no chances. She laaahves him so. . . . Kay Swift, one of Broadway's top tunesmiths in the 30s, is back with some ditties and something of her life story in "Come Share My Love," due at the Musical Hall soon. . . . Bob Ruark's heard the call. Plans making a movie in Spain this summer. . . . Loved G. Allison's comment in his review of the new show at the Riviera. "Nobody who was nobody was there," he flipped. "Only requirement for admission was money!"

CBS sent out this memo to all its network salesmen: "Hooper's new ratings tend to show that television gets more of the audience than is actually the case.With the application of some simple arithmetic, we can now show how serious this bias is. How much it penalizes radio. . . . He is overestimating TV ownership and arbitrarily reduces the ratings of radio programs and inflates TV programs. In short, Hooper is placing about 40 per cent of his phone calls in TV ownership :N. Y. area) is liberally estimated at about 30 per cent. The net effect is that Hooper's 'all homes ratings' tend to be at least one-third higher than they should be for TV and about 15 per cent lower than they should be for radio" . . . . Hmmmmm.

Wednesday's N. Y. Herald Trib devoted most of its page 21 to two stories we tipped several days before. The King of Siam writing the "Peep Show" score and Hancock getting Luckman's post at Lever Bros. . . . Chatted with George Jean Nathan. Discussed "The Cocktail Party," which I loved. He says it is "well-written bosh". . . . Ja see Time's radio section? Uses berlesque. Wondered when they'd get around to it. . . . Have a lissen to Jan Garber's delightful disc of "Star Dust." Muted cornet renders it the way Hoagy fathered it. . . . A high spot in, "Tickets, Please!" (with the Hartmans) is Roger Price. Bigtime guy. . . . The Floyd Odlums (Jacqueline Cochran) say they aren't keeping any secret. How dull! . . . Here's one to make you feel good. DeWitt Wallace, publisher of Reader's Digest, will reprint "Runyon's Last Story" (about the fund) by Collier's Albert Q. Maisel in the Aug. issue. Oughta bring in another million. . . . Bevin's operation was a failure. He's recovering.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

SIR LAUNCELOT WITH A UNION CARD

Back in the days of Cro-Magnon man (look, he's showing off!) the gent who made a hit with the girls was the one who could lick his weight in ildcats — and then eat them. And in the meandering millenia which followed, it was the lad who could slay a dragon, hijack a ship, evict a king or make faces at Al Capone.

Today, in case you haven't noticed, the ladies are making eyes at a new hero — one who goes into combat with a picket line instead of a pike. I refer, of course, to the Walter Reuther type of labor leader — that knight in shining injunctions who, when he feels like flexing his biceps, can hang a padlock on the Chrysler plant or cause the White House fluorescents to burn late o'nights.

For instance, there's the story of Jim Terry which is making the rounds of union locals these days. I don't know whether it's history or hearsay, but I'd like to pass it along to prove that every time a new hero-type appears it's only a case of the old wham in new buskins. . . .

As I get it, Terry, sort of a tallish version of Jimmy Cagney, is business agent of a building employees' union in a large eastern city, and about a year ago, when his local got into a hassle with the landlords, he pulled his porters, scrubwomen, janitors and elevator operators off their jobs. A week later, however, the owners sat down with Jim and his committee, and after a few hours of give, take and cigar smoke, worked out the perfect contract — the one that gives each side the chance to claim fulsome victory.

Afterwards, to show there were no hard feelings, the head of the realty board invited Jim to his home for dinner, and there the labor man met the capitalist's daughter, Alice, a lucious tilt-nose fresh out of Vassar. And Jim, to hear them tell it, went for Alice as if she were a pension plan.

"I like you fine," the girl told him a few nights later, "but somehow I can't help wishing you were in another line of work."

"A business agent is a pretty important fellow these days," said Jim.

"I know," said Alice, "but I'm not talking about importance in that sense. What a girl really wants is a fellow who can do something big for her — something that makes her feel she's the only girl in the world."

"If you're talking about yachts and diamonds," said Jim, "that lets me out. But I'll bet I can do something to prove I love you that none of your rich boy friends can duplicate."

"As for instance?" asked Alice.

"As for instance," said Jim, "have dinner with me tomorrow out in the country, and after we have had a drink and a dance I'll show you what I mean."

Well, it turned out to be one of thos eevenings — the wine was red and honest, the orchestra was mostly fiddles, and as the pair drove back to town Alice didn't seem to mind when Jim went in for a bit of one-arm driving.

It was 1:55 when they reached the edge of the city and the business agent parked his car on a hill overlooking the skyscrapers of the downtown district. At exactly 2, a hundred scrubladies and janitors, all members of Jim's union, pulled a hundred switches, and at 2:01—or so the story goes—capital surrendered to labor without a struggle.

What had Jim done to make his girl feel she was something special? Well, when the switches were thrown in the blacked - out skyscrapers, in letters five stories high and a city-block wide, the lighted windows spelled out,

STUBBORN SOPHIE

"No, Sophie. You said that the wrong way. It is 'Funeral note, not 'Fun-neral,' The soldier is being buried, you know. Try it again." The girl in the front seat giggled. Sophie's cheeks flamed, her mouth shut in a tight line and she sat down.

"Oh, come Sophie. Anybody can make a mistake. We all do. Come. Try that again." Sophie did not move a muscle.

"Sophie. Try. If you won't recite I will have to mark you failure." Sophie did not show that she heard save by the deeper reddening of her cheeks. The teacher put a red mark on the roll and called the girl in the front seat to recite, which she did with a shake of her curls and in perfect English and cadence.

When Sophie's report went home the teacher had written this note in explanation of the failure in literature: "Sophie is stubborn."

Naturally Sophie's mother and father were distressed. They questioned Sophie about it with the same result the teacher had secured—utter and resolute silence. Father scolded and mother pleaded, but Sophie held tightly to her resolution to be silent. When she was alone in bed that night, she cried until the bed shook with her sobs.

Wakened by the sound of the child's weeping, her mother went to her and said, "Sophie, Sophie, don't cry. I know you don't mean to be bad. Just try. That's all we want. Just try to do what we ask you to."

What the teacher and Sophie's parents did not know was that Sophie felt so ashamed of making the mistake, so hurt at being laughed at, so bewildered by the teacher's disapproval, that she could not speak. She was not set in willful opposition to the teacher nor to her parents. She was choked by humiliation and shame. Too sensitive to brush such things off as some happy children can easily do, she stood mute.

We teachers and all parents have to deal with the child as he is and not as what we want him to be. There are children who can laugh off a mistake, who can take a joke on themselves, who can get out of an embarrassing position with cheery nonchalance, but there is the occasional oversensitive one to whom a mistake is a disaster. Deal gently with such children. Win their trust and affection before trying to help them overcome their difficulties.

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

HOOVER AND THE U. N.

A rather large minority of editors favor Herbert Hoover's proposal to reorganize the U. N. without Communist nations, or to create a new united front against communism. But majority opinion is that, despite Russia's misuse of the U. N., the time has not yet come for the west to take the responsibility of declaring it a total failure; and that Hoover's alternative united front, as compared with present western collective security efforts, would involve a choosing of sides for which the west is not yet militarily prepared and which many nations would not favor now.

Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator (Ind.-Dem.): "Herbert Hoover's proposal to throw the Communist nations out of the United Nations or form a new U. N. without them is untenable. . . . It would be impossible to throw the Reds out, because of their veto power. The proposal thus boils down to forming a new U. N. without them. . . . It is true as Mr. Hoover says that we have two worlds, not one. But our hope is that in time—a long, long time — conditions will so change as to narrow the gap."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.-Rep.): "Too much emphasis has been placed by critics of the Hoover plan on his first suggestion, that we oust Russia from the U. N. . . . His second proposal is the really important one, that we form outside the U. N. or within the U. N. under Article 51 a new united front of free nations. If the state department believes it is valuable to have a debating forum with Russia in it, that is all right. But only when the free nations . . . face the expansionism of the Russian Communist movement with unity and strength will there be any hope that Russia . . . will abide by the rules of the U. N."

New York Times (Ind.-Dem.): "Those who are determined to remain free are already drawing together in something of a united front. Some aspects of that movement, such as the North Atlantic Pact . . . have already been formalized. . . . These steps are all taking place within the general framework of the United Nations and in harmony with its Charter. Whether they require new international machinery is debatable. If this trend continues, as we think it must, there will have come about, in effect, a reorganization of the United Nations through a closer union of the free members of it."

San Francisco (Calif.) News (Ind.): "Hoover believes the time has come either to oust Russia and her prisoner countries from the United Nations or to form a new united front . . . which would, for most practical purposes, displace the U. N. . . . We can't win this war of false fronts, phony slogans and political infiltration simply by sitting in trenches waiting for the enemy to mount offensives, as we have been doing. We must assume the offensive and hold it. . . . The free world will follow us if we will point the way. What are we waiting for?"

New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune (Ind.-Dem.): "At this time there are, we fear, greater possibilities of loss than of gain in a 'stand - up - and - be-counted' challenge to peoples under the Communist shadow. When the Atlantic defense pact has been implemented by arms and equipment sufficient to give its European members a feeling of security, and our own armaments are sufficiently restored to enable us to make good our military commitments for their protection, the 'moral mobilization' of the freedom-loving nations . . . may be brought about on the motion of those other nations . . . on a scale to guarantee peace. . . ."

Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal (Ind.): "There can yet be peace on this earth and the earth's peoples can be freed of the blighting, ever present fear of war. It can come to pass at whatever moment the God-believing nations of the world decide that they have had enough of Communist minority domination and follow the course which Mr. Hoover has mapped. It is that way in which peace is enforced by the combined spiritual, economic and physical strength of all who love liberty and would preserve the dignity of man."

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "Hoover's injection of the devil theory of history into the picture was, to say the least, unhelpful. He knows better, we believe, than seriously to maintain that all the atheists are on the Russian side and all the God-fearing people in the western world. There are millions of believing, God-fearing Russians. How otherwise was the gang that runs Russia compelled to re-establish religion? . . . There is something to be said for pushing along with the United Nations as now set up. . . . The Kremlin crowd can thus more easily be watched."

Charles B. Driscoll:

New York
Day By Day

NEW YORK — Readers of this column have known of a sister of mine in Wichita, Margaret Driscoll Kennedy. Many have written me about her or some member of her family whom they have met. She died peacefully on a recent spring evening, after many months of gradually failing strength. Burial is in the lot next to that of the eldest sister, Marie Driscoll Blood, who died four years earlier, almost to the day.

Margaret was the laughing member of the family. Most of the rest of us were always inclined to be serious, thoughtful, and some of us even studious. Margaret was a good student and a good public school teacher in her youth. But she loved to laugh. Best of all, she could laugh at herself when she made a mistake, or when one of us teased her.

During a summer vacation she accompanied Aunt Fannie to Erie, Pa., where she had been born, and saw Niagara Falls in the company of a young man, Tom Kennedy, who had, a year or so before, lost his wife, a cousin of ours. They were married in Wichita a few months later. Tom and six children, also many grandchildren, survive. May God be close to them with consolation.

Clyde Brion Davis, a knowing person, who wrote "Playtime Is Over," a year or so ago, has done a beautiful piece of work in "The Age of Indiscretion," just published by Lippincott. It's a good exposition of the truth that life in America today is far better than was life here in 1900, or there about.

I'm inclined to believe with Davis that life in 1900 was not so wonderful, as compared with today's doings. I know that my mother had a washing machine called The 1900. She had been washing on a washboard up to that time.

We had no power except horsepower and hand power. The latter was used for operating the washing machine. It was a big wooden tub, mounted on a ball-bearing dingus. You pushed out with your arm, and pulled back. You did that all day long, if you had a family to wash for, and sometimes a hired man or two.

But this was considered a marvel, a blessing, and I suppose it was, compared with the washboard.

Well, the washer in our laundry runs by electricity, and that's not an indication of great wealth or majesty. All up and down the street they have them. J. P. Morgan didn't have one in 1900.

I like this man Davis. He's thankful to be alive in this America, half a century after the nostalgic days so often called The Turn of the Century.

Mrs. Nellie Lee Gannon, Jacksonville, is 73, she tells me. She is the mother of two, grandmother of two, and great-grandmother of two. She remembers her grandmother and her great-grandmother. What a stretch of history there!

Mrs. Gannon is one of seven brothers and sisters, all but one still living. She runs a business in her town, and attends to it daily.

A low bow, three times, to you, Mrs. Gannon!

Thurman Sensing,

Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council:

STATE DEBTS IN THE SOUTH

The southern states are steadily gaining a relatively more favorable position among the states of the union in the matter of state debts. This is encouraging in two particular aspects. First, it indicates that the south is in a relatively better economic position than at any time since the War Between the States; and, second, it indicates the New Deal - Fair Deal "spend and spend" fever has not infected the south as a region like it has some other parts of the nation.

There is, of course, a variation even among the southern states in the trend of state debts in recent years, and it is interesting to note the change in the three years following the end of World War I, as shown in the following table:

	Gross Debt 1946	1949
Alabama	$ 63,522,000	$ 57,012,000
Arkansas	134,619,000	121,739,000
Florida	1,269,000	15,539,000
Georgia	8,358,000	3,187,000
Kentucky	5,856,000	8,350,000
Louisiana	158,034,000	162,568,000
Mayrland	34,699,000	69,182,000
Mississippi	65,747,000	76,161,000
Missouri	63,545,000	51,370,000
North Carolina	101,868,000	76,705,000
Oklahoma	27,261,000	38,513,000
South Carolina	75,595,000	96,426,000
Tennessee	76,500,000	97,469,000
Texas	12,187,000	24,404,000
Virginia	22,530,000	18,532,000
	$919,616,000	$982,828,000

As shown by this table, the total debt of the 16 southern states increased $63,212,000 during these three years. This increase is more than accounted for by three states alone—Maryland, South Carolina, and Tennessee. These three states cannot claim any credit for the fine record the south has made during the post-war years in holding down or decreasing state debt, although it should be noted here that the greater part of Maryland's increase has been in "enterprise debt", that is, debt incurred to back revenue yielding projects; also, that almost one-third of South Caroling's debt is of a similar type.

But when we compare the increase in the total for the 16 southern states with the increase in the total for the 32 states outside the south, it is then that we note that the south as a region has great cause for satisfaction. The total debt of these 32 states increased during the three years from $1,450,592,000 to $3,041,645,000 —an increase of $1,591,053,000. The debt of all 48 states increased from a total of 2,370,208,000 to $4,024,473,000.

The Southern states not only compromise one-third the states of the nation but they also contain one-third the nation's people, so it is perhaps even more striking to note the improved relative position of the south by noting that the south's share of the total state debt in 1946 was 38.8 per cent, while by 1949 it had declined to 24.4 per cent. Of course the economic status of the south has for many years been below that of the national average, for reasons with which any historian is familiar, and therefore the present amount of debt owed by the southern states is much more in line with the south's proportionate share of the national wealth than has heretofore been the case. It will be noted that on a per capital basis the average southerner owes $19.65 of state debt, whereas the average citizen outside the south owes $30.41.

All of which brings to mind the possibility that instead of the proponents of federal aid bestowing all their "sympathies" upon the south in the years ahead, it may be necessary for them to turn their attention in other directions; it may be necessary for them to call upon the states of the south to aid the "less fortunate" states in the rest of the country!

BASCOM N. TIMMONS

If you prefer your history fresh off the vine, watch developments in the congressional investigation of nation wide crime. At the moment it is playing second fiddle to McCarthy vs. communism, which is more like a movie, and has been given top billing by press and radio.

To veteran observers, there is something about this crime probe reminiscent of the oil scandals a quarter of a century ago, which cost the jobs of three cabinet officers and sent one of them to prison, scared the daylights out of the then all-powerful Republican party, and drove some rich men scurrying for cover.

The nationwide crime investigation is admittedly bad, with growing evidence of the vast power of interstate crime rings, jewel thieves and gambling syndicates. How high up the pyramid of politics the influence of these groups reaches is debatable, but public opinion seems to be that it goes pretty close to the top. That conviction has not been lessened by the hasty manner in which two stop-gap bills have been rushed to the senate by the department of justice and hearings begun on them immediately, without the usual preliminary field investigations.

That savors of the tactics of alarmed Republicans 25 years ago, when the senate public lands committee, headed by the late Senator Irvine Lenroot (Rep.-Wis.) tried to head off the full scale probe of the Teapot dome contracts and other unsavory oil deals by a surface scratching investigation, and only succeeded in sharpening public interest to a point where an all-out investigation became inevitable. The resulting probe, which ran for three years was directed by two Democrats, the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh and his Montana colleague, former Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Their drive and a staff of skilled investigators brought out the whole unsavory story, put former Secretary of Interior Albert Fall and Oilman Harry F. Sinclair in jail.

Had public confidence in Calvin Collidge not been so strong, and national prosperity so high, the Republicans could well have been voted out in 1928, rather than four years later.

The hurried questioning of mayors, big time gambling and officials of telegraph agencies by a subcommittee of the senate commerce committee is suspected here of being motivated by a desire of some high-up Democrats to head off a full-scale investigation by a special senate committee, asked in a resolution by Sen. Estes Kefauver (Dem.-Tenn.), who wants $150,000 for expenses, which would enable the committee to get some real evidence with which to confront witnesses.

As it is, the biggest figure in the alledged gambling syndicate, Frank Costello of New York City, just told the investigators he couldn't help them.

The two bills on tap would prohibit use of telegraphic facilities to transmit racing information to bookmakers and would ban interstate transportation of slot machines.

Unlike the surface scratching of 25 years ago, this inquiry hasn't produced a thing not already widely known. Perhaps it wasn't intended to. But Kefauver, who expects to be met with argument that the ground already has been covered, is going ahead, if he can get his resolution unblocked. However, that will probably be after the November elections.

A brash young man with a pretty girl and a swagger got on a senate office building elevator, said to the operator:

"We want to go to the room where they're investigating this big gangster, Franklin Costello. We want to see that crook."

Out of the corner of his mouth, the elevator operator muttered: "Just turn around buddy. He's standing in the back of this car."

There was deadly silence until the elevator stopped at the right floor. The packed occupants walked out without looking around, as if there were a gun in the middle of their backs. Then out walked Costello, looking at nobody out of his droopy eyes. The elevator operator insists he made the identification from news pictures.

William E. Gilroy, D. D.:

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The message of he Hebrew prophets was not all denunciatory. They saw the deep evils in personal lives and in society, and they spoke fearlessly in rebuking these evils. They saw the neglect of God's law and the perversion and corruption of religion among a people who had a great spiritual heritage—a chosen people who had renounced God's choice.

But deep in their message was the note of appeal, reminding the people of their heritage, and assuring them of God's mercy. The prophets had a gospel, for both individuals and society. It was a gospel of salvation and of true welfare for those who would turn from their evil and seek God's way.

Jesus said, concerning Old Testament religion, that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill, and the Gospel that He revealed was the fulfillment of the gospel that the prophets declared. The prophets seemed, at times, pessimists as they swelt upon the evil of their times, but the evils that they saw, both in individuals and in society, were very real.

A social reformer without a gospel is no reformer at all. The exposure of evil and corruption in our modern social and political life, particularly in the cities, has been known, expressively, as "much-raking."

Too often such exposure has not gone much beyond the raking over of the muck. Newspapers and magazines have published sensational articles, that have been read eagerly by the public, but either little is done about the situation, or things soon settle back into the old shameful conditions.

It is a good many years since Lincoln Steffens published his famous articles on the shame of the cities, but more recent "muckrakers" have shown that conditions are little better than they were then, though there are some considerable exceptions.

This, probably, is because the muckraking has had with it no gospel, no constructive power of regeneration. The prophets had a gospel. Those to whom they spoke did not always receive or accept it; they persisted in their old ways until destruction came upon them.

But there were more noble chapters in the life history of Israel. When Israel had been cast away in exile, prophets arose, who recounted the history that had brought about the downfall, but who expounded the mercy and forgiveness of God. They made so plain God's continuing call and choice that there was a glorious return from the exile, and a rebuilding of religious life in the Jewish homeland.

The world needs moral codes, judges. But above and beneath it all it needs a gospel. More specifically it needs Christ's gospel, and until statesmen and all leaders of men realize that, there is not much hope of the world peace and welfare for which we so much long, but have been unable to achieve.

According to a Universal-International publicity dispatch, Jimmy Stewart, as part of the campaign to exploit his forthcoming picture. "Harvey," will attend the next national convention of rabbit breeders and there select "the most glamorous rabbit in the world." If Jimmy doesn't balk at the ridiculous stunt, he's a more patient man than I've considered him to be. Heaven knows, there's nothing studios won't ask unknown starlets to do in order to get their names in print. But Stewart, as one of Hollywood's most respected actors, a war hero, a national leader of the Boy Scouts, and an all-around leading citizen, has risen far above the need for that kind of silly shenanigan. I should think the U-I bosses would have sense enough to realize that fact.

With a congressional investigation of gambling rackets in the headlines it was inevitable that the King Brothers, being opportunists, would announce plans for a crime picture to be titled "The Syndicate"—and inevitable, also, that the announcement would carry a postscript contending "But we don't intend to glamorize crime." I'm ready to concede that the postscript is literally true; the King Brothers don't intend to glamorize crime. But I have yet to see a Hollywood-made crime picture that lives up to that intention. I never expect to see one, as long as established stars are cast as criminals. In every case, the star's popularity must be taken into account; no matter what movie crimes he commits he is sure to be given redeeming qualities. The net result, despite the producer's intention, is the glamorization of crime.

Speaking of that congressional investigation, the lawmakers seem to be having considerable difficulty in finding a professional gambler who will admit that he knows anything about gambling. I'm wondering if they shouldn't subpoena a few actors. I've never yet met an actor who won't freely admit that he's an expert at every kind of wagering, from gin rummy to playing the ponies.

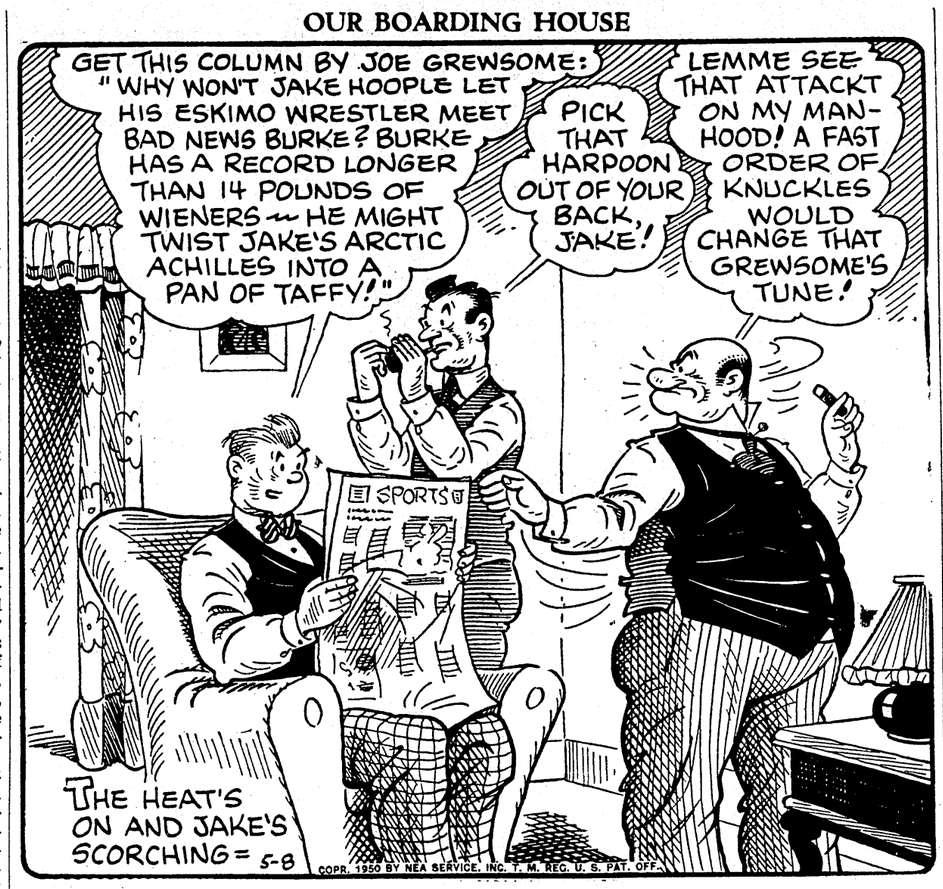
OUR BOARDING HOUSE



Looking Ahead—

In Washington

WASHINGTON—The army is setting up a program of war games—some of which may cost $1,000,000—to show soldiers and commanders how to fight anywhere from rainy jungle to icy Arctic.

Some of the exercises will be small but immensely important, designed mostly to teach key men the climate and terrain conditions under which they may some day have to defend North America.

Others will be comparatively big affairs, like a restaging next year of the airborne maneuvers just completed at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

One exercise, slated for next January and February, will involve establishing a jungle "airhead" in the Panama Canal Zone.

Tentative plans call for a battalion combat team, plus reinforcing elements, to be loaded in transport planes in the U. S. and sped to the judgle locale.

Fighters and fighter - bombers will support them.

At the other extreme, included in the Arctic program will be a series of "orientation" tours to which selected commanders will be assigned.

These trips, probably during this coming July and August, will take the officers to Alaska, the Aleutians, Canada, Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland. All are areas of deep significance in planning defense against attack from over the North Pole.

The 1951 Ft. Bragg maneuver plans call for pitting two airborne divisions—the 11th and the 82nd, which figured in this year's games—against each other in a campaign for capture of an objective wanted by each. The 3rd infantry division and some National Guard and anti-aircraft units also will be used, and officials say they expect the navy to participate as well as the army and air force.

While scheduled maneuvers include some reasonably large operations, none will be on the scale of the vast exercises conducted during World War II. One of those maneuvers, in the south, cost about $100,000,000.

McCarthy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The closest political and financial backers of Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.) think he is making hay for the Republicans with his communism-in-government charges.

This verdict comes from forks-of-the-creek Republicans—not from G. O. P. leaders here, some of whom would like to divorce the party from the case.

The result probably will be that McCarthy will continue to stir up the investigation by the Tydings foreign relations subcommittee.

Democrats are convinced the best way for them to answer the charges is to make a vigorous counter-attack on McCarthy personally, which they have already started. They moan, meanwhile, that denials never catch up in the public mind with accusations.

Crime Hunt Twist

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Kefawver (D.-Tenn.) plans a new twist in senate investigations. His crime hunters will hit the road to cities from coast to coast instead of calling witnesses into Washington.

The senate has approved a $150,000 investigation by a special committee headed by Kefauver, who proposed it.

"We'll probably spend as much time on the road as in Washington," he says. "A large number of cities have asked us to look into their local crime problems."

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

KILLING AMERICAN INDUSTRY

I hold in my hand some linen napkins. On a yellow paper label, so made that it can readily be removed from the napkin, appears small, badly printed lettering, the words "Soviet Union." The words, under our laws, should be "made in the Soviet Union."

These napkins were picked up in a chain store in Miami, Florida. They can be purchased anywhere in the United States, They sell at three for $1.00. Identical napkins made in the United States sell at $1.00 or $1.25 apiece.

The Soviet napkins are made by slave labor. The Russian government can dump them into this country at any price. Our labor cannot compete with slave labor. If Americans buy this Russian-made goods, they are putting American workers out of work and closing down American factories.

The best way is not bo buy anything made in Soviet Russia or in any of its satellites. The retailer, jobber or wholesaler who sells goods made outside the United States which is not properly labeled, breaks the law. He should be reported to your Chamber of Commerce and to the Labor Union of the particular industry. Also, write to me.

In the case of these napkins, they were labeled and therefore I am not citing the name of the seller. However, if you do not buy this stuff, he will not offer it.

The 1948 revision of the tariff has hit American manufacturers of linen goods hard. Producers of flax towels, tablecloths, napkins and such products are worried about the conference that is to be held at Torquay, England, beginning September 28. They fear that they will be put out of business.

They fear that the "new generosity" will be used to close down American factories just to show how good-natured and self-sacrificing we can be. A linen manufacturer writes me about the Torquay conference:

". . . Under the Tariff Act of 1930, any lowered tariffs that these sterling negotiators work out to favor certain good neighbor countries will give the same rate to that group of countries that is giving our particular industry one of its biggest fights for existence, namely the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and its satellites, Czechoslovakia, Poland and now China. . . ."

This is something that needs immediate attention. May I recommend that each American industry organize a management - labor committe, representing the best minds of managemeit and the Laborunions, to study this problem as it affects each individual industry? Certainly, Americans need protection when the state department is off on an Internationalist binge.

The same writer says:

". . . We here in the United States have no conception of the wide wage differences paid to workers in foreign countries. The countries affecting our industry most are the United Kingdom, with whom public opinion is certainly favorable, Belgium, of mixed feelings, Japan, now a practical ward of the United States, and the group of countries controlled both economically and politically by the U. S. S. R. in every instance, the wage levels of those countries are drastically below what has become known as the American standard of living. . . ."

The greatest danger is that we shall all discover too late that our industries have been ruined by unfair competition; that our workers are living on relief because they could not compete with slave labor. Then we shall all have to be taxed heavily to solve the probelm.

The other day a woolens man came to see me about this problem. Wool has, to a large extent, to be imported. So the American manufacturer and worker are squeezed two ways: First, by governmental price-fixing aimed to make America pay heavily in dollars for whatever raw materials it imports; and then by sending into this country competing finished goods at a price cheaper than the American manufacturer can charge because of his labor and tax costs.

It is a squeeze play that can only produce wholesale bankruptcies and eventually a lower wage scale in this country. Wages can be lowered in two ways: 1. The wage is actually cut; 2. The value of the dollar is reduced. Either way, it means bringing down the standard of living of the American people.

There is still time to fight this, but it can only be done by joint management - labor action with wide public support.

NOTEBOOK

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont.—(AP)—Justice isn't blind any more in this one time rip-roaring mining camp, but the justice of the peace is.

He is "Blind Bob" Bohn, who also operates a tavern and general store here and believes he is the west.

"I never heard of any others," he said, deftly mixing a highball. "I lost my eyes here in the mines back in 1920. I got blasted."

"Blind Bob", a pleasant voiced man of 50, is full of the lore of Montana's most famous gold mining camp.

"They took 300 to 500 million dollars out of Alder Gulch here. Nobody knows just how much," he said. "And there's still plenty of gold here." Lately however, the gulf probably hasn't produced as much gold as the pockets of visiting tourists.

Virginia City, once boisterous with 10,000 to 20,000 miners, was quietly rotting into just another ghost town of a fabulous past until a wealthy rancher, Charles Bovey, decided to restore its vanished flavor.

Bovey has been gradually rebuilding the town into a showcase of the west, combing the area for authentic historical relics.

"Last year we had about 100,000 tourists," said Blind Bob.

He is the grandson of George Gohn, who came here a few days after gold was first discovered in 1863. His pioneer grandfather was a member of the original committee of vigilantes who brought law and order into Montana territory at the end of a rope.

Some fourteen murdering road agents who were hanged by the vigilantes back in 1864 still lie on nearby cemetery hill.

"It's much quieter around here now," said Blind Bob. "About all I have to deal with as justice of the peace are fish and game violations and highway traffic cases."

There are only 315 permanent residents left and Bob can tell them all by their voices and many by the sound of their footsteps.

"Most of them still live by mining," he said. "The hills are full of mines, but only two are working now. But if they ever find the mother lode, you'll see this town come to life again."

That is the goal still of many oldtime miners here—the mother lode—a legendary deep lying parent rift of metal they feel may spill out more wealth than Virginia City ever knew in its heyday as "the richest place on earth."

Meanwhile, the tourists are helping to give the town an Indian summer prosperity.

Blind Bob knows by memory the exact location of the hundreds of items he stocks in his tavern store, a building that once housed Montana's territorial government. He says that lack of eyesight doesn't hamper him much behind the bar.

"My only worry is an occasional stranger who hands me a one dollar bill and tells me it's a five," he said. "And of course the jukebox gives me trouble.

"You see, I mix highballs by the sound of the gurgles. When the jukebox is going, it's hard to hear the gurgles. That's why I hate the jukebox," Blind Bob grinned. "It gets me so mixed up I can't see what I'm doing."

Pretty Poster Girl Dies Of Leukemia

CHICAGO, May 6. —(AP)— The pretty little poster girl of the leukemia research foundation died today — victim of the deadly blood cancer.

She was Donna Jean Soderberg, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Soderberg of Chicago. The child was stricken with the disease nearly a year ago.

Early this year doctors gave her ACTH, the new gland drug. She responded so well she was taken home for Easter. Soon thereafter, however, she was returned to a hospital for further treatment with the drug.

This time it failed to help.

RATIONED MORTGAGES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When the reconstruction finance corporation resumes buying home mortgages, it's certain to use a sort of "rationing" system to stretch out the $250,000,000 extra that congress gave it recently.

At the rate RFC finished off the previous $2,500,000,000 mortgage buying fund before purchases new money would last less than a month without ration-type regulations.

BASCOM N. TIMMONS

If you prefer your history fresh off the vine, watch developments in the congressional investigation of nation wide crime. At the moment it is playing second fiddle to McCarthy vs. communism, which is more like a movie, and has been given top billing by press and radio.

To veteran observers, there is something about this crime probe reminiscent of the oil scandals a quarter of a century ago, which cost the jobs of three cabinet officers and sent one of them to prison, scared the daylights out of the then all-powerful Republican party, and drove some rich men scurrying for cover.

The nationwide crime investigation is admittedly bad, with growing evidence of the vast power of interstate crime rings, jewel thieves and gambling syndicates. How high up the pyramid of politics the influence of these groups reaches is debatable, but public opinion seems to be that it goes pretty close to the top. That conviction has not been lessened by the hasty manner in which two stop-gap bills have been rushed to the senate by the department of justice and hearings begun on them immediately, without the usual preliminary field investigations.

That savors of the tactics of alarmed Republicans 25 years ago, when the senate public lands committee, headed by the late Senator Irvine Lenroot (Rep.-Wis.) tried to head off the full scale probe of the Teapot dome contracts and other unsavory oil deals by a surface scratching investigation, and only succeeded in sharpening public interest to a point where an all-out investigation became inevitable. The resulting probe, which ran for three years was directed by two Democrats, the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh and his Montana colleague, former Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Their drive and a staff of skilled investigators brought out the whole unsavory story, put former Secretary of Interior Albert Fall and Oilman Harry F. Sinclair in jail.

Had public confidence in Calvin Collidge not been so strong, and national prosperity so high, the Republicans could well have been voted out in 1928, rather than four years later.

The hurried questioning of mayors, big time gambling and officials of telegraph agencies by a subcommittee of the senate commerce committee is suspected here of being motivated by a desire of some high-up Democrats to head off a full-scale investigation by a special senate committee, asked in a resolution by Sen. Estes Kefauver (Dem.-Tenn.), who wants $150,000 for expenses, which would enable the committee to get some real evidence with which to confront witnesses.

As it is, the biggest figure in the alledged gambling syndicate, Frank Costello of New York City, just told the investigators he couldn't help them.

The two bills on tap would prohibit use of telegraphic facilities to transmit racing information to bookmakers and would ban interstate transportation of slot machines.

Unlike the surface scratching of 25 years ago, this inquiry hasn't produced a thing not already widely known. Perhaps it wasn't intended to. But Kefauver, who expects to be met with argument that the ground already has been covered, is going ahead, if he can get his resolution unblocked. However, that will probably be after the November elections.

A brash young man with a pretty girl and a swagger got on a senate office building elevator, said to the operator:

"We want to go to the room where they're investigating this big gangster, Franklin Costello. We want to see that crook."

Out of the corner of his mouth, the elevator operator muttered: "Just turn around buddy. He's standing in the back of this car."

There was deadly silence until the elevator stopped at the right floor. The packed occupants walked out without looking around, as if there were a gun in the middle of their backs. Then out walked Costello, looking at nobody out of his droopy eyes. The elevator operator insists he made the identification from news pictures.

William E. Gilroy, D. D.:

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The message of he Hebrew prophets was not all denunciatory. They saw the deep evils in personal lives and in society, and they spoke fearlessly in rebuking these evils. They saw the neglect of God's law and the perversion and corruption of religion among a people who had a great spiritual heritage—a chosen people who had renounced God's choice.

But deep in their message was the note of appeal, reminding the people of their heritage, and assuring them of God's mercy. The prophets had a gospel, for both individuals and society. It was a gospel of salvation and of true welfare for those who would turn from their evil and seek God's way.

Jesus said, concerning Old Testament religion, that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill, and the Gospel that He revealed was the fulfillment of the gospel that the prophets declared. The prophets seemed, at times, pessimists as they swelt upon the evil of their times, but the evils that they saw, both in individuals and in society, were very real.

A social reformer without a gospel is no reformer at all. The exposure of evil and corruption in our modern social and political life, particularly in the cities, has been known, expressively, as "much-raking."

Too often such exposure has not gone much beyond the raking over of the muck. Newspapers and magazines have published sensational articles, that have been read eagerly by the public, but either little is done about the situation, or things soon settle back into the old shameful conditions.

It is a good many years since Lincoln Steffens published his famous articles on the shame of the cities, but more recent "muckrakers" have shown that conditions are little better than they were then, though there are some considerable exceptions.

This, probably, is because the muckraking has had with it no gospel, no constructive power of regeneration. The prophets had a gospel. Those to whom they spoke did not always receive or accept it; they persisted in their old ways until destruction came upon them.

But there were more noble chapters in the life history of Israel. When Israel had been cast away in exile, prophets arose, who recounted the history that had brought about the downfall, but who expounded the mercy and forgiveness of God. They made so plain God's continuing call and choice that there was a glorious return from the exile, and a rebuilding of religious life in the Jewish homeland.

The world needs moral codes, judges. But above and beneath it all it needs a gospel. More specifically it needs Christ's gospel, and until statesmen and all leaders of men realize that, there is not much hope of the world peace and welfare for which we so much long, but have been unable to achieve.

Crime Hunt Twist

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Kefawver (D.-Tenn.) plans a new twist in senate investigations. His crime hunters will hit the road to cities from coast to coast instead of calling witnesses into Washington.

The senate has approved a $150,000 investigation by a special committee headed by Kefauver, who proposed it.

"We'll probably spend as much time on the road as in Washington," he says. "A large number of cities have asked us to look into their local crime problems."

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

KILLING AMERICAN INDUSTRY

I hold in my hand some linen napkins. On a yellow paper label, so made that it can readily be removed from the napkin, appears small, badly printed lettering, the words "Soviet Union." The words, under our laws, should be "made in the Soviet Union."

These napkins were picked up in a chain store in Miami, Florida. They can be purchased anywhere in the United States, They sell at three for $1.00. Identical napkins made in the United States sell at $1.00 or $1.25 apiece.

The Soviet napkins are made by slave labor. The Russian government can dump them into this country at any price. Our labor cannot compete with slave labor. If Americans buy this Russian-made goods, they are putting American workers out of work and closing down American factories.

The best way is not bo buy anything made in Soviet Russia or in any of its satellites. The retailer, jobber or wholesaler who sells goods made outside the United States which is not properly labeled, breaks the law. He should be reported to your Chamber of Commerce and to the Labor Union of the particular industry. Also, write to me.

In the case of these napkins, they were labeled and therefore I am not citing the name of the seller. However, if you do not buy this stuff, he will not offer it.

The 1948 revision of the tariff has hit American manufacturers of linen goods hard. Producers of flax towels, tablecloths, napkins and such products are worried about the conference that is to be held at Torquay, England, beginning September 28. They fear that they will be put out of business.

They fear that the "new generosity" will be used to close down American factories just to show how good-natured and self-sacrificing we can be. A linen manufacturer writes me about the Torquay conference:

". . . Under the Tariff Act of 1930, any lowered tariffs that these sterling negotiators work out to favor certain good neighbor countries will give the same rate to that group of countries that is giving our particular industry one of its biggest fights for existence, namely the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and its satellites, Czechoslovakia, Poland and now China. . . ."

This is something that needs immediate attention. May I recommend that each American industry organize a management-labor committe, representing the best minds of managemeit and the Laborunions, to study this problem as it affects each individual industry? Certainly, Americans need protection when the state department is off on an Internationalist binge.

The same writer says:

". . . We here in the United States have no conception of the wide wage differences paid to workers in foreign countries. The countries affecting our industry most are the United Kingdom, with whom public opinion is certainly favorable, Belgium, of mixed feelings, Japan, now a practical ward of the United States, and the group of countries controlled both economically and politically by the U. S. S. R. in every instance, the wage levels of those countries are drastically below what has become known as the American standard of living. . . ."

The greatest danger is that we shall all discover too late that our industries have been ruined by unfair competition; that our workers are living on relief because they could not compete with slave labor. Then we shall all have to be taxed heavily to solve the probelm.

The other day a woolens man came to see me about this problem. Wool has, to a large extent, to be imported. So the American manufacturer and worker are squeezed two ways: First, by governmental price-fixing aimed to make America pay heavily in dollars for whatever raw materials it imports; and then by sending into this country competing finished goods at a price cheaper than the American manufacturer can charge because of his labor and tax costs.

It is a squeeze play that can only produce wholesale bankruptcies and eventually a lower wage scale in this country. Wages can be lowered in two ways: 1. The wage is actually cut; 2. The value of the dollar is reduced. Either way, it means bringing down the standard of living of the American people.

There is still time to fight this, but it can only be done by joint management-labor action with wide public support.

NOTEBOOK

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont.—(AP)—Justice isn't blind any more in this one time rip-roaring mining camp, but the justice of the peace is.

He is "Blind Bob" Bohn, who also operates a tavern and general store here and believes he is the west.

"I never heard of any others," he said, deftly mixing a highball. "I lost my eyes here in the mines back in 1920. I got blasted."

"Blind Bob", a pleasant voiced man of 50, is full of the lore of Montana's most famous gold mining camp.

"They took 300 to 500 million dollars out of Alder Gulch here. Nobody knows just how much," he said. "And there's still plenty of gold here." Lately however, the gulf probably hasn't produced as much gold as the pockets of visiting tourists.

Virginia City, once boisterous with 10,000 to 20,000 miners, was quietly rotting into just another ghost town of a fabulous past until a wealthy rancher, Charles Bovey, decided to restore its vanished flavor.

Bovey has been gradually rebuilding the town into a showcase of the west, combing the area for authentic historical relics.

"Last year we had about 100,000 tourists," said Blind Bob.

He is the grandson of George Gohn, who came here a few days after gold was first discovered in 1863. His pioneer grandfather was a member of the original committee of vigilantes who brought law and order into Montana territory at the end of a rope.

Some fourteen murdering road agents who were hanged by the vigilantes back in 1864 still lie on nearby cemetery hill.

"It's much quieter around here now," said Blind Bob. "About all I have to deal with as justice of the peace are fish and game violations and highway traffic cases."

There are only 315 permanent residents left and Bob can tell them all by their voices and many by the sound of their footsteps.

"Most of them still live by mining," he said. "The hills are full of mines, but only two are working now. But if they ever find the mother lode, you'll see this town come to life again."

That is the goal still of many oldtime miners here—the mother lode—a legendary deep lying parent rift of metal they feel may spill out more wealth than Virginia City ever knew in its heyday as "the richest place on earth."

Meanwhile, the tourists are helping to give the town an Indian summer prosperity.

Blind Bob knows by memory the exact location of the hundreds of items he stocks in his tavern store, a building that once housed Montana's territorial government. He says that lack of eyesight doesn't hamper him much behind the bar.

"My only worry is an occasional stranger who hands me a one dollar bill and tells me it's a five," he said. "And of course the jukebox gives me trouble.

"You see, I mix highballs by the sound of the gurgles. When the jukebox is going, it's hard to hear the gurgles. That's why I hate the jukebox," Blind Bob grinned. "It gets me so mixed up I can't see what I'm doing."

Pretty Poster Girl Dies Of Leukemia

CHICAGO, May 6. —(AP)— The pretty little poster girl of the leukemia research foundation died today — victim of the deadly blood cancer.

She was Donna Jean Soderberg, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Soderberg of Chicago. The child was stricken with the disease nearly a year ago.

Early this year doctors gave her ACTH, the new gland drug. She responded so well she was taken home for Easter. Soon thereafter, however, she was returned to a hospital for further treatment with the drug.

This time it failed to help.

RATIONED MORTGAGES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When the reconstruction finance corporation resumes buying home mortgages, it's certain to use a sort of "rationing" system to stretch out the $250,000,000 extra that congress gave it recently.

At the rate RFC finished off the previous $2,500,000,000 mortgage buying fund before purchases new money would last less than a month without ration-type regulations.

Nation's Crude Oil Production Slumps

TULSA, Okla., May 6.—(AP)—After hitting the year's peak in the previous week, the country's daily average crude oil production slumped 17,100 barrels during the week ended April 29, the oil and gas journal reported.

The total daily average output was compiled by the journal at 4,943,025 barrels.

The bulk of the loss was centered in the mid-continent area, where Kansas dropped 11,150 barrels to 272,900 barrels and Oklahoma fell 11,950 to 423,750.

California was off 400 barrels to 857,600, the eastern fields declined 125 to 60,300, Florida fell 225 to 975, Michigan was off 200 to 44,400 and Mississippi dropped 150 to 97,350.

Illinois' increase of 3,700 barrels to 179,200 was the largest of the week. Wyoming rose 1,000 barrels to 160,100, that state's top for 1950.

Other gains were in Arkansas, up 250 barrels to 80,300; Indiana, up 700 to 28,500; Kentucky, 600 to 26,300; Louisiana, 250 to 513,450, and Montana, 600 to 24,500.

Texas, the nation's largest producer, was unchanged at 1,982,850 barrels, the state's record for the year first reached in the week ended April 8.

Others unchanged were Alabama, 1,450 barrels; Colorado, 58,800; Nebraska, 1,500; New Mexico 125,800, and Utah, 3,000.

Gas Well Near Natchez Is Temporarily Closed

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 6.—(AP)—Humble Oil Company's James Giles No. 1 was closed down today pending the transfer of lines and tanks to the wildcat well north of here.

Humble announced completion of the gas-distillate well and described it as a successful producer.

Before being closed the well flowed for four and one-half hours from perforations in the upper Tuscaloosa at 10,154-160 feet. It flowed at a daily average of 429,000 feet of gas and 115.2 barrels of 54.4 gravity condensate through a one-eighth inch choke.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Automobile stocks thrust ahead of a rising market today.

Elsewhere buying was highly selective. Many of the market's usual leaders were ignored in favor of a hand-picked group of oil, industrial and other shares.

A fair amount of business was done, with turnover showing a tendency to expand whenever demand sharpened. Sales touched a rate of about 1,000,000 shares for the two-hour session.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Stocks—higher, motors lead advance. Bonds—mixed, changes minor. Cotton — firm, export buying.

CHICAGO — Wheat — strong; adverse crop weather. Corn—firm with wheat. Oots — firm with wheat and corn. Hogs—nominally steady. Cattle—nominally steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP)—Soybean futures advanced sharply today, more than recovering the losses in yesterday's session, grains were firm with soybeans, with wheat up more than 2 cents a bushel at times.

Wheat closed 1 5/8 to 3 cents higher than the previous finish, May $2.34 1/4, corn was up 1 to 1 5/8, May $1.45 5/8-1/2, oats were 7/8 to 1 5/8 higher, May 84 3/4, rye was ahead 2 to 2 1/4, May $1.43 1/2, soybeans were 4 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents higher, May $3.16 1/2-3/4, and lard was 10 to 20 cents hundred pounds higher, May $12.30.

PREVENT ICE CRYSTALS

Gelatin, corn sirup, evaporated or condensed milk, eggs, and marshmallows are the ingredients that prevent the formation of large ice crystals in refrigerator ice cream, sherbets and mousses.

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today. Prices started steady and continued to improve under increased commission house and trade buying. The strong demand for cotton to cover export needs, as practically all of the ECA allocations call for prompt shipment, was responsible for strength in nearby contracts. A continuation of unfavorable crop comment from the western part of the cotton belt induced some short covering and new buying of new crop months.

Futures closed 50 cents to $1.75 a bale higher than the previous close.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16-inch spot cotton at 10 designated southern spot markets today was 60 cents a bale higher at 32.65 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days was 32.35; middling 7/8-inch average 31.15.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced here today on trade buying and heavy weekend short covering.

Closing prices were very steady 40 cents to 1.45 a bale higher.

Much of the demand was stimulated by the passage by the senate of the foreign aid bill, a good demand for spot cotton and strength in other markets.

Contracts were chiefly furnished by profit taking longs and hedge selling. Trading was moderately active for the short Saturday session.

Spot cotton advanced 50 cents a bale with middling 15/16 inch quoted at 32.35 cents a pound. Local sales totaled 5,822 bales.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF!

THIS TIME we'd like to tell you about something that you cannot see in this picture—something, in fact, you cannot know about from looking at someone else in a passing Buick—or from viewing a Buick on our showroom floor.

It's the feel you get from a Buick in motion.

You are going to find out that it is something like traveling on your own private, jet-propelled cloud—only firmer.

Maybe you know a stretch of washboard road, where you have to slow down, or bounce and jitter.

Try that in a Buick and see how you keep a level, comfortable boulevard smoothness.

Maybe you're always on edge to dodge dips and chuckholes. Those also lose most of their jolt when you're at the wheel of a Buick—or in the rear seat.

In a few simple words—the ride of any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—is out of this world.

We could give you a lot of reasons. Soft coil springs on all four wheels, for example—the firm linkage of the torque-tube drive—the distribution of weight—big soft tires on wide rims—the way Buick engines are mounted.

Even Dynaflow Drive*—always silk-smooth and free of geared-drive harshness—plays its part in the marvelous Buick ride.

But why simply listen to reasons? Experience is still the best teacher.

Come see for yourself why the Buick ride is called "matchless"—and how little it costs to replace a jitterbuggy with one of these level-striding honeys.

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflow AND WITH IT GOES: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Nation's Crude Oil Production Slumps

TULSA, Okla., May 6.—(AP)—After hitting the year's peak in the previous week, the country's daily average crude oil production slumped 17,100 barrels during the week ended April 29, the oil and gas journal reported.

The total daily average output was compiled by the journal at 4,943,025 barrels.

The bulk of the loss was centered in the mid-continent area, where Kansas dropped 11,150 barrels to 272,900 barrels and Oklahoma fell 11,950 to 423,750.

California was off 400 barrels to 857,600, the eastern fields declined 125 to 60,300, Florida fell 225 to 975, Michigan was off 200 to 44,400 and Mississippi dropped 150 to 97,350.

Illinois' increase of 3,700 barrels to 179,200 was the largest of the week. Wyoming rose 1,000 barrels to 160,100, that state's top for 1950.

Other gains were in Arkansas, up 250 barrels to 80,300; Indiana, up 700 to 28,500; Kentucky, 600 to 26,300; Louisiana, 250 to 513,450, and Montana, 600 to 24,500.

Texas, the nation's largest producer, was unchanged at 1,982,850 barrels, the state's record for the year first reached in the week ended April 8.

Others unchanged were Alabama, 1,450 barrels; Colorado, 58,800; Nebraska, 1,500; New Mexico 125,800, and Utah, 3,000.

Gas Well Near Natchez Is Temporarily Closed

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 6.—(AP)—Humble Oil Company's James Giles No. 1 was closed down today pending the transfer of lines and tanks to the wildcat well north of here.

Humble announced completion of the gas-distillate well and described it as a successful producer.

Before being closed the well flowed for four and one-half hours from perforations in the upper Tuscaloosa at 10,154-160 feet. It flowed at a daily average of 429,000 feet of gas and 115.2 barrels of 54.4 gravity condensate through a one-eighth inch choke.

COLLINSTON

The Collinston High senior class presented its class play, "Have A Heart," to a large and appreciative audience on the evening of April 28. The cast included the six class members: Patsy Higgs, Lois Horton, Margaret Clark, Clarence Boatner, Hue Roy Johnston, and T. B. Pratt, III.

School Principal Dale Lowrey has made the following announcements: Mrs. B. W. Hopgood's music class in recital in school auditorium at 7:30 p.m., May 26; commencement sermon by Rev. Norman Tilbury, in Methodist Church, at 11 a.m., May 28; commencement exercises in school auditorium at 8 p.m., June 2; school closes June 8.

The Collinston 4-H Club was awarded the banner in Morehouse parish achievement day events.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Automobile stocks thrust ahead of a rising market today.

Elsewhere buying was highly selective. Many of the market's usual leaders were ignored in favor of a hand-picked group of oil, industrial and other shares.

A fair amount of business was done, with turnover showing a tendency to expand whenever demand sharpened. Sales touched a rate of about 1,000,000 shares for the two-hour session.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Stocks—higher, motors lead advance. Bonds—mixed, changes minor. Cotton — firm, export buying.

CHICAGO — Wheat — strong; adverse crop weather. Corn—firm with wheat. Oots — firm with wheat and corn. Hogs—nominally steady. Cattle—nominally steady.

Curbs

Cities Service 78 1/2. Electric Bond and Share 20 3/8, Humble Oil 89.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP)—Soybean futures advanced sharply today, more than recovering the losses in yesterday's session, grains were firm with soybeans, with wheat up more than 2 cents a bushel at times.

Wheat closed 1 5/8 to 3 cents higher than the previous finish, May $2.34 1/4, corn was up 1 to 1 5/8, May $1.45 5/8-1/2, oats were 7/8 to 1 5/8 higher, May 84 3/4, rye was ahead 2 to 2 1/4, May $1.43 1/2, soybeans were 4 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents higher, May $3.16 1/2-3/4, and lard was 10 to 20 cents hundred pounds higher, May $12.30.

PREVENT ICE CRYSTALS

Gelatin, corn sirup, evaporated or condensed milk, eggs, and marshmallows are the ingredients that prevent the formation of large ice crystals in refrigerator ice cream, sherbets and mousses.

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today. Prices started steady and continued to improve under increased commission house and trade buying. The strong demand for cotton to cover export needs, as practically all of the ECA allocations call for prompt shipment, was responsible for strength in nearby contracts. A continuation of unfavorable crop comment from the western part of the cotton belt induced some short covering and new buying of new crop months.

Futures closed 50 cents to $1.75 a bale higher than the previous close.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16-inch spot cotton at 10 designated southern spot markets today was 60 cents a bale higher at 32.65 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days was 32.35; middling 7/8-inch average 31.15.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced here today on trade buying and heavy weekend short covering.

Closing prices were very steady 40 cents to 1.45 a bale higher.

Much of the demand was stimulated by the passage by the senate of the foreign aid bill, a good demand for spot cotton and strength in other markets.

Contracts were chiefly furnished by profit taking longs and hedge selling. Trading was moderately active for the short Saturday session.

Spot cotton advanced 50 cents a bale with middling 15/16 inch quoted at 32.35 cents a pound. Local sales totaled 5,822 bales.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF!

THIS TIME we'd like to tell you about something that you cannot see in this picture—something, in fact, you cannot know about from looking at someone else in a passing Buick—or from viewing a Buick on our showroom floor.

It's the feel you get from a Buick in motion.

You are going to find out that it is something like traveling on your own private, jet-propelled cloud—only firmer.

Maybe you know a stretch of washboard road, where you have to slow down, or bounce and jitter.

Try that in a Buick and see how you keep a level, comfortable boulevard smoothness.

Maybe you're always on edge to dodge dips and chuckholes. Those also lose most of their jolt when you're at the wheel of a Buick—or in the rear seat.

In a few simple words—the ride of any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—is out of this world.

We could give you a lot of reasons. Soft coil springs on all four wheels, for example—the firm linkage of the torque-tube drive—the distribution of weight—big soft tires on wide rims—the way Buick engines are mounted.

Even Dynaflow Drive*—always silk-smooth and free of geared-drive harshness—plays its part in the marvelous Buick ride.

But why simply listen to reasons? Experience is still the best teacher.

Come see for yourself why the Buick ride is called "matchless"—and how little it costs to replace a jitterbuggy with one of these level-striding honeys.

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflow AND WITH IT GOES: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Elected Vice - President Of B. M. I. Taking Effect On May 1

Louie E. Mathis, manager of the Monroe B. M. I., has just been elected vice-president of the two business schools, located in Longview, Tex., and Monroe. Mr. Mathis has had long business experience in the feild of business education. His new position was made effective on May 1, 1950 and he will have complete charge of the Monroe school.

He assumed his present position in June of 1937, after spending two years as registrar of B. M. I. at Longview. Under his direction this school has served many hundreds of young people who are found in good positions throughout the country. Mr. Mathis has als been active in civic, church and fraternal work in Monroe. He was elected to the board of directors of the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1937, became its president in 1940, holding this office for two years. During 1939 and 1940 and again in 1947, he served as cabinet secretary and treasurer of Lions International, District 8, which included the entire state of Louisiana.

In 1940 and 1941 Mr. Mathis served the Monroe Lions Club as its president, and represented the club as its delegate to the Lions International Convention in Harvana, Cuba, in July 1940. In 1942 he became the secretary-treasurer of the Lions Club and served in this capacity for three years.

Mr. Mathis has served for the past six years on the exceutive board of the Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America and is now vice-president. In January, 1949, he was awarded a five year veteran certificate, and received the Boy Scouts of America's Silver Beaver Award for distinguished service to boyhood. He was a member of the board of directors of the Southwestern Private Commercial Schools Association in 1947 and 1948. He is a member of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, and has served the Men's Bible Class as vice-president. Mr. Mathis has also been active in Red Cross, Community Chest and Crippled Children's work.

In 1941 he was married to Miss Lucille Robinson of Jonesboro, Louisiana, and she has been associated with the Monroe B. M. I. since that time at the head of the shorthand and English department.

He has been re-elected secretary-treasurer again to take effect next July first.

UN President Leaves For Home In Philippines

He said he would help in the organization May 26 of a conference of southeastern Asia nations.

"The meeting is not against anybody. I repeat, it is not an anti-Communist meeting," Romulo said.

P.-T. A. APPROVES CITY ELECTION

Bond Issue On May 23 For Improved School Facilities Gets Okay

The Twin-City Council P.-T. A. went on record at the meeting last Thursday to adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS, the Monroe City School Board has called an election for May 23 to vote a bond issue for the expansion and development of the Monroe schools; and

WHEREAS, the plans for improvement and enlargement of the educational facilities of the Monroe school system are based on a survey made by the research department of the School of Education of Louisiana State University and a specialist from the United States office of education; and

WHEREAS, the plans formulated are those which are recognized as necessary to prepare the youth of our community to meet the demands of present-day living; and

WHEREAS, the benefits to be derived will for our children and our community for the years to come;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. go on record as endorsing the act of the Monroe City School Board in calling the bond election and that they offer their cooperation in the activities necessary to effect the plans of the school board.

5,000 Austrians Are Behind Iron Curtain

VIENNA, Austria, May 6.—(AP)—There is growing concern in this country over 5,000 Austrian prisoners-of-war the government says are still being held in Russia.

Sources at the interior ministry report that no mail has been received from any of them since last October. Prior to that time relatives here had received letters at regular intervals.

The Russians said this week that all German prisoners had been repatriated.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL CLOSING YEAR

Holds Final Meeting And Installs New Officials

The final meeting for this year of the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. was brought to a close Thursday, May 4, with the installation of officers. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero heads the association as president; with Mrs. Paul Thompson, second vice-president; and Mrs. O. B. Copeland, treasurer. The installation service was executed in a capable manner by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese.

The annual reports of the outstanding committee chairmen were made as follows: 1. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, membership chairman, reported a membership of 3769, a gain of 280 members for the year. 2. Mrs. E. H. Scott, publicity chairman, reported excellent publicity had been given the council and its activities. 3. Mrs. Paul Thompson, hospitality chairman, reported the hospitality extended at regular meetings, teas, and at the state convention. 4. Mrs. George Varino, legislative chairman, reported that the state legislature would be in session next week in Baton Rouge, and the committee would be on hand to carry out the legislative program. 5. Mrs. M. L. Causey, magazine chairman, reported 220 subscriptions to the National Parent Teacher magazine.

6. Mrs. Stanley Hodges, goals chairman, reported all 11 local units of the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. were awarded a goal certificate. 7. Mrs. L. A. Salter, summer round-up chairman, reported some units had successfully carried out their program, while the others are doing so in the near future. 8. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, auditing chairman, reported the books of the treasurer were correct and in good order. 9. Mrs. F. H. Peterson, study group chairman, reported study groups held on preschool and school-age child, as well as parent education. 10. Mrs. L. G. Cook, welfare chairman, reported all money in welfare fund had been used to secure health needs and clothing for needy children in the Twin Cities, and expressed hope for the fund to be enlarged next year.

Mrs. Julius Irving ended up her term of office by thanking these chairmen for their splendid work and expressed that a rising vote of thanks be given Mrs. E. H. Scott, publicity chairman, and expressed regrets that she is moving to Lafayette. She also requested a card of thanks be sent to Dan Caldwell, who is ill, for his faithful service in office and his capable management of the finances of the state convention. Mrs. Irving presented Mrs. Guerriero with her procedure book, a valuable source of information compiled during the two years of office, as Mrs. Guerriero took over the gavel.

Mrs. Guerriero announced that Mrs. Carl Thompson, Central Grammar, had been named chairman of the "School of Instruction." A tentative date was set for Thursday, September 14, 9-12 a.m.

Mrs. James Larkan, fifth district director, announced that the "P.-T. A. Workshop" would be held at L. S. U. on June 14-16; meals and transportation would be the only expense involved.

A play based on Merlin, the magician in King Arthur's court, was discussed as a possibility for raising funds for the council. This professional play will be touring this part of the country in November.

LOUIE MATHIS IS RECOGNIZED

Louie E. Mathis, manager of the Monroe B. M. I., has just been elected vice-president of the two business schools, located in Longview, Tex., and Monroe. Mr. Mathis has had long business experience in the feild of business education. His new position was made effective on May 1, 1950 and he will have complete charge of the Monroe school.

He assumed his present position in June of 1937, after spending two years as registrar of B. M. I. at Longview. Under his direction this school has served many hundreds of young people who are found in good positions throughout the country. Mr. Mathis has als been active in civic, church and fraternal work in Monroe. He was elected to the board of directors of the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1937, became its president in 1940, holding this office for two years. During 1939 and 1940 and again in 1947, he served as cabinet secretary and treasurer of Lions International, District 8, which included the entire state of Louisiana.

In 1940 and 1941 Mr. Mathis served the Monroe Lions Club as its president, and represented the club as its delegate to the Lions International Convention in Harvana, Cuba, in July 1940. In 1942 he became the secretary-treasurer of the Lions Club and served in this capacity for three years.

Mr. Mathis has served for the past six years on the exceutive board of the Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America and is now vice-president. In January, 1949, he was awarded a five year veteran certificate, and received the Boy Scouts of America's Silver Beaver Award for distinguished service to boyhood. He was a member of the board of directors of the Southwestern Private Commercial Schools Association in 1947 and 1948. He is a member of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, and has served the Men's Bible Class as vice-president. Mr. Mathis has also been active in Red Cross, Community Chest and Crippled Children's work.

In 1941 he was married to Miss Lucille Robinson of Jonesboro, Louisiana, and she has been associated with the Monroe B. M. I. since that time at the head of the shorthand and English department.

He has been re-elected secretary-treasurer again to take effect next July first.

P.-T. A. APPROVES CITY ELECTION

Bond Issue On May 23 For Improved School Facilities Gets Okay

The Twin-City Council P.-T. A. went on record at the meeting last Thursday to adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS, the Monroe City School Board has called an election for May 23 to vote a bond issue for the expansion and development of the Monroe schools; and

WHEREAS, the plans for improvement and enlargement of the educational facilities of the Monroe school system are based on a survey made by the research department of the School of Education of Louisiana State University and a specialist from the United States office of education; and

WHEREAS, the plans formulated are those which are recognized as necessary to prepare the youth of our community to meet the demands of present-day living; and

WHEREAS, the benefits to be derived will for our children and our community for the years to come;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. go on record as endorsing the act of the Monroe City School Board in calling the bond election and that they offer their cooperation in the activities necessary to effect the plans of the school board.

5,000 Austrians Are Behind Iron Curtain

VIENNA, Austria, May 6.—(AP)—There is growing concern in this country over 5,000 Austrian prisoners-of-war the government says are still being held in Russia.

Sources at the interior ministry report that no mail has been received from any of them since last October. Prior to that time relatives here had received letters at regular intervals.

The Russians said this week that all German prisoners had been repatriated.

UN President Leaves For Home In Philippines

He said he would help in the organization May 26 of a conference of southeastern Asia nations.

"The meeting is not against anybody. I repeat, it is not an anti-Communist meeting," Romulo said.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL CLOSING YEAR

Holds Final Meeting And Installs New Officials

The final meeting for this year of the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. was brought to a close Thursday, May 4, with the installation of officers. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero heads the association as president; with Mrs. Paul Thompson, second vice-president; and Mrs. O. B. Copeland, treasurer. The installation service was executed in a capable manner by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese.

The annual reports of the outstanding committee chairmen were made as follows: 1. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, membership chairman, reported a membership of 3769, a gain of 280 members for the year. 2. Mrs. E. H. Scott, publicity chairman, reported excellent publicity had been given the council and its activities. 3. Mrs. Paul Thompson, hospitality chairman, reported the hospitality extended at regular meetings, teas, and at the state convention. 4. Mrs. George Varino, legislative chairman, reported that the state legislature would be in session next week in Baton Rouge, and the committee would be on hand to carry out the legislative program. 5. Mrs. M. L. Causey, magazine chairman, reported 220 subscriptions to the National Parent Teacher magazine.

6. Mrs. Stanley Hodges, goals chairman, reported all 11 local units of the Twin-City Council P.-T. A. were awarded a goal certificate. 7. Mrs. L. A. Salter, summer round-up chairman, reported some units had successfully carried out their program, while the others are doing so in the near future. 8. Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, auditing chairman, reported the books of the treasurer were correct and in good order. 9. Mrs. F. H. Peterson, study group chairman, reported study groups held on preschool and school-age child, as well as parent education. 10. Mrs. L. G. Cook, welfare chairman, reported all money in welfare fund had been used to secure health needs and clothing for needy children in the Twin Cities, and expressed hope for the fund to be enlarged next year.

Mrs. Julius Irving ended up her term of office by thanking these chairmen for their splendid work and expressed that a rising vote of thanks be given Mrs. E. H. Scott, publicity chairman, and expressed regrets that she is moving to Lafayette. She also requested a card of thanks be sent to Dan Caldwell, who is ill, for his faithful service in office and his capable management of the finances of the state convention. Mrs. Irving presented Mrs. Guerriero with her procedure book, a valuable source of information compiled during the two years of office, as Mrs. Guerriero took over the gavel.

Mrs. Guerriero announced that Mrs. Carl Thompson, Central Grammar, had been named chairman of the "School of Instruction." A tentative date was set for Thursday, September 14, 9-12 a.m.

Mrs. James Larkan, fifth district director, announced that the "P.-T. A. Workshop" would be held at L. S. U. on June 14-16; meals and transportation would be the only expense involved.

A play based on Merlin, the magician in King Arthur's court, was discussed as a possibility for raising funds for the council. This professional play will be touring this part of the country in November.

N.J.C. TACKLES IMPRESSIVE GRID SCHEDULE

REDSKINS START PLAY IN BIG SIX J. C. CONFERENCE

Malone Announces Ten-Game Slate; Six To Be Played In Monroe

The most impressive schedule ever attempted by the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians looms before the Redmen for the 1950 fall campaign as the local collegians launch play in the new Big Six Junior College Conference which is already being regarded as a major circuit of J. C. elevens.

James L. Malone, athletic director and head coach at N. J. C., announced the ten-game schedule with little more comment than: "Monroe will be fortunate enough to have the Little Rock Junior College, 1949 national champions, and Tyler Junior College, runner-up for the national crown and kingpins of the 1949 Texas Rose Bowl, playing in Monroe this year."

But the schedule speaks for itself and junior college football followers should quickly recognize the fact that the strongest teams in this section of the country will be battling the Big Six Tribe this year.

Poteau of Oklahoma, Kilgore of Texas, Paris of Texas, John McNeese of Louisiana, Panola of Texas, Tyler of Texas, Southwest Mississippi, Little Rock, Cameron Aggies of Oklahoma, and Northwest Mississippi round out the schedule that includes games with all conference opponents.

It will mark the first season of competition in an organized conference for the Tribe. The schedule opens with Poteau and closes with Northwest Mississippi.

Every game will be played on a Thursday night with the exception of the final which is dated for Tuesday. Coach Malone said he had made special arrangements to get his games here on Thursday to avoid conflicting with the numerous high school dates of this section which regularly fall on Friday.

Conference opponents will be Kilgore, Paris, John McNeese, Tyler and Cameron Aggies. Kilgore and McNeese are not new to the Tribe schedule, but the addition of Paris, Tyler, and Cameron greatly strengthens the bill of fare here.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 21—Poteau, here.

By J. P. Friend

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., May 6.—(Special)—When the Greenwood Dodgers suspended Joe Colasinski for reportedly being AWOL they not only lost their all-star catcher, but the league-leading hitter.

Official records of the Cotton States League for the second week of play as compiled by the Friend News Service credit the Dodger receiver with a .407 batting average. The figures include the period ending May 2, night games.

Colasinski, appearing in 10 games, rapped out 11 hits in 27 times at bat. All were singles except one double. He has batted in six mates.

Bob Kurtz, Pine Bluff third baseman, fell from his lofty .448 perch of last week with a resounding thud into second place .380, representing 19 hits in 50 tries, and 17 runs batted in. He has four doubles.

Hal Bollinger, Pine Bluff shortstop, skidded from .424 to .373 yet slipped up a notch to third place in the batting parade. Dom Chiola El Dorado second sacker, bagged seven hits out of 17 attempts and upped his mace mark to .372 and fourth. Alex Cosmidis, Hot Springs, muscled in on the Big Five bracket with 11 out of 26, a jump from .292 to .360. He hit safely in all six games during the week, rapping a double and pair of triples during the bat spree.

Vic Fassero, Pine Bluff, heads the second division of swatters with .348, as compared to .379 for the initial week. Jerry Lynch, Greenville, went into a batting tailspin but recovered at .345, a fall from .433. Following included Roy Coss, El Dorado outfielder, with .340, a gain of 16 decimals: Jim Gilbert, Natchez, .333, 12-point decline; and Joe Decker El Dorado, .333. He was hitting at a lusty clip .375 at first.

Club batting honors go to Pine Bluff with .315. Clarksdale is fielding .963.

Averages for the period ending May 2:

Bathers, Sports Rained Out; Meet Again Today

The Monroe Sports and the Hot Springs Bathers were rained out last night in their scheduled second meeting at Hot Springs; but are due to tie up again there this afternoon, weather permitting.

After the session with the Spas, the Men of Mazur move on to Pine Bluff for two games Monday and Tuesday. Then they return home, meeting Hot Springs here Wednesday and Thursday and taking on Pine Bluff in the local park Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Skeet Shooters Will Be Busy Again Today

Skeet shooters of this area are slated to turnout today for another afternoon of target sport at the Monroe Skeet Club's range, Plum and South Sixth streets, and S. K. Bernheim, co-range manager, is renewing his challenge to the youngsters and women to get acquainted with the sport and accept personal instruction in the shotgun art.

Improvements are being steadily made at the range. The city already made electricity available to the range and by mid-summer night shooting is expected to begin. A telephone has been installed, and other improvements made.

Monroe shooters, a team of "Toby" Bancroft, Ross Graves, J. B. Thoman, Glen Anderson, and Bill Andrews, last Sunday won its second straight inter-city shoot from Vicksburg, Miss. In addition, the usual free-lance shooting took place at the range here last week with Jim Steele's 49x50 the best skeet score although Earl Andrews cracked 116x125; and "Toby" Bancroft had the best trap score with 69x75.

Balks, Squawks, All Those Walks Help Extend Monroe Ball Games

"The time has come, John Q. Fan said,
To talk of certain things
Of balks and squawks and many walks
and why time does not wing."

This futile parody of Lewis N. Carroll's immortal words carries more truth than poetry, verily, what with the long, drawn-out affairs which are being witnessed this rainy, unusual spring which has seen a host of odd happenings dotting the diamond map. Here in Monroe, the fans, being treated to their first dose of organized baseball in almost a decade, are wondering if it is what they've been missing for lo! these many years, or is the whole doggone thing upset.

Hunting back through the records disclosing some meaty facts which digested thoroughly will give one a case of horsehide indigestion, but for the hardy baseball devotee it merely whets the appetite.

For instance, through the primary 14 donnybrooks of the 1950 season the Men of Mazur have averaged just under two hours and thirty minutes per game. Their longest session occured on April 26 when they took 15 minutes less than three hours to vanquish Cousin Chet Morgan's crew from Clarksdale, 6-4. Included in that encounter such miscellaneous intelligence was gathered as 20 bases on balls; three balks; a passed ball and a wild pitch; and 14 hits, five of them for the locals in a horrendous exhibition. Monroe did perform in one more extended affair, that on April 21 when they went 12 innings in 3:25 hours for a 10-8 loss.

So far the Sports have seen their chuckers commit nine balks while the opposition has had the hands raised by the men in blue on six occasions. The preponderance of balks could be responsible for the fact that the shortest game, involving the local entry, was a 2:02 semi-marathon tie-up.

their first 14 tilts, their hurlers have performed valiantly. So far,

Of Monroe's eight victories in Cliff Coggins paces the chunkers with three complete games, all victories. Billy Muffett has two nine inning chores while Bridegroom Joe Davis and Jim Burns of Hopkinsville, Ky., suh, have one each.

All told, Monroe hurlers had allowed a total of 97 safeties through Thursday night's game, a very creditable average of slightly less than seven per game. In return opposition hurlers have limited Monroyans to 92 hits, about 6.5 bingles per game . . . and weren't those .5 runs each game hard to keep track of?

Trotters Battling Cuban Giants Today

The Harlem Globetrotters professional Negro baseball club, in spring training here for the past several days, launch their 1950 campaign here today against the Brooklyn Cuban Giants at 2:45 o'clock at Casino Park.

The Globetrotters have a five-game schedule this week for northeast Louisiana before taking off for Texas in a continuance of the campaign that is expected to take them to all states of the union and into Canada.

After the game here today, they appear again at Casino Park Wednesday night. Tomorrow night they play at Lake Providence, move into Columbia Tuesday night and play at Winnsboro Thursday night.

The Harlems, who won 110 and lost only 19 last year, have four Louisiana players and the former skipper of the New Orleans Creoles in their camp. Leamon Johnson, Monroe, is with the Globetrotters along with John Williams, Shreveport, Herb Simpson and Eugene Hardin, New Orleans, and Paul Hardy, present Harlem manager and former pilot of the New Orleans club.

Special seats will be reserved for white fans.

N.J.C. TACKLES IMPRESSIVE GRID SCHEDULE

REDSKINS START PLAY IN BIG SIX J. C. CONFERENCE

Malone Announces Ten-Game Slate; Six To Be Played In Monroe

The most impressive schedule ever attempted by the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians looms before the Redmen for the 1950 fall campaign as the local collegians launch play in the new Big Six Junior College Conference which is already being regarded as a major circuit of J. C. elevens.

"Monroe will be fortunate enough to have the Little Rock Junior College, 1949 national champions, and Tyler Junior College, runner-up for the national crown and kingpins of the 1949 Texas Rose Bowl, playing in Monroe this year."

But the schedule speaks for itself and junior college football followers should quickly recognize the fact that the strongest teams in this section of the country will be battling the Big Six Tribe this year.

Poteau of Oklahoma, Kilgore of Texas, Paris of Texas, John McNeese of Louisiana, Panola of Texas, Tyler of Texas, Southwest Mississippi, Little Rock, Cameron Aggies of Oklahoma, and Northwest Mississippi round out the schedule that includes games with all conference opponents.

It will mark the first season of competition in an organized conference for the Tribe. The schedule opens with Poteau and closes with Northwest Mississippi.

Every game will be played on a Thursday night with the exception of the final which is dated for Tuesday. Coach Malone said he had made special arrangements to get his games here on Thursday to avoid conflicting with the numerous high school dates of this section which regularly fall on Friday.

Conference opponents will be Kilgore, Paris, John McNeese, Tyler and Cameron Aggies. Kilgore and McNeese are not new to the Tribe schedule, but the addition of Paris, Tyler, and Cameron greatly strengthens the bill of fare here.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 21—Poteau, here.
Sept. 28—Kilgore at Kilgore, Tex.
Oct. 5—Paris J. C. at Paris, Tex.
Oct. 12—John McNeese at Lake Charles.
Oct. 19—Panola at Carthage, Tex.
Oct. 26—Tyler J. C., here.
Nov. 2—Southwest Mississippi, here.
Nov. 9—Little Rock, here.
Nov. 16—Cameron State Agricultural College, here.
Nov. 28—Northwest Mississippi, here.

By J. P. Friend

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., May 6.—(Special)—When the Greenwood Dodgers suspended Joe Colasinski for reportedly being AWOL they not only lost their all-star catcher, but the league-leading hitter.

Official records of the Cotton States League for the second week of play as compiled by the Friend News Service credit the Dodger receiver with a .407 batting average. The figures include the period ending May 2, night games.

Colasinski, appearing in 10 games, rapped out 11 hits in 27 times at bat. All were singles except one double. He has batted in six mates.

Bob Kurtz, Pine Bluff third baseman, fell from his lofty .448 perch of last week with a resounding thud into second place .380, representing 19 hits in 50 tries, and 17 runs batted in. He has four doubles.

Hal Bollinger, Pine Bluff shortstop, skidded from .424 to .373 yet slipped up a notch to third place in the batting parade. Dom Chiola El Dorado second sacker, bagged seven hits out of 17 attempts and upped his mace mark to .372 and fourth. Alex Cosmidis, Hot Springs, muscled in on the Big Five bracket with 11 out of 26, a jump from .292 to .360. He hit safely in all six games during the week, rapping a double and pair of triples during the bat spree.

Vic Fassero, Pine Bluff, heads the second division of swatters with .348, as compared to .379 for the initial week. Jerry Lynch, Greenville, went into a batting tailspin but recovered at .345, a fall from .433. Following included Roy Coss, El Dorado outfielder, with .340, a gain of 16 decimals; Jim Gilbert, Natchez, .333, 12-point decline; and Joe Decker El Dorado, .333. He was hitting at a lusty clip .375 at first.

Club batting honors go to Pine Bluff with .315. Clarksdale is fielding .963.

Averages for the period ending May 2:

Skeet Shooters Will Be Busy Again Today

Skeet shooters of this area are slated to turnout today for another afternoon of target sport at the Monroe Skeet Club's range, Plum and South Sixth streets, and S. K. Bernheim, co-range manager, is renewing his challenge to the youngsters and women to get acquainted with the sport and accept personal instruction in the shotgun art.

Improvements are being steadily made at the range. The city already made electricity available to the range and by mid-summer night shooting is expected to begin. A telephone has been installed, and other improvements made.

Monroe shooters, a team of "Toby" Bancroft, Ross Graves, J. B Thoman, Glen Anderson, and Bill Andrews, last Sunday won its second straight inter-city shoot from Vicksburg, Miss. In addition, the usual free-lance shooting took place at the range here last week with Jim Steele's 49x50 the best skeet score although Earl Andrews cracked 116x125; and "Toby" Bancroft had the best trap score with 69x75.

Balks, Squawks, All Those Walks Help Extend Monroe Ball Games

"The time has come, John Q. Fan said,
To talk of certain things
Of balks and squawks and many walks
and why time does not wing."

This futile parody of Lewis N. Carroll's immortal words carries more truth than poetry, verily, what with the long, drawn-out affairs which are being witnessed this rainy, unusual spring which has seen a host of odd happenings dotting the diamond map. Here in Monroe, the fans, being treated to their first dose of organized baseball in almost a decade, are wondering if it is what they've been missing for lo! these many years, or is the whole doggone thing upset.

Hunting back through the records disclosing some meaty facts which digested thoroughly will give one a case of horsehide indigestion, but for the hardy baseball devotee it merely whets the appetite.

For instance, through the primary 14 donnybrooks of the 1950 season the Men of Mazur have averaged just under two hours and thirty minutes per game. Their longest session occured on April 26 when they took 15 minutes less than three hours to vanquish Cousin Chet Morgan's crew from Clarksdale, 6-4. Included in that encounter such miscellaneous intelligence was gathered as 20 bases on balls; three balks; a passed ball and a wild pitch; and 14 hits, five of them for the locals in a horrendous exhibition. Monroe did perform in one more extended affair, that on April 21 when they went 12 innings in 3:25 hours for a 10-8 loss.

So far the Sports have seen their chuckers commit nine balks while the opposition has had the hands raised by the men in blue on six occasions. The preponderance of balks could be responsible for the fact that the shortest game, involving the local entry, was a 2:02 semi-marathon tie-up.

their first 14 tilts, their hurlers have performed valiantly. So far,

Of Monroe's eight victories in Cliff Coggins paces the chunkers with three complete games, all victories. Billy Muffett has two nine inning chores while Bridegroom Joe Davis and Jim Burns of Hopkinsville, Ky., suh, have one each.

All told, Monroe hurlers had allowed a total of 97 safeties through Thursday night's game, a very creditable average of slightly less than seven per game. In return opposition hurlers have limited Monroyans to 92 hits, about 6.5 bingles per game . . . and weren't those .5 runs each game hard to keep track of?

Trotters Battling Cuban Giants Today

The Harlem Globetrotters professional Negro baseball club, in spring training here for the past several days, launch their 1950 campaign here today against the Brooklyn Cuban Giants at 2:45 o'clock at Casino Park.

The Globetrotters have a five-game schedule this week for northeast Louisiana before taking off for Texas in a continuance of the campaign that is expected to take them to all states of the union and into Canada.

After the game here today, they appear again at Casino Park Wednesday night. Tomorrow night they play at Lake Providence, move into Columbia Tuesday night and play at Winnsboro Thursday night.

The Harlems, who won 110 and lost only 19 last year, have four Louisiana players and the former skipper of the New Orleans Creoles in their camp. Leamon Johnson, Monroe, is with the Globetrotters along with John Williams, Shreveport, Herb Simpson and Eugene Hardin, New Orleans, and Paul Hardy, present Harlem manager and former pilot of the New Orleans club.

Special seats will be reserved for white fans.

FIVE HOME RUNS FEATURE BOSTON VICTORY MARCH

CINCINNATI, May 6. —(AP)— Setting a new National League record for the number of home runs in three consecutive games, the Boston Braves continued their murderous march through the west today with a 15 to 11 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Braves pounded Cincinnati pitchers for five homers today to run their total to 13 for the three game series here. The old record of 12 was set by the New York Giants on July 1, 2 and 3, 1947.

The Braves' pulverizing attack now has produced 55 runs in their last four contests—three here and one in Pittsburgh. They have 15 homers in that collection.

Sid Gordon, Earl Torgeson, Bob Elliott, Willard Marshall and Luis Olmo hit the homers today for the Braves. In the three games here Torgeson got three, Sam Jethroe, Marshall, Elliott and Gordon wo each and Connie Ryan and Olmo one each. It was Olmo's ninth inning blow that broke the record.

Against that kind of slugging the Reds never had a chance. Scoring in each of the first five innings, the Braves piled up a huge 13 to 3 lead before the hapless Reds started fighting back.

They got a couple of circuit blows for themselves, too, with Grady Hatton and Ron Northey providing the big wallops.

The Braves clubbed five Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits and gave Ken Raffensberger his fourth straight defeat of the season. Boston had to call on three hurlers to keep the Redsunder submission in the late frames and the winner was rookie Norman Roy.

CUBS DUMP DODGERS

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP)—Preston Ward singled home Phil Cavarretta from third in the tenth inning today to give the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the Cubs' second straight ten inning triumph over the Brooks.

Cavarretta singled with two out in the extra inning and when Duke Snider let the ball go through him for an error, Cavarretta raced to third. Ward, a former Dodger, then singled to right to win the game.

Fourth inning home runs by Wayne Terwilliger, Ward and Andy Pafko accounted for the other Chicago runs. George Shuba and Snider homered for the Dodgers.

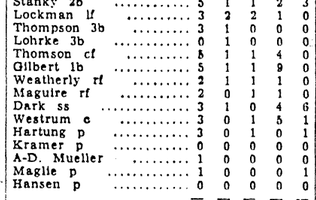
SPTS 6 PT



NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Ben Fow, a Columbia footballer who specializes in conversion kicks, is on the spot today when Muldoon's Reds and Nork's Shenandoah Blues, play their third intro-squad game. . . . He kicked for both sides the last time out and booted the winning point for the wrong side after missing one for his own team. . . . His buddies said it was "fowl play." . . . We don't know much about the football ability of the Lions, but even Lou Little could take some hints from the scouting reports they drew up. . . . One lineman was tabbed as "fast and rangy; uses speed well to avoid heavy fullbacks." . . Another has "unusual tackling technique—he falls down and trips the ball carrier with his face." . . . Then there's one who is "dangerous at the dinner table" and a "fast man into the clubhouse." And finally a "dream tackle—he fell out of bed dreaming he had tackled Bronko Nagurski."

WASHINGTON, May 6. —(AP)— Aaron Robinson walloped a home run and batted in four runs today to lead the Detroit Tigers to their third straight victory. The Bengals pounded out 15 hits for an 8-6 triumph over the Washington Nats before 8,362 fans at Griffith Stadium.

Freddie Hutchinson pitched good ball for eight and two-thirds innings to gain his first win of the season. Although he gave up 11 hits, three of them in the ninth, he walked nobody, to give the Tigers a comfortable advantage. Three Washington hits in the ninth drove him from the mound, but Dizzy Trout came in to strike out Irv Noren and end the game.

Johnny Lipon scored in the first after he doubled and was sent in on a double by Gerry Priddy. Hutchinson scored in the th. d after a single to center. Two more markers came home in the fifth on three straight singles by Priddy, George Kell and Vic Wertz. The Nats scored one in the second on a triple by Eddie Stewart and a bad relay by Priddy. They knotted the game with three runs in the fifth—all unearned.

Robinson came to life then and promptly batted in two runs with a single in the sixth, then came his homer and sent his fourth tally across with a fly out to left in the ninth.

BOSOX CRUSH CHISOX

BOSTON, May 6.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox set off a six-home run barrage to crush the Chicago White Sox, 11-1, today behind the four-hit pitching of bonus southpaw Chuck Stobbs.

Catcher Birdie Tebbetts bashed two of the circuit blows and thereby accounted for four runs. Ted Williams lofted his sixth four-bagger into the left field screen with two aboard in the first inning to decide matters early.

YANKS, INDIANS SPLIT

NEW YORK, May 6. —(AP)— Big Luke Easter smashed two home runs — his first ones in major league competition—as the Cleveland Indians divided a double header with the New York Yankees today. The Tribe took the opener, 5-4, but lost the nightcap, 7-4.

Easter's first blast, a terrific line drive off loser Allie Reynolds, came in the third inning of the opener with two men on. It gave Cleveland a 3 to 1 lead which it never lost. Early Wynn was credited with the victory.

Joe DiMaggio went hitless in eight tries and now has only one safe blow to show for his last 14 efforts.

Three More Softball Leagues Shaping Up

Three more softball leagues, sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, are in the final stages of preparation for the opening of their summer campaigns.

The Industrial League will open play May 17 with five clubs, Thermatomic, Southern Bell, Louisiana Power and Light, News-Star, and Post Office.

The Senior League, opening in two weeks, has five teams entered and desires a sixth member. Already to go with the Senior circuit are Red Shield Club, Ouachita Tractor, Ouachita Band and a pair of independent teams that still need sponsors before they will be permitted to participate.

Three teams, Lovers' Lane Pharmacy, Red Shield, and Ouachita Band are entered in the Girls' League. The girls are seeking one more entry at least but plan to go with three if no additional teams join.

CINCINNATI, May 6. —(AP)— Setting a new National League record for the number of home runs in three consecutive games, the Boston Braves continued their murderous march through the west today with a 15 to 11 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Braves pounded Cincinnati pitchers for five homers today to run their total to 13 for the three game series here. The old record of 12 was set by the New York Giants on July 1, 2 and 3, 1947.

The Braves' pulverizing attack now has produced 55 runs in their last four contests—three here and one in Pittsburgh. They have 15 homers in that collection.

Sid Gordon, Earl Torgeson, Bob Elliott, Willard Marshall and Luis Olmo hit the homers today for the Braves. In the three games here Torgeson got three, Sam Jethroe, Marshall, Elliott and Gordon wo each and Connie Ryan and Olmo one each. It was Olmo's ninth inning blow that broke the record.

Against that kind of slugging the Reds never had a chance. Scoring in each of the first five innings, the Braves piled up a huge 13 to 3 lead before the hapless Reds started fighting back.

They got a couple of circuit blows for themselves, too, with Grady Hatton and Ron Northey providing the big wallops.

The Braves clubbed five Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits and gave Ken Raffensberger his fourth straight defeat of the season. Boston had to call on three hurlers to keep the Redsunder submission in the late frames and the winner was rookie Norman Roy.

CUBS DUMP DODGERS

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP)—Preston Ward singled home Phil Cavarretta from third in the tenth inning today to give the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the Cubs' second straight ten inning triumph over the Brooks.

Cavarretta singled with two out in the extra inning and when Duke Snider let the ball go through him for an error, Cavarretta raced to third. Ward, a former Dodger, then singled to right to win the game.

Fourth inning home runs by Wayne Terwilliger, Ward and Andy Pafko accounted for the other Chicago runs. George Shuba and Snider homered for the Dodgers.

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP)—Ben Fow, a Columbia footballer who specializes in conversion kicks, is on the spot today when Muldoon's Reds and Nork's Shenandoah Blues, play their third intro-squad game. . . . He kicked for both sides the last time out and booted the winning point for the wrong side after missing one for his own team. . . . His buddies said it was "fowl play." . . . We don't know much about the football ability of the Lions, but even Lou Little could take some hints from the scouting reports they drew up. . . . One lineman was tabbed as "fast and rangy; uses speed well to avoid heavy fullbacks." . . Another has "unusual tackling technique—he falls down and trips the ball carrier with his face." . . . Then there's one who is "dangerous at the dinner table" and a "fast man into the clubhouse." And finally a "dream tackle—he fell out of bed dreaming he had tackled Bronko Nagurski."

Detroit Tigers Pound Out 15 Hits To Rout Senators

BENGALS SCORE 8-6 WIN; YANKS INDIANS SPLIT

WASHINGTON, May 6. —(AP)— Aaron Robinson walloped a home run and batted in four runs today to lead the Detroit Tigers to their third straight victory. The Bengals pounded out 15 hits for an 8-6 triumph over the Washington Nats before 8,362 fans at Griffith Stadium.

Freddie Hutchinson pitched good ball for eight and two-thirds innings to gain his first win of the season. Although he gave up 11 hits, three of them in the ninth, he walked nobody, to give the Tigers a comfortable advantage. Three Washington hits in the ninth drove him from the mound, but Dizzy Trout came in to strike out Irv Noren and end the game.

Johnny Lipon scored in the first after he doubled and was sent in on a double by Gerry Priddy. Hutchinson scored in the third after a single to center. Two more markers came home in the fifth on three straight singles by Priddy, George Kell and Vic Wertz. The Nats scored one in the second on a triple by Eddie Stewart and a bad relay by Priddy. They knotted the game with three runs in the fifth—all unearned.

Robinson came to life then and promptly batted in two runs with a single in the sixth, then came his homer and sent his fourth tally across with a fly out to left in the ninth.

BOSOX CRUSH CHISOX

BOSTON, May 6.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox set off a six-home run barrage to crush the Chicago White Sox, 11-1, today behind the four-hit pitching of bonus southpaw Chuck Stobbs.

Catcher Birdie Tebbetts bashed two of the circuit blows and thereby accounted for four runs. Ted Williams lofted his sixth four-bagger into the left field screen with two aboard in the first inning to decide matters early.

YANKS, INDIANS SPLIT

NEW YORK, May 6. —(AP)— Big Luke Easter smashed two home runs — his first ones in major league competition—as the Cleveland Indians divided a double header with the New York Yankees today. The Tribe took the opener, 5-4, but lost the nightcap, 7-4.

Easter's first blast, a terrific line drive off loser Allie Reynolds, came in the third inning of the opener with two men on. It gave Cleveland a 3 to 1 lead which it never lost. Early Wynn was credited with the victory.

Joe DiMaggio went hitless in eight tries and now has only one safe blow to show for his last 14 efforts.

Three More Softball Leagues Shaping Up

Three more softball leagues, sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, are in the final stages of preparation for the opening of their summer campaigns.

The Industrial League will open play May 17 with five clubs, Thermatomic, Southern Bell, Louisiana Power and Light, News-Star, and Post Office.

The Senior League, opening in two weeks, has five teams entered and desires a sixth member. Already to go with the Senior circuit are Red Shield Club, Ouachita Tractor, Ouachita Band and a pair of independent teams that still need sponsors before they will be permitted to participate.

Three teams, Lovers' Lane Pharmacy, Red Shield, and Ouachita Band are entered in the Girls' League. The girls are seeking one more entry at least but plan to go with three if no additional teams join.

MIDDLEGROUND ROMPS TO DERBY TRIUMPH

the final bend Your Host began to fall back and make way for some other three-year-olds who still wanted to run. At the finish he was gasping ninth, all out of gas, and you never saw a bluer crowd than the Californians who thought they had a super race horse.

To show how little the large crowd thought of Middleground as against the "big" horses, the Texas beauty paid $17.80 for each $2 winning ticket. He paid $5.40 to place and $3.80 for show. Hill Prince returned $3.80 and $3.20; Mr. Trouble $3.60 to those who thought he might show.

On The Mark, which ran as an entry with Middleground, finished eighth, Oil Capitol, the gray son of Mahmoud and the hope of Oklahoma oilman Tom Gray for first money, came galloping in fifth. It was, in the estimation of sound racing men, a well run derby. Middleground, they said, always figured.

On the official chart, Middleground won by one and one-fourth lengths. He looked much better than the horses running against him as they came tearing down the final racing ground.

It had been suspected that Max Hirsch, the veteran trainer of the winner, intended to let Middleground run with Your Host, the glamour horse, for the first mile of the race and then let the other King Ranch brave take over. But nothing like that happened. Middleground was the horse all the time, and On The Mark was only there for the exercise.

Bill Boland, a smooth-cheeked 18-year-old Corpus Christi, Tex., who drove Middleground to victory, became the second apprentice jockey in history to ride a derby victor. The other was Ira Hanford, who rode Middleground's pappy, Bold Venture, into the winner's circle in 1936.

Said Boland, puffing from the exercise: "When I made my move at the head of the stretch I felt I had the race. I was doing my best and I had a horse that was willing to run."

Only last Tuesday Middleground ran second to Black George in the derby trail on a sloopy track, and that night young Boland was a very sad juvenile. He didn't know whether he had a good horse or not. But today, after the race was run, he was a glowing kid.

Johnny Longden, who rode the favored Your Host and thought he had a bolt of lightning between his legs, couldn't quite figure out what happened to him.

"I wasn't alarmed the first time they passed me," he said. "I thought I had plenty of time and plenty of horse left, but I guess he just isn't a mile and a quarter horse."

He might find some small comfort from the fact that the same thing happened just a year ago today. At that time a jet-powered animal named Olympia was supposed to run away with the big race, but they finally paid off on a patient colt called Ponder, which proved he liked to run when it became important.

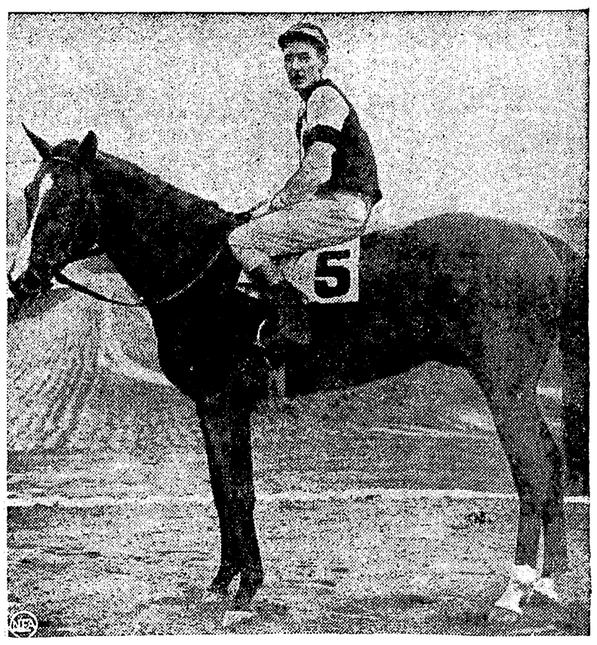
Just to show that breeding pays in this horse running game, King Ranch, which doesn't need the money, picked up the second biggest check in the history of the derby today.

Assault, which was known as the Clubfooted Comet at the time because he had an ailing hoof, took down $96,400 by winning the 1946 event. The largest cattle ranch in the world obviously is doing all right.

Should anyone demand the details of where the other horses finished they did, in this order:

The man who calls them for a living said that Hawley was a dead heat with Oil Capitol for fifth, and that thereafter they were On The Mark, eighth, Your Host ninth, Hallieboy 10th, Dooly 11th, Trumpet King 12th, Stranded 13th, and Black George 14th.

MIDDLEGROUND DERBY KING



Middleground, chestnut son of Bold Venture and from the King Ranch of Texas, yesterday won the 76th running of the Kentucky Derby in a race that saw Your Host, an 8 to 5 favorite, finish a poor ninth. Jockey Dave Gorman is pictured aboard Middleground, but he was ridden to victory in yesterday's classic by Bill Boland, an 18-year-old from Corpus Christi who became the second apprentice jockey in history ever to win the big race.

Qualifying Begins For Cramer Haas Memorial Tourney At Bayou DeSiard

Deadline For Entries Next Sunday; Bill Jones Early Medal Leader

Qualifying for the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Tournament, opening spring feature of Bayou DeSiard Country Club, is now in progress with tonight as the deadline for posting qualifying scores for the second annual event.

The Bayou DeSiard tournament committee is urging that all golfers intending to play in the Haas Memorial qualify as soon as possible, and interest is already running high since the tourney procedure makes it possible for just about anyone to win.

Dickie Touchstone is the defending champion.

Low qualifier so far is Bill Jones and Touchstone with one-over-par 73s. They are followed by I. F. "Doc" Bennett with a 76.

So far over 40 players have entered with another 30 or 40 expected to come in.

Today the Bayou DeSiard members will take on the Bastrop belters in an inter-city match over the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course here. All Monroe players intending to enter should register early this morning not later than 11 o'clock with Pro Winnie Cole at the Bayou DeSiard C. C. pro shop.

Feature of the afternoon meeting at Bastrop will be the match pitting Johnny Myers, Bastrop pro, and Harold McClendon, Bastrop amateur ace, against Cole of Bayou DeSiard and Bill Jones.

Another match of interest—along a grudge line—will send Bastrop's "Cooter" Madison and "Papa" Hill against "Cloutin' " Cam Minard and "Joltin' " John Snelling of the Bayou boys.

Last Wednesday the ladies of Bayou DeSiard went to El Dorado, Ark., for a good appearance in the El Dorado Country Club Invitation Tournament. Participating from Monroe were Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, recently crowned state amateur champion for women and Mrs. Clyde Nash, Mrs. Guy Campbell, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. J. E. Wheeler, Mrs. David Garrett, Jr., Mrs. Roy Faust, Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Mrs. Carroll Summers, and Mrs. G. L. Morgan.

Mrs. Garrett was winner of the third flight trophy, and Mrs. Campbell won the fifth flight. Mrs. Faust won the low putts prize in the fifth flight.

Big Eight Loop Meeting At Ruston Tuesday Night

RUSTON, La., May 6. — (Special)— Officials and managers of the Big Eight Baseball League will meet here Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, League President Larry Fox has announced.

The agenda calls for the adoption of an official baseball, player lists, assignment of umpires, club insurance, and routine matters pertaining to the league.

The opening date of the Big Eight is Sunday, May 14, but Minden will open at home next Saturday night against Commercial Solvents of Sterlington. League membership includes, Bernice, Dubach, Hodge, Farmerville, Minden, Ruston Rebels, Ruston Volunteers, and Sterlington.

PEACOCK'S 'BULLS-EYE'

Fans at Legion Memorial Stadium here have no trouble keeping up with the time since Peacock's Jewelry Company of Monroe has erected its huge neon-lighted clock in left center field, 373 feet from home plate. But members of the Monroe Sports baseball club of the Cotton States have plenty of reason for desiring to stop the clock. Peacock's, according to Gordon Gibson, assistant manager of the Monroe store, will give $100 to each member of the Monroe team able to hit the clock with a batted ball during a regulation Cotton States game. It will take a home run ball to do the trick and so far there have been no homers yet. But Peacock's hasn't drawn a line at just hitting the clock. Any Monroe player hitting any kind of home run inside or outside the park will be awarded a Benrus wristwatch by Peacock's, and any Monroe hurler pitching a shutout at home will also receive a watch. Cliff Coggins, who has pitched the only local shutout so far, has already received his Benrus. (Staff photo by Leon Noland, Jr.)

BEN HOGAN SETS BLISTERING PACE

Cards 17-Under-Par 193 For 54 Holes In Greenbrier Open Golf

By Charles R. Lewis

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 6.—(AP)—Ben Hogan finished the first 54 holes of the Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament today with a phenomenal 17-under-par 193.

Bantam Ben picked up a five-under par 65 to go with two previous 64's in stretching his lead over second-place Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., to seven strokes with a single round remaining.

Never has the historic, 6,368-yard old white course taken such a sustained beating as that handed out by the plucky Texan in his drive for the first title of his determined comeback campaign.

Alexander, with his 132-68—200, slipped four strokes off his own brilliant six-under 64 of yesterday because he was unable to hole any putts of longer than five feet.

Host Pro Sammy Snead and Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., with 134-69—203 and 137-66—203, respectively, were tied for third and fourth. Then came Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., and Norman Von Nida of Sydney, Australia, with 205's.

Hogan needs a four-under-par 66 tomorrow to equal Byron Nelson's all-time P. G. A.-recognized total of 259 for 72 holes of competitive play. The record was set at Broadmoore in Seattle in 1945.

Hogan insists "I'm not staging a comeback; I just had a little rest and am picking up where I left off."

The little fellow whose career almost was ended by an auto wreck in February of 1949 could have had a course-tying 63. He muffed a two-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole after dropping a 240-foot approach shot that far from the pin.

He started out with a birdie and picked up four more in the 18 holes.

He made a gallery of several hundred gasp when he dropped a 260-foot second shot on the 356-yard 14th just four inches from the hole.

Heafner's 66 was the second best round of the day and Chick Harbert's 67 was next as nine of the pros broke par. Snead was troubled with three putts on one green and he overshot another for his 69.

Heafner and Jack Peck of Logan, W. Va., had a best ball score of 59 to lead in the first round of a 36-hole pro-amateur being held in conjunction with the open. Peck had a four-stroke handicap.

Second with 61 were Furgol and Ed Wheeler, New York amateur. Three other teams tied at 62.

Prize money for the pros in the open and pro-amateur combined will total $10,000. The low open medalist will pocket $1,200.

All-City Grammar Track Meet Billed

The third annual All-City Grammar School Track and Field meet will be held Wednesday, May 17, at Neville High School, it was announced yesterday by Coach Johnny Johnson, Neville, director of the event.

All city grammar schools are expected to enter teams in the meet that was won last year by Barkdull Faulk of Monroe as Bobby Gammel sparked the B.F. triumph.

Entries for the meet must be filed with Johnson at Neville by this Wednesday. First and second place trophies will be awarded along with individual medals for first and second place winners and ribbons for third place winners. Individuals will be limited to competition in four individual events and one relay or two relays and two individual events.

The list of events were announced as 50-yard dash, 75-yard dash 440-yard relay; football shuttle relay, softball throw, high jump, broad jump, hop-step-jump, shot put, and pole vault.

Al Tkac, 180-pound McKeesport, Pa., right-hander, is the No. 1 man on the 1950 Penn State pitching staff.

MIDDLEGROUND ROMPS TO DERBY TRIUMPH

the final bend Your Host began to fall back and make way for some other three-year-olds who still wanted to run. At the finish he was gasping ninth, all out of gas, and you never saw a bluer crowd than the Californians who thought they had a super race horse.

To show how little the large crowd thought of Middleground as against the "big" horses, the Texas beauty paid $17.80 for each $2 winning ticket. He paid $5.40 to place and $3.80 for show. Hill Prince returned $3.80 and $3.20; Mr. Trouble $3.60 to those who thought he might show.

On The Mark, which ran as an entry with Middleground, finished eighth. Oil Capitol, the gray son of Mahmoud and the hope of Oklahoma oilman Tom Gray for first money, came galloping in fifth. It was, in the estimation of sound racing men, a well run derby. Middleground, they said, always figured.

On the official chart, Middleground won by one and one-fourth lengths. He looked much better than the horses running against him as they came tearing down the final racing ground.

It had been suspected that Max Hirsch, the veteran trainer of the winner, intended to let Middleground run with Your Host, the glamour horse, for the first mile of the race and then let the other King Ranch brave take over. But nothing like that happened. Middleground was the horse all the time, and On The Mark was only there for the exercise.

Bill Boland, a smooth-cheeked 18-year-old Corpus Christi, Tex., who drove Middleground to victory, became the second apprentice jockey in history to ride a derby victor. The other was Ira Hanford, who rode Middleground's pappy, Bold Venture, into the winner's circle in 1936.

Said Boland, puffing from the exercise: "When I made my move at the head of the stretch I felt I had the race. I was doing my best and I had a horse that was willing to run."

Only last Tuesday Middleground ran second to Black George in the derby trail on a sloopy track, and that night young Boland was a very sad juvenile. He didn't know whether he had a good horse or not. But today, after the race was run, he was a glowing kid.

Johnny Longden, who rode the favored Your Host and thought he had a bolt of lightning between his legs, couldn't quite figure out what happened to him.

"I wasn't alarmed the first time they passed me," he said. "I thought I had plenty of time and plenty of horse left, but I guess he just isn't a mile and a quarter horse."

He might find some small comfort from the fact that the same thing happened just a year ago today. At that time a jet-powered animal named Olympia was supposed to run away with the big race, but they finally paid off on a patient colt called Ponder, which proved he liked to run when it became important.

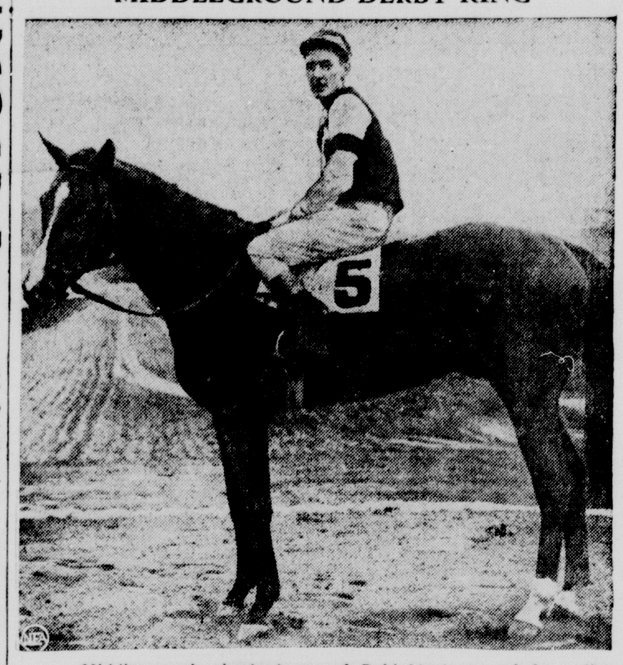
Just to show that breeding pays in this horse running game, King Ranch, which doesn't need the money, picked up the second biggest check in the history of the derby today.

Assault, which was known as the Clubfooted Comet at the time because he had an ailing hoof, took down $96,400 by winning the 1946 event. The largest cattle ranch in the world obviously is doing all right.

Should anyone demand the details of where the other horses finished they did, in this order:

The man who calls them for a living said that Hawley was a dead heat with Oil Capitol for fifth, and that thereafter they were On The Mark, eighth, Your Host ninth, Hallieboy 10th, Dooly 11th, Trumpet King 12th, Stranded 13th, and Black George 14th.

MIDDLEGROUND DERBY KING



Middleground, chestnut son of Bold Venture and from the King Ranch of Texas, yesterday won the 76th running of the Kentucky Derby in a race that saw Your Host, an 8 to 5 favorite, finish a poor ninth. Jockey Dave Gorman is pictured aboard Middleground, but he was ridden to victory in yesterday's classic by Bill Boland, an 18-year-old from Corpus Christi who became the second apprentice jockey in history ever to win the big race.

Qualifying for the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Tournament, opening spring feature of Bayou DeSiard Country Club, is now in progress with tonight as the deadline for posting qualifying scores for the second annual event.

The Bayou DeSiard tournament committee is urging that all golfers intending to play in the Haas Memorial qualify as soon as possible, and interest is already running high since the tourney procedure makes it possible for just about anyone to win.

Dickie Touchstone is the defending champion.

Low qualifier so far is Bill Jones and Touchstone with one-over-par 73s. They are followed by I. F. "Doc" Bennett with a 76.

So far over 40 players have entered with another 30 or 40 expected to come in.

Today the Bayou DeSiard members will take on the Bastrop belters in an inter-city match over the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course here. All Monroe players intending to enter should register early this morning not later than 11 o'clock with Pro Winnie Cole at the Bayou DeSiard C. C. pro shop.

Feature of the afternoon meeting at Bastrop will be the match pitting Johnny Myers, Bastrop pro, and Harold McClendon, Bastrop amateur ace, against Cole of Bayou DeSiard and Bill Jones.

Another match of interest—along a grudge line—will send Bastrop's "Cooter" Madison and "Papa" Hill against "Cloutin' " Cam Minard and "Joltin' " John Snelling of the Bayou boys.

Last Wednesday the ladies of Bayou DeSiard went to El Dorado, Ark., for a good appearance in the El Dorado Country Club Invitation Tournament. Participating from Monroe were Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, recently crowned state amateur champion for women and Mrs. Clyde Nash, Mrs. Guy Campbell, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. J. E. FIRST OF FIVE NEW STATIONS

The modern service station now being erected in the 1600 block of DeSiard street is the first of five stations to be constructed here by J. M. Menefee. When completed the stations will be leased to individual operators who will handle Skelly products. (Staff photo by Marvin Du Bos.)

Menefee Plans To Erect Five Modern Service Stations Here

J. M. Menefee, owner of Menefee Oil Company and distributor of Skelly products in the Twin Cities, announced plans last week for the construction of five new modern service stations in Monroe, a estimated $100,000 investment.

Construction of the first station now being erected in the 1600 block of DeSiard street was begun in April and is scheduled to be completed by June.

All of the stations will be built of Lalite blocks and along similar lines. They will contain enclosed wash and grease racks, modern rest rooms with large sales offices and display rooms.

The stations when completed will be painted white and red, have modern plate glass fronts with steel case windows.

Cecil M. Hill, a Menefee Oil Company representative, pointed out that the stations will be leased to individual operators when finished.

The DeSiard street station is 54 by 30 feet. It is located on a lot 129 feet deep and 150 feet wide.

Construction on the second station, which is to be erected at the intersection of South Second street and Winnsboro road, is expected to begin within the next few weeks. Locations of the three remaining stations were not designated.

Each of the stations will feature Skelly products and accessories, according to Hill. The station on DeSiard street will have three gasoline pumps and a 6,000 gallon capacity tank.

Hill added that the South Second street station would be larger than the first but would be along the same design.

Menafee has been the distributor of Skelly products in the Twin Cities for more than a year. In addition to the new stations, he owns several which he now leases to individual operators.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Rev. Howard Giles of the Monroe district conducted the fourth quarterly conference at the Methodist church on Sunday, April 23, at 2 p.m. Rev. A. A Collins reported a total church membership of 487, with loss of Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Amacker and Fred Porter Regenold, for whom a silent prayer was given and appreciation for "Those who worked among us and have finished their earthly life."

Vary Flowers In Your Gardens

By Cynthia Lowry
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's all very well to be devoted to certain flowers. It's another thing to overdo enthusiasm. A garden is only as pretty as its blooms and the gardener's job is to make a wise selection to spread the blooming from early spring to beyond frost.

Chrysanthemums are a joy to behold—when they finally bloom. But the gardener who planted only chrysanthemems would have a dull garden indeed for most of the spring and summer months. The same is true of the garden containing only tulips, or any other specialty.

The important thing is to plan for succession of bloom, arranging plantings so there are always a number of different flowers showing their colorful faces. This is done by starting with the early spring bulbs and carrying through with the brilliant flowers and bright berries which survive the chilly nights.

Talking about succession is a lot easier than doing something about it, for the gardener has a number of things on his mind when plotting a new garden. He must think of colors, heights of plants, likes and dislikes of types and soil, and required sunshine.

And there's always the question of combining annuals and perennials in the garden. One completes the cycle of life from seed to seed in a few months — and blooms later in the season. The latter remain quietly situated, blooming and resting year after year.

Ignoring other considerations in this article, we'll pick a number of popular and easily grown plants to provide season-long color for the average garden. The list of possible annuals is seemingly endless.

I've arbitrarily selected a double handful of both which will bloom around the early spring to late fall segment. All are easy to grow and not fussy.

If you are starting from scratch on perennials, a good jumping off place would be with peony, iris, coral-bell, phlox, daylily, columbine, bleeding heart, oriental poppies, platy-codon and chrysanthemum. Don't forget the bulbs either: crocus, tulip, grape hyacinth and gladiolus. Many of them have long, long periods of bloom. Most bloom well for years and need little or no attention beyond occasional feeding and cultivating.

With a sensible beginning of these perennials, the gardener can go ahead experimenting with his taste and interests, adding lupine, foxglove, holly-hocks, roses and everything else that interests him.

The field is even broader where annuals are concerned, except that the blooming time is slightly more limited. But assuming that the gardener is growing annuals for the first time, here's a practical beginning:

June and early July flowering: Phlox drummoni, petunia, scabiosa, alyssum, California poppy, larkspur, marigold, nasturtium, gaillardia.

Mid - July to frost: calendula, cosmos, portulaca, zinnia, stock, centaurea, sunflower.

August or September to frost: aster, snapdragon, morning glory, nicotiana and moon flower, saliglossis, verbena.

The double selection most assuredly would provide a handsome show from early to late. Assuming the selection were made, the next problem — and just as important — will be exactly where to place them in the garden, to assure them being seen, and to have the colors set off to greatest advantage. Every beginning gardener — not to mention absent-minded veterans - has had the upsetting experience of seeing what was put in as a low edging plant grow tall enough to obscure the plants behind it.

Tulips call for other flowers that will bloom later.

Modern Shopping Center To Open; Many Others Planned

Monroe's first ultra - modern shopping center to be known as "Parkview Shopping Center" and located at the corner of Forsythe avenue and North Twelfth street was begun this week by Allen West.

Plans are being drawn for more than 12 stores which will be leased to local and large out-of-town firms. When completed the estimated investment will be several hundred thousand dollars.

West stated these plans had been his since purchasing the property when he foresaw the need for a shopping center in this section.

He pointed out that all the buildings are to be constructed of brick with large glass fronts. Included in the shopping center is a diagonal parking system for 125 automobiles.

This week Mr. West inspected several of Houston, Tex.'s shopping centers to secure the latest plans for the Parkview Shopping Center.

Capitol Stores, Inc., one of Louisiana's largest retail food chains, is expanding their operation in Monroe and will lease the first building now being erected in the Parkview Shopping Center.

L. C. LeBlanc, general manager of the corporation, said the super market now being constructed will be Capitol Stores second unit in the city.

The 9100 square foot building will include all the most modern innovations in the super market industry, LeBlanc said. Self service meat and produce departments, latest refrigeration equipment, and most effective lighting will be used in the new market which will serve the north side of Monroe. It will be air conditioned the year round.

LeBlanc's announcement read in part: "Since the acquisition of our first store in Monroe in April of 1949, we have been on the look constantly to find another site to better serve our customers here. We think we have found an ideal spot in this one. It will enable us to serve the people of north Monroe and the surrounding city with our everyday low price policy on the finest food we can buy.

"The people of Monroe have received us most cordially in our first store, and we believe that we have entered into the spirit of this fast growing city.

We want to promise our customers the better service, the convenience, the variety and the modern atmosphere that they deserve when they shop for food."

Capitol Stores operate 34 retail food stores throughout Louisiana. A Louisiana owned corporation since 1929, Capitol operates units in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Shreveport, Lake Charles, Lafayette and several other cities in south and southwest Louisiana.

The corporation branched into North Louiisana last year with the purchase of Community stores. At that time the Monroe store at 209 North Fourth street was completely remodeled. Present manager of this store is Harold Rainwater.

Capitol Stores have acquired the reputation as one of the state's most progressive food store organizations. They introduced the new and highly popular self service meat operation to the state in Baton Rouge in 1947.

They built the state's first super market, and early this year in New Orleans, introduced a new type of grocery fixture known as "food-o-mat" which loads merchandise from the rear and dispenses it to the customer from gravity feed chutes. Capitol Stores are members of the Super Market Institute, an organization of over 5,000 super market operators in the United States, banded together to study better ways of operating stores to provide more value for the customer.

LeBlanc is a past director of that organization. With an organization of specialists, which include meat buyers, produce buyers, advertising personnel, and supervisors in addition to top management, Capitol Stores have served as pioneers in the food field in Louisiana. Their specialized organization has served as models for other chains in the country.

BOXES RETAILED BY LUMBER CO.

Southern Lumber And Box Company, Inc., On Jackson St., Expand Retail Business

Officials of the Southern Lumber and Box Company, Inc., 4201 Jackson street, announced last week that their plant has been expanded and is now engaged in the retail box business.

It was pointed out that the lumber company handles building materials in addition to manufacturing boxes. All types of lumber for residential purposes as well as industrial constructions are available at the lumber company.

Both Slagle and Pettit have been in the retail lumber business in Monroe for more than 25 years. Their present plant is located between Jackson street and the Missouri Pacific railroad in a nine acre plot.

The plant and office was erected in November, 1946 and engaged in the manufacturing of Sawn wooden boxes and lumber. Since that time new departments have been added which enabled the company to retail building materials and boxes.

Twenty-five persons are now employed by the plant which has its own private switch tracks on to the Missouri Pacific railroad. Slagle asserted most boxes manufactured at the plant are shipped out of state for export purposes. Delivery services are also provided by the lumber company.

Government Profits From 'Wild West' Shows

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The government made a $1,855 profit last year helping Hollywood film makers turn out a dozen "wild westerns."

This was $405 more than it received the year before for its aid in the production of 14 "horse operas."

This government sideline was disclosed today by the bureau of land management which handled the transactions involving the use of public lands as a setting for the cowboy pictures.

LINE NOT BLAMED IN CARROLL DEATH

Executrix Of Showman's Estate Had Sought $2,000,000 In Damages

SCRANTON, Pa., May 6—(AP)—A federal court jury found today United Airlines was not to blame for a plane crash which killed Veteran Showman Earl Carroll and 41 other persons nearly two years ago.

By this verdict the panel of six men and six women denied damages of $2,000,000 sought by Mrs. Jessie A. Schuyler, executrix of the estate of the celebrated Broadway and Hollywood producer.

The jury reached its decision last night—after some seven hours deliberation — but the sealed verdict was not opened until court convened today.

Counsel for the plaintiff indicated in advance an appeal would be made if the verdict were unfavorable to his client.

The plane—a DC-6 — crashed June 17,1948, near Mt. Carmel in the rugged hills of eastern Pennsylvania's hard coal fields, only a few minutes flying time from relatively open and level country.

Mrs. Schuyler, in her suit, said the 57-year-old Carroll, whose successive editions of the "Vanities" wr highights of Amrities" were highlights of American stage entertainment, had a life expectancy of 16 years at the time of his death. Had he lived it was set forth, he would have earned somewhat more than $2,000,000 during that time.

The plaintiff charged the airlines with negligence, alleging fire broke out aboard the plane before it struck a power line near a coal mine and shattered against a rocky hillside.

It was claimed specifically the alleged fire was not fought properly in the air. It was theorized carbon dioxide in the firefighting systems aboard the plane overcame the pilots, thus causing the crash.

Among those killed with Carroll in a tragedy counted among the worst in America's civil aviation history was Beryl Wallace, screen star and leading lady in Carroll productions.

An action brought against United Airlines by administrators of her estate still is pending.

Other suits for damages also await hearing.

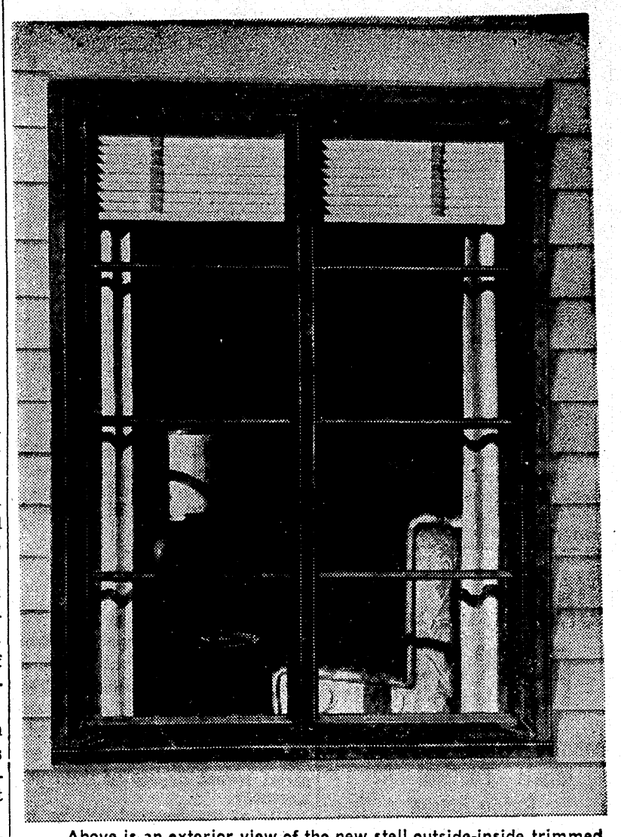
STEEL CASEMENT WINDOW UNITS



Above is an exterior view of the new stell outside-inside trimmed residence casement window unit as it appears installed.

METAL WINDOWS USED IN HOMES

New Steel Casement Windows Are Being Installed In Modern Homes And Offices

An interesting new development in the building industry is a completely new steel casement window unit that is complete with outside and inside metal trim, and thus provides simplified, low cost installation of one complete window assembly.

This new Fenestra steel window unit is described as being most advanced in design, easiest to install and the most "foolproof" window on the market today.

Casement window, screen and storm sash have bonderized, prime-painted steel frames and bronze lacquered hardware and screen cloth. Trim is galvanized and bonderized.

The new Window unit requires only the simplest rough opening preparation, and the same rough opening preparation is satisfactory for frame, brick veneer or stucco. The complete ready-trimmed window unit can be installed in the rough wall opening in minutes—by unskilled labor—and no trimming either inside or outside is required. Rough carpenters can make perfect installations. The trim makes an ideal stop for butting frame, brick and stucco on the outside, and plaster or dry wall on the inside. The inside is recessed to provide a pocket for blinds or roller shades.

SENATOR MYERS RAPS M'CARTHY

Says He's Failed To Produce A 'Single Shred Of Direct Evidence'

HONESDALE, Pa., May 6.—(AP)—Senator Myers (D.-Pa.) declared tonight that Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.) has failed to produce a "single shred of direct evidence" to back up his charges of communism in the government.

Meyers, deputy Democratic leader of the senate, said the congressional committee investigating McCarthy's accusations "has merely been confronted with evasive replies when it sought to pin down specific allegations."

Myers did not mention McCarthy by name, but it was clear he was talking about the Wisconsin Republican. Myers' remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery to the Wayne county Democratic committee.

McCarthy has charged that the state department is harboring many Communists and fellow travelers.

"We can't afford to lose our faith in the integrity of the department of state at this critical point in world affairs," said Myers.

He said the federal loyalty program set up by President Truman "has worked hand-in-glove with the F. B. I. examining the loyalty of every person working in our government today." He added:

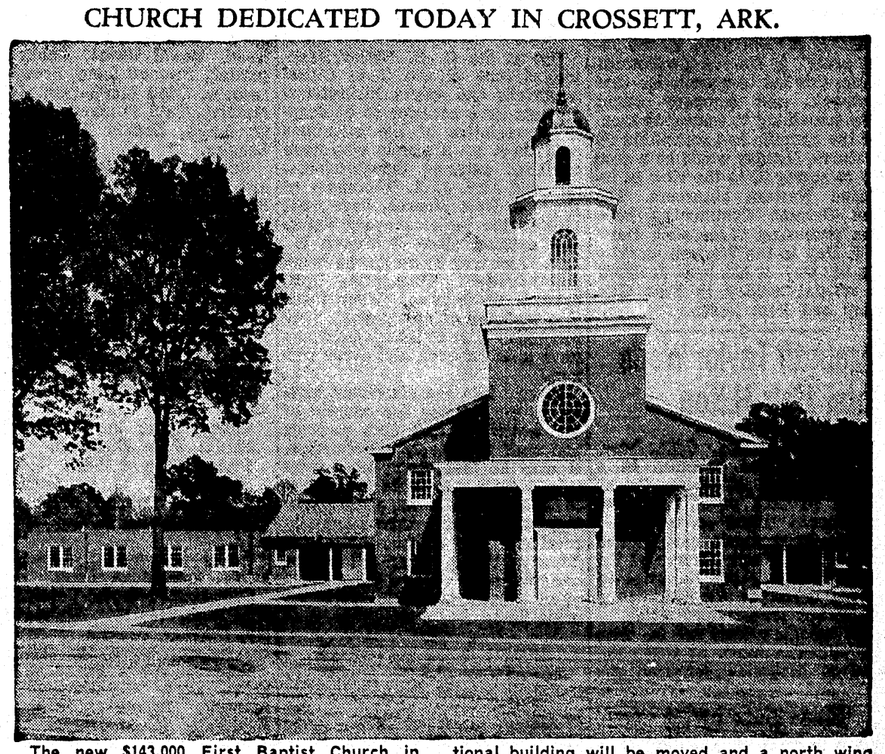
"There have, of course, been a few hundred people out of the 2,000,000 or so in the entire government who could not furnish conclusive proof of their loyalty, and they are no longer carried on govenment payolls.

"On the other hand, the ohers have been given a clean bill of healh after thorough investigation."

As for McCarthy's accusations, Myers declared:

"The committee has pressed those who offered the charges to bring forth evidence in support of what they alleged. And to date, those who made the charges in the first place have failed to put into the record one single shred of direct evidence to support the contention that there were 205, or 81, or 57 known, card - carrying Communists in the department of state."

CHURCH DEDICATED TODAY IN CROSSETT, ARK.



The new $143,000 First Baptist Church in Crossett, Ark., is being dedicated today. The church is constructed of solid masonry and has a seating capacity of 1,200. It was begun last August and completed recently. The old educational building will be moved and a north wing added to the church later. The Rev. J. W. Buckner, pastor of the First Baptist Church will deliver the dedication sermon and the Rev. Harold White, assistant pastor, the evening message.

FIRST OF FIVE NEW STATIONS

Menefee Plans To Erect Five Modern Service Stations Here

J. M. Menefee, owner of Menefee Oil Company and distributor of Skelly products in the Twin Cities, announced plans last week for the construction of five new modern service stations in Monroe, a estimated $100,000 investment.

Construction of the first station now being erected in the 1600 block of DeSiard street was begun in April and is scheduled to be completed by June.

All of the stations will be built of Lalite blocks and along similar lines. They will contain enclosed wash and grease racks, modern rest rooms with large sales offices and display rooms.

The stations when completed will be painted white and red, have modern plate glass fronts with steel case windows.

Cecil M. Hill, a Menefee Oil Company representative, pointed out that the stations will be leased to individual operators when finished.

The DeSiard street station is 54 by 30 feet. It is located on a lot 129 feet deep and 150 feet wide.

Construction on the second station, which is to be erected at the intersection of South Second street and Winnsboro road, is expected to begin within the next few weeks. Locations of the three remaining stations were not designated.

Each of the stations will feature Skelly products and accessories, according to Hill. The station on DeSiard street will have three gasoline pumps and a 6,000 gallon capacity tank.

Hill added that the South Second street station would be larger than the first but would be along the same design.

Menafee has been the distributor of Skelly products in the Twin Cities for more than a year. In addition to the new stations, he owns several which he now leases to individual operators.

BOXES RETAILED BY LUMBER CO.

Southern Lumber And Box Company, Inc., On Jackson St., Expand Retail Business

Officials of the Southern Lumber and Box Company, Inc., 4201 Jackson street, announced last week that their plant has been expanded and is now engaged in the retail box business.

It was pointed out that the lumber company handles building materials in addition to manufacturing boxes. All types of lumber for residential purposes as well as industrial constructions are available at the lumber company.

Both Slagle and Pettit have been in the retail lumber business in Monroe for more than 25 years. Their present plant is located between Jackson street and the Missouri Pacific railroad in a nine acre plot.

The plant and office was erected in November, 1946 and engaged in the manufacturing of Sawn wooden boxes and lumber. Since that time new departments have been added which enabled the company to retail building materials and boxes.

Twenty-five persons are now employed by the plant which has its own private switch tracks on to the Missouri Pacific railroad. Slagle asserted most boxes manufactured at the plant are shipped out of state for export purposes. Delivery services are also provided by the lumber company.

Government Profits From 'Wild West' Shows

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The government made a $1,855 profit last year helping Hollywood film makers turn out a dozen "wild westerns."

This was $405 more than it received the year before for its aid in the production of 14 "horse operas."

This government sideline was disclosed today by the bureau of land management which handled the transactions involving the use of public lands as a setting for the cowboy pictures.

LINE NOT BLAMED IN CARROLL DEATH

Executrix Of Showman's Estate Had Sought $2,000,000 In Damages

SCRANTON, Pa., May 6—(AP)—A federal court jury found today United Airlines was not to blame for a plane crash which killed Veteran Showman Earl Carroll and 41 other persons nearly two years ago.

By this verdict the panel of six men and six women denied damages of $2,000,000 sought by Mrs. Jessie A. Schuyler, executrix of the estate of the celebrated Broadway and Hollywood producer.

The jury reached its decision last night—after some seven hours deliberation — but the sealed verdict was not opened until court convened today.

Counsel for the plaintiff indicated in advance an appeal would be made if the verdict were unfavorable to his client.

The plane—a DC-6 — crashed June 17,1948, near Mt. Carmel in the rugged hills of eastern Pennsylvania's hard coal fields, only a few minutes flying time from relatively open and level country.

Mrs. Schuyler, in her suit, said the 57-year-old Carroll, whose successive editions of the "Vanities" wr highights of Amrities" were highlights of American stage entertainment, had a life expectancy of 16 years at the time of his death. Had he lived it was set forth, he would have earned somewhat more than $2,000,000 during that time.

The plaintiff charged the airlines with negligence, alleging fire broke out aboard the plane before it struck a power line near a coal mine and shattered against a rocky hillside.

It was claimed specifically the alleged fire was not fought properly in the air. It was theorized carbon dioxide in the firefighting systems aboard the plane overcame the pilots, thus causing the crash.

Among those killed with Carroll in a tragedy counted among the worst in America's civil aviation history was Beryl Wallace, screen star and leading lady in Carroll productions.

An action brought against United Airlines by administrators of her estate still is pending.

Other suits for damages also await hearing.

Above is an exterior view of the new stell outside-inside trimmed residence casement window unit as it appears installed.

METAL WINDOWS USED IN HOMES

New Steel Casement Windows Are Being Installed In Modern Homes And Offices

An interesting new development in the building industry is a completely new steel casement window unit that is complete with outside and inside metal trim, and thus provides simplified, low cost installation of one complete window assembly.

This new Fenestra steel window unit is described as being most advanced in design, easiest to install and the most "foolproof" window on the market today.

Casement window, screen and storm sash have bonderized, prime-painted steel frames and bronze lacquered hardware and screen cloth. Trim is galvanized and bonderized.

The new Window unit requires only the simplest rough opening preparation, and the same rough opening preparation is satisfactory for frame, brick veneer or stucco. The complete ready-trimmed window unit can be installed in the rough wall opening in minutes—by unskilled labor—and no trimming either inside or outside is required. Rough carpenters can make perfect installations. The trim makes an ideal stop for butting frame, brick and stucco on the outside, and plaster or dry wall on the inside. The inside is recessed to provide a pocket for blinds or roller shades.

SENATOR MYERS RAPS M'CARTHY

Says He's Failed To Produce A 'Single Shred Of Direct Evidence'

HONESDALE, Pa., May 6.—(AP)—Senator Myers (D.-Pa.) declared tonight that Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.) has failed to produce a "single shred of direct evidence" to back up his charges of communism in the government.

Meyers, deputy Democratic leader of the senate, said the congressional committee investigating McCarthy's accusations "has merely been confronted with evasive replies when it sought to pin down specific allegations."

Myers did not mention McCarthy by name, but it was clear he was talking about the Wisconsin Republican. Myers' remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery to the Wayne county Democratic committee.

McCarthy has charged that the state department is harboring many Communists and fellow travelers.

"We can't afford to lose our faith in the integrity of the department of state at this critical point in world affairs," said Myers.

He said the federal loyalty program set up by President Truman "has worked hand-in-glove with the F. B. I. examining the loyalty of every person working in our government today." He added:

"There have, of course, been a few hundred people out of the 2,000,000 or so in the entire government who could not furnish conclusive proof of their loyalty, and they are no longer carried on govenment payolls.

"On the other hand, the ohers have been given a clean bill of health after thorough investigation."

As for McCarthy's accusations, Myers declared:

"The committee has pressed those who offered the charges to bring forth evidence in support of what they alleged. And to date, those who made the charges in the first place have failed to put into the record one single shred of direct evidence to support the contention that there were 205, or 81, or 57 known, card - carrying Communists in the department of state."

CHURCH DEDICATED TODAY IN CROSSETT, ARK.

The new $143,000 First Baptist Church in Crossett, Ark., is being dedicated today. The church is constructed of solid masonry and has a seating capacity of 1,200. It was begun last August and completed recently. The old educational building will be moved and a north wing added to the church later. The Rev. J. W. Buckner, pastor of the First Baptist Church will deliver the dedication sermon and the Rev. Harold White, assistant pastor, the evening message.

OUACHITA BAND PLANS CONCERT

Recently Rated 'Superior' In Music Festival At Baton Rouge

Having just returned from a trip to New Orleans, where they heard the N. B. C. Sumphony Orchesra tunder the direction of Toscanini, and Baton Rouge, where they participated in the State Music Festival, the Ouachita Parish High School Band is now preparing for the climax of its year's actvilties—the annual spring concert.

The band rated "Superior" in both concert and sight - reading performances at Baton Rouge. Noted for its fire and freedom of expression, the band was described by L. Bruce Jones, of the L. S. U. music department, as the "finest high school band ever heard on the L. S. U. campus."

In addition to the band's "Superior" ratings, eleven soloists rated "Superior" with eight others rating "Excellent." Of the four student conductors one was graded "Superior;" the other three, "Excellent." One of the band's most outstanding strong points, according to the judges, is its individual players.

Truman McCrea is director of the Ouachita Band.

The Overture to "Rienzi" by Richard Wagner, which met with tremendous applause at Baton Rouge, will be featured on the band's spring concept. A unique feature on the program will be the presentation in its entirety of Shubert's "Symphony No. 5," arranged for concert band by Mr. Randolph Cannon, prominent local musician. "The Force of Destiny" Overture and selected marches will complete the program.

The band, which is now at its peak, is anxiously looking forward to its spring concert, which will be presented May 19. Everyone who appreciates fine concert band music can not afford to miss this performance.

NEW PHASE

lin newspaper Der Kurier said Chancellor Grotewohl and his deputy, Communist strongman Walter Ulbricht, were flown secretly to Moscow Wednesday and there joined East German President Wilhelm Pieck, already in Russia on what was called a "convalescent leave."

Such a meeting would provide an opportunity to consider from the Eastern viewpoint the German problems the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France are to discuss in London next week.

Press spokesmen for the East German government refused to confirm the reported missions to Moscow.

However, they did tell reporters to come out Monday to East Germany's celebration of the fifth anniversary of "liberation by the Soviet army" to see the government chiefs, this led to speculation that Grotewohl and company might have something to announce then.

If the Kremlin had something up its sleeve, Monday would be a good day to spring it, in the view of informed Western observers. The East German Communists have been promoting "Liberation Day" —VE Day to the Western world— in a big way. It has been declared an official holiday in East Germany and East Berlin.

Elizabeth Taylor Weds Hotel Heir Hilton

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May. 6.—(AP)—Calm and beautiful as a fairy princess, Elizabeth Taylor recited wedding vows with hotel heir Conrad Hilton Jr. today.

While 2,500 movie fans milled outside the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd, the dark-tressed actress declared: "I will," in a steady but unrestrained voice.

The wedding went off on time and without a hitch. At 4:50 p.m., a black limousine delivered the bride and her father, art dealer Francis Taylor, before the church. The crowd gasped at her beauty as she stepped out in her billowing white gown.

Santha's Top Officers Guests

The Cameo Room at Hotel Virginia will be the scene of a banquet Tuesday, May 9 at 7 p.m. in honor of Nimads of Avrudaka. Two imperial officers will attend and are Jean Pennell, Columbus, Ohio, Marharani and Bertha Kiner, imperial regent deputy of Ohio and Kentucky.

Also at the banquet will be representation from the Santha at Jackson, Miss., and from those at Little Rock, Beaumont, Bossier City, Shreveport and El Dorado.

There will be a round table discussion. Reservations for the banquet are to be had from Cecile Parker, Inez Brown, Nell Heard or Dr. H. H. Baur.

Boykin, Charles Dent, III.
May 13 — Mrs. Jean Wilkinson.

The Catholic Daughters of America will present Rev. Dennis Curren, former assistant pastor of St. Matthew's here, in a review of "The Cardinal" in Hotel Virginia ballroom, Friday, May 12 at 8 p.m. All book clubs and lovers of good literature are invited to attend as the speaker is an authority on the subject. Money netted will be used in church benevolencies.

The story related in the book tells of the rise of an Irish boy from Medford, Mass. who rose to the eminence of a prince of the Roman Catholic Church. It is the tale of the climb of Stephen Fermoyle up the hierarchy ladder to become a champion of the faith of Rome in the new world, and a cherished protege of Pope Pius XI. It is said to be a tale that grips its readers from start to finish. All who attend the review are assured an evening of pleasure and profit.

An indication that the "good ole summer time" is just around the corner, th efirst river baptism is slated for today. Rev. H. Y. Bell, pastor of Riverside Baptist Church (colored) located at Tenth and Olive streets, will baptise 26 in the Ouachita river at 1:30 p.m. today at the usual place, the foot of Pine street.

An informal visit was being made by Rep. Shady (handshaking) Wall and Rep.-elect R. C. White, Jr., together with several others interested in a group of Monroe's semi-public institutions. The men encountered an unusually large number of citizens in buildings visited and on the street, and Mr. Wall, back in old time campaign form, pumped hands with vigorous manner right and left.

As the party drove back to the heart of town, one in the auto espired a man working high in the air. "Say, Shady, there's a man that you haven't greeted, yet. Go get him!"

Instantly the dynamic Shady jumped from the car and looking up near the top of a telephone pole saw the man indicated.

"Hello up there," he shouted. "This is Shady Wall, member of the state legislature. How are you? Am glad to see you. Greetings! Good luck!"

Out at the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, one of the Twin Cities' important and useful institutions, patients have occasion to be deeply appreciative of the attentions paid them by a couple who have exhibited extreme thoughtfulness. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Route 4, West Monroe, have been visiting the patients every Saturday evening since February 14, 1947. And they by no means come empty-handed. They bring fruit, cake or sandwiches. When there is a birthday of any patient, they remember it and also at Christmas have gifts for each and every patient.

These visits are extremely helpful in maintaining the morale of the institution and both patients and staff are deeply appreciative. It may be that others may want to add their little gifts from time to time for here is one place where they will be more than thankfully received. Why not pass on a little pleasure to the other fellow, the one who really needs a bit of cheer when clouds seem to surround one's life?

RIDER DOGS MOTORIST

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—James F. Ferguson was at the wheel of his automobile when he felt a hot breath on the back of his neck. Startled, he turned and beheld a bulldog. The dog, it developed, was a hitchhiker. Her owner explained later: "She's just crazy about riding in cars."

FEPC Cited As 'Pearl Harbor For The South' If Approved

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Southerners limbering up for a marathon filibuster said today they would wage "all-out war" against the administration's F. E. P. C. bill in the senate next week.

Senator Johnston (D.-S. C.) a leader in the dixie group, served notice of a showdown battle in a communique for his colleagues, saying:

"We are thoroughly convinced that the passage of this monstrosity will mean a 'Pearl Harbor for the south.' "

Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) has called for debate Monday on the bill to create a fair employment practices commission. This agency would have powers to combat discrimination in employment because of race, color or creed.

The F. E. P. C. is favored in the political platforms of both the Democratic and Republican parties, but southern senators always have succeeded in killing it through prolonged debate.

Lucas said he plans to wait until the week after next before seeking to limit debate on F. E. P. C. The real F. E. P. C. test is expected on the debate limiting motion, which requires approval of 64 senators.

Johnston cleared the decks for action. He cancelled, after next Tuesday, hearings on a postal rate increase bill before the senate post office committee he heads. This leaves him free to devote full time to the F. E. P. C. fight.

"No future hearings will be scheduled," Johnston said, "until the F. E. P. C. bill has been defeated or otherwise disposed of."

Similarly, Chairman Maybank (D.-S. C.) of the senate banking committee, another F. E. P. C. foe, has announced that although hearings have been completed on the proposed one-year extension of rent controls, he will be too busy fighting F. E. P. C. to call the banking committee together to act on the rent control legislation.

Johnston's statement said that with him his home state of South Carolina comes first.

"I fully realize," Johnston said, "that my duties in the senate should be for the best interest of the nation as a whole. However, my duties and obligations are to the people of South Carolina first of all.

"Having visited my home state of South Carolina last week, I found the people there most antagonistic to the F. E. P. C. legislation, therefore, I am declaring all-out war against this un-American proposal."

M'CARTHY LEVELS

and declared again: "There are Communists on our federal payroll."

He bitterly attacked Secretary of State Acheson again, saying "the days of dilettante diplomacy are running out on Mr. Acheson and his fancy comrades of the Kremlin."

McCarthy noted that Acheson had refused to turn his back on Alger Hiss, who was convicted of perjuring himself in denying he gave papers to a Russian spy. But McCarthy said that the secretary "is turning his back" on two American servicemen who are prisoners of the Chinese Communists.

American diplomacy has failed to secure release of the two who disappeared several weeks ago.

The loyalty files referred to by the speakers were released to the inquiry after Mr. Truman was advised they were examined by previous congressional committees who had studied the cases involved. The president has steadfastly refused to release FBI files demanded by McCarthy on the theory that disclosure of them would damage the agency.

Contempt citations for Earl Browder and Frederick Vanderbilt Field were laid before senate Communist investigators today with a recommendation that they take action against the pair.

The group will consider Monday whether to vote to cite the two men who defied a senate foreign relations subcommittee by refusing to answer a number of questions.

Edward P. Morgan, attorney for the five-man panel studying Senator McCarthy's charges of communism in the state department, proposed that the whole foreign relations committee act against the two witnesses. Full senate approval also would be required to send the cases to the district attorney for court action.

Browder, former head of the American Communist party, turned aside a volley of questions about individuals, protesting that it was a "fishing expedition."

Field, millionaire descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, claimed constitutional protection for refusing to say whether he ever was a Communist, and withholding other answers.

Meanwhile, on the house side, the attorney for William W. Remington turned his fire on Chairman Woods (D.-Ga.) of the un-American activities committee.

The lawyer, Joseph L. Rauh, charged that Woods has pre-judged the new loyalty investigation of Remington, young commerce department official who has denied testimony that he was a Communist.

As Rauh met reporters in a news conference, the committee was hearing from Elizabeth T. Bentley, avowed ex-courier for Russian spies, who first leveled the communism charge at Remington. She appeared today behind closed doors.

CRUCIAL FUTURE SEEN BY ACHESON

Makes Grim Warning Prior To His Departure For European Talks

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson set out for Europe today with a grim warning that the non-Communist world faces "increasingly crucial tests in the years immediately ahead."

He said that because of the threat of international communism, the free nations of the world must speed up the mobilization of their "moral and material strength" and must do so "with utmost vigor."

That, he emphasized in a formal statement, will be his own major purpose in talking with British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Minister Schuman in Paris and London next week, and in meeting with the North Atlantic treaty council the week following.

Adopted by the association were resolutions supporting the creation of a criminal court of appeals, to have jurisdiction in criminal and domestic matters and an approval in principle of a motor vehicle safety responsibility act, similar to that already adopted by many states.

In a short address, retiring president Henry P. Dart, Jr., of New Orleans reviewed the past year's activities and accomplishments of the Louisiana Bar Association. The drive for increasing the salaries of judges in the state, said Dart, was initiated by the association in the belief that higher pay would attract and hold the best men.

He revealed that the association had unanimously approved a ban on the picketing of federal courts, and had contacted the American Bar Association on the subject.

In a personal note, Dart announced that he was in favor of continuing the efforts toward a plan for impartial selection of judges and for the restoration of state-wide civil service.

Reelected as the L. B. A. delegate to the American Bar Association was Cuthbert S. Baldwin of New Orleans. New members of the nominating committee for the coming year were elected by districts. Representing the first district will be Leander H. Perez, noted political figure and one of the leaders of the states - rights movement. Cicero Sessions of New Orleans was chosen from the second district, and L. Le Seur from the third. Representing the fourth district is John H. Tucker, Jr., president of the Louisiana Law Institute. From the fifth district, J. H. Trousdale, Jr., of Monroe is the representative on the committee. Fred Blanche was selected from the sixth district, Richard Anderson from the seventh, and H. B. Gist from the eighth.

Vets' Budget Is Tentatively Okay

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The house today tentatively approved a $5,801,782,795 budget for the veterans' administration for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

That was the amount recommended for the V. A. by the house appropriations committee in a $29,000,000,000 "one-package" budget bill which the house has been debating since before Easter. It compares with $6,007,615,000 requested by President Truman and $6,330,519,000 given the V. A. for the present year.

Only one attempt was made to change the veterans' allotment. Representative Allen (D.-La.) tried to add $50,000,000 for vets' hospital operating expenses but the house shouted him down on a voice vote.

The V. A. funds are part of the $8,534,887,347 in the so-called independent offices section of the big bill. The rest of the total is for a score of agencies including the atomic energy commission.

OUACHITA BAND PLANS CONCERT

Having just returned from a trip to New Orleans, where they heard the N. B. C. Sumphony Orchesra tunder the direction of Toscanini, and Baton Rouge, where they participated in the State Music Festival, the Ouachita Parish High School Band is now preparing for the climax of its year's actviities—the annual spring concert.

The band rated "Superior" in both concert and sight - reading performances at Baton Rouge. Noted for its fire and freedom of expression, the band was described by L. Bruce Jones, of the L. S. U. music department, as the "finest high school band ever heard on the L. S. U. campus."

In addition to the band's "Superior" ratings, eleven soloists rated "Superior" with eight others rating "Excellent." Of the four student conductors one was graded "Superior;" the other three, "Excellent." One of the band's most outstanding strong points, according to the judges, is its individual players.

Truman McCrea is director of the Ouachita Band.

The Overture to "Rienzi" by Richard Wagner, which met with tremendous applause at Baton Rouge, will be featured on the band's spring concept. A unique feature on the program will be the presentation in its entirety of Shubert's "Symphony No. 5," arranged for concert band by Mr. Randolph Cannon, prominent local musician. "The Force of Destiny" Overture and selected marches will complete the program.

The band, which is now at its peak, is anxiously looking forward to its spring concert, which will be presented May 19. Everyone who appreciates fine concert band music can not afford to miss this performance.

lin newspaper Der Kurier said Chancellor Grotewohl and his deputy, Communist strongman Walter Ulbricht, were flown secretly to Moscow Wednesday and there joined East German President Wilhelm Pieck, already in Russia on what was called a "convalescent leave."

Such a meeting would provide an opportunity to consider from the Eastern viewpoint the German problems the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France are to discuss in London next week.

Press spokesmen for the East German government refused to confirm the reported missions to Moscow.

However, they did tell reporters to come out Monday to East Germany's celebration of the fifth anniversary of "liberation by the Soviet army" to see the government chiefs, this led to speculation that Grotewohl and company might have something to announce then.

If the Kremlin had something up its sleeve, Monday would be a good day to spring it, in the view of informed Western observers. The East German Communists have been promoting "Liberation Day" —VE Day to the Western world— in a big way. It has been declared an official holiday in East Germany and East Berlin.

Elizabeth Taylor Weds Hotel Heir Hilton

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May. 6.—(AP)—Calm and beautiful as a fairy princess, Elizabeth Taylor recited wedding vows with hotel heir Conrad Hilton Jr. today.

While 2,500 movie fans milled outside the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd, the dark-tressed actress declared: "I will," in a steady but unrestrained voice.

The wedding went off on time and without a hitch. At 4:50 p.m., a black limousine delivered the bride and her father, art dealer Francis Taylor, before the church. The crowd gasped at her beauty as she stepped out in her billowing white gown.

Santha's Top Officers Guests

The Cameo Room at Hotel Virginia will be the scene of a banquet Tuesday, May 9 at 7 p.m. in honor of Nimads of Avrudaka. Two imperial officers will attend and are Jean Pennell, Columbus, Ohio, Marharani and Bertha Kiner, imperial regent deputy of Ohio and Kentucky.

Also at the banquet will be representation from the Santha at Jackson, Miss., and from those at Little Rock, Beaumont, Bossier City, Shreveport and El Dorado.

There will be a round table discussion. Reservations for the banquet are to be had from Cecile Parker, Inez Brown, Nell Heard or Dr. H. H. Baur.

JES' RAMBLIN'

Boykin, Charles Dent, III.
May 13 — Mrs. Jean Wilkinson.

The Catholic Daughters of America will present Rev. Dennis Curren, former assistant pastor of St. Matthew's here, in a review of "The Cardinal" in Hotel Virginia ballroom, Friday, May 12 at 8 p.m. All book clubs and lovers of good literature are invited to attend as the speaker is an authority on the subject. Money netted will be used in church benevolencies.

The story related in the book tells of the rise of an Irish boy from Medford, Mass. who rose to the eminence of a prince of the Roman Catholic Church. It is the tale of the climb of Stephen Fermoyle up the hierarchy ladder to become a champion of the faith of Rome in the new world, and a cherished protege of Pope Pius XI. It is said to be a tale that grips its readers from start to finish. All who attend the review are assured an evening of pleasure and profit.

An indication that the "good ole summer time" is just around the corner, th efirst river baptism is slated for today. Rev. H. Y. Bell, pastor of Riverside Baptist Church (colored) located at Tenth and Olive streets, will baptise 26 in the Ouachita river at 1:30 p.m. today at the usual place, the foot of Pine street.

An informal visit was being made by Rep. Shady (handshaking) Wall and Rep.-elect R. C. White, Jr., together with several others interested in a group of Monroe's semi-public institutions. The men encountered an unusually large number of citizens in buildings visited and on the street, and Mr. Wall, back in old time campaign form, pumped hands with vigorous manner right and left.

As the party drove back to the heart of town, one in the auto espired a man working high in the air. "Say, Shady, there's a man that you haven't greeted, yet. Go get him!"

Instantly the dynamic Shady jumped from the car and looking up near the top of a telephone pole saw the man indicated.

"Hello up there," he shouted. "This is Shady Wall, member of the state legislature. How are you? Am glad to see you. Greetings! Good luck!"

Out at the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, one of the Twin Cities' important and useful institutions, patients have occasion to be deeply appreciative of the attentions paid them by a couple who have exhibited extreme thoughtfulness. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Route 4, West Monroe, have been visiting the patients every Saturday evening since February 14, 1947. And they by no means come empty-handed. They bring fruit, cake or sandwiches. When there is a birthday of any patient, they remember it and also at Christmas have gifts for each and every patient.

These visits are extremely helpful in maintaining the morale of the institution and both patients and staff are deeply appreciative. It may be that others may want to add their little gifts from time to time for here is one place where they will be more than thankfully received. Why not pass on a little pleasure to the other fellow, the one who really needs a bit of cheer when clouds seem to surround one's life?

RIDER DOGS MOTORIST

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—James F. Ferguson was at the wheel of his automobile when he felt a hot breath on the back of his neck. Startled, he turned and beheld a bulldog. The dog, it developed, was a hitchhiker. Her owner explained later: "She's just crazy about riding in cars."

FEPC Cited As 'Pearl Harbor For The South' If Approved

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Southerners limbering up for a marathon filibuster said today they would wage "all-out war", against the administration's F. E. P. C. bill in the senate next week.

Senator Johnston (D.-S. C.) a leader in the dixie group, served notice of a showdown battle in a communique for his colleagues, saying:

"We are thoroughly convinced that the passage of this monstrosity will mean a 'Pearl Harbor for the south.' "

Democratic Leader Lucas (ill.) has called for debate Monday on the bill to create a fair employment practices commission. This agency would have powers to combat discrimination in employment because of race, color or creed.

The F. E. P. C. is favored in the political platforms of both the Democratic and Republican parties, but southern senators always have succeeded in killing it through prolonged debate.

Lucas said he plans to wait until the week after next before seeking to limit debate on F. E. P. C. The real F. E. P. C. test is expected on the debate limiting motion, which requires approval of 64 senators.

Johnston cleared the decks for action. He cancelled, after next Tuesday, hearings on a postal rate increase bill before the senate post office committee he heads. This leaves him free to devote full time to the F. E. P. C. fight.

"No future hearings will be scheduled," Johnston said, "until the F. E. P. C. bill has been defeated or otherwise disposed of."

Similarly, Chairman Maybank (D.-S. C.) of the senate banking committee, another F. E. P. C. foe, has announced that although hearings have been completed on the proposed one-year extension of rent controls, he will be too busy fighting F. E. P. C. to call the banking committee together to act on the rent control legislation.

Johnston's statement said that with him his home state of South Carolina comes first.

"I fully realize," Johnston said, "that my duties in the senate should be for the best interest of the nation as a whole. However, my duties and obligations are to the people of South Carolina first of all.

"Having visited my home state of South Carolina last week, I found the people there most antagonistic to the F. E. P. C. legislation, therefore, I am declaring all-out war against this un-American proposal."

M'CARTHY LEVELS

and declared again: "There are Communists on our federal payroll."

He bitterly attacked Secretary of State Acheson again, saying "the days of dilettante diplomacy are running out on Mr. Acheson and his fancy comrades of the Kremlin."

McCarthy noted that Acheson had refused to turn his back on Alger Hiss, who was convicted of perjuring himself in denying he gave papers to a Russian spy. But McCarthy said that the secretary "is turning his back" on two American servicemen who are prisoners of the Chinese Communists.

American diplomacy has failed to secure release of the two who disappeared several weeks ago.

The loyalty files referred to by the speakers were released to the inquiry after Mr. Truman was advised they were examined by previous congressional committees who had studied the cases involved. The president has steadfastly refused to release FBI files demanded by McCarthy on the theory that disclosure of them would damage the agency.

Contempt citations for Earl Browder and Frederick Vanderbilt Field were laid before senate Communist investigators today with a recommendation that they take action against the pair.

The group will consider Monday whether to vote to cite the two men who defied a senate foreign relations subcommittee by refusing to answer a number of questions.

Edward P. Morgan, attorney for the five-man panel studying Senator McCarthy's charges of communism in the state department, proposed that the whole foreign relations committee act against the two witnesses. Full senate approval also would be required to send the cases to the district attorney for court action.

Browder, former head of the American Communist party, turned aside a volley of questions about individuals, protesting that it was a "fishing expedition."

Field, millionaire descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, claimed constitutional protection for refusing to say whether he ever was a Communist, and withholding other answers.

Meanwhile, on the house side, the attorney for William W. Remington turned his fire on Chairman Woods (D.-Ga.) of the un-American activities committee.

The lawyer, Joseph L. Rauh, charged that Woods has pre-judged the new loyalty investigation of Remington, young commerce department official who has denied testimony that he was a Communist.

As Rauh met reporters in a news conference, the committee was hearing from Elizabeth T. Bentley, avowed ex-courier for Russian spies, who first leveled the communism charge at Remington. She appeared today behind closed doors.

carry him to the west coast and back, with nine major speeches and 50 or more palftoethesedHa and 50 or more platform appearances. He added the ninth formal talk to his schedule today—a 15-minute speech around 4:30 p.m., (MST) Tuesday at Cheyenne, Wyo. The topic will be government aid to small business.

He will return Tuesday, May 16, the day after a party rally at Chicago which will feature all the Democratic bigwigs who can get there.

The Chicago speech will be answered by Senator Taft of Ohio, G.O.P. leaders are thinking about getting Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to give a final sum-up of Republican answers to Mr. Truman when it is all over.

The G.O.P. statement charged that the trip comes at a time when the people are disturbed; "confused by conflicting statements from Mr. Truman and his lieutenants . . . upset by scandals of his administration, and sudden, unexplained reversals of its policies."

The statement added the following charges, in the form of questions which it said were "gravely troubling" American voters, and dared the president to answer them:

"Mr. Truman ordered Democrat leaders in congress "to block the sensible amendments to the Taft-Hartley act, as favored by Republicans, when he couldn't find the votes' for repeal.

He refuses the people further income tax cuts although "the ordinary workman must labor one day a week to pay his federal taxes."

The record shows "a reckless $9,000,000,000 increase in cost (of government) since 1948, of which $6,000,000,000 had nothing to do with national defense, veterans benefits or European financial aid."

Although "farm prices have fallen sharply since 1948, when we had a Republican congress," the only Truman solution is the Brannan Plan "under which prices would drop stil' further, and farmers would be subjected to bureaucratic regimentation."

Vets' Budget Is Tentatively Okay

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The house today tentatively approved a $5,801,782,795 budget for the veterans' administration for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

That was the amount recommended for the V. A. by the house appropriations committee in a $29,000,000,000 "one-package" budget bill which the house has been debating since before Easter. It compares with $6,007,615,000 requested by President Truman and $6,330,519,000 given the V. A. for the present year.

Only one attempt was made to change the veterans' allotment. Representative Allen (D.-La.) tried to add $50,000,000 for vets' hospital operating expenses but the house shouted him down on a voice vote.

The V. A. funds are part of the $8,534,887,347 in the so-called independent offices section of the big bill. The rest of the total is for a score of agencies including the atomic energy commission.

CRUCIAL FUTURE SEEN BY ACHESON

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson set out for Europe today with a grim warning that the non-Communist world faces "increasingly crucial tests in the years immediately ahead."

He said that because of the threat of international communism, the free nations of the world must speed up the mobilization of their "moral and material strength" and must do so "with utmost vigor."

That, he emphasized in a formal statement, will be his own major purpose in talking with British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Minister Schuman in Paris and London next week, and in meeting with the North Atlantic treaty council the week following.

GEORGE MADISON

Adopted by the association were resolutions supporting the creation of a criminal court of appeals, to have jurisdiction in criminal and domestic matters and an approval in principle of a motor vehicle safety responsibility act, similar to that already adopted by many states.

In a short address, retiring president Henry P. Dart, Jr., of New Orleans reviewed the past year's activities and accomplishments of the Louisiana Bar Association. The drive for increasing the salaries of judges in the state, said Dart, was initiated by the association in the belief that higher pay would attract and hold the best men.

He revealed that the association had unanimously approved a ban on the picketing of federal courts, and had contacted the American Bar Association on the subject.

In a personal note, Dart announced that he was in favor of continuing the efforts toward a plan for impartial selection of judges and for the restoration of state-wide civil service.

Reelected as the L. B. A. delegate to the American Bar Association was Cuthbert S. Baldwin of New Orleans. New members of the nominating committee for the coming year were elected by districts. Representing the first district will be Leander H. Perez, noted political figure and one of the leaders of the states-rights movement. Cicero Sessions of New Orleans was chosen from the second district, and L. Le Seur from the third. Representing the fourth district is John H. Tucker, Jr., president of the Louisiana Law Institute. From the fifth district, J. H. Trousdale, Jr., of Monroe is the representative on the committee. Fred Blanche was selected from the sixth district, Richard Anderson from the seventh, and H. B. Gist from the eighth.

Be Your Own Landlord
Why pay rent and put up with an inconvenient house?
You can own a well planned two-bedroom house with hardwood floors, inlaid linoleum, weatherstripped windows, floor furnace and AN ALL METAL YOUNGSTOWN KITCHEN.
Put your rent dollars to work for you and end up owning your own home instead of a drawer full of rent receipts.
When you can own a modern, up-to-the-minute home with all the conveniences you've always dreamed of.
And you can own all this—on a lot of your choice—for less than you now pay rent. Your down payment will be very small . . . . in most cases $500 covers EVERYTHING!
Come in and let us show you how easy it is to pay rent to yourself.

Junior Music Clubs Have Fete In Hospitable Home

An innovation in Louisiana's musical life was recently realized in the Junior Fete Day honoring Federated Junior Music Clubs affiliated with the Musical Coterie of Monroe. Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, counselor-at-large from the junior clubs of Monroe, including the Moment Musical Coterie, The Chansonnettes and the A Sharp Coterie, conceived the idea of the fete day and made possible its fulfillment. Miss Biedenharn opened her spacious home in its entirety along with the beautiful adjoining gardens, for the club members of Monroe and out-of-town guests to enjoy throughout the day and evening set aside for the fete.

At ten o'clock in the morning after Miss Biedenharn, assisted by members of the senior Musical Coterie of Monroe, had formally welcomed the guests to her home and had introduced the guests of honor, the first program of the day was presented by the junior federated clubs of Monroe. Presidents of the three clubs were featured along with other instrumentallists. All proved themselves to be most capable performers, as did a junior group from Alexandria which brought another hour of vocal and piano music, following the Monroe presentation.

At one o'clock, the assemblage of almost 200 were luncheon guests at the Rendezvous where a program of music, varied and delightful, was provided by outstanding members of federated junior clubs of Alexandria. After the luncheon, junior club members from Alexandria, Shreveport and Monroe participated in a panel discussion pertinent to the purpose of the day. The panel was both entertaining and enlightening.

A brilliant program prepared by talented members of the junior clubs of Shreveport was heard at three o'clock in the music room of Miss Biedenharn's home. The events of the day thus far were then climaxed with the presentation of a graceful ballet in the gardens, under direction of the Misses Roan of Monroe, whose gracious cooperation contributed much to the success of the fete. The afternoon came to a charming close as strains of music from delightfully trained junior choral groups of Alexandria and Shreveport, singing from partially-concealed architectural recesses of the garden, were borne across the breeze to guests enjoying refreshing sherbets on the terrace.

Epochs in Musical Progress, a study pursued by the junior clubs of Monroe during recent months, became the theme of the final program of the fete day. Confined to music for the keyboard dating from 1350 through 1950, this musical symposium drawn from six centuries just passed, was researched, compiled and orally annotated by Mrs. B. Delaware Allbritton. Presented to a discriminating and appreciative audience at eight o'clock in the evening in Miss Biedenharn's home, the chosen compositions were played in style appropriate to the era in which each was composed. Students of Miss Mary Grace Lawn and Mrs. Albritton who performed this music were Misses Jane Wallace, Marianne Buce, Jo Rhodes, Jennie Reynolds, Martha Hatchell, Anna Mary Johnson, Bonnie Pettit, Kittie Sue Pollard, Frances Pollard, Martha Nell Chappell and Mary Alice Golson. After the program was completed, Mrs. H. H. Land presented Miss Biedenharn with an appropriately engraved spoon which, in her well-chosen words of presentation, she termed the Coterie "Oscar" for a member who contributes most notably to the best interest of the organization within a given year. Miss Biedenharn responded most graciously, then invited the guests to a reception planned for the gardens and honoring:

Mrs. Luther A. Beene, Dixie district president, National Federation of Music Clubs, hreveport; Mrs. J. P. Kelley, president of Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs, Alexandria; Mrs. William J. Hamlin, junior counselor of Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs, Alexandria; Mrs. John Overton Banks, Beaumont, Tex., honorary life member of the Coterie.

The presence of Miss Marian Gordon-Frazer, of New York and London, always a colorful guest, added greatly to the interest of the occasion. Mr. Joseph Biedenharn, genial host, dispensed true southern hospitality as is his custom, along with the prized servants who are a part of the Biedenharn tradition. Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn cannot be too highly commended for her generous and genuine interest in the younger musicians of Monroe.

Members of the junior music clubs honored by this occsaion were: The Moment Musical Coterie; Misses Carol Cage, Virginia Cage, Gay Demmary, Jan Demmary, Jane Gill, Beverly Granberry, Martha Harper, Betty Hemphill, Gerry Lynn Lester, Zola Parish, Theda Rose Pettigrew, Martha Riser, Brenda Salter, Cacey Sue Turner. Counselor, Mrs. F. V. Allison.

The Chansonnettes: Misses Mary Elizabeth Byrd, Martha Nell Chappell, Carol Eady, Jo Marie Ellett, Mary Alice Golson, Ann Hebert, De Juana McCormick, Anita Fay Rickerson, Mary Lou Trawick, Launelda Waldon. Counselor, Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn.

Suggests Stalin Be Asked About Germans

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 6.—(AP)— A West German newspaper proposed today that Trygve Lie, secretray-general of the United Nations, ask Prime Minister Stalin what has become of Germany's missing war prisoners.

Lie is scheduled to confer with Russian leaders in Moscow next week. The Soviet Union announced yesterday that all German war prisoners save a few thousand war criminals, suspects and sick have been repatriated. The news shocked hundreds of thousands of German families still waiting for some to come home.

V. F. W. PLANNING LA. ENCAMPMENT

Session Called In Jonesboro Today To Effect Needed Arrangements

The 13th district, department of Louisiana V. F. W., will meet in Jonesboro this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Edwin-Brown Post 4317 for the purpose of completing plans for the 1950 state encampment of the department of Louisiana V. F. W. to be held in the Twin Cities of Monroe and West Monroe June 16, 17, 18. Meeting will be presided over by 13th district commander, Ralph Smelly of Ruston, being assisted by general chairman, W. W. Sullivan. Representatives will be in attendance from the following towns: Bastrop, Bernice, Columbia, Ruston, Jonesboro, Winnsboro, Monroe, and West Monroe. All committees are requested to report at 1:00 o'clock.

Confirmation has just been received that Clyde A. Lewis, national commander-in-chief of the V. F. W. of the United States will be present for the state encampment. Lewis is the first World War II veteran to attain the highest office in any major veterans organization. Lewis enlisted in the army air force as a private. Upon his discharge he had risen to the rank of major. He was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak-leaf clusters; the French Croix de Guerre; the Air Medal with four clusters; the Distinguished Unit Citation with one cluster; the European-African-Middle East campaign ribbon with six battle stars, and the American Theater ribbon.

THAW SLOWLY

Although poultry can be set in the oven or in a skillet on top of the range while it is still frozen, most persons agree that it is a much better product if thawed slowly in the refrigerator before cooking is started.

SO. UNIVERSITY CHOIR BOOKED

Will Appear At Carroll Auditorium On Monday Night

Music lovers throughout Louisiana and adjacent areas are awaiting with interest the presentation of the famed Southern University choir which will appear at Carroll auditorium Monday, May 8, under auspices of the F. D. Thompson post of the American Legion and its auxiliary.

This group is said to have made a lasting impression on audiences through their skill in rendering spirituals, classics and folk songs.

Mildred McGowan, conductor, and Gladys Childress, accompanist, have had advantage of excellent musical training, the former having studied in New Jersey and New York and the latter having received training in music in Colorado, California and New York.

Betty Lou Williams, graduate of Monroe Colored High School, is a member of the Southern University choir.

Commander Flintroy states that this is the first of a series of similar programs that will be presented. Funds derived will be used in the building program.

Golfer Gene Sarazen has won the P. G. A. championship three times to rank behind only Walter Hagen in total wins.

Of Course...you'll want her to have a charge account

It's a convenience every woman appreciates.

She doesn't have to run the risk of carrying a large amount of cash in her pocketbook. She doesn't have to worry that she will run short of money and have to pass up an unexpected bargain. And she saves a lot of shopping time because she doesn't have to wait for change.

It's convenient for you, too. It enables you to buy the things you need or want for your home, your family and yourself when you need or want them—and to pay for them later. It puts an end to the day-by-day handing out of cash and permits you to pay all your bills at one time from statements that serve as a permanent record.

But a good credit standing is more than a convenience—it's a mark of personal prestige. It reflects the fact that you are a person to be trusted—that you have the reputation of living up to your word—that the merchant, the physician, the dentist, the druggist, the fuel dealer and other credit granters regard you as conscientious and responsible.

Whether you're buying on a monthly charge account or on deferred payments, protect your credit record by buying only what you can pay for, by paying all bills promptly—on the date they are due.

St. David's Episcopal Church Of Rayville Scene Of Impressive Wedding Ceremony

St. David's Episcopal Church of Rayville was the scene of a beautiful candlelit wedding ceremony on Saturday April 29, at six p.m., uniting in marriage Miss Vivian Holt Green and James Foster Jones, Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Severin Green of Rayville and the bride-groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Foster Jones, Sr., also of Rayville.

Gleaming white tapers were burning in the fern banked windows of the picturesque little church. On the altar gold vases were filled with white gladioli placed between the gleaming altar candles. Cathedral candles in floor candelabra and white gladioli in tall marionette baskets under an arch festooned with smilax and centered with satin wedding bells formed a beautiful setting for the bride. The couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu to exchange their vows. White satin ribbon holding a single white gladiola was the aisle marker for each of the family pews.

The Rev. H. Newton Griffith, vicar of St. David's, was the officiating clergyman. Mrs. J. Y. Abraugh at the organ played softly as Bill Pipes lighted the altar candles and accompanied the vested choir as it entered, singing "Oh, Perfect Love". The children composing the choir were John Binion, III, Noble Ellington, Mary Alta Shamblin, Linda Jordan, Linda Kaye Ellington, Mary Sue Francis, Billy Jo Hanchey and Judy Downes. John Binion, III, sang "Breathe on Them Breath of God". Miss Elizabeth Scott played the traditional wedding marches and nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. James Ball who sang "The Lord's Prayer".

While the guests were being seated, Miss Scott played softly prenuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Ball as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a gown of magnolia satin fashioned with a drop shoulder yoke of marquisette outlined with puffs of satin edged with a ruffle of chantilly lace. The fitted bodice of satin was fastened in back with satin covered buttons as were the long close-fitting sleeves which came to a point at the wrist. The basque was fastened to a full skirt worn over hoops with long court train.

Her veil of illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of chantilly lace and adorned with orange blossoms. She carried a handmade lace handkerchief which was used in the wedding of a cousin, Mrs. A. B. Kilgore, thirty-five years ago. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lillies of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. John Binion, Jr., of Shreveport, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Mercer Green, sister-in-law of the bride and the two sisters of the groom, Mrs. Carlton Cobb, and Miss Elaine Jones. Junior bridesmaids were Martha Ann Green of Jackson and Dianne Short of Bastrop. The attendants' dresses were fashioned alike of taffeta with a drop-shoulder yoke of marquisette, full skirts worn over hoops, and a big bow of self material forming a bustle in back. All wore Juliet caps of tulle, caught with sweetheart roses, and each carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink sweetheart roses and other spring flowers tied with ribbons in rainbow colors. The dress of the matron-of-honor was in daffodil yellow, the bridesmaids' in aqua, and the junior bridesmaids' dresses were pink.

Tiny Kitty Green, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her white gown was fashioned similar to those of the other attendants. She carried a basket filled with rose petals. Bill Green, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer, and wore a white satin suit and carried the rings on a satin pillow.

Mr. William Mercer Green stood with the groom as best man. The groomsmen were Mr. Hobart Green, Mr. John Cook, Mr. Dan Sartor, and Mr. Carlton Cobb. Male members of the wedding party wore summer dress suits.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's mother wore a dusty pink chiffon dress with hat of pink maline and blue flowers. Her accessories were blue. The groom's mother was gowned in orchid chiffon. Both wore corsages of sweetheart roses. At the porch entrance the guests were greeted by Miss Elizabeth Scott in a gown of white chiffon and tulle with red accessories, and Mrs. Felix Hemler in a blue chiffon dress with pink accessories.

The mantle in the spacious living room was centered with a fan arrangement of white gladioli flanked by candles. Tall baskets of Easter lilies, stock and fern marked the place for the bridal party.

The buffet and mantle in the dining room featured pink roses and ferns flanked by white candles. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and held a mirror on which was a giant heart-shaped wedding cake, embossed in lilies of the valley and roses. Wedding bells formed of white icing and tied with tulle bows were on the mirror, and around the mirror fern and white bride's roses of icing were placed. The cake was made by Mrs. Yorkie O'Neal and was a gift to the bride. Wedding ring mints were at the corners of the table. A row of lighted candles extended from the cake to a bride and groom figurine. Over the table a white satin wedding bell was suspended. The gifts were displayed on tables covered with white organdy ruffles. An oblong table held the crystal punch bowl over which Miss Lulu Newberry presided. Mrs. Marsden Dupuy of LaFayette had charge of the bride's book. At the entrance to the dining room, inviting the guests to refreshment, stood Mrs. A. B. Kilgore in a blue chiffon gown with pink accessories.

Tea girls serving the guests were Mrs. Tommye Adams, Mrs. William McKinney, Mrs. Carey Ellis, Jr., and Miss Jackie Guynes. Mrs. Janie Sartor of Alto, assited by Mrs. Schooler, Mrs. Jarmon, Mrs. Hanchey and Mrs. Waite assisted in extending courtesies.

For the honeymoon to Niagara the bride wore a three-piece suit of mauve with pink batiste blouse, pink hat, and other accessories of navy.

The bride is a graduate of L. S. U. and was a member of Phi Mu social sorority. The groom is a graduate of L. S. U. and was a member of Theta Xi fraternity. The couple will reside in Rayville.

OFFICERS INSTALLED AT MEETING OF MAGNOLIA STUDY CLUB

One of the outstanding meetings of the Magnolia Study Club of the year was held in the home of the president, Mrs. A. T. White on Gerald Street.

The business session being completed, Mrs. A. T. White introduced and welcomed the Fifth District president of L. F. W. C., Miss Bessie Noble, Miss Canady, director of music at Mangham High School and Mrs. L. A. Vestermark. Corsages were presented to the guests speakers. Mrs. W. S. Nield was also introduced as a guest and Mrs. P. C. Landers was elected as a new member.

Mrs. J. E. Nelson, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. Kay Causey, a dramatic teacher of this city who in turn introduced four of her talented students. Lovely readings and a skit was enjoyed by the members. Miss Canady in her sweet mellow voice delighted the members present with three selections, "Will You Rmember," "Sylvia" and "The Lord's Prayer." The piano music was supplied by Mrs. L. A. Vertermark.

The highlight of the meeting was the installation of officers for the ensuing year. The installing offcier was Miss Bessie Noble. Her ceremony was very impressive. The new officers for the year were escorted for installation by the outgoing officer, Mrs. A. T. White. Mrs. W. C. Epstein was installed as the new president of the club. Mrs. C. J. Nichols excorted Mrs. C. C. Lucky, newly elected vice-president. Mrs. Fred Tucker was installed as new secretary and Mrs. Ed Head, treasurer with Mrs. C. J. Nichols, program chairman. After the new officers were installed, Mrs. A. T. White gave an impressive welcome, congratulated the new officers, and pledged her support for the coming year.

After the meeting adjourned delicious refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed table decorated in a profussion of spring flowers to the following guests and members: Mrs. J. F. Smith, Mrs. R. P. Engel, Mrs. Fred Tucker, Mrs. Ed Hochenedel, Mrs. L. N. Copes, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. C. J. Nichols, Mrs. G. C. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. E. Nelson, Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Mrs. W. C. Epstein, Mrs. Tom Leos, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Miss Bessie Noble, Miss Elaine Canady, Mrs. L. A. Vestermark and Mrs. W. S. Nield and the hostess, Mrs. A. T. White.

MRS. JAMES F. JONES, JR. FETED BEFORE RECENT MARRIAGE

At the DeSaird Country Club of Monroe on the picturesque bayou Mrs. James Shamblin was the charming hostess for a lovely luncheon, on Friday, April 28th, honoring Miss Vivian Green of Rayville, whose marriage to James Foster Jones, Jr. was solemnized April 29th. For the occasion, the honoree wore aqua and black costume from her trousseau with black accessories. Lovely corsages were presented to Teeny and to Mrs James Green and Mrs. Foster Jones, mothers of the bride and groom - elect. A gift package of apple blossom china marked the place of the honoree. Gay painted daisies centered the table and were later sent to James S. Green, Jr.

A delicious three-course luncheon was served. Afterwards, the guests enjoyed a conversational hour on the broad veranda, overlooking the bayou.

Guests enjoying this pre-nuptial courtesy with Miss Green were Miss Lizzie Scott, Mrs. A. B. Killgore of Shreveport, Mrs. Foster Jones, Mrs. James Green and the hostess.

For once rain proved an asset to a picnic when on Monday April 24th, Mr. Geo. Franklin graciously offered his lodge at Bee Bayou as a most preferable substitute to damp picnic grounds. The picnic was one given by Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ellis, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green honoring Miss Vivian Green and Mr. Foster Jones, Jr., popular young couple whose marriage took place April 29th.

Following the picnic supper the couples took turns in the formations of the square dance as called by that veteran caller, Bussy Green. Then a battle of the sexes was waged in form of a game of charades. The men won to the loud protests of the ladies. A just point was made in the observation that both the time-keeper and the referee were men, but the complainants were not given a second chance. The titles of the charades strung together to make a love story which was read to the assemblage.

Picnic guests in addition to Teeny and Foster and the hosts and hostesses included the following: Mr. and Mrs John Binion, Jr., Mrs. Lula Ellington, Miss Lula Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Buie, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Hebert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edward Ineichen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Addison, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarmon, Mr. and Mrs. John Billy Hanchey, Mr. and Mrs Desha Sims, Miss Helen Morgan and Mr. John Morris, Jr.. Miss Joyce Tolar and Mr. George Franklin, Jr., and Mr. Dan Sartor.

Rehearsal Supper

Mrs. W. G. McKinney and Mrs. Tommy Adams of Shreveport entertained Miss Vivian Green, Mr. Foster Jones, Jr. and members of the bridal party with a supper at the home of Mrs. McKinney following the rehearsal of the wedding the evening before their marriage.

The buffet table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a satin and maline pedestal on which stood miniature bride and groom under an arch of maline with pink sweetheart roses adorning the ornament which was flanked with crystal candle sticks holding white candles tied with ribbon and tiny wedding - bell roses. Pink roses from the gardens of Mrs. Pat Earle decorated the rooms. Centering each small table was a lighted taper in silver candlestick tied with small satin bows. A corsage attached to bridal place - cards marked the places for the ladies.

Mrs. McKinney and Mrs. Adams were assisted by Mrs. Emmette Jones and Mrs. Marvin Campbell, Mrs. Billy McKinney and Miss Phyllis Caperton of Dallas, Texas who motored up for the wedding and is a guest in the McKinney home. Monroe Garden Club To Hold Annual Business Meeting

The annual business meeting of the Monroe Garden Club will be held at the home of Mrs. George Snellings, Jr. Old Country Club Place at 2:30 Monday afternoon, May 8.

This meeting will be one of the most interesting to the members as new officers for 1950-51 will be elected and installed.

There will also be a round table discussion led by Mrs. Stovall who asks that each member bring her gardening problems in the form of written questions. There will be four of Monroe's foremost gardeners there who will answer these questions and give advice according to their own experiences.

This promises to be a very lively meeting and certainly of great value for the participants. A tea will follow the business meeting.

MRS. JAMES F. JONES, JR. FETED BEFORE RECENT MARRIAGE

At the DeSaird Country Club of Monroe on the picturesque bayou Mrs. James Shamblin was the charming hostess for a lovely luncheon, on Friday, April 28th, honoring Miss Vivian Green of Rayville, whose marriage to James Foster Jones, Jr. was solemnized April 29th. For the occasion, the honoree wore aqua and black costume from her trousseau with black accessories. Lovely corsages were presented to Teeny and to Mrs James Green and Mrs. Foster Jones, mothers of the bride and groom - elect. A gift package of apple blossom china marked the place of the honoree. Gay painted daisies centered the table and were later sent to James S. Green, Jr.

A delicious three-course luncheon was served. Afterwards, the guests enjoyed a conversational hour on the broad veranda, overlooking the bayou.

Guests enjoying this pre-nuptial courtesy with Miss Green were Miss Lizzie Scott, Mrs. A. B. Killgore of Shreveport, Mrs. Foster Jones, Mrs. James Green and the hostess.

For once rain proved an asset to a picnic when on Monday April 24th, Mr. Geo. Franklin graciously offered his lodge at Bee Bayou as a most preferable substitute to damp picnic grounds. The picnic was one given by Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ellis, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green honoring Miss Vivian Green and Mr. Foster Jones, Jr., popular young couple whose marriage took place April 29th.

Following the picnic supper the couples took turns in the formations of the square dance as called by that veteran caller, Bussy Green. Then a battle of the sexes was waged in form of a game of charades. The men won to the loud protests of the ladies. A just point was made in the observation that both the time-keeper and the referee were men, but the complainants were not given a second chance. The titles of the charades strung together to make a love story which was read to the assemblage.

Picnic guests in addition to Teeny and Foster and the hosts and hostesses included the following: Mr. and Mrs John Binion, Jr., Mrs. Lula Ellington, Miss Lula Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Buie, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Hebert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edward Ineichen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Addison, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarmon, Mr. and Mrs. John Billy Hanchey, Mr. and Mrs Desha Sims, Miss Helen Morgan and Mr. John Morris, Jr., Miss Joyce Tolar and Mr. George Franklin, Jr., and Mr. Dan Sartor.

Rehearsal Supper

Mrs. W. G. McKinney and Mrs. Tommy Adams of Shreveport entertained Miss Vivian Green, Mr. Foster Jones, Jr. and members of the bridal party with a supper at the home of Mrs. McKinney following the rehearsal of the wedding the evening before their marriage.

The buffet table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a satin and maline pedestal on which stood miniature bride and groom under an arch of maline with pink sweetheart roses adorning the ornament which was flanked with crystal candle sticks holding white candles tied with ribbon and tiny wedding - bell roses. Pink roses from the gardens of Mrs. Pat Earle decorated the rooms. Centering each small table was a lighted taper in silver candlestick tied with small satin bows. A corsage attached to bridal place - cards marked the places for the ladies.

Mrs. McKinney and Mrs. Adams were assisted by Mrs. Emmette Jones and Mrs. Marvin Campbell, Mrs. Billy McKinney and Miss Phyllis Caperton of Dallas, Texas who motored up for the wedding and is a guest in the McKinney home. CUT WEDDING CAKE

Master Sergeant and Mrs. John Williams Manuel shown cutting their wedding cake following their recent marriage in Cherry Point, North Carolina. Mrs. Manuel is the former Miss Mignon Oxford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle Oxford. Sergeant Manuel is the son of A. D. Manuel, also of this city.

CHAPEL CEREMONY UNITES MIGNON OXFORD AND MARINE SERGEANT

A lovely spring wedding which took place recently was that of Miss Mary Mignon Oxford when she became the bride of Master Sergeant John Williams Manuel. The marital vows were exchanged at six in the evening in the Marine Corps Air Station Chapel at Cherry Point, North Carolina. The prenuptial music and wedding marches were played by the chapel's organist. Chaplain W. W. Winter performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was wearing a marquisette gown with a high yoke and a wide ruffle bordering the bustline and the bottom of the dress and train. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. The fingertip veil of nylon illusion fell from a coronet which was rhinestones. A single white orchid with white streamers were carried along with a white Bible.

The matron of honer, Mrs. William Hamm, sister of the groom, wore a pastel yellow taffeta dress and carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations with yellow and white streamers. Master Sergeant Ted Rawley served the groom as best mar and was wearing the marine dress uniform.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Fred R. Coats. The bridal couple then left on a wedding trip for Virginia and Tennessee.

Mrs. Manuel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle Oxford of West Monroe and the granddaughter of Mrs. Allen C. Oxford of Jonesboro. She is a graduate of Piedmont High School in Missouri and of a business college in Dallas.

Master Sergeant Manuel is the son of Mr. A. D. Manuel of this city and a graduate of Bristol High School in Virginia.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will be at home in New Bern, North Carolina, where the groom is with the United States marine corps.

Rayville Literary Club To Hear Mrs. J. R. White

Members of the Rayville Literary Club will present Mrs. J. R. White in a program of poetry on May 9 in Rayville.

Mrs. White, author of These are My Hills, and Forty Acres, with pen sketches by Caroline Williams, will review each book.

The first book, These Are My Hills, carries two authentic sketches from Clinton, Louisiana. Clinton, a few miles out from Baton Rouge, is acclaimed by a New York artist, who has done most of the illustrations for Lyle Saxon's books, to have some of the most artistic buildings to be found in the nation.

Mrs. White will also review works by noted women writers as the years study is based on "Interesting Women."

MUSICAL COTERIE TO PRESENT STUDY OF JOHN CAGE DURING NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK HERE

The Musical Coterie is contributing to National Music Week a study of John Cage and his prepared piano. The preparation and demonstration are to be at 216 Grammont street.

John Cage is recognized as an experimentalist in percussion. He was thoroughly trained in conventional technical systems of composition—a pupil of Henry Cowell and of Schonberg. Cage has taught at the Cornish School in Seattle, Mills College in California and at the School of Design in Chicago.

In every phase of endeavor are found individuals who cannot remain satisfied in accepted lines of work—they must experiment. Such an individual is John Cage, a research composer.

Now, at the age of 36, Cage writes only for his "prepared" piano. This instrument needs some four to six hours of preparation in which to convert it into a miniature percussion orchestra, by the insertion of screws, erasers, and bits of plastic, placed across the strings according to his intricate chartings. On this piano Cage's music has tiny, subtle sonorities, a far-off vibrancy.

The effect of the prepared piano upon an unprepared audience is less startling than one might expect from the list of paraphernalia used in preparation. To quote from Musical America, "It is difficult to describe the sound made by a prepared piano to those who have never actually heard it. Here and there straight piano tones will be left "unprepared," and these emerge from the thuddy texture like gongs in their shattering limpid elegance. Their sound hovering poised in aural space as the less resonant notes pass in scurrying designs. The changement of the piano is differently adjusted for each piece or set of pieces, in a composition for two pianos each instrument is prepared differently.

"There is another hazard in store for those who would study these works on paper visually the notes look just as they would if they were written for an ordinary piano, and sequentially, the scales rise and fall in the accepted manner. The "prepared" sound, however, may not only bear no relationship in timbre to its unprepared piano counterpart, but its tonality, pitch and whole position in the piano's range territory may be totally unexpected. The sound may jump up three octaves, down a ninth, all the while the fingers are playing notes adjacent to each other in a simple scale passage."

A piano will be "prepared" by Mr. Max Kulcke on Monday and will remain at 216 Grammont until Friday, May 12th, when Mrs. B. D. Allbritton will give two programs with annotations by Mrs. H. H. Land. An afternoon program at 4 o'clock will be primarily for music students, the evening performance is to be at 8 o'clock.

The prepared piano may be seen during the week and any one who is interested will be welcomed at either or both programs.

Ware-Duke Exchange Vows At Immanuel Baptist Church

The parlor of the Immanuel Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Clara Duke, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Duke, of Marion, La. and Ralph Ware, son of Mrs. Maude Ware of El Dorado and the late H. J. Ware at 7 p.m. Friday.

The couple exchanged their vows under an arch in front of the fireplace. Baskets of calla lilies and candles burning in floor candelabra stood on either side of the arch.

The Rev. J. D. Tolleson read the service and Miss Evelyn Porter, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of navy gabardine, accented by white and navy accessories, and a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

Her marton of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Harry Layne, who too, was dressed in navy with matching accessories. Her flowers were white irises in a corsage.

Harry Lee Ware served his brother as best man.

After a honeymoon in Shreveport and New Orleans, the bride and groom will be at home in Bastrop where Mr. Ware is employed.

The bride is a graduate of Marion High School and of the Warner Brown School of Nursing. Mr. Ware attended El Dorado High School and Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas.

QUITMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Waldrip of Bastrop were the guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waldrip of Quitman Sunday. They also visited other relatives and friends of Jonesboro and Quitman.

CUT WEDDING CAKE

CHAPEL CEREMONY UNITES MIGNON OXFORD AND MARINE SERGEANT

A lovely spring wedding which took place recently was that of Miss Mary Mignon Oxford when she became the bride of Master Sergeant John Williams Manuel. The marital vows were exchanged at six in the evening in the Marine Corps Air Station Chapel at Cherry Point, North Carolina. The prenuptial music and wedding marches were played by the chapel's organist. Chaplain W. W. Winter performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was wearing a marquisette gown with a high yoke and a wide ruffle bordering the bustline and the bottom of the dress and train. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. The fingertip veil of nylon illusion fell from a coronet which was rhinestones. A single white orchid with white streamers were carried along with a white Bible.

The matron of honer, Mrs. William Hamm, sister of the groom, wore a pastel yellow taffeta dress and carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations with yellow and white streamers. Master Sergeant Ted Rawley served the groom as best mar and was wearing the marine dress uniform.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Fred R. Coats. The bridal couple then left on a wedding trip for Virginia and Tennessee.

Mrs. Manuel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle Oxford of West Monroe and the granddaughter of Mrs. Allen C. Oxford of Jonesboro. She is a graduate of Piedmont High School in Missouri and of a business college in Dallas.

Master Sergeant Manuel is the son of Mr. A. D. Manuel of this city and a graduate of Bristol High School in Virginia.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will be at home in New Bern, North Carolina, where the groom is with the United States marine corps.

Rayville Literary Club To Hear Mrs. J. R. White

Members of the Rayville Literary Club will present Mrs. J. R. White in a program of poetry on May 9 in Rayville.

Mrs. White, author of These are My Hills, and Forty Acres, with pen sketches by Caroline Williams, will review each book.

The first book, These Are My Hills, carries two authentic sketches from Clinton, Louisiana. Clinton, a few miles out from Baton Rouge, is acclaimed by a New York artist, who has done most of the illustrations for Lyle Saxon's books, to have some of the most artistic buildings to be found in the nation.

Mrs. White will also review works by noted women writers as the years study is based on "Interesting Women."

MUSICAL COTERIE TO PRESENT STUDY OF JOHN CAGE DURING NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK HERE

The Musical Coterie is contributing to National Music Week a study of John Cage and his prepared piano. The preparation and demonstration are to be at 216 Grammont street.

John Cage is recognized as an experimentalist in percussion. He was thoroughly trained in conventional technical systems of composition—a pupil of Henry Cowell and of Schonberg. Cage has taught at the Cornish School in Seattle, Mills College in California and at the School of Design in Chicago.

In every phase of endeavor are found individuals who cannot remain satisfied in accepted lines of work—they must experiment. Such an individual is John Cage, a research composer.

Now, at the age of 36, Cage writes only for his "prepared" piano. This instrument needs some four to six hours of preparation in which to convert it into a miniature percussion orchestra, by the insertion of screws, erasers, and bits of plastic, placed across the strings according to his intricate chartings. On this piano Cage's music has tiny, subtle sonorities, a far-off vibrancy.

The effect of the prepared piano upon an unprepared audience is less startling than one might expect from the list of paraphernalia used in preparation. To quote from Musical America, "It is difficult to describe the sound made by a prepared piano to those who have never actually heard it. Here and there straight piano tones will be left "unprepared," and these emerge from the thuddy texture like gongs in their shattering limpid elegance. Their sound hovering poised in aural space as the less resonant notes pass in scurrying designs. The changement of the piano is differently adjusted for each piece or set of pieces, in a composition for two pianos each instrument is prepared differently.

"There is another hazard in store for those who would study these works on paper visually the notes look just as they would if they were written for an ordinary piano, and sequentiall, the scales rise and fall in the accepted manner. The "prepared" sound, however, may not only bear no relationship in timbre to its unprepared piano counterpart, but its tonality, pitch and whole position in the piano's range territory may be totally unexpected. The sound may jump up three octaves, down a ninth, all the while the fingers are playing notes adjacent to each other in a simple scale passage."

A piano will be "prepared" by Mr. Max Kulcke on Monday and will remain at 216 Grammont until Friday, May 12th, when Mrs. B. D. Allbritton will give two programs with annotations by Mrs. H. H. Land. An afternoon program at 4 o'clock will be primarily for music students, the evening performance is to be at 8 o'clock.

The prepared piano may be seen during the week and any one who is interested will be welcomed at either or both programs.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur left Friday for Fort Knox, Kentucky and to attend the Kentucky Derby.

The Woman's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Maggie Roberts Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Bryan gave the Devotional and Mrs. J. L. Heath, Jr. gave a very interesting talk on the life in Japan today.

STATE OFFICERS

At the State convention of the League of Women Voters held in Baton Rouge in April, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale was re-elected President and Mrs. R. M. Troy was elected Secretary.

Ware-Duke Exchange Vows At Immanuel Baptist Church

The parlor of the Immanuel Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Clara Duke, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Duke, of Marion, La. and Ralph Ware, son of Mrs. Maude Ware of El Dorado and the late H. J. Ware at 7 p.m. Friday.

The couple exchanged their vows under an arch in front of the fireplace. Baskets of calla lilies and candles burning in floor candelabra stood on either side of the arch.

The Rev. J. D. Tolleson read the service and Miss Evelyn Porter, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of navy gabardine, accented by white and navy accessories, and a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

Her marton of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Harry Layne, who too, was dressed in navy with matching accessories. Her flowers were white irises in a corsage.

Harry Lee Ware served his brother as best man.

After a honeymoon in Shreveport and New Orleans, the bride and groom will be at home in Bastrop where Mr. Ware is employed.

The bride is a graduate of Marion High School and of the Warner Brown School of Nursing. Mr. Ware attended El Dorado High School and Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas.

QUITMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Waldrip of Bastrop were the guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waldrip of Quitman Sunday. They also visited other relatives and friends of Jonesboro and Quitman.

Miss June Sizemore of Monroe, Louisiana was the guest this week end of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sizemore of Quitman.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace McCullin of Okaloosa were guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thomas and Mrs. Mattie McCullin of Quitman, Sunday.

Friends regret that Mrs. Earnest Martin is a patient of the Jonesboro Clinic and wish to her a speedy and complete recovery.

Clever Deception Is A Rear Art

By Oswald Jacoby

"How do you manage to dream up so much thievery?" people are always asking Larceny Lou.

"Who, me?" is all the answer they ever get.

They could find out the answer for themselves if they watched him carefully when he is declarer. He never plays the first card from dummy in a hurry. He takes a few seconds to plan a campaign. Later on, if necessary, he can make a deceptive play without a give-away hesitation.

West led the three of spades, and Lou sat back calmly while his partner put down the dummy. He didn't bat an eyelash when he saw two little spades and two little hearts show up on the table.

This also is an important feature of Larceny Lou's game. He can cuss a partner as hard as anybody else, but h cean always wait until the hand is over. He sees no advantage in broadcasting his troubles while the opponent can still act.

After his normal pause of two or three seconds, Lou played a small spade from the dummy. East put up the jack, and Lou won the first trick with the ace!

He then led a diamond to dummy and took the club finesse. West won with the king of clubs and swallowed the bait with a hearty appetite. He was sure his partner had the queen of spades—since otherwise, he felt, Lou would have been glad to win the first trick with that card. Hence West led another low spade as quickly as he could.

When Lou won this trick with

	♠ 8 5 3 2 ♥ 7 3 ♦ A K Q 7 ♣ Q J 10 9 2	6
♠ K 10 6 ♥ K J 6 4 ♦ 8 3 ♣ K 5	N W E S Dealer	♠ J 7 4 ♥ A Q 9 2 ♦ 9 6 5 2 ♣ 8 6
	♠ A Q 9 ♥ 10 8 5 ♦ J 10 4 ♣ A 7 4 3

N-S vul.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

the queen of spades, West's jaw hit the table with a clank.

"Sorry," Lou said apologetically. "Had it mixed up with my clubs."

Actually, Lou's play had been absolutely deliberate. That pause of two or three seconds had given him time to plan this little swindle.

He saw that he would have to take the club finesse. If that lost, West would surely switch to hearts out of sheer desperation. But West would not switch if he had reason to expect the spades to set the contract. And Lou's first play gave West that reason.

What if the club finesse succeeded? Then the contract was never in danger, no matter what card won the first trick. Lou could well afford to take only one spade trick, together with five clubs and four diamonds.

The wedding will be an event of June 24th in Orlando, Florida.

Demonstration Week Conducted

National Home Demonstration Week was celebrated in the United States April 30 through May 6 by virtually a million and a half rural farm women who are members of home demonstration clubs. During the week, programs were presented that gave an opportunity to become more acquainted with home demonstration work and its place in the entire agricultural and home economics extension program.

This year emphasis during National Home Demonstration Week was placed on the home as an influence on the world of tomorrow embodied in the theme, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." Speaking of the solidairty of the home as a factor in helping lead the world to peace and stability, H. C. Sanders, director of the L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Service, said, "As we achieve a satisfactory living in our homes and seek diligently to make that satisfaction availabele to all peoples in our own country and throughout the world, we will be promoting peace." Home demonstration work is carried on by rural women in cooperation with the home demonstration agent in each Louisiana parish.

Clever Deception Is A Rear Art

By Oswald Jacoby

"How do you manage to dream up so much thievery?" people are always asking Larceny Lou.

"Who, me?" is all the answer they ever get.

They could find out the answer for themselves if they watched him carefully when he is declarer. He never plays the first card from dummy in a hurry. He takes a few seconds to plan a campaign. Later on, if necessary, he can make a deceptive play without a give-away hesitation.

West led the three of spades, and Lou sat back calmly while his partner put down the dummy. He didn't bat an eyelash when he saw two little spades and two little hearts show up on the table.

This also is an important feature of Larceny Lou's game. He can cuss a partner as hard as anybody else, but h ccan always wait until the hand is over. He sees no advantage in broadcasting his troubles while the opponent can still act.

After his normal pause of two or three seconds, Lou played a small spade from the dummy. East put up the jack, and Lou won the first trick with the ace!

He then led a diamond to dummy and took the club finesse. West won with the king of clubs and swallowed the bait with a hearty appetite. He was sure his partner had the queen of spades—since otherwise, he felt, Lou would have been glad to win the first trick with that card. Hence West led another low spade as quickly as he could.

"Sorry," Lou said apologetically. "Had it mixed up with my clubs."

Actually, Lou's play had been absolutely deliberate. That pause of two or three seconds had given him time to plan this little swindle.

He saw that he would have to take the club finesse. If that lost, West would surely switch to hearts out of sheer desperation. But West would not switch if he had reason to expect the spades to set the contract. And Lou's first play gave West that reason.

What if the club finesse succeeded? Then the contract was never in danger, no matter what card won the first trick. Lou could well afford to take only one spade trick, together with five clubs and four diamonds.

The wedding will be an event of June 24th in Orlando, Florida.

Demonstration Week Conducted

National Home Demonstration Week was celebrated in the United States April 30 through May 6 by virtually a million and a half rural farm women who are members of home demonstration clubs. During the week, programs were presented that gave an opportunity to become more acquainted with home demonstration work and its place in the entire agricultural and home economics extension program.

This year emphasis during National Home Demonstration Week was placed on the home as an influence on the world of tomorrow embodied in the theme, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." Speaking of the solidairty of the home as a factor in helping lead the world to peace and stability, H. C. Sanders, director of the L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Service, said, "As we achieve a satisfactory living in our homes and seek diligently to make that satisfaction availabele to all peoples in our own country and throughout the world, we will be promoting peace." Home demonstration work is carried on by rural women in cooperation with the home demonstration agent in each Louisiana parish.

The April meeting of the Cadeville Home Demonstration Club was held in the home of Mrs. J. R. Haynes with the club president, Mrs. Lee H. Wilder, presiding.

All joined in the singing of "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair". Mrs. Wilder then gave the thought of the day. Mrs. J. H. Henry read the poem for the program, "What Kind of a Club Member Are You?"

The secretary, Mrs. James Sturdivant, read the minutes and roll call was answered by each member giving their favorite color.

Miss Ola Golson brought a report on 'safety', and Mrs. W. E. Leckie gave a talk on electrical applicances with thoughts on how to get the most advantage from them.

Mrs. Euna Spielman, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Haynes, clothing leading, gave an impressive demonstration on "Laying the pattern, cutting, and the construction of a dress."

Refreshments were then served to the fourteen club members and two guests present. The May meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Leckie on May 23 with Mrs. Eva Gay Malone, guest speaker.

Lottie Louise Lee Weds Catchings Baird Smith

Trinity Episcopal Church In Tallulah Scene Of Impressive Wedding Ceremony

Trinity Episcopal Church in Tallulah was, on Saturday, April 29, the scene of the socially prominent wedding of Miss Lottie Louise Lee, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wilton Lee, and Mr. Catchings Baird Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Smith of Ocean Springs and Greenwood, Mississippi. The Rev. Daniel Gilliam performed the impressive ceremony before a large gathering of both families, friends, and out-of-town guests.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white cathedral tapers entwined with small, white flowers. The archways and windows were bedecked with greenery. Mrs. Ernest Hart of Medina, New York, presided at the organ, rendering a program of traditional nuptial music. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played for the recessional.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was wearing a handsome gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands, and a full skirt which cascaded into a cathedral train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined with inserts of chantilly lace edged with pearls and cut beads, which also trimmed the bodice and upper sleeves. Large medallions in similar designs of lace decorated the skirt and train. In the back, tiny satin-covered buttons extended from the neck to the waist line. Her soft bridal veil of imported illusion was held in place by bands of satin and small clusters of lilies of the valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of lillies of the valley and brides roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Jean Sevier served as maid of honor to the bride, and Mrs. Charles Swain of Houston, Texas, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Knobles of West Point, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Williams of Schlater, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Lennox of New Orleans, and Miss Glory Ann Hoke of Norman, Oklahoma.

Miss Sevier was wearing a lovely sea green chiffon gown molded with fitted shirred bodice and softly draped neckline, and the full skirt had a semi-bustle of soft bows. Her crownless off-the-face hat of shaded green chiffon was softly garlanded with small, white flowers. Mrs. Swain's dress was a duplicate of the maid of honor's, but of a very pale shade of green. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses created of chiffon shaded from the palest green to forest green and fashioned exactly like those of the honor attendants. All were wearing the shaded green halo hats and carried shower bouquets of white flowers.

Mr. George Faison Smith of Ocean Springs served as his brother's best man, and the groomsmen were Mr. Richard Smith of Ocean Springs, Julian Allen of Indianola, Humphrey McGee of Leland, Edward Ely of Shaw, and Trent Palmer of Tallulah. The groom and his attendants wore formal evening attire and boutonnieres of white carnations.

A large and brilliant reception was held at the Tallulah Community Club, which was beautifully decorated in green and white, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding. In the center of the ball room stood the bride's table over which hung a large bell made of white flowers and fern. On the table was a cloth of satin overlaid with organdy, draped in tulle with clusters of lilies of the valley. The handsomely embossed fourtiered wedding cake was flanked by tall cathedral candles in low silver holders. Mrs. Lee wore a rosy beige gown of chantilly lace with sweetheart neckline and fashioned with a dramatic overskirt of lace. Her corsage was a lavender-colored orchid. The groom's mother chose a lace gown of toast with touches of periwinkle blue and a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. W. H. Pierson, the bride's maternal grandmother, was becomingly gowned in gray lace and chiffon. She chose a corsage of very pale pink carnations to match her pale pink tulle hat. Mrs. Thomas Catchings Baird, the groom's maternal grandmother, was attired in a gown of black lace, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faison Smith, was lovely in a striking gown of chiffon. Serving punch were Miss Sue Leoty, Miss Martha Spencer, Miss Pat Wallace, and Miss Martha Yerger of Tallulah, Miss Anna Vantrease of Nashville, Tennessee, and Miss Bettie Stoner of Greenwood, Mississippi. Miss Patty Patrick and Miss Leo Adams presided at the bride's book.

Among the out of town guests for the Smith-Lee wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vernon, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hart, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Evans, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terrall, West Point, Miss.; Mr. Saul Landry, New Orleans, La.; Ensign David Allen, Indianola, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Travis McNeel, Dallas, Texas; Miss June Sherrouse, Monroe, La.; Miss Grace Lee, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Joe Phelps, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. W. Lottie Louise Lee Weds Catchings Baird Smith

Trinity Episcopal Church in Tallulah was, on Saturday, April 29, the scene of the socially prominent wedding of Miss Lottie Louise Lee, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wilton Lee, and Mr. Catchings Baird Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Smith of Ocean Springs and Greenwood, Mississippi. The Rev. Daniel Gilliam performed the impressive ceremony before a large gathering of both families, friends, and out-of-town guests.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white cathedral tapers entwined with small, white flowers. The archways and windows were bedecked with greenery. Mrs. Ernest Hart of Medina, New York, presided at the organ, rendering a program of traditional nuptial music. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played for the recessional.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was wearing a handsome gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands, and a full skirt which cascaded into a cathedral train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined with inserts of chantilly lace edged with pearls and cut beads, which also trimmed the bodice and upper sleeves. Large medallions in similar designs of lace decorated the skirt and train. In the back, tiny satin-covered buttons extended from the neck to the waist line. Her soft bridal veil of imported illusion was held in place by bands of satin and small clusters of lilies of the valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of lillies of the valley and brides roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Jean Sevier served as maid of honor to the bride, and Mrs. Charles Swain of Houston, Texas, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Knobles of West Point, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Williams of Schlater, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Lennox of New Orleans, and Miss Glory Ann Hoke of Norman, Oklahoma.

Miss Sevier was wearing a lovely sea green chiffon gown molded with fitted shirred bodice and softly draped neckline, and the full skirt had a semi-bustle of soft bows. Her crownless off-the-face hat of shaded green chiffon was softly garlanded with small, white flowers. Mrs. Swain's dress was a duplicate of the maid of honor's, but of a very pale shade of green. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses created of chiffon shaded from the palest green to forest green and fashioned exactly like those of the honor attendants. All were wearing the shaded green halo hats and carried shower bouquets of white flowers.

Mr. George Faison Smith of Ocean Springs served as his brother's best man, and the groomsmen were Mr. Richard Smith of Ocean Springs, Julian Allen of Indianola, Humphrey McGee of Leland, Edward Ely of Shaw, and Trent Palmer of Tallulah. The groom and his attendants wore formal evening attire and boutonnieres of white carnations.

A large and brilliant reception was held at the Tallulah Community Club, which was beautifully decorated in green and white, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding. In the center of the ball room stood the bride's table over which hung a large bell made of white flowers and fern. On the table was a cloth of satin overlaid with organdy, draped in tulle with clusters of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Thomas Catchings Baird, the groom's maternal grandmother, was attired in a gown of black lace, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faison Smith, was lovely in a striking gown of chiffon. Serving punch were Miss Sue Leoty, Miss Martha Spencer, Miss Pat Wallace, and Miss Martha Yerger of Tallulah, Miss Anna Vantrease of Nashville, Tennessee and Miss Bettie Stoner of Greenwood, Mississippi. Miss Patty Patrick and Miss Leo Adams presided at the bride's book.

Among the out of town guests for the Smith-Lee wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vernon, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hart, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Evans, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terrall, West Point, Miss.; Mr. Saul Landry, New Orleans, La.; Ensign David Allen, Indianola, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Travis McNeel, Dallas, Texas; Miss June Sherrouse, Monroe, La.; Miss Grace Lee, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Joe Phelps, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. W. MAYORS PROCLAIM 'FREEZER WEEK'

'Home Freezer Week' Is Proclaimed By Mayors

Demonstration Of Applances Scheduled By Twi City Dealers

"Home Freezer Week" begins May 8 in the twin cities.

A proclamation designating the period was made by Mayor Coone and Bell.

The week will climax a intensive period of home freezr demonstration and merchandiing by appliance dealers throughut the city.

In their proclamation, Mayors Coon and Bell called attation to the abundance of product which are available for year 'rond use through the utilization f home freezers, and to the savingof money and time which can beiffected through the use of the frezers.

"The value and convenince of these home appliances shuld be stressed," the mayor sai, "that more of cur people may ake advantage of health-givini foods made continually availale by these modern units."

The reasons for buying a home freezer are as plentiful as the variety of products which can be stored in the low temperature boxes, local dealers point out.

Fresh foods can be stored in plentiful months and consumed on the coldest winter days. Peaches, strawberries and other fruits are available fresh as the day they were picked on days when the trees and plants which produced them are barren of a single leaf.

Too, the home freezer means that there will always be a store of food on hand. Menus can be varied from day to day more easily. There will be fewer leftovers because leftovers can be frozen and used days later.

This special section of The World explains how, through the use of the home freezer, food seasons practically have been eliminated from the calendar, bringing relief totalling hundreds of dollars annually to household food budgets.

Actually a home freezer can be a health center in the home for two reasons:

First, frozen food is fresh food, fresh as the day it was frozen. This means fresh food throughout the year, especially important in a home with children. Second, freezing seals in the vitamins. All of the natural goodness, color, flavor and vitamins are sealed in frozen foods.

Whether a homemaker buys foods already frozen or freezes them herself, a home freezer is a time saver.

Meal preparation time can be cut in half, because foods are already cleaned and prepared. The vegetables are already partially cooked and need only a small amount of additional cooking.

Favorite recipes can be doubled. When the food is ready to serve, half can be put on the table and the other half in the home freezer. Weeks later, simple heating makes the second portion just as palatable as the first.

The same thing can be done with pies, cakes, biscuits and rolls. Bake two recipes instead of one, it takes scarcely a minute longer. Serve one — freeze the other for later.

Local dealers state that the home freezer actually pays for itself within a few years through the saving that smart quantity buying can make. As an example, meat in bulk can be obtained at savings from 10 to 15 per cent, with quality meat always assured.

The mayors' proclamation is as follows:

"Whereas, we are now entering into a season of warm weather, in which there will be an abundance of farm and garden produce;

"And whereas, it is time to take stock of methods of food preservation during the spring and summer months;

"And whereas, better food promotes better health;

"And whereas, with better health and better food, our present living standards will be increased;

"And whereas, further considering the best methods of reducing the cost of living of our citizens;

"Now herefore, we, C. C. Bell, Jr., and John E. Coon, mayors of West Monroe and Monroe respectively, do hereby proclaim and ordain the week beginning May 9 through May 13, 1950 as Twin City Home Freezer Week.

"Thus done and signed officially a our offices in the cities of West Monroe, and Monroe, Louisiana, on this, the 3rd day of May, 1950.

Small Families Can Reduce Food Spoilage

The savings of even a small family, using a home freezer, can run into hundreds of dollars over a period of a few years.

The figuring below was done by a family of four and gives one line of reasoning that led to the purchasing of a freezer by one family.

They took the average rather than the exact record of their own family for any one year, reasoning over the 10-year life of their freezer their total consumption would be nearer to the average than to their one-year record. When you apply their reasoning to your own family's food habits, be as moderate and fair as they've tried to be.

They came out with gross savings of $1,857.60 for the 10-year stretch, without counting the costs of wrappings and containers for freezer stored packages. If wrappings cost over $10 a year they would be wasting paper. When they deducted their investment and interest and operations they were $1,185.90 ahead, but just to be conservative, they cut that figure in half and argued that if they were saving $592.90 for the stretch, and had the freezer clear at the end of 10 years, they were money ahead.

They figured eight departments for freezer frozen foods: (1) meats, (2) ice cream, (3) vegetables, (4) fruits, (5) leftovers, 6) shopping trip costs, (7) time and (8) dog food.

BEVERAGE CHILLING

During party seasons the freezer unit can be utilized to quickly chill a case of beverages. The bottle beverages must not be allowed to go too near the freezing point, however. Salads can be quickly chilled in the unit, too, when no space is available in the refrigerator.

SHRIMP COCKTAIL

A new idea in shelf-to-table packaging is a sealed sherbet glass containing fresh shrimps in cocktail sauce, ready to serve at the table. There are about eight deveined shrimps in each glass, topped with a tasty sauce of catsup, horseradish and spices. Each individual glass is safely sealed with a Sylvania cellulose band to protect the con Harbin and their flat, seale Bobbie and Shreveport and Mrs. ent

SEPARATE FOODS

It is wife to keep separated the frozen foods and unforzen packages ready for freezing. Stack the frozen foods in the center of the freezer and place the unfrozen packages around the sides so they some in contact with the bottom and sides of the freezer whenever possible.

Lottie Louise Lee Weds Catchings Baird Smith

Trinity Episcopal Church in Tallulah was, on Saturday, April 29, the scene of the socially prominent wedding of Miss Lottie Louise Lee, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wilton Lee, and Mr. Catchings Baird Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Smith of Ocean Springs and Greenwood, Mississippi. The Rev. Daniel Gilliam performed the impressive ceremony before a large gathering of both families, friends, and out-of-town guests.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white cathedral tapers entwined with small, white flowers. The archways and windows were bedecked with greenery. Mrs. Ernest Hart of Medina, New York, presided at the organ, rendering a program of traditional nuptial music. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played for the recessional.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was wearing a handsome gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands, and a full skirt which cascaded into a cathedral train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined with inserts of chantilly lace edged with pearls and cut beads, which also trimmed the bodice and upper sleeves. Large medallions in similar designs of lace decorated the skirt and train. In the back, tiny satin-covered buttons extended from the neck to the waist line. Her soft bridal veil of imported illusion was held in place by bands of satin and small clusters of lilies of the valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of lillies of the valley and brides roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Jean Sevier served as maid of honor to the bride, and Mrs. Charles Swain of Houston, Texas, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Knobles of West Point, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Williams of Schlater, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Lennox of New Orleans, and Miss Glory Ann Hoke of Norman, Oklahoma.

Miss Sevier was wearing a lovely sea green chiffon gown molded with fitted shirred bodice and softly draped neckline, and the full skirt had a semi-bustle of soft bows. Her crownless off-the-face hat of shaded green chiffon was softly garlanded with small, white flowers. Mrs. Swain's dress was a duplicate of the maid of honor's, but of a very pale shade of green. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses created of chiffon shaded from the palest green to forest green and fashioned exactly like those of the honor attendants. All were wearing the shaded green halo hats and carried shower bouquets of white flowers.

Mr. George Faison Smith of Ocean Springs served as his brother's best man, and the grooms men were Mr. Richard Smith of Ocean Springs, Julian Allen of Indianola, Humphrey McGee of Leland, Edward Ely of Shaw, and Trent Palmer of Tallulah. The groom and his attendants wore formal evening attire and boutonnieres of white carnations.

A large and brilliant reception was held at the Tallulah Community Club, which was beautifully decorated in green and white, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding. In the center of the ball room stood the bride's table over which hung a large bell made of white flowers and fern. On the table was a cloth of satin overlaid with organdy, draped in tulle with clusters of lilies of the valley. The handsomely embossed four-tiered wedding cake was flanked by tall cathedral candles in low silver holders. Mrs. Lee wore a rosy beige gown of chantilly lace with sweetheart neckline and fashioned with a dramatic overskirt of lace. Her corsage was a lavender-colored orchid. The groom's mother chose a lace gown of toast with touches of periwinkle blue and a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. W. H. Pierson, the bride's maternal grandmother, was becomingly gowned in gray lace and chiffon. She chose a corsage of very pale pink carnations to match her pale pink tulle hat. Mrs. Thomas Catchings Baird, the groom's maternal grandmother, was attired in a gown of black lace, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faison Smith, was lovely in a striking gown of chiffon. Serving punch were Miss Sue Leoty, Miss Martha Spencer, Miss Pat Wallace, and Miss Martha Yerger of Tallulah, Miss Anna Vantrease of Nashville, Tennessee, and Miss Bettie Stoner of Greenwood, Mississippi. Miss Patty Patrick and Miss Leo Adams presided at the bride's book.

Among the out of town guests for the Smith-Lee wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vernon, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hart, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Evans, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terrall, West Point, Miss.; Mr. Saul Landry, New Orleans, La.; Ensign David Allen, Indianola, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Travis McNeel, Dallas, Texas; Miss June Sherrouse, Monroe, La.; Miss Grace Lee, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Joe Phelps, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. W. Lottie Louise Lee Weds Catchings Baird Smith

Trinity Episcopal Church in Tallulah was, on Saturday, April 29, the scene of the socially prominent wedding of Miss Lottie Louise Lee, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wilton Lee, and Mr. Catchings Baird Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Smith of Ocean Springs and Greenwood, Mississippi. The Rev. Daniel Gilliam performed the impressive ceremony before a large gathering of both families, friends, and out-of-town guests.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white cathedral tapers entwined with small, white flowers. The archways and windows were bedecked with greenery. Mrs. Ernest Hart of Medina, New York, presided at the organ, rendering a program of traditional nuptial music. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played for the recessional.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was wearing a handsome gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands, and a full skirt which cascaded into a cathedral train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined with inserts of chantilly lace edged with pearls and cut beads, which also trimmed the bodice and upper sleeves. Large medallions in similar designs of lace decorated the skirt and train. In the back, tiny satin-covered buttons extended from the neck to the waist line. Her soft bridal veil of imported illusion was held in place by bands of satin and small clusters of lilies of the valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of lillies of the valley and brides roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Jean Sevier served as maid of honor to the bride, and Mrs. Charles Swain of Houston, Texas, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Knobles of West Point, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Williams of Schlater, Mississippi, Mrs. Edward Lennox of New Orleans, and Miss Glory Ann Hoke of Norman, Oklahoma.

Miss Sevier was wearing a lovely sea green chiffon gown molded with fitted shirred bodice and softly draped neckline, and the full skirt had a semi-bustle of soft bows. Her crownless off-the-face hat of shaded green chiffon was softly garlanded with small, white flowers. Mrs. Swain's dress was a duplicate of the maid of honor's, but of a very pale shade of green. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses created of chiffon shaded from the palest green to forest green and fashioned exactly like those of the honor attendants. All were wearing the shaded green halo hats and carried shower bouquets of white flowers.

Mr. George Faison Smith of Ocean Springs served as his brother's best man, and the groomsmen were Mr. Richard Smith of Ocean Springs, Julian Allen of Indianola, Humphrey McGee of Leland, Edward Ely of Shaw, and Trent Palmer of Tallulah. The groom and his attendants wore formal evening attire and boutonnieres of white carnations.

A large and brilliant reception was held at the Tallulah Community Club, which was beautifully decorated in green and white, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding. In the center of the ball room stood the bride's table over which hung a large bell made of white flowers and fern. On the table was a cloth of satin overlaid with organdy, draped in tulle with clusters of lilies of the valley. The handsomely embossed four-tiered wedding cake was flanked by tall cathedral candles in low silver holders. Mrs. Lee wore a rosy beige gown of chantilly lace with sweetheart neckline and fashioned with a dramatic overskirt of lace. Her corsage was a lavender-colored orchid. The groom's mother chose a lace gown of toast with touches of periwinkle blue and a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. W. H. Pierson, the bride's maternal grandmother, was becomingly gowned in gray lace and chiffon. She chose a corsage of very pale pink carnations to match her pale pink tulle hat. Mrs. Thomas Catchings Baird, the groom's maternal grandmother, was attired in a gown of black lace, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faison Smith, was lovely in a striking gown of chiffon. Serving punch were Miss Sue Leoty, Miss Martha Spencer, Miss Pat Wallace, and Miss Martha Yerger of Tallulah, Miss Anna Vantrease of Nashville, Tennessee and Miss Bettie Stoner of Greenwood, Mississippi. Miss Patty Patrick and Miss Leo Adams presided at the bride's book.

Among the out of town guests for the Smith-Lee wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vernon, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hart, Medina, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Evans, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown, Lake Providence, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terrall, West Point, Miss.; Mr. Saul Landry, New Orleans, La.; Ensign David Allen, Indianola, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Travis McNeel, Dallas, Texas; Miss June Sherrouse, Monroe, La.; Miss Grace Lee, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Joe Phelps, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. W. B. R. Mitchell, Transylvania, La.; Miss Anna Terrell, West Point, Miss.; Mrs. R. G. Grantham, Jackson, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Faison Smith, Greenwood, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. MAYORS PROCLAIM 'FREEZER WEEK'

'Home Freezer Week' Is Proclaimed By Mayors

"Home Freezer Week" begins May 8 in the twin cities.

A proclamation designating the period was made by Mayor Coone and Bell.

The week will climax a intensive period of home freezr demonstration and merchandling by appliance dealers throughut the city.

In their proclamation, Mayors Coon and Bell called attation to the abundance of product which are available for year 'rond use through the utilization f home freezers, and to the savingof money and time which can beffected through the use of the frezers.

"The value and convenince of these home appliances sbuld be stressed," the mayor sai, "that more of our people may ake advantage of health-givin foods made continually availale by these modern units."

The reasons for buying a home freezer are as plentiful as the variety of products which can be stored in the low temperature boxes, local dealers point out.

Fresh foods can be stored in plentiful months and consumed on the coldest winter days. Peaches, strawberries and other fruits are available fresh as the day they were picked on days when the trees and plants which produced them are barren of a single leaf.

Too, the home freezer means that there will always be a store of food on hand. Menus can be varied from day to day more easily. There will be fewer leftovers because leftovers can be frozen and used days later.

This special section of The World explains how, through the use of the home freezer, food seasons practically have been eliminated from the calendar, bringing relief totalling hundreds of dollars annually to household food budgets.

Actually a home freezer can be a health center in the home for two reasons:

First, frozen food is fresh food, fresh as the day it was frozen. This means fresh food throughout the year, especially important in a home with children. Second, freezing seals in the vitamins. All of the natural goodness, color, flavor and vitamins are sealed in frozen foods.

Whether a homemaker buys foods already frozen or freezes them herself, a home freezer is a time saver.

Meal preparation time can be cut in half, because foods are already cleaned and prepared. The vegetables are already partially cooked and need only a small amount of additional cooking.

Favorite recipes can be doubled. When the food is ready to serve, half can be put on the table and the other half in the home freezer. Weeks later, simple heating makes the second portion just as palatable as the first.

The same thing can be done with pies, cakes, biscuits and rolls. Bake two recipes instead of one, it takes scarcely a minute longer. Serve one — freeze the other for later.

Local dealers state that the home freezer actually pays for itself within a few years through the saving that smart quantity buying can make. As an example, meat in bulk can be obtained at savings from 10 to 15 per cent, with quality meat always assured.

The mayors' proclamation is as follows:

"Whereas, we are now entering into a season of warm weather, in which there will be an abundance of farm and garden produce;

"And whereas, it is time to take stock of methods of food preservation during the spring and summer months;

"And whereas, better food promotes better health;

"And whereas, with better health and better food, our present living standards will be increased;

"And whereas, further considering the best methods of reducing the cost of living of our citizens;

"Now herefore, we, C. C. Bell, Jr., and John E. Coon, mayors of West Monroe and Monroe respectively, do hereby proclaim and ordain the week beginning May 9 through May 13, 1950 as Twin City Home Freezer Week.

"Thus done and signed officially a our offices in the cities of West Monroe, and Monroe, Louisiana, on this, the 3rd day of May, 1950.

Small Families Can Reduce Food Spoilage

The savings of even a small family, using a home freezer, can run into hundreds of dollars over a period of a few years.

The figuring below was done by a family of four and gives one line of reasoning that led to the purchasing of a freezer by one family.

They took the average rather than the exact record of their own family for any one year, reasoning over the 10-year life of their freezer their total consumption would be nearer to the average than to their one-year record. When you apply their reasoning to your own family's food habits, be as moderate and fair as they've tried to be.

They came out with gross savings of $1,857.60 for the 10-year stretch, without counting the costs of wrappings and containers for freezer stored packages. If wrappings cost over $10 a year they would be wasting paper. When they deducted their investment and interest and operations they were $1,185.90 ahead, but just to be conservative, they cut that figure in half and argued that if they were saving $592.90 for the stretch, and had the freezer clear at the end of 10 years, they were money ahead.

They figured eight departments for freezer frozen foods: (1) meats, (2) ice cream, (3) vegetables, (4) fruits, (5) leftovers, 6) shopping trip costs, (7) time and (8) dog food.

BEVERAGE CHILLING

During party seasons the freezer unit can be utilized to quickly chill a case of beverages. The bottle beverages must not be allowed to go too near the freezing point, however. Salads can be quickly chilled in the unit, too, when no space is available in the refrigerator.

SHRIMP COCKTAIL

A new idea in shelf-to-table packaging is a sealed sherbet glass containing fresh shrimps in cocktail sauce, ready to serve at the table. There are about eight deveined shrimps in each glass, topped with a tasty sauce of catsup, horseradish and spices. Each individual glass is safely sealed with a Sylvania cellulose band to protect the contents. Because of their flat, sealed covers, the glasses are easy to stack in the refrigerator.

Man Marches Forward In Methods Of Preserving Food

Down through the ages man has been trying to compensate for the natural law that there is a long, barren period between harvests. He has dried food, salted it, smoked it, pickled it, buried it in the ground, canned it. Each method had its merits and its drawbacks.

Now there is a new method, so new it is well within the memory of our adolescent sons and daughters, that has more merits and fewer drawbacks. It virtually stops time at the very moment of harvest perfection, and starts it again when you are ready to eat the food months later.

So states a booklet advertising a home freezer put out by a distributor. It tells the story of the role that the freezer is playing in the food field, a role that deserves star billing.

The home freezer has become one of the housewife's greatest allies. It saves her money, permits her to take advantage of sales, and to preserve the fruits and vegetables of her garden at the peak of their freshness and succulence in far less time and effort than that required by canning.

It established her as the perfect hostess, never embarassed by a lack of food for unexpected guests and grants her the luxury of serving fresh, out of season foods because of the home freezer she may at all times cook the most nutritive foods for her family, as fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and poultry frozen immediately on being picked or killed retain their high vitamin content.

The popularity of the home freezer can be told in figures. Before the war, a mere 50,000 units had been installed in homes throughout the country. Today, there are 1,500,000 or 4.2 per cent of all the wired homes in the country.

Because of the lack of materials, only 20,000 machines were manufactured in 1945 but production was upped to 210,000 in 1946. In 1947 there were 450,000 freezers in the nation's homes, and 675,000 in 1948. By January, 1949, the 1,500,000 mark was reached.

Sales are increasing all the time despite a dearth of business in other commodities. Ralph H. Meade, sales promotion manager of the freezer department for a large Chicago firm, has reported. Several million homes will have freezers within the next several years, he believes.

Thre are two major types of home freezers being manufactured today, the top opening chest and the side opening model. Manufacturers of the top opening style contend that they have the advantage over the other type, in so far as cold air stays down and warm air rises.

"Actually, you don't need a cover on the chest any more than a cat needs two tails," one dealer stated. "If you ever raided an ice box in bare feet, you will know that the cold air spills out when you open the door."

Makers of the side opening home freezer advertise the easy access to food compartments, offered by the model. One make is mounted with tension spring hinges that hold the inner doors closed, keeping the cold inside for user economy. It is equipped with a thermostat temperature control that automatically holds proper temperature for freezing at zero, and may be adjusted to higher and lower temperatures as desired.

The operating expense of a home freezer is said to be little more than that of a refrigerator for several reasons. It is not opened nearly as often as a refrigerator, in fact may only be opened by the housewife once a week or so. Often it is kept in a utility room or basement where the room temperature is lower than that of a kitchen.

One dealer, who has a home freezer with a 12 cubic feet content, in his own home, estimated that it costs approximately a dollar a month to operate.

There is a great range in price and cubic feet content among the various makes of home freezers. The cubic feet content ranges from 2 1-2 to 25 feet, and the prices from $179 to $675.

Dealers in home freezers see no competition from refrigerators with freezer compartments, as the compartments have generally only two cubic feet capacity, hardly enough space to take the role of home freezer chest. Frequently dealers encourage the sale of these refrigerators, as strangly enough they increase the sale of home freezers.

"With a combination refrigerator, a customer gets a taste of the advantages of a freezer," one salesman recounted. "Before long he realizes he needs more space. Whenever we sell a combination refrigerator, we always put the customer's name down on the home freezer prospect list to be checked in six months."

Home Freezer Best Bet In Refrigeration

If the family is to get best results for money invested, size is an important factor in buying a home freezer, the United State department of agriculture says.

Buying a chest freezer as small as two and a half cubic feet or as big as 60 cubic feet is possible, but they generally run in size from four to 18 cubic feet.

Any average five or six cubic feet for each person in the family is suggested as adequate. The correct size depends a great deal on how the freezer will be used.

Using it mostly for storing commercially frozen food and ice cream, a city or suburban family may need only one or two cubic feet per person. A farm family, freezing much of its yearly food supply, may need 10 to 12 cubic feet per person. A cubic foot holds about 30 to 35 pounds of food.

Overestimating the size of box required is better than underestimating. The trend in freezers as well as refrigerators is toward larger sizes because families are coming to appreciate more and more the advantages of refrigerated and frozen storage for food. And the larger sizes cost less per cubic foot than the smaller.

One dealer, who has a home freezer with a 12 cubic feet content, in his own home, estimated that it costs approximately a dollar a month to operate.

There is a great range in price and cubic feet content among the various makes of home freezers. The cubic feet content ranges from 2 1-2 to 25 feet, and the prices from $179 to $675.

Dealers in home freezers see no competition from refrigerators with freezer compartments, as the compartments have generally only two cubic feet capacity, hardly enough space to take the role of home freezer chest. Frequently dealers encourage the sale of these refrigerators, as strangly enough they increase the sale of home freezers.

"With a combination refrigerator, a customer gets a taste of the advantages of a freezer," one salesman recounted. "Before long he realizes he needs more space. Whenever we sell a combination refrigerator, we always put the customer's name down on the home freezer prospect list to be checked in six months."

Home Freezer Best Bet In Refrigeration

If the family is to get best results for money invested, size is an important factor in buying a home freezer, the United State department of agriculture says.

Buying a chest freezer as small as two and a half cubic feet or as big as 60 cubic feet is possible but they generally run in size from four to 18 cubic feet.

Any average five or six cubic feet for each person in the family is suggested as adequate. The correct size depends a great deal on how the freezer will be used.

Using it mostly for storing commercially frozen food and ice cream, a city or suburban family may need only one or two cubic feet per person. A farm family, freezing much of its yearly food supply, may need 10 to 12 cubic feet per person. A cubic foot holds about 30 to 35 pounds of food.

Overestimating the size of box required is better than underestimating. The trend in freezers as well as refrigerators is toward larger sizes because families are coming to appreciate more and more the advantages of refrigerated and frozen storage for food. And the larger sizes cost less per cubic foot than the smaller.

PROPER TYPE OF FREEZER IS BEST

Purchaser Should Make Purchase Coincide With Individual Need

Selection of the proper design for a home freezer is an individual problem with each buyer. Practical suggestions which might help in determining whether an upright or vertical model is best suited to your needs are:

An upright freezer takes up less floor space than a chest freezer of the same capacity but extra space must be allowed for its doors to swing open. An upright exerts more weight on a square foot of floor space than a chest and may need planks underneath to distribute that weight for safety. Though the chest takes more floor space, that space may do double duty. If the top is flat, it can be used as an extra work counter in a kitchen or utility room.

At first glance an upright seems to offer the same convenience in reaching stored food that a refrigerator does. But when the freezer is full so that all shelves are packed, there is no convenient place to put packages in front while removing those from the rear. Some uprights have drawers to overcome this difficulty, but drawers take up storage space. Some chests have baskets for lifting out food. These add to the convenience unless they prove heavy for the user, but, like drawers in uprights, they waste space.

Because cold air is heavier than warm air, a freezer that opens on top has a natural advantage over one with a side opening, in holding its cold and saving fuel. Recognizing this, manufacturers of upright freezers have had to construct them different from chest freezers to offset this handicap. This generally makes the initial cost of a properly constructed upright freezer higher than that of a chest freezer of the same size. Operating costs of these two are about the same.

Finally, take measurements before buying to make sure not only that the freezer will fit the place chosen for it, but also that it can get there. Be sure it can pass through doors or down stairs, around corners or under arches where necessary, and be sure the floor is strong enough to support it when filled to capacity.

Ward Solves Problem Of Freezer 'Sweating'

Today Montgomery Ward offers the opportunity to see what years of scientific research and development have brought forth. In our locality, the freezer industry has had considerable difficulty with the "Sweating problem." With this problem in mind, Montgomery Ward engineers went to work to devise a freezer, which would not be affected by climatic conditions as we have in this vicinity. Today, they feel they have completely mastered the old problem of sweating.

A Ward home freezer pays its own way. Since it costs but little more to operate than a household refrigerator, the home freezer will pay operating expense and monthly purchase payments with the savings it makes on the food budget; by buying in quantity since there's no spoilage in frozen food, you can save as much as 25 per cent on your food budget.

It saves kitchen time, shopping time. Hours of meal perparation may be saved because frozen food comes from your freezer ready for pan or table. Save time by making extra pies, cookies, rolls, store in freezer and bake later whenever you want them.

Freeze instead of canning its hours quicker, much cleaner and easier to freeze home grown vegetables and fruit or produce bought in season when prices are low.

The refrigerating unit is sealed in steel dirt and moisture can't get in. Temperature control on back of freezer is away from curious hands, normal zero setting and 10 below zero for peak freezing loads.

KEEPING DRIED FRUIT MOIST

There is such a thing as a too-wrinkled prune! To be just right for the average taste, prunes—and other dried fruits—should be shiny sticky, moist. The makers of Sylvania cellophane report that dried fruits are now being packaged in cellophane bags which keep the right amount of moisture in the fruit and preserve the flavor and food value. This method of packaging is protective and convenient and the homemaker can see exactly what she is buying, through the transparent cellophane.

'BEN-HUR BLUE' FREEZER FEATURE

Color Beauty In Major Appliance Makes Hit With Housewives

To hear housewives exclaim over the new freezer color-trim beauty, you'd think "Ben-Hur Blue" was the most important new feature in freezers today. Small wonder! Now for the first time, the homemaker has color beauty in a major appliance that inspires complete color harmony in kitchen curtains, cabinets, walls, furniture, and even floor linoleum, or adds welcome brightness to the utility room.

"Ben-Hur Blue" is a beautiful shade of sky-fresh blue available today for the first time in new de luxe Ben-Hur farm and home freezers. The color is tastefully used in the rubber balloon gasket on the freezer cover, on the solid molded rubber breaker strip edging the cabinet's top, on the Ben-Hur chrominus nameplate, and on the two dials of the cold control and temperature indicator. It's a cheerful and easily-matched color you will find delightfuly satisfying when carried into your kitchen decorating scheme, a welcome break away from the somber black trim so long accepted in major appliances.

While color is good news in freezers, it is food-saving and work-saving conveniences, plus ready meal variety, that puts the freezer in "solid" with the family. Each of the three Ben-Hur models—9.2, 12.5, and 18.45 cubic foot capacities has a separate freezing compartment for use in freezing your own foods if you desire. This compartment can also be used for storage without adjustment of temperatures. Handy wire food baskets and dividers in the frozen storage compartment simplifies food storage and handling. The wide, flat covers are so delicately counter-balanced that they can be easily lifted by a light touch of the finger—and they stay open in any position, just as you want them without the need for side brackets or catches. A new latch with crystal-clear Lucite handle is more than just beautiful. It provides safety against accidental latching. Even when the cover is closed the latch must be deliberately secured—it can't latch itself.

Thick, hermetically-sealed insulation, sealed insulation, sealed inner liner, longer refrigerated coils, heavy all-steel construction—together with the hermetically-sealed refrigeration unit make the new de luxe Ben-Hur freezer unusually economically in operation, a dependable food-saver that will offer many more years of money-savings than the written five year warranty on the refrigeration unit promises.

BEAN BAGS

One of the most recent vegetables to be pampered by a cellophane package is the humble string bean. In addition to shopping convenience, cellophane packaging for string beans offers many practical advantages for the homemaker, according to the makers of Sylvania cellophane. The use of a special type of cellophane engineered for this kind of packaging, prevents loss of crispness and consequent lowering of food value and flavor. Cellophane packaging also eliminates excessive handling by vegetable dealers and customers. Beans-in-cellophanes have a longer "shelf-life"—that is, they'll stay fresh longer than beans-in-bulk.

INSPECTS LODGE

MRS. LOTTIE PATTERSON

INSPECTION OF REBEKAHS GIVEN

Mrs. Lottie Patterson, New Orleans, President Compliments Group

Monroe Rebekah Lodge No. 66 met in Woodman of the World hall the past week with large attendance to greet Mrs. Lottie Patterson, New Orleans, Louisiana president of the Rebekah Assembly who was making official visit. Prior to the meeting, there was a pleasing banquet held in La Casa tearoom in her honor and at which there was a presentation of a corsage made by Noble Grand Mrs. Opal Thompson.

The state official, a woman of charming personality, declared that she found conditions excellent in the lodge here and said that conditions all over the state were all that could be desired.

In appreciation of this official she was presented with a sum of money and past noble grands gave some choice pieces of china.

At the meeting, addresses were given by Mrs. Linnie Whitaker, vice-president of the state Rebakah Assembly and by Mrs. Noble Tarver, past president of Rebekah Assembly.

The drill team staged a special performance supervised by Mrs. Temple Hegwood, drill captain.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

MY MAN and YOURS

Margene

By Margene Danch

(it's Bill with his weekly grievance)

As you probably know, I'm a mighty handy man with a pencil. I used to be a cartoonist and I've managed to hang ont some of the tricks I learned. But sometimes I almost wish I hadn't. Or at least I should've kept my skill a secret from Margene.

Everytime our kids have a school party or something, Margene commissions me to paint a series of cartoons to help decorate the festive scene. The last occasion was the school Easter party.

"Bill," Margene said enthusiastically. "How would you like to paint some big Easter Bunnies for the table decorations?"

"I wouldn't," I said honestly.

"Come on Bill, you do it so quickly. I should think you'd want to show your talent off."

Well, I had to admit that I was still pretty deft, so I figured what the heck! I agreed to paint the aforementioned Easter rabbits.

"How many of the creatures do you need?" I asked.

"Well, we'll have twelve tables. Now, I thought if you did one decoration for each—"

"Yipe!" I cut in hastily. "You mean I have to paint twelve rabbits?"

"No," she frowned. "I thought if you did four bunnies, we could paste them into a box shape and set it on the the table. Then, each child could be looking at his own rabbit."

"Let's see," I computed. "Four times twelve is forty eight. Man whoever said rabbits multiply fast wasn't kidding!" Margene got her feelings hurt about this time and it finally wound up with me laboring away on the darn bunny drawings. But here's the pay-off. She studied my finished work and said:

"But, honey. These don't look like rabbits. They look more like foxes!"

Guess she never heard of foxy rabbits, eh?

BEST TIME TO BUY

Home freezing authorities advise that the best time to buy fruits and vegetables for freezing is near the end of their seasons. At this time the law of supply and demand is working more steadily in the customer's favor and freezing for home use can be done with greater economy.

MANY NEW LAWS WILL BE SOUGHT

Legislators Have More 'Say' In Mid-Administration Sessions

By Edmond Le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., May 6.—(AP)—It is at mid-administration sessions of the legislature, like the one opening here Monday, that the widest variety of legislation usually comes in for full discussion.

When a new governor takes office and immediately goes before the lawmakers with his program, his proposals usually take top priority and naturally get most attention. Two years later, by mid-term, the program, or such parts of it as the legislature approved, is on the law books and there is more time for 139 senators and representatives to push their own projects.

There has been no official indication yet what the administration will propose for the 1950 session, though there are persistent reports of a bond issue totaling $100,000,000 or more for roads.

But here are some of the other bills lawmakers reportedly have in mind:

Authorization for a bond issue of $5,000,000 against the existing corporation franchise tax for Louisiana State University's building program—especially expansion of the medical school in New Orleans and construction of a new library and auditorium. Rep. Charles Duchein of Baton Rouge says such a bill will be introduced.

A proposal by the ports survey commission to revamp the New Orleans dock board, giving the governor power to appoint the members without the present requirement that they be nominated by various civic bodies.

A stock law—always good for a hot legislative battle in the past—requiring statewide fencing of cattle ranges. Rep. Percy Roberts of East Baton Rouge has been drumming up support for such a bill.

A group of measures pushed in labor circles, including a $1 minimun wage law, higher than the new federal minimum, increased income taxes and a higher level of unemployment compensation.

A revamping of the state school lunch system, forecast by several legislators in the March special session, to keep down the cost of the lunches by restricting them to children actually in financial need.

The proposals described by Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans as emergency financial relief for that city—giving it a bigger share of the gasoline tax, racing revenue and cigarette tax returns.

Two bills of concern to automobile owners—one that would set up a certificate of title system, which sponsors say would guard against automobile theft and make it easier to sell used Louisiana automobiles in other states; the other a financial responsibility measure that would require all automobile owners to carry liability insurance or provide equivalent protection to possible victims of accidents.

The Louisiana Bar Association legislative committee has proposed a raise in the salaries of state supreme court justices from $12,000 to $17,500 and proportionate raises for judges of the court of appeals.

Another measure would outlaw picketing of state courts.

Others in the discussion stage include one to make use of voting machines statewide and to set up court system.

Finally, there may be a measure setting up the machinery for a constitutional convention. Before his illness, Governor Long said he planned a convention to rewrite basic law of the state early in 1951. The Louisiana Law Institute now has nearly finished the draft of a proposed constitution, intended to provide a starting point for the convention's discussion.

TALLULAH

A buffet dinner and bridge party honoring Miss Mary Jo Davis, the popular bride-elect of James Ellis was given at the country home of Mrs. Kathryn Ferguson with Mrs. R. S. Burnside co-hostess. Purple iris placed at vantage points decorated the reception rooms and a miniature bride and groom and wreath with wedding bells tied with white streamers and bearing the inscription, "Mary Jo and James" in gold placed on the mantle proclaimed the forthcoming nuptials.

The handsomely appointed dinner table was centered with a white wedding cake encircled with a wreath of ivy and pink rosebuds.

For the occasion the honoree was especially pretty in a two tone frock of green and a corsage of white iris and daisies, a gift of the hostesses. Ceremony Unites Majoe Ford And Eugene Franklin

A spring wedding before an altar decorated with white iris and stock united in marriage Miss Mojie Weise Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. Ford of Mansfield, and Eugene Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Franklin of Columbia.

The double ring ceremony was performed on April 6 at the Trinity Methodist Church with the Rev. R. R. Branton officiating.

Mrs. S. L. White rendered a program of nuptial music before and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a blue spring suit and pink hat. Her other accessories were of palamino. She carried a white prayer book which was topped with a white orchid from which fell white satin streamers.

Miss Beulah Ann Ford, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue suit and carried a pink bouquet.

E. E. Franklin, father of the groom, served as best man.

The bride received her degree from Louisiana Tech in business administration. She was president of Theta Upsilon sorority, a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, president of Aswell Hall, and a member of the Blue Jackets.

The groom is a senior at Louisiana Tech in electrical engineering. He is a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

INSPECTS LODGE

MRS. LOTTIE PATTERSON

INSPECTION OF REBEKAHS GIVEN

Mrs. Lottie Patterson, New Orleans, President Compliments Group

Monroe Rebekah Lodge No. 66 met in Woodman of the World hall the past week with large attendance to greet Mrs. Lottie Patterson, New Orleans, Louisiana president of the Rebekah Assembly who was making official visit. Prior to the meeting, there was a pleasing banquet held in La Casa tearoom in her honor and at which there was a presentation of a corsage made by Noble Grand Mrs. Opal Thompson.

The state official, a woman of charming personality, declared that she found conditions excellent in the lodge here and said that conditions all over the state were all that could be desired.

In appreciation of this official she was presented with a sum of money and past noble grands gave some choice pieces of china.

At the meeting, addresses were given by Mrs. Linnie Whitaker, vice-president of the state Rebakah Assembly and by Mrs. Nobie Tarver, past president of Rebekah Assembly.

The drill team staged a special performance supervised by Mrs. Tempie Hegwood, drill captain.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

By Margene Danch

As you probably know, I'm a mighty handy man with a pencil. I used to be a cartoonist and I've managed to hang ont some of the tricks I learned. But sometimes I almost wish I hadn't. Or at least I should've kept my skill a secret from Margene.

Everytime our kids have a school party or something, Margene commissions me to paint a series of cartoons to help decorate the festive scene. The last occasion was the school Easter party.

"Bill," Margene said enthusiastically. "How would you like to paint some big Easter Bunnies for the table decorations?"

"I wouldn't," I said honestly.

"Come on Bill, you do it so quickly. I should think you'd want to show your talent off."

Well, I had to admit that I was still pretty deft, so I figured what the heck! I agreed to paint the aforementioned Easter rabbits.

"How many of the creatures do you need?" I asked.

"Well, we'll have twelve tables. Now, I thought if you did one decoration for each—"

"Yipe!" I cut in hastily. "You mean I have to paint twelve rabbits?"

"No," she frowned. "I thought if you did four bunnies, we could paste them into a box shape and set it on the the table. Then, each child could be looking at his own rabbit."

"Let's see," I computed. "Four times twelve is forty eight. Man whoever said rabbits multiply fast wasn't kidding!" Margene got her feelings hurt about this time and it finally wound up with me laboring away on the darn bunny drawings. But here's the pay-off. She studied my finished work and said:

"But, honey. These don't look like rabbits. They look more like foxes!"

Guess she never heard of foxy rabbits, eh?

BEST TIME TO BUY

Home freezing authorities advise that the best time to buy fruits and vegetables for freezing is near the end of their seasons. At this time the law of supply and demand is working more steadily in the customer's favor and freezing for home use can be done with greater economy.

MANY NEW LAWS WILL BE SOUGHT

Legislators Have More 'Say' In Mid-Administration Sessions

By Edmond Le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., May 6.—(AP)—It is at mid-administration sessions of the legislature, like the one opening here Monday, that the widest variety of legislation usually comes in for full discussion.

When a new governor takes office and immediately goes before the lawmakers with his program, his proposals usually take top priority and naturally get most attention. Two years later, by mid-term, the program, or such parts of it as the legislature approved, is on the law books and there is more time for 139 senators and representatives to push their own projects.

There has been no official indication yet what the administration will propose for the 1950 session, though there are persistent reports of a bond issue totaling $100,000,000 or more for roads.

But here are some of the other bills lawmakers reportedly have in mind:

Authorization for a bond issue of $5,000,000 against the existing corporation franchise tax for Louisiana State University's building program—especially expansion of the medical school in New Orleans and construction of a new library and auditorium. Rep. Charles Duchein of Baton Rouge says such a bill will be introduced.

A proposal by the ports survey commission to revamp the New Orleans dock board, giving the governor power to appoint the members without the present requirement that they be nominated by various civic bodies.

A stock law—always good for a hot legislative battle in the past—requiring statewide fencing of cattle ranges. Rep. Percy Roberts of East Baton Rouge has been drumming up support for such a bill.

A group of measures pushed in labor circles, including a $1 minimun wage law, higher than the new federal minimum, increased income taxes and a higher level of unemployment compensation.

A revamping of the state school lunch system, forecast by several legislators in the March special session, to keep down the cost of the lunches by restricting them to children actually in financial need.

The proposals described by Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans as emergency financial relief for that city—giving it a bigger share of the gasoline tax, racing revenue and cigarette tax returns.

Two bills of concern to automobile owners—one that would set up a certificate of title system, which sponsors say would guard against automobile theft and make it easier to sell used Louisiana automobiles in other states; the other a financial responsibility measure that would require all automobile owners to carry liability insurance or provide equivalent protection to possible victims of accidents.

The Louisiana Bar Association legislative committee has proposed a raise in the salaries of state supreme court justices from $12,000 to $17,500 and proportionate raises for judges of the court of appeals.

Another measure would outlaw picketing of state courts.

Others in the discussion stage include one to make use of voting machines statewide and to set up court system.

Finally, there may be a measure setting up the machinery for a constitutional convention. Before his illness, Governor Long said he planned a convention to rewrite basic law of the state early in 1951. The Louisiana Law Institute now has nearly finished the draft of a proposed constitution, intended to provide a starting point for the convention's discussion.

TALLULAH

For the occasion the honoree was especially pretty in a two tone frock of green and a corsage of white iris and daisies, a gift of the hostesses. Those enjoying the delicious duck dinner and bridge games were Miss Davis, Miss Joyce Anderson, Miss Mary Alice Rogillio, Miss Billye Davis, Mrs. R. L. Keller, Mrs. Jeff Goza, Mrs. Kathryn Ferguson and Mrs. R. S. Burnside, all members of the same bridge club. At the conclusion of the games the bride-elect was presented with gifts of china and crystal from the club.

Miss Mary Jo Davis and James Ellis, whose wedding on May 6 is a prominent event of the season, were delightfully complimented on Monday evening when Mrs. A. L. Sevier Sr., and Mrs. Warren Sevier entertained with a dinner party at the attractive Rosedale plantation home. A mixed bouquet of white gladioli, snap dragons and tube roses anked by white tapers, adorned the refreshment table with its cover of white linen with Italian cut work and lace. A turkey supper with all the delicious accompaniments was served, buffet style. A large bouquet of pink snapdragons and tulips in shades of pink in the reception room added to the pleasure of the guests.

Miss Davis, who was attired in one of her trousseau dresses of rose beige over taffeta, was presented with a gift of flat silver and crystal by the hostesses.

The guest list included the honorees, Mrs. V. H. Davis, Mrs. James Ellis, Miss Billye Davis, Mr. and R. L. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dr. J. H. Pankey has returned from New Orleans, where he attended a medical meeting.

Mrs. D. Griffin of Houston, Texas, is here on a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Dick Griffin.

Mrs. H. H. Dean entertained on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Penny's birthday anniversary. The youg guests enjoyed a weiner roast and spent the afternoon playing games. Penny received many gifts from her friends.

Ceremony Unites Majoe Ford And Eugene Franklin

A spring wedding before an altar decorated with white iris and stock united in marriage Miss Mojie Weise Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. Ford of Mansfield, and Eugene Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Franklin of Columbia.

The double ring ceremony was performed on April 6 at the Trinity Methodist Church with the Rev. R. R. Branton officiating.

Mrs. S. L. White rendered a program of nuptial music before and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a blue spring suit and pink hat. Her other accessories were of palamino. She carried a white prayer book which was topped with a white orchid from which fell white satin streamers.

Miss Beulah Ann Ford, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue suit and carried a pink bouquet.

E. E. Franklin, father of the groom, served as best man.

The bride received her degree from Louisiana Tech in business administration. She was president of Theta Upsilon sorority, a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, president of Aswell Hall, and a member of the Blue Jackets.

News From The Girl Scouts

Comes the "merry, merry month of May" and one can always find girl scouts busy preparing for troop camping. The first troop camp will take place at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on the week end of the 12th. So now to get in the swing of things the scouts are busy learning how to build fires, how to budget for food and camping essentials, how to make a bed roll, what to take to camp, and learning the standards of health and safety of troop camping. What a feeling of nostalgia creeps over us when we look back on our own early days of camping. Twenty years ago—yes, but there is a vivid memory of mattresses stuffed with straw—and no innerspring made was ever as comfortable; camp fires at night — and the singing and the games were never better; going down the nature trail — and no leaves, trees, birds or insects at home were ever quite as distinctive; the old swimming hole—and we all vied for the swimming instructor's favors, a goddess, no less, to us pipsqueaks; and vespers time — like no other time in the day, when we sang favorite hymns and read from the Bible, there in a semicircle on the campus. Maybe we miss it—but we have the chance to relive it in our children's eyes—and aren't we lucky?

Now for news: Troop 11, Brownies, Mrs. C. J. Turpin and Mrs. Bernard Levi, leaders, have made calendars for the month of May by scoring white card board making spaces for each day. At the end of the day each Brownie will draw and color a picture of something she saw pertaining to nature, and eventually complete a colorful, personalized calendar. Also along the nature line this troop took an alphabetical hike from the Georgia Tucker School to Forsythe avenue. This type of hike calls for alert eyes and minds as they must find something along the way that begins with each consecutive letter of the alphabet. By the way, they tried the Girl Scout soda recently and found it very refreshing and lots of fun. Here's the way: Roll an orange around under your hand until it becomes soft, then cut a hole in it and place a stick of peppermint in the hole and use like a straw, want to try it?

Troop 16, Intermediate, Mrs. J. R. White, leader, went to feast their eyes on the prize iris' grown by Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Lindermann, West Monroe. Mrs. Gates has 300 species of iris, and had the distinction of winning first place in the state show of 1949 and 1950 for her flowers. She showed the troop how to cross iris, how to cross day lillies, and how to plant the seeds. They saw native Japanese iris and native Louisiana iris. Each girl was invited to register in the guest book so they might become eligible for the monthly drawing. Mrs. Gates draws a name and sends that visitor an iris plant. Mrs. White reports that the girls were very enthusiastic over these beautiful flowers and thought it a real treat to see them. Mrs. Harry Moore, a troop committee member was a visitor on this occasion. ...

Troop 34 and 39, Brownies, Mrs. H. V. Brady and Mrs. J. B. Corder leaders, respectively, enjoyed a skating party last week. These scouts are third graders and though most were beginners at skating they all had a grand time.

Troop 37, Brownies, Mrs. R. W. Hooper, leader, have made sachets as gifts for their mothers. They used wide pink satin ribbon, stitched it down each side and across one end, stuffed it with cotton, added the sachet, then tied the top with a tiny blue satin bow.

Intermediates from Troops 32, 17, 1, 26, 16, 14, helped Troop 11, Boy Scouts, win the attendance award at the court of honor held recently at Lida Benton School.

MUSIC WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Program Will Be Given Over Air To Honor Johann Sebastian Bach

This week, set aside as "Music Week" nation-wide, there will be accorded honor to the world's greatest music composer, Johann Sebastian Bach. Although his death was on July 22, it is regarded timely to give the observance at this time in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the death of this great man. This afternoon at 1:30 o'clock over radio station KNOE this man's life history will be read and some of his great compositions will be performed by a group of music students of Miss Clara Freiberg. These will include Jimmie Godfrey, Betty Fisk, Marie Elizabeth Webster, Mardell Reinhardt, Lynn Adele Zoll, Margaret Ann Lee and Louise Doernberg.

A march from Anna Gagdalena will be played by Nancy Shreve; a Prelude by Linda Womack and Penny Prophit; the two-part invention No. 8 by Teddy Calhoun of Gilbert, La.; the one-part No. 6 by Sara Lou Hudson, the three-part invention No. 7 by Gertrude Rodriguez; and the Fantasy in C Minor by Fern Lee Riok.

Miss Freiberg announces that her annual piano recital will take place May 15 at 8 p.m. in N. J. C. Music, classic and modern, from many different countries, will comprise the program of the night. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Parlor City Grove No. 288 Attend District Meeting

Those attending from Monroe Louisiana District met in the Crystal ball room of the Washington Youree Hotel with the president, Mrs. Bertha Aleroms, presiding.

The Woodmen Circles of North were Mrs. Jewel Earl, President, Isabell Gibbs, Mrs. Nancy Neyland and drill team, Maudie Fant, Jerry Earl, Almeda Welch, Etta Babbin, Chella Wilson, Lavelle Ellis, Jewel Earl, Many Willet, Flo Ware, Reba Holloway, Ora Beasley, Annie Bouler, Ruth Taylor and Lillie Mae Sugden.

For a quick dinner, grill lamb chops and link pork sausages with cooked sweet potato slices and rings of canned pineapple. Using canned sweet potatoes for the grill will cut down on preparation time.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Each month hundreds of books are published. It is the problem of a librarian to select from this number of books that she thinks the people will want and also the ones that fill a gap in the library collection. During the past few months many interesting titles of the informational type have been added to the collection of the Ouachaita Parish Public Library. Books are being written on almost every kind of subject. There may be one in this list that you have been waiting for.

Do you have all the money you want to spend? Hardly anyone does. "Spending for happiness" by Elsie Stapleton gives some very pertinent advice about how to get the most for your money, budgeting, etc. Do you like to make furniture? If you do, be sure to see "Antique reproductions for the home craftsman." This book gives complete instructions and designs for making some lovely pieces of old furniture. Are you planning to build a fence, a trellis, a pool or anything else in your yard? "The home mechanics outdoor Handbook" by Reginald R. Hawkins is a goldmine of information in that particular field. Is photography your hobby? you will want to see 'The complete book of enlarging" by Morris Gurrie.

Are you a Sunday School teacher? If you are, you should read "The church-school teacher's job" by Mildred Eakin. Is cooking your delight? Then you will be fascinated with "Out of Kentucky Kitchens" by Marion K. Flexner and "The Home Book of French Cookery" by Germaine Carter. Baseball fans will be charmed with "Connie Mack's baseball book" and "Baseball's Greatest Teams" by Tom Meany.

Books of house plans are always popular and the latest trend is books that tell you how to build your house and save the cost of labor. Two new books of this type have recently been added to the library collection. One is "Youa Dream Home" by Hubbard Cobb and the other is "How to build your own House" by Hugh Laidman. These books give very explicit directions for the tools needed, amount of material to guy, etc. In the present day world with all of its stresses and strains many people are worried and bewildered. Two recent books will help the world look much brighter if you are a worrier. They are "In The Name of Common Sense" by Matthew Chappell and "The Art of Real Happiness" by Norman Vincent Peale.

A great many patrons of the library are avid readers of mystery stories. New titles for their special benefit are "Fire at Will" by Doris Miles Disney; "Hunt the Tortoise" by Elizabeth Ferrars and "That's the Spirit" by Mary violet Heberden. Two new books of special interest to teen age girls are: "Nancy goes to College" by Helene Laird and "You can't tell about Love" by Helen Diehl Olds.

Jesse Stuart who is an expert on the lore of the Kentucky Hill country has a new novel, "Hie to the Hunters" which should be most interesting. "The Queen Bee" by Edna Lee is a period novel with a southern setting. "Let go of yesterday" by Howard Breslin is a very warm and moving story of an Irish Catholic family in New York. "The catcher from Double A" by Duane Decker will appeal to those who like baseball fiction.

"The Martian Chronicles" by Ray Bradbury is one of the very popular science fiction stories and is sure of a large audience. "Ladder to the Sky" by Joyce Tillery Simpson is a story laid in the oil fields of Louisiana and Texas. It begins in the period just after World War I and comes up to the present day. There is a fine family feeling in this story as well as the fascination, the excitement of a big, bright bonanza which may be here today or gone tomorrow. It is good reading.

The four branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library are designed to serve all the citizens of Ouachita Parish. The Monroe branch is located at 418 Jackson street. The West Monroe branch at 106 Cypress street, and Bookmobile serves all the population living outside the twin cities and the Carver branch at 116 North Tenth street serves the Negro people of Ouadhita Parish. If you are not a registered borrower of the Library, do not delay any longer, but register tomorrow.

Hodge Family Have Reunion

True to annual tradition, the family of N. F. Walker met Sunday April 30th., this time in the home of Mr. Walker's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. McConathy of Quitman.

After a delicious family style dinner the family enjoyed reminissing over the many happenings of the previous 12 months and visiting with each other.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Walker and Children, Beth and Jean of Walker Community, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker and Valrie of Calvin, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crain, Gaynell, George Harold and Bobby of Sikes, Mrs. L. L. Lee of Dodson, Mrs. Callie Kilgore of Jonesboro, Mrs. C. L. Copeland and Mrs. Francis Handcock of Shreveport. All children were present with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. G. E. Stewart, who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Jim Quick aunt of Mr. McConathy's and Mr. Horace McCullin friend of the family visited the group Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. McConathy entertained Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Waldrip and son Eddie Bart Sunday evening in commemoration of Mrs. Waldrip's birthday.

Rev. Dennis A. Curren To Review 'The Cardinal'

The Catholic Daughters of America will present the Rev. Dennis A. Curren reviewing "The Cardinal", Friday evening, May 12 at 8 p.m. in the ball room of the Virginia Hotel.

The book has implications that are social, economic and political as well as religious.

Plenty of action is found in the book and Father Stephen is a vital figure of almost heroic statue.

All book clubs and lovers of good literature are invited to attend this review given by an authority on the subject.

When moving to a new house, it is a good idea to have the house cleaned before you move your furniture to it. The job will be twice as difficult if you have to scrub floors and moldings after you move in.

3:00 and 7:30 p.m., Tuesday—Circle meetings.

7:30 p.m. Wednesday—Mid-week worship.

7:30 p.m., Friday—Boy Scouts meet.

Man's relation to God and to his fellowman will be the topical backgrounds out of which the sermons on Sunday will be based. Men are not at peace with one another because they are not at peace with God. And men have been slain and will be slain because they lust for that which does not belong to them. These are the basic considerations for our Sunday worship and we cordially extend invitations to all interested citizens to worship with us.

News From The Girl Scouts

Comes the "merry, merry month of May" and one can always find girl scouts busy preparing for troop camping. The first troop camp will take place at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on the week end of the 12th. So now to get in the swing of things the scouts are busy learning how to build fires, how to budget for food and camping essentials, how to make a bed roll, what to take to camp, and learning the standards of health and safety of troop camping. What a feeling of nostalgia creeps over us when we look back on our own early days of camping. Twenty years ago—yes, but there is a vivid memory of mattresses stuffed with straw—and no innerspring made was ever as comfortable; camp fires at night — and the singing and the games were never better; going down the nature trail — and no leaves, trees, birds or insects at home were ever quite as distinctive; the old swimming hole—and we all vied for the swimming instructor's favors, a goddess, no less, to us pipsqueaks; and vespers time — like no other time in the day, when we sang favorite hymns and read from the Bible, there in a semicircle on the campus. Maybe we miss it—but we have the chance to relive it in our children's eyes—and aren't we lucky?

Now for news: Troop 11, Brownies, Mrs. C. J. Turpin and Mrs. Bernard Levi, leaders, have made calendars for the month of May by scoring white card board making spaces for each day. At the end of the day each Brownie will draw and color a picture of something she saw pertaining to nature, and eventually complete a colorful, personalized calendar. Also along the nature line this troop took an alphabetical hike from the Georgia Tucker School to Forsythe avenue. This type of hike calls for alert eyes and minds as they must find something along the way that begins with each consecutive letter of the alphabet. By the way, they tried the Girl Scout soda recently and found it very refreshing and lots of fun. Here's the way: Roll an orange around under your hand until it becomes soft, then cut a hole in it and place a stick of peppermint in the hole and use like a straw, want to try it?

Troop 16, Intermediate, Mrs. J. R. White, leader, went to feast their eyes on the prize iris' grown by Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Lindermann, West Monroe. Mrs. Gates has 300 species of iris, and had the distinction of winning first place in the state show of 1949 and 1950 for her flowers. She showed the troop how to cross iris, how to cross day lillies, and how to plant the seeds. They saw native Japanese iris and native Louisiana iris. Each girl was invited to register in the guest book so they might become eligible for the monthly drawing. Mrs. Gates draws a name and sends that visitor an iris plant. Mrs. White reports that the girls were very enthusiastic over these beautiful flowers and thought it a real treat to see them. Mrs. Harry Moore, a troop committee member was a visitor on this occasion. ...

Troop 34 and 39, Brownies, Mrs. H. V. Brady and Mrs. J. B. Corder leaders, respectively, enjoyed a skating party last week. These scouts are third graders and though most were beginners at skating they all had a grand time.

Troop 37, Brownies, Mrs. R. W. Hooper, leader, have made sachets as gifts for their mothers. They used wide pink satin ribbon, stitched it down each side and across one end, stuffed it with cotton, added the sachet, then tied the top with a tiny blue satin bow.

Intermediates from Troops 32, 17, 1, 26, 16, 14, helped Troop 11, Boy Scouts, win the attendance award at the court of honor held recently at Lida Benton School.

MUSIC WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Program Will Be Given Over Air To Honor Johann Sebastian Bach

This week, set aside as "Music Week" nation-wide, there will be accorded honor to the world's greatest music composer, Johann Sebastian Bach. Although his death was on July 22, it is regarded timely to give the observance at this time in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the death of this great man. This afternoon at 1:30 o'clock over radio station KNOE this man's life history will be read and some of his great compositions will be performed by a group of music students of Miss Clara Freiberg. These will include Jimmie Godfrey, Betty Fisk, Marie Elizabeth Webster, Mardell Reinhardt, Lynn Adele Zoll, Margaret Ann Lee and Louise Doernberg.

A march from Anna Gagdalena will be played by Nancy Shreve; a Prelude by Linda Womack and Penny Prophit; the two-part invention No. 8 by Teddy Calhoun of Gilbert, La.; the one-part No. 6 by Sara Lou Hudson, the three-part invention No. 7 by Gertrude Rodriguez; and the Fantasy in C Minor by Fern Lee Riok.

Miss Freiberg announces that her annual piano recital will take place May 15 at 8 p.m. in N. J. C. Music, classic and modern, from many different countries, will comprise the program of the night. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Parlor City Grove No. 288 Attend District Meeting

Those attending from Monroe Louisiana District met in the Crystal ball room of the Washington Youree Hotel with the president, Mrs. Bertha Aleroms, presiding.

The Woodmen Circles of North were Mrs. Jewel Earl, President, Isabell Gibbs, Mrs. Nancy Neyland and drill team, Maudie Fant, Jerry Earl, Almeda Welch, Etta Babbin, Chelia Wilson, Lavelle Ellis, Jewel Earl, Many Willet, Flo Ware, Reba Holloway, Ora Beasley, Annie Bouler, Ruth Taylor and Lillie Mae Sugden.

For a quick dinner, grill lamb chops and link pork sausages with cooked sweet potato slices and rings of canned pineapple. Using canned sweet potatoes for the grill will cut down on preparation time.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Each month hundreds of books are published. It is the problem of a librarian to select from this number of books that she thinks the people will want and also the ones that fill a gap in the library collection. During the past few months many interesting titles of the informational type have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Books are being written on almost every kind of subject. There may be one in this list that you have been waiting for.

Do you have all the money you want to spend? Hardly anyone does. "Spending for happiness" by Elsie Stapleton gives some very pertinent advice about how to get the most for your money, budgeting, etc. Do you like to make furniture? If you do, be sure to see "Antique reproductions for the home craftsman." This book gives complete instructions and designs for making some lovely pieces of old furniture. Are you planning to build a fence, a trellis, a pool or anything else in your yard? "The home mechanics outdoor Handbook" by Reginald R. Hawkins is a goldmine of information in that particular field. Is photography your hobby? you will want to see "The complete book of enlarging" by Morris Gurrie.

Are you a Sunday School teacher? If you are, you should read "The church-school teacher's job" by Mildred Eakin. Is cooking your delight? Then you will be fascinated with "Out of Kentucky Kitchens" by Marion K. Flexner and "The Home Book of French Cookery" by Germaine Carter. Baseball fans will be charmed with "Connie Mack's baseball book" and "Baseball's Greatest Teams" by Tom Meany.

Books of house plans are always popular and the latest trend is books that tell you how to build your house and save the cost of labor. Two new books of this type have recently been added to the library collection. One is "Youa Dream Home" by Hubbard Cobb and the other is "How to build your own House" by Hugh Laidman. These books give very explicit directions for the tools needed, amount of material to guy, etc. In the present day world with all of its stresses and strains many people are worried and bewildered. Two recent books will help the world look much brighter if you are a worrier. They are "In The Name of Common Sense" by Mathew Chappell and "The Art of Real Happiness" by Norman Vincent Peale.

A great many patrons of the library are avid readers of mystery stories. New titles for their special benefit are "Fire at Will" by Doris Miles Disney; "Hunt the Tortoise" by Elizabeth Ferrars and "That's the Spirit" by Mary violet Heberden. Two new books of special interest to teen age girls are: "Nancy goes to College" by Helene Laird and "You can't tell about Love" by Helen Diehl Olds.

Jesse Stuart who is an expert on the lore of the Kentucky Hill country has a new novel, "Hie to the Hunters" which should be most interesting. "The Queen Bee" by Edna Lee is a period novel with a southern setting. "Let go of yesterday" by Howard Breslin is a very warm and moving story of an Irish Catholic family in New York. "The catcher from Double A" by Duane Decker will appeal to those who like baseball fiction.

"The Martian Chronicles" by Ray Bradbury is one of the very popular science fiction stories and is sure of a large audience. "Ladder to the Sky" by Joyce Tillery Simpson is a story laid in the oil fields of Louisiana and Texas. It begins in the period just after World War I and comes up to the present day. There is a fine family feeling in this story as well as the fascination, the excitement of a big, bright bonanza which may be here today or gone tomorrow. It is good reading.

The four branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library are designed to serve all the citizens of Ouachita Parish. The Monroe branch is located at 418 Jackson street. The West Monroe branch at 106 Cypress street, and Bookmobile serves all the population living outside the twin cities and the Carver branch at 116 North Tenth street serves the Negro people of Ouadhita Parish. If you are not a registered borrower of the Library, do not delay any longer, but register tomorrow.

Hodge Family Have Reunion

True to annual tradition, the family of N. F. Walker met Sunday April 30th., this time in the home of Mr. Walker's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. McConathy of Quitman.

After a delicious family style dinner the family enjoyed reminissing over the many happenings of the previous 12 months and visiting with each other.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Walker and Children, Beth and Jean of Walker Community, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker and Valrie of Calvin, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crain, Gaynell, George Harold and Bobby of Sikes, Mrs. L. L. Lee of Dodson, Mrs. Callie Kilgore of Jonesboro, Mrs. C. L. Copeland and Mrs. Francis Handcock of Shreveport. All children were present with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. G. E. Stewart, who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Jim Quick aunt of Mr. McConathy's and Mr. Horace McCullin friend of the family visited the group Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. McConathy entertained Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Waldrip and son Eddie Bart Sunday evening in commemoration of Mrs. Waldrip's birthday.

Rev. Dennis A. Curren To Review 'The Cardinal'

The Catholic Daughters of America will present the Rev. Dennis A. Curren reviewing "The Cardinal", Friday evening, May 12 at 8 p.m. in the ball room of the Virginia Hotel.

The book has implications that are social, economic and political as well as religious.

Plenty of action is found in the book and Father Stephen is a vital figure of almost heroic statue.

All book clubs and lovers of good literature are invited to attend this review given by an authority on the subject.

When moving to a new house, it is a good idea to have the house cleaned before you move your furniture to it. The job will be twice as difficult if you have to scrub floors and moldings after you move in.

La.'s Sea Dog Gives Hot Dog Competition

HOUMA, La. — Bite into a hot dog down here and chances are you'll be munching shrimp instead of meat.

It's one Louisiana family's contribution to the deep south's hunger for more industries — especially those that use Dixie's own resources. They call it, temporarily, the "sea dog," a weiner of chopped shrimp, not meat.

Head of the family is Gibson J. Autin, Sr., who has been in the packing business here since 1915 and whose Acadian forebears were among Louisiana's earliest settlers. He is president of the Autin Packing Co., Inc., and sons Gibson Jr., Arnold and Lloyd are the other officers.

Already, the elder Autin sees two bright possibilities in his new-type Franks —another outlet for Louisiana's shrimp catch and a chance for housewives to vary the menu on fast days.

That last item is pretty important in this area, where Catholics predominate and may not eat meat on Fridays and other fast days during the year. It was on just such a day the "sea dog" was launched.

Let Lloyd Autin tell the tale: "A fellow came to us and said, 'here you are packing meat and we're catching shrimp out in the Gulf of Mexico. Why don't you start packing shrimp?"

"So, we did. We tried it out on a Kiwanis luncheon held on a Friday. Everybody ate them and liked them, except one man. He said they looked too much like weiners not to be meat.

"Next day he came around and ate one. He wound up buying 15 dozen."

Autin's shrimpfurters are put up in cellophane (a byproduct of Dixie cottonseed, incidentally), either in long strings or in pound packages of ten priced at 60 cents. They are red and look just like hot dogs, but the tangy taste is unmistakably highly-spiced shrimp.

How they get that way is, of course, a trade secret. But the Autins gladly hand out cooking recipes. According to them, the "sea dog" is up to any of the old tricks as well as the new. If the recipe calls for meat, they say, toss in a "sea dog." If it's fish, well, what do you think?

A patent has been applied for, by the way. Lloyd says he did it by long distance telephone when the customers started queuing up for more and "people up north" got interested.

Dogwood Glamor Is Blight-Threatened

ATHENS, Ga., — The dogwood, loveliest of the spring's flowering trees, faces a dreary and blighted future because of a newly discovered fungus disease.

The disease, which attacks only the dogwood, withers or splotches the delicate bloom.

Dr. Julian H. Miller of the University of Georgia, one of the nation's top plant pathologist, reports the disease now has been found in Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia and Maryland.

The great tragedy is, says Miller, that the disease can be controlled, but who is going to look after the wild dogwood which each year turns the forest into white and pink fairylands?

To those fortunate enough to boast a dogwood on their private patches, Miller wants it known that he has found the fungicide called the Bordeaux Mixture most effective in controlling the disease.

The best time to spray, he continues, is just before the trees begin to bloom.

How the disease first came to light in 1948 is a story in itself. Dr. A. A. Bitancourt, plant pathologist from Sao Paulo, Brazil, was passing through Savannah one day en route to Washington.

Ships Of 'Sail' Age Are Preserved For History

By James McKenna

MYSTIC, Conn.—Up here on Connecticut's southeastern corner, a few miles from the Rhode Island state line, this famed clipper ship town, left behind by the air age, is distilling in a "living museum" the essence of the romantic age of sail of a century ago.

The arrival at Mystic, in November, 1941, of the last ship of the once great American whaling fleet, the Charles W. Morgan of New Bedford, was the turning point in the career of the 11 year old Mystic Marine Historical Society. In the nine years since then, the society has grown from a one-room museum of sailing ship paraphenalia supported by 300 members, to an $840,000 institution of international repute with a membership of 2,075 in almost every state in the union and a number of foreign countries.

Two great sailing ships, invaluable collections of sea lore housed in five new or modernized buildings, a 200 foot dock for visiting yachtsmen, the first yacht club building in the United States, an oldtime seaport store and the beginnings of a typical seaport street of the 1800's going up on a cobblestone quay comprise the museum today.

Mystic Seaport Is the Name

"Mystic Seaport" instead of the little "Marine Museum" is favored by the directors, who include John Nicholas Brown of Newport, former assistant secretary of the navy for air and Charles Francis Adams of Boston. Assistant curator MacDonald Steers explains that officials feel the new designation more aptly conveys the living qualities, the "contemporariness" of the museum. Here is an example of what he means.

Three hundred Girl Mariners and Sea Scouts—some coming from as far as New Jersey in their own boat—took turns manning the square rigger Joseph Conrad in a youth training program inaugurated last summer. The Conrad, a former Danish merchant marine cadet trainer, was given to the museum by act of congress in 1947. She was sailed to Mystic from St. Petersburg where she was used as a trainer by the U. S. merchant marine. The graceful ship now lies in the Mystic river across from the Morgan which is permanently locked in a bed of sand.

Under supervision of Marion Dickermann, former head of Todhunter School, New York, and now the society's educational director, the Boy and Girl Scouts learned seamanship, rigging, nautical legend, and escorted visitors through the two ships.

Yachtman's Haven

In one year, more than 35,000 persons signed the guest log.

Movie stars playing the nearby Norwich summer theater poured tea for the visitors on the quarterdeck of the Conrad every Tuesday for six weeks. A covey of ballet dancers from Connecticut College dance festival performed Corybantic rites on the hallowed boards of the Morgan to get the "feel" of a nautical score they were interpreting.

Teaching Is the Mission

Permeating the staf of the museum is the idea of its three founders: to teach to today's children and adults the lesson of the American sea heritage in which so much was made from so little by the brave men of the age of sail.

Last of the three founders, Carl C. Cutler, a retired Mystic lawyer, today is curator of the museum. In 1929, Cutler and Everett E. Bradley, Stonington industrialist, both of whom in their earlier days had gone to sea in sail, joined forces with Dr. Charles K. Stillman of Mystic to found the Marine Museum on the site of the old German Brothers shipyard.

Built Famous Clippers

The Greenmans, ancestors of Dr. Stillman, for years turned out clipper ships from their yard. Most famous was the Davy Crockett, which in 37 years made $500,000 profit for her owners, more than any other sailing ship, and made more trips around the Horn than any other.

The early years were tough. A bank book, carefully preserved, shows Dr. Stillman making deposits of 25 cents, 55 cents and $1 to the museum's account. At the annual meeting this year, President Phillip R. Mallory's report showed a surplus of $687,238.25 of which $170,478.25 are endowment funds.

Lowdown On 1-A-Day Mail Deliveries Given

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three articles written to explain thet operations of the United States post office department.)

By Jim Reynolds

(Of The Morning World Staff)

Since the April order from United States Postmaster-General Jesse Donaldson directing a cutback in postal services and expenditures, people all over the country have been wondering: "What will this mean to me?"

To see if we could find an answer to that question for residents of Monroe and those areas served by the Monroe post office, we stopped in last week at the office of Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn in the Monroe Post Office Building.

We got the information we were seeking, and a few sidelights in addition on the man who heads the mail service in the Monroe area.

Hathorn is a post office career man, a distinction he holds with the national chief of the postal system. The Monroe postmaster started his mail activities in 1936 as a substitute clerk in the Monroe post office. By July, 1948, after a hitch in the navy, he had risen to acting postmaster of the Monroe office, and in October, 1949, was confirmed in his post.

The postmaster lives in Monroe with his wife and newly-adopted daughter, Joy Anne. The charm of the six-month-old addition to the Hathorn family certainly hasn't worn off in the few days since she became their daughter. It seems a bit unusual to expect it in a public official being interrogated about his office, but that big, paternal grin, so familiar to friends of new fathers, found its way into the conversation frequently.

During the war, Hathorn served in the U. S. navy, both in the fleet post office in San Francisco and aboard the U. S. S. Cascade, operating in the area around Okinowa and later to Japan.

The postmaster revealed that plans for the directed change in the postal operations have already been formulated for the Monroe office, that most of the paper work had already been done. The changes worked by the Washington directive should be in evidence in Monroe by the first of next month.

The new order, said Hathorn, will not curtail operations to the extent of cutting down severely on the post office facilities and services. But it will dictate a less frequent system of deliveries, and a complete curtailment of the directory service.

The business district of downtown Monroe will be affected little by the change. Deliveries may not be so frequent, but the volume of mail handled per day will remain about the same. Currently, three trips are made each day to the business area. Under the new system, three deliveries are planned daily, with one delivery on Saturday.

The greatest impact of the cut in services will be felt in the residential districts, where the current schedule of two deliveries daily will be cut to one each day. In fact, one section of the city is now operating under this plan, with little hardship or dissatisfaction reported.

The second delivery of the day, on the general average, has been largely composed, in the residential sections, of circulars and advertising matter. First class mail, processed all during the night, is usually completely taken care of for home delivery in the morning post.

An important and often underestimated service of the post office in Monroe will be completely abolished as a result of the directive. This is the directory service, which handles mail addressed to residents, when no street address is included. This service in the past has handled a considerable number of pieces which will now have to be returned to the sender, unless the clrek who is processing it happens to know the addressee and can redirect the mail correctly.

Since the Monroe post office serves over 45,000 people in the area either as main post office or central distribution point for rural routes, it can be realized that the driectory service has played a large part in the postal service in Monroe in the past.

Personnel changes in the Monroe office as a result of the cutback order will be slight. Present plans call for the release of two employees, both substitute workers in the office. There is no foreseeable plan for release of any permanent postal workers as a result of the directive.

Pickups by carriers of mail from mail boxes in the area will be curtailed slightly under the new plan. The final pickup of the day will probaby be made earlier than the present time in most locations, and the number of pickups may be reduced in many instances.

All these new plans may very well cause a change in mailing procedure. Business concerns, especially, will find it to their advantage to mail earlier, in order to avoid the rush of mail preceding the 6 p.m. deadline, after which only first class mail is processed.

In Monroe, in general, the change in present deliveries and service will be comparatively slight, and one of the main reasons, according to the postmaster, is the staff at the office. "This reorganization could not be carried out easily if it weren't for the wonderful workers we have in that office and workroom. They're the best."

That, from a man who worked himself up through the office, is praise indeed.

Summer Roundup At Millsaps Set

The annual summer round-up of pre school age children will be held at Millsaps School on Monday, May 15, at one o'clock in the afternoon at the school.

All children who will enter the first grade at Millsaps next September are urged to attend this round-up where they will be given a physical checkup by doctors and the parish health nurses who will be in attendance. There will be no charge for this service. The faculty of Millsaps is anxious for all interested parents to come and bring all prospective first grade pupils.

Millsaps Elects P.-T. A. Officers

The last regular monthly meeting of this session of the Millsaps School P.-T. A. will be held in the school lunchroom on Thursday, May 11, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The principal business at this meeting will be the installation of officers for the 1950-51 session. New officers who have been elected are: President, Mrs. W. C. Smith; vice president, Mrs. O. L. Luginbill; secretary Mrs. Jake Humphries; treasurer Mrs. C. T. Coats.

These officers will be installed by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese.

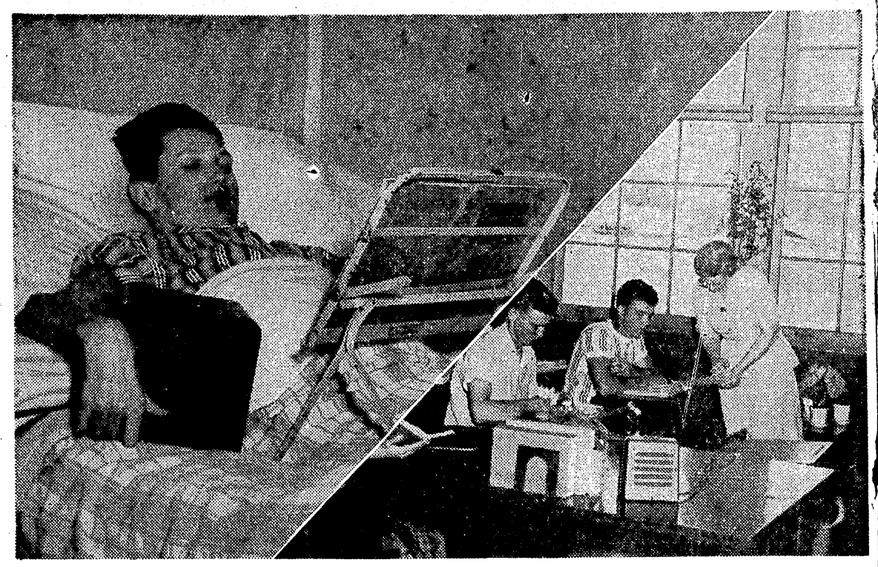
PARAPLEGIC ATTENDS SCHOOL IN BED



Donald Graham, 17-year-old Rayville High school sophomore attends classes regularly by means of a home-to-school telephone set recently installed in his home and classrooms. From a bed, Donald follows classroom procedure and listens to his teacher and classmates. The "unseen" pupil takes an active part in each of his classes by pressing a knob and answering questions.

Paralyzed Rayville Youth Educated With Telephone

A 17-year-old Rayville youth, paralyzed by a spinal injury since 1947, is the first high school student in Northeast Louisiana and second in the state to continue his education by means of a home-school telephone set.

The high school sophomore, Donald Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Graham, was an honor student prior to his accident. Last week his teachers were again rating him an "A" pupil, despite the fact his education had been interrupted for three years.

Attends Classes

Early in January, a speaker-microphone-home-to-school telephone service set was installed in Donald's home and Rayville High school classrooms. Since that time, he has been attending classes regularly from his bed.

Donald's subjects include algebra, citizenship, latin and English. Each morning, he tunes in on scheduled classes. When asked a question, he simply presses a knob to reply. In order to hear his teacher's explanation he releases this knob.

The combination microphone - speaker is usually placed on the teacher's desk so Donald hears his classmates from all corners of the room.

Four high school class rooms have been wired for the microphone-speaker. At the end of each period, Donald is transfered to another room for his class, simply by "plugging" the speaker into a jack-box. The control mechanism is a permanent fixture in the Graham home.

The school-to-home system of communication is much the same as those used when patients from veteran hospitals are on nationwide radio programs. It was designed to aid and benefit paraplegics and invalids who desire to continue their education.

Donald's teachers, Mrs. A. C. Clark, Mrs. W. N. Gaines and Mrs. Everett McCoy, have expressed much enthusiasm over the system and Donald's progress in such a few months.

They pointed out, their "unseen" pupil is rapidly accomplishing his goal to complete his high school education. His classmates, many of whom he has never seen, assert that Donald is able to answer questions and soive algebra problems better than they.

Former Scout

The formerly active Boy Scout was injured June 25, 1947, when he fell from a tree attending scout camp at Camp Ki-Ro-Li.

Since that time he has been confined to bed in a New Orleans hospital and at his home. Donald is the youngest of five children.

At the time of his accident, he had completed the ninth grade. Since the two-way speaker system was furnished him by the Southern Bell Telephone Co., Donald has primarily consentrated on his education, though he reminds his friends, "I always enjoy having visitors."

In addition he spends much of his time listening to the radio and reading.

Superintendent Helps

J. B. Thompson, Jr., superintendent of Richland parish schools, several months ago contacted E. D. Cowan, customer service engineer for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in Monroe. He requested technical engineers to install his school-to-home communication set in Rayville.

Superintendent Thompson made several trips to Baton Rouge to consult with Miss Caro Lane, supervisor of exceptional children in the State Department of Education. After months of careful planning, the superintendent, Miss Lane and representatives of the telephone company made it possible for Donald to return to school.

The superintendent pointed out, that the legislature of 1944 appropriated funds to the State Department of Education to further the education of handicapped children. In 1948, the legislature increased the appropriation and Donald and others throughout the state have been able to continue their educations.

The 1950 legislature will be called upon, he said, to increase the appropriations to care for additional exceptional children and according to Donald, "the fund could not be spent for a better purpose." Donald says, "the system has made me much happier."

Several persons from various sections of the state have inspected the home-to-school system in Rayville High school and Donald's home with hopes that similar sets can be installed in their home-bound cases.

In expressing his appreciation for the set, Donald exclaimed, "I certainly wish to thank those who helped me get this set. I am especially grateful to Supt. Thompson, Mr. Cowan, Mrs. Hargis and Miss Lane, and all my friends who have made it possible for me to finish high school. This set has surely made the days pass faster. I want to thank my fellow classmates and teachers for their fine cooperation."

Students Travel To Classes At Enterprise High Aboard Boats

ENTERPRISE, La., April 29—Attention all school children, grades one to twelve. Do you like to go boat riding? If you do, and can get your parents to move to that small strip of Catahoula parish situated across the Ouachita river from the Enterprise High School, you will get two free boat rides every school day of the year.

Children are transported to the Enterprise High School, located on the Ouachita river fifteen miles north of Harrisonburg, by two school buses and two school "boats." Thousands of Louisiana school children ride school buses daily to and from school, but very few have the privilege or pleasure of taking a boat ride every time they go to school.

The two Enterprise school boats are cabin cruisers with a capacity of 35 passengers each. They are powered by Chevrolet motors and the fuel tanks are on the outside of the cabins. Each boat is equipped with fire extinguishers and life preservers. Wood heaters are used to keep the cabins warm in cold weather.

J. W. Haygood, operator of one of the boats, has been operating his boat for the past 17 years. His run is eight miles down the river south of Enterprise, and this year he has 20 children as passengers. S. P. Crawford, has been operator of the other boat for the past seven years and it had been in operation for several years before he bought it. His run is six miles up the river north of Enterprise and he brings 18 children to school.

Anyone operating a school boat is required to be a licensed operator. Crawford is also a licensed river pilot.

Most of the children who ride the boats live on the opposite side of the river. In fact the primary reason in establishing these boat routes was to get these children to school. A few children who live on this side also ride the boats, because they live closer to the river than they do to a road that the school bus travels.

When the river stage is normal, or low, the boats land directly in front of the school building but when the river is high it is not possible to land in front of the school and they have to pick a landing place either above or below the school and the children walk the rest of the way.

In the fall, the fog on the river makes the operation of the boats difficult at times. This is especially true when school is opening early in the mornings in order that the children get home early to help pick cotton.

H. R. Barton, principal, said that last fall he had to change the opening schedule from 7:30 to 8:00 o'clock. Due to the heavy fog, he said, the school boats were not able to get the children to school before eight.

These children who ride the school boats think no more about it than do the children who ride school buses every day. It is my opinion though, that most any child in the state would be glad to trade places with them.

The great Australian horse, Carbine, flatly rfeused to go out in the rain and his trainer was forced to devise a small umbrella which could be attached to his bridle.

New Blouses Lead Independent Life

By Epsie Kinard

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Blouses are out in the open this spring. Able to shed the concealing shelter of a suit jacket and lead an independent life of their own, new blouses are as pretty as important styling and fine fabrics can make them.

Exaggerated revers which plunge to a low V and short sleeves with wide turned-back cuffs give the cinnamon crepe blouse (left) its smart look. Topaz jewel buttons sparkle down the front. Designer Eisenberg styles this blouse so that it may be worn as shown as an overblouse for a dressy skirt or shirttails may be neatly tucked into a skirt band for informality.

Juvenile Delinquency Problem Studied Here

By Percy Fant

(Of The Morning World Staff)

Theft, sex delinquency, habitual visitation of local night things are responsible for a serious problem in Ouachita parish—the problem of "Juvenile Delinquency."

Mrs. Willie Harris, parish juvenile officer for five years, while terming the problem a serious one, revealed that violations on the part of juveniles are not increasing, neither are they on the decline. The problem remains serious, she said, as long as children are allowed in night clubs, persist in becoming intoxicated, are neglected by their parents, and are not given proper recreation.

She stressed the need of "a wider recreational program, a place where children of the less fortunate families can attend without being self-conscious of not being as well dressed as are other children."

"We must also take the church to homes where there is little religion, if any at all," she said

Mrs. Harris went on to point out that the first step in abolishing juvenile delinquency in Ouachita parish is proper care of children by their parents.

"If parents will teach their children what's right, then practice what they prach, there would be very little delinquency among our younger generation," she said.

Violations

Chief among violations committed by young boys is that of "breaking and entering," or more precise, burglarizing establishments and automobiles, according to files maintained at the parish juvenile office.

Mrs. Harris said, should be solved. The problem is serious to citizens of the parish now, and it will continue to be in the future.

Running away from their homes is another. Reports showed however, that the number of these cases have decreased recently.

Girl delinquents, Mrs. Harris disclosed, are about as great in number as are the boys.

Girls under seventeen, she pointed out, insist on "going out." A favorite spot is surrounding night clubs, where juveniles are allowed to indulge in alcoholic drinks .

"It's difficult for operators of these establishments to determine all the ages of their patrons. But," she said, "it's better to check the ages of the doubtful customehs than it is to violate a law."

Sex delinquency, according to Mrs. Harris, is common with girls between the ages of thirteen and seventeen. Proper guidance by parents is the answer to this problem, she said.

(There have been several child marriages brought to the juvenile officer's attention in the past two years.)

Prosecution

Juveniles taken into custody by local law enforcement officers are tried in one of three juvenile courts conducted either by Judge W. M. Harper, Judge Jesse Heard, or Judge David I. Garrett.

If the offense is the first to be committed by the juvenile, and if it isn't a serious one, the child is placed on probation, the length of which is determined by the behavior of the junveile.

A habitual offender is placed in an institution.

Mrs. Harris stated that the probation program has "straightened out" a number of children who "got on the wrong track."

La.'s Sea Dog Gives Hot Dog Competition

HOUMA, La. — Bite into a hot dog down here and chances are you'll be munching shrimp instead of meat.

It's one Louisiana family's contribution to the deep south's hunger for more industries — especially those that use Dixie's own resources. They call it, temporarily, the "sea dog," a weiner of chopped shrimp, not meat.

Head of the family is Gibson J. Autin, Sr., who has been in the p..cking business here since 1915 and whose Acadian forebears were among Louisiana's earliest settlers. He is president of the Autin Packing Co., Inc., and sons Gibson Jr., Arnold and Lloyd are the other officers.

Already, the elder Autin sees two bright possibilities in his new-type Franks —another outlet for Louisiana's shrimp catch and a chance for housewives to vary the menu on fast days.

That last item is pretty important in this area, where Catholics predominate and may not eat meat on Fridays and other fast days during the year. It was on just such a day the "sea dog" was launched.

Let Lloyd Autin tell the tale: "A fellow came to us and said, 'here you are packing meat and we're catching shrimp out in the Gulf of Mexico. Why don't you start packing shrimp?"

"So, we did. We tried it out on a Kiwanis luncheon held on a Friday. Everybody ate them and liked them, except one man. He said they looked too much like weiners not to be meat.

"Next day he came around and ate one. He wound up buying 15 dozen."

Autin's shrimpfurters are put up in cellophane (a byproduct of Dixie cottonseed, incidentally), either in long strings or in pound packages of ten priced at 60 cents. They are red and look just like hot dogs, but the tangy taste is unmistakably highly-spiced shrimp.

How they get that way is, of course, a trade secret. But the Autins gladly hand out cooking recipes. According to them, the "sea dog" is up to any of the old tricks as well as the new. If the recipe calls for meat, they say, toss in a "sea dog." If it's fish, well, what do you think?

A patent has been applied for, by the way. Lloyd says he did it by long distance telephone when the customers started queuing up for more and "people up north" got interested.

Dogwood Glamor Is Blight-Threatened

ATHENS, Ga., — The dogwood, loveliest of the spring's flowering trees, faces a dreary and blighted future because of a newly discovered fungus disease.

The disease, which attacks only the dogwood, withers or splotches the delicate bloom.

Dr. Julian H. Miller of the University of Georgia, one of the nation's top plant pathologist, reports the disease now has been found in Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia and Maryland.

The great tragedy is, says Miller, that the disease can be controlled, but who is going to look after the wild dogwood which each year turns the forest into white and pink fairylands?

To those fortunate enough to boast a dogwood on their private patches, Miller wants it known that he has found the fungicide called the Bordeaux Mixture most effective in controlling the disease.

The best time to spray, he continues, is just before the trees begin to bloom.

How the disease first came to light in 1948 is a story in itself. Dr. A. A. Bitancourt, plant pathologist from Sao Paulo, Brazil, was passing through Savannah one day en route to Washington.

Ships Of 'Sail' Age Are Preserved For History

By James McKenna

MYSTIC, Conn.—Up here on Connecticut's southeastern corner, a few miles from the Rhode Island state line, this famed clipper ship town, left behind by the air age, is distilling in a "living museum" the essence of the romantic age of sail of a century ago.

The arrival at Mystic, in November, 1941, of the last ship of the once great American whaling fleet, the Charles W. Morgan of New Bedford, was the turning point in the career of the 11 year old Mystic Marine Historical Society. In the nine years since then, the society has grown from a one-room museum of sailing ship paraphenalia supported by 300 members, to an $840,000 institution of international repute with a membership of 2,075 in almost every state in the union and a number of foreign countries.

Two great sailing ships, invaluable collections of sea lore housed in five new or modernized buildings, a 200 foot dock for visiting yachtsmen, the first yacht club building in the United States, an oldtime seaport store and the beginnings of a typical seaport street of the 1800's going up on a cobblestone quay comprise the museum today.

Mystic Seaport Is the Name

"Mystic Seaport" instead of the little "Marine Museum" is favored by the directors, who include John Nicholas Brown of Newport, former assistant secretary of the navy for air and Charles Francis Adams of Boston. Assistant curator MacDonald Steers explains that officials feel the new designation more aptly conveys the living qualities, the "contemporariness" of the museum. Here is an example of what he means.

Three hundred Girl Mariners and Sea Scouts—some coming from as far as New Jersey in their own boat—took turns manning the square rigger Joseph Conrad in a youtn training program inaugurated last summer. The Conrad, a former Danish merchant marine cadet trainer, was given to the museum by act of congress in 1947. She was sailed to Mystic from St. Petersburg where she was used as a trainer by the U. S. merchant marine. The graceful ship now lies in the Mystic river across from the Morgan which is permanently locked in a bed of sand.

Under supervision of Marion Dickermann, former head of Todhunter School, New York, and now the society's educational director, the Boy and Girl Scouts learned seamanship, rigging, nautical legend, and escorted visitors through the two ships.

Yachtman's Haven

In one year, more than 35,000 persons signed the guest log.

Movie stars playing the nearby Norwich summer theater poured tea for the visitors on the quarterdeck of the Conrad every Tuesday for six weeks. A covey of ballet dancers from Connecticut College dance festival performed Corybantic rites on the hallowed boards of the Morgan to get the "feel" of a nautical score they were interpreting.

Teaching Is the Mission

Permeating the staf of the museum is the idea of its three founders: to teach to today's children and adults the lesson of the American sea heritage in which so much was made from so little by the brave men of the age of sail.

Last of the three founders, Carl C. Cutler, a retired Mystic lawyer, today is curator of the museum. In 1929, Cutler and Everett E. Bradley, Stonington industrialist, both of whom in their earlier days had gone to sea in sail, joined forces with Dr. Charles K. Stillman of Mystic to found the Marine Museum on the site of the old German Brothers shipyard.

Built Famous Clippers

The Greenmans, ancestors of Dr. Stillman, for years turned out clipper ships from their yard. Most famous was the Davy Crockett, which in 37 years made $500,000 profit for her owners, more than any other sailing ship, and made more trips around the Horn than any other.

The early years were tough. A bank book, carefully preserved, shows Dr. Stillman making deposits of 25 cents, 55 cents and $1 to the museum's account. At the annual meeting this year, President Phillip R. Mallory's report showed a surplus of $687,238.25 of which $170,478.25 are endowment funds.

Lowdown On 1-A-Day Mail Deliveries Given

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three articles written to explain thet operations of the United States post office department.)

By Jim Reynolds
(Of The Morning World Staff)

Since the April order from United States Postmaster-General Jesse Donaldson directing a cutback in postal services and expenditures, people all over the country have been wondering: "What will this mean to me?"

To see if we could find an answer to that question for residents of Monroe and those areas served by the Monroe post office, we stopped in last week at the office of Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn in the Monroe Post Office Building.

We got the information we were seeking, and a few sidelights in addition on the man who heads the mail service in the Monroe area.

Hathorn is a post office career man, a distinction he holds with the national chief of the postal system. The Monroe postmaster started his mail activities in 1936 as a substitute clerk in the Monroe post office. By July, 1948, after a hitch in the navy, he had risen to acting postmaster of the Monroe office, and in October, 1949, was confirmed in his post.

The superintendent pointed out, that the legislature of 1944 appropriated funds to the State Department of Education to further the education of handicapped children. In 1948, the legislature increased the appropriation and Donald and others throughout the state have been able to continue their educations.

The 1950 legislature will be called upon, he said, to increase the appropriations to care for additional exceptional children and according to Donald, "the fund could not be spent for a better purpose." Donald says, "the system has made me much happier."

Several persons from various sections of the state have inspected the home-to-school system in Rayville High school and Donald's home with hopes that similar sets can be installed in their home-bound cases.

In expressing his appreciation for the set, Donald exclaimed, "I certainly wish to thank those who helped me get this set. I am especially grateful to Supt. Thompson, Mr. Cowan, Mrs. Hargis and Miss Lane, and all my friends who have made it possible for me to finish high school. This set has surely made the days pass faster. I want to thank my fellow classmates and teachers for their fine cooperation."

Students Travel To Classes At Enterprise High Aboard Boats

ENTERPRISE, La., April 29—Attention all school children, grades one to twelve. Do you like to go boat riding? If you do, and can get your parents to move to that small strip of Catahoula parish situated across the Ouachita river from the Enterprise High School, you will get two free boat rides every school day of the year.

Children are transported to the Enterprise High School, located on the Ouachita river fifteen miles north of Harrisonburg, by two school buses and two school "boats." Thousands of Louisiana school children ride school buses daily to and from school, but very few have the privilege or pleasure of taking a boat ride every time they go to school.

The two Enterprise school boats are cabin cruisers with a capacity of 35 passengers each. They are powered by Chevrolet motors and the fuel tanks are on the outside of the cabins. Each boat is equipped with fire extinguishers and life preservers. Wood heaters are used to keep the cabins warm in cold weather.

J. W. Haygood, operator of one of the boats, has been operating his boat for the past 17 years. His run is eight miles down the river south of Enterprise, and this year he has 20 children as passengers. S. P. Crawford, has been operator of the other boat for the past seven years and it had been in operation for several years before he bought it. His run is six miles up the river north of Enterprise and he brings 18 children to school.

Anyone operating a school boat is required to be a licensed operator. Crawford is also a licensed river pilot.

Most of the children who ride the boats live on the opposite side of the river. In fact the primary reason in establishing these boat routes was to get these children to school. A few children who live on this side also ride the boats, because they live closer to the river than they do to a road that the school bus travels.

When the river stage is normal, or low, the boats land directly in front of the school building but when the river is high it is not possible to land in front of the school and they have to pick a landing place either above or below the school and the children walk the rest of the way.

In the fall, the fog on the river makes the operation of the boats difficult at times. This is especially true when school is opening early in the mornings in order that the children get home early to help pick cotton.

H. R. Barton, principal, said that last fall he had to change the opening schedule from 7:30 to 8:00 o'clock. Due to the heavy fog, he said, the school boats were not able to get the children to school before eight.

These children who ride the school boats think no more about it than do the children who ride school buses every day. It is my opinion though, that most any child in the state would be glad to trade places with them.

New Blouses Lead Independent Life

By Epsie Kinard

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Blouses are out in the open this spring. Able to shed the concealing shelter of a suit jacket and lead an independent life of their own, new blouses are as pretty as important styling and fine fabrics can make them.

Exaggerated revers which plunge to a low V and short sleeves with wide turned-back cuffs give the cinnamon crepe blouse (left) its smart look. Topaz jewel buttons sparkle down the front. Designer Eisenberg styles this blouse so that it may be worn as shown as an overblouse for a dressy skirt or shirttails may be neatly tucked into a skirt band for informality.

Forerunner of the television tube, the oscilliscope, was invented in 1906.

Juvenile Delinquency Problem Studied Here

By Percy Fant
(Of The Morning World Staff)

Theft, sex delinquency, habitual visitation of local night things are responsible for a serious problem in Ouachita parish—the problem of "Juvenile Delinquency."

Mrs. Willie Harris, parish juvenile officer for five years, while terming the problem a serious one, revealed that violations on the part of juveniles are not increasing, neither are they on the decline. The problem remains serious, she said, as long as children are allowed in night clubs, persist in becoming intoxicated, are neglected by their parents, and are not given proper recreation.

She stressed the need of "a wider recreational program, a place where children of the less fortunate families can attend without being self-conscious of not being as well dressed as are other children."

"We must also take the church to homes where there is little religion, if any at all," she said

Mrs. Harris went on to point out that the first step in abolishing juvenile delinquency in Ouachita parish is proper care of children by their parents.

"If parents will teach their children what's right, then practice what they prach, there would be very little delinquency among our younger generation," she said.

Violations

Chief among violations committed by young boys is that of "breaking and entering," or more precise, burglarizing establishments and automobiles, according to files maintained at the parish juvenile office.

Mrs. Harris said, should be solved. The problem is serious to citizens of the parish now, and it will continue to be in the future.

Running away from their homes is another. Reports showed however, that the number of these cases have decreased recently.

Girl delinquents, Mrs. Harris disclosed, are about as great in number as are the boys.

Girls under seventeen, she pointed out, insist on "going out." A favorite spot is surrounding night clubs, where juveniles are allowed to indulge in alcoholic drinks .

"It's difficult for operators of these establishments to determine all the ages of their patrons. But," she said, "it's better to check the ages of the doubtful customehs than it is to violate a law."

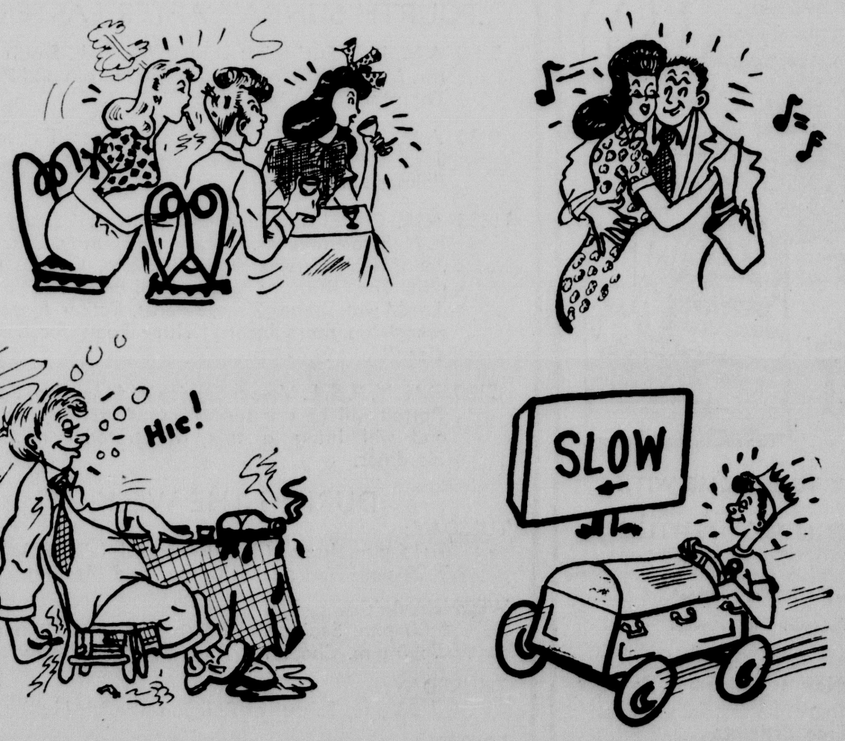
Sex delinquency, according to Mrs. Harris, is common with girls between the ages of thirteen and seventeen. Proper guidance by parents is the answer to this problem, she said.

(There have been several child marriages brought to the juvenile officer's attention in the past two years.)

Prosecution

Juveniles taken into custody by local law enforcement officers are tried in one of three juvenile courts conducted either by Judge W. M. Harper, Judge Jesse Heard, or Judge David I. Garrett.

If the offense is the first to be committed by the juvenile, and if it isn't a serious one, the child is placed on probation, the length of which is determined by the behavior of the junveile.



A habitual offender is placed in an institution.

Mrs. Harris stated that the probation program has "straightened out" a number of children who "got on the wrong track."

Dan Dailey Starred in New Film Opening At Paramount

'When Willie Comes Marching Home' Is Sparkling Comedy Hit

Sparkling, fresh and witty, John Ford's "When Willie Comes Marching Home," opening a 3 day engagement today at the Paramount Theater, is as great a triumph for that master director in the comedy field as he has long been accustomed to having in the dramatic field. With Dan Dailey to expertly enact the title role, Ford has made an unusual and delightful film for 20th Century-Fox and for the untold audiences that should find it irresistible.

"When Willie Comes Marching Home" has a taste, and a talent, for fun-making. Beginning with an earnest small town lad who is first in his group to volunteer when war breaks out, it goes on to relate his difficulties in getting into the shooting war. A first-class gunner, instead of being shipped directly overseas as he had supposed would happen, he is station joining his own home town!

Months and months go by. The rest of the boys get into the shooting war; poor Willie Kluggs is safely, comfortably at home. He tries and tries to get transferred across, but it's no go. The town's first hero becomes its black sheep. Word spreads that Willie's goldbricking to beat the band.

Finally, though, and here Director Ford's farce becomes wildly funny, Willie gets overseas and, within the short space of three or four days, joins the French Underground, gets some vital information on the Nazis back to London, is sent back to the Pentagon Building to report to top-echelon staff officers. Sworn to secrecy about his mission, Willie is furloughed as a reward. But the townspeople think Willie's just goldbricking again! Lucilly the president de- again! Luckily the president de- Willie comes marching home at the fadeout, he's a hero.

The laughs come in fast, frequent explosions in this John Ford triumph of crackling comedy. Willie struggling to go overseas and failing, each time rewarded the Good Conduct Medal instead, in an hilarious figure. Willie bravely joining the French Underground and constantly being plied with liquor to keep up his morale is wondrously comical. Willie confronting suspicious home-towners and unable to vindicate himself is a constant joy.

Director Ford, whose transition from great screen drama (The Informer, Stagecoach, The Long Voyage Home) to delectable, deliriously funny farce is something to behold, has a great ally in Performer Dailey. The perfect figure of a good-hearted, eager-to-please American boy trying to do the right thing and constantly misunderstood, Dailey makes a superb there are beauteous Corinne Calvert, French film star, as a leader of the French Underground, and the nice girl back in Bill's home town, Colleen Townsend. William Demarest, one of Hollywood's most astute comics, heads the supporting cast, in which Evelyn Varden, James Lydon and Lloyd Corrigan are outstanding. The script for the 10th-Fox hit, produced by Fred Kohlmar, was written by Mary Loos and Richard Sale, from a story by Sy Gomberg.

Ginger Rogers, Morgan Star In Warner Picture

It's a safe wager that not many moviegoers know what goes on among the 12 people of a jury thrown together by the law for a lengthy murder trial. Well they'll soon see when "Perfect Strangers," the long-awaited Warner Brothers comedy drama starring Ginger Rogers and Dennis Morgan, comes into the Paramount Theater on Wednesday.

That these two 'perfect strangers' fall in love is a foregone conclusion, the situation of two attractive people side by side for so many weeks proving too much for their romantic imaginations. But how their romance plays a big part in arriving at a verdict in the actual trial is something most legal minds would rather not contemplate.

Amusing complications which result from such a situation are made to order for the two stars who a number of years back scored such personal triumphs in "Kitty Foyle," the film which brought Ginger an Academy Award and also served to bring Morgan to the first rank of Hollywood stars. The film also features Margalo Gillmore, one of Broadway's leading stars.

On trial for murder in "Perfect Strangers" is a man accused of doing away with his wife in order to marry his secretary. With the jury close to a verdict of guilty, it is Ginger who demonstrates by revealing her own feeling for a fellow juryman that it is possible to fall in love with another person while still married, and that it is not necessarily a criminal thing. Which may be something for judges and psychiatrists to figure out, but in "Perfect Strangers" it simply results in a highly absorbing situation for a motion picture.

SHOWING AT JOY THEATER

Red Skelton Starred In 'Yellow Cab Man' At Joy

Gloria De Haven Also Featured In Hilarious Comedy Film

Let it be said right at the start, "The Yellow Cab Man," now showing at the Joy Theater, is the funniest Red Skelton comedy in years. In the role of a zany inventor who just can't avoid accidents and who gets a job as a Yellow Cab driver in the hope of demonstrating his unbreakable elastiglass windshield, Skelton does about everything possible, human and inhuman to make an audience laugh.

In one scene he picks up his first customer and jams a whole city's traffic. In others he barely saves himself from electrocution, from gaseous explosion and from drowning in a bathtub. He falls down everything from flights of stairs, rope ladders, an elevated grease rack, a freight elevator shaft and through the roof of a house. In a distortion effect dream sequence photographed by Weegee he drives his cab to the North Pole. And in one of the wildest sequences ever filmed he is chased by a murderous gang through a home exhibit auditorium and a solar-roto house of tomorrow and escapes by riding a huge gac balloon to the top of the building. By the time the picture has entered its climax, with a whole army of Yellow Cabs charging into the auditorium to rescue Red and his girl, the spectator is left limp with laughter. Here is out-and-out escapist comedy at its finest.

Skelton has a comedy field day in the role of the harassed hero, with Gloria De Haven effectively cast as the pretty girl from the claims adjustment department who gets him an opportunity to demonstrate his elastiglass windshield. Walter Slezak adds to the laughs in the role of a preposterous quack phychiatrist who tries to hypnotize Skelton into revealing the secret of his invention, Edward Arnold is properly villainous as a disreputable ambulance chaser and James Gleason is attractive as the amiable and exemplary cab driver, Mickey, who aids Skelton in getting out of his varied predicaments.

Add to this the fast-paced direction of Jack Donohue and you have a picture that never for one second deviates from its goal—to make its audiences roar. If ever a list of the season's funniest pictures is drawn up, "The Yellow Cab Man" will be way up on top!

Locker room flare-up. There's bad blood between Victor Mature (left) and his pal Sonny Tufts as Lucille Ball and team-mates look on, in RKO Radio's suspenseful, "Easy Living." The drama of behind-the-scenes pro football co-stars Mature, Miss Ball, Tufts, Lizabeth Scott and Lloyd Nolan. It opens at the Joy Thursday.

STARS TEAMED AGAIN!

Dennis Morgan and Ginger Rogers team romantically in their newest film "Perfect Strangers" which begins its engagement at the Paramount Theater on Wednesday. The story concerns two jurors who meet and fall in love while serving in a murder trial.

'Easy Living' Drama Of Football Stars

Presenting more a drama of the private lives of professional football stars than their activities on the playing field, RKO Radios' "Easy Living" ao-stars Victor Mature, Lucille Ball, Lizabeth Scott, Sonny Tufts and Lloyd Nolan in a story of a man's suspenseful effort to retain the love of his wife.

Mature plays the star halfback on the New York Chiefs, Miss Scott being seen as his ambitious wife who is dissatisfied with his career. Nolan plays the manager-coach of the Chiefs and Miss Ball is his secretary, with Tufts as Mature's fellow-halfback and best pal.

Mature realizes that being a gridiron big-shot does not make either himself nor his wife happy. He gets more jolts when he learns that a college coaching job he'd hoped for has been offered to Tufts instead, and also that he has a bad heart condition which makes it dangerous for him to play any more football.

How the halfback and his wife resolve their intense personal problems affords the dramatic interest of the plot, which is based on Irwin Shaw's story, Education of the Heart. Pual Stewart, Jack Paar, the Los Angeles Rams play prominent parts. Jacques Tourner directed the production by Robert Sparks, with Charles Schnee writing the screenplay.

Oscar Levant Says:

I consider myself fortunate in being able to convey my musical intent in so superlative and unrivalled a piano as the Steinway.

STARS TEAMED AGAIN!

'Easy Living' Drama Of Football Stars

Presenting more a drama of the private lives of professional football stars than their activities on the playing field, RKO Radios' "Easy Living" ao-stars Victor Mature, Lucille Ball, Lizabeth Scott, Sonny Tufts and Lloyd Nolan in a story of a man's suspenseful effort to retain the love of his wife.

Mature plays the star halfback on the New York Chiefs, Miss Scott being seen as his ambitious wife who is dissatisfied with his career. Nolan plays the manager-coach of the Chiefs and Miss Ball is his secretary, with Tufts as Mature's fellow-halfback and best pal.

Mature realizes that being a gridiron big-shot does not make either himself nor his wife happy. He gets more jolts when he learns that a college coaching job he'd hoped for has been offered to Tufts instead, and also that he has a bad heart condition which makes it dangerous for him to play any more football.

How the halfback and his wife resolve their intense personal problems affords the dramatic interest of the plot, which is based on Irwin Shaw's story, Education of the Heart. Pual Stewart, Jack Paar, the Los Angeles Rams play prominent parts. Jacques Tourner directed the production by Robert Sparks, with Charles Schnee writing the screenplay.

Oscar Levant Says:

I consider myself fortunate in being able to convey my musical intent on so superlative and unrivalled a piano as the Steinway.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

BIG STOOP, YOU SLY DOG! THIS IS TRUE HOSPITALITY. I'LL BET YOU EASED US OUT OF THAT TOTALITARIAN JAILHOUSE JUST SO WE COULD HAVE GRANDSTAND SEATS AT THIS DONNYBROOK.

THOUGHT THAT POLICE PATROL HAD SPOTTED US — WHEW!...BUT SINCE THEY'RE ONLY TRYING TO ENFORCE A CURFEW, WE MAY AS WELL RELAX AND ENJOY THE DOINGS. ANYBODY GOT A HOT DOG WITH 'EM?

SHOW'S OVER, CHAZZ. THE POLICE BUCKOS HAVE DECIDED THEIR TOMMY GUNS WON'T STACK UP AGAINST THESE IRATE CITIZENS AND THEIR ROCK BARRAGE.

JUST SO I'LL KNOW WHO I'VE BEEN ROOTING FOR, WHO WAS PITCHING?

MUST BE THE LOCAL TAXPAYERS... WHEN THEY SAW THE POLICE STOP THAT KID FOR QUESTIONING AND BEGIN TO ROUGH HIM UP, THEY WENT TO THE ROOF TOPS AND STARTED LAYING DOWN THEIR BARRAGE...FUNNY THEY SHOULD HAVE PILES OF ROCKS PREPARED.

IT ALMOST LOOKS LIKE THEY ACTED ACCORDING TO AN ORGANIZED PLAN.

HEY! COME TO THINK OF IT — HOW DID BIG STOOP KNOW WE HAD BEEN COLLARED? ALSO HOW TO REACH OUR CELL AND HOW TO GUIDE US OUT? ...UNLESS...!

UH, HUH! THE TOTALITARIANS ARE IN SURFACE CONTROL OF THIS TIBETAN BORDER TOWN, BUT IT BEGINS TO FIGURE THEY HAVE AN UNDERGROUND TO BUCK.

GOLLY! WISH BIG STOOP COULD TALK. WE NEED A RUNDOWN ON THE LOCAL SETUP.

THEN THIS TORTOISE SAVED MY LIFE BY HOLDING THE BARREL?

RIGHT.

YOU ESCAPED A 250-FOOT DROP TO THOSE GRANITE BOULDERS, JUNIOR.

ARE YOU ALL RIGHT, KID?

MY LEGS ARE CRAMPED A LITTLE—THAT'S ALL—I GUESS.

HEY! WAIT—!!

I'VE GOT TO TAKE HIM HOME. HE'S GOING TO BE MY PET FOREVER.

AND AT BLOWTOP'S APARTMENT.

YOU'VE MUFFED EVERYTHING, BLOWTOP! AND YOU DID IT AGAINST THE ADVICE OF JOE AND ME.

WE'RE FED UP WITH YOU, BLOWTOP— YOU'VE DRAGGED US INTO YOUR LAST SILLY, BLUNDERING SCHEME.

WHY YOU—

OKAY, JOE, NOW GRAB THAT GRIP FULL OF EXPRESS COMPANY MONEY.

LET'S GO.

LATER, AT HEADQUARTERS.

I'VE ASKED JUNIOR TO DRAW A PICTURE FOR US.

"RUN, SHEEP, RUN! READY OR NOT, HERE I COME"! SO MAN COMES FOR "DADDY" WARBUCKS— BUT "DADDY" IS ALWAYS READY— WE HOPE!

DOGGONE IT, PUNJAB! DO YOU HAVE TO TAG AROUND AFTER ME, EVERYWHERE?

QUITE SO, LITTLE PRINCESS!

WHEN SAHIB WARBUCKS GIVES AN ORDER, "OR ELSE," I AM SURE I SHOULD NOT LIKE THE "OR ELSE"—.

HEY! THAT PLANE! LOOKIE!

YES! IT IS NOT BY ACCIDENT THAT IT FLIES OVER US HERE— IT IS ONE OF MAN'S!

WHILE HE'S GAPIN' AT THAT PLANE IS MY CHANCE TO GET A LITTLE PRIVACY—

THE BUTTON! AH—THE LITTLE BELL WILL RING IN THE HELMET OF EVERY GUARD— IN TIME, I HOPE—

LEAPIN' LIZARDS! WHAT'S THAT GUY DOIN' UP THERE?

HEY! HE DROPPED A LITTLE RED PARACHUTE! THAT'S CUTE!

SOMETHIN' HANGIN' ON TH' PARACHUTE! LOOKIE, SANDY! IT'S COMIN' DOWN— DOWN— IT'LL ALMOST LIGHT ON TH' HOUSE—

C'MON! RUN, SANDY! IF WE'RE IN TIME WE CAN SEE WHERE IT LIGHTS!

Y!

WHUFF!

HEY! WHAT'S THE IDEA?

THE IDEA IS TO SURVIVE, LITTLE PRINCESS!

NOT TOO DEEP UNDER! —HARK!

BOOM

LEAPIN' LIZARDS! TH' HOUSE! IT'S ALL GONE! WHERE'S "DADDY"?

HAROLD GRAY

SMILIN' JACK

HELLO, SABLE, WHAT'S THE LATEST REPORT ON HOT-ROD?

HE'S IMPROVING! JACK GAVE HIM A TRANSFUSION— JACK AND HOT-ROD HAVE THE SAME ODD TYPE BLOOD, TIMBER!

THAT'S RIGHT! HE SAVED JACK'S LIFE WITH TRANSFUSIONS ONCE! POOR HOT-ROD! I FEEL SORRY FOR HIM, BUT—

WHEN HE LEARNS WHAT A HORRIBLE SPOT HE'S IN, HE'LL PROBABLY WISH HE HADN'T LIVED!

—THE BOY AND GIRL THAT WERE IN TH' CAR WITH HOT-ROD AND MAGNOLIA WERE KILLED— PLUS ONE IN THE OTHER CAR!

—SABLE, THE WRECK WAS SO BAD THAT THE COPS COULDN'T FIGURE OUT WHO WAS DRIVIN' TH' HOT-ROD!

—AND THEY MIGHT NEVER HAVE KNOWN BUT I TOLD 'EM! SABLE—I HAD TO DO MY DUTY!

HOT-ROD PASSED ME— TOGGED IN AN' OUT OF TRAFFIC— AN' PASSED CARS GOIN' UP A HILL!

I UNDERSTAND, TIMBER. I KNOW IT WAS YOUR DUTY TO TELL!

SABLE, YOU AND TIMBER CAN SEE HOT-ROD NOW!

HELLO, SIS AND TIMBER! —GEE, I'M GLAD TO SEE YOU! MAYBE YOU-ALL WILL TELL ME—

— WHAT HAPPENED? WHY AM I HERE? NOBODY HAS TOLD ME ONE THING!

YOU HAD AN ACCIDENT, HOT-ROD, BUT WE'LL TELL YOU THE DETAILS WHEN YOU'RE STRONGER!

NO! TELL ME NOW— SOMETHING'S WRONG! —AWFUL WRONG! I JUST KNOW IT! WHY IS THAT COP BY MY DOOR?

TELL HIM, SABLE! HE'S STRONG ENOUGH NOW! HE'LL HAVE TO KNOW SOONER OR LATER!

OH, HOT-ROD! WHY DIDN'T YOU LISTEN TO PEOPLE AND STOP YOUR MANIACAL DRIVING BEFORE IT HAPPENED?

— YOU'RE UNDER ARREST AND YOU'RE GOING TO BE PROSECUTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER!

NO NEED TO CALL TH' CLEANERS, LADY! I CAN GET IT CLEANED HERE AT HOME CHEAPER.

WILL-YAM!

OFFICER! STOP THAT MAN!

HALT!

WHAT'S YOUR GAME, BUD?

I AIN'T GOT THE SLIGHTEST IDEA. THE LITTLE WOMAN THROWED SOMETHING AT ME AND YELLED, "BEAT IT!" AND HER WORD IS LAW.

I'LL GO TWIT HIM A BIT AND MAKE HIM GOOD AND MAD. THEN WILLIE WILL PUT SOME SPRIT IN HIS WORK.

WILLIE, I PHONED YOUR FRIENDS YOU'VE WENT INTO TH' CLEANING BUSINESS AND THEY'RE ALL COMING OVER TO COLLECT TH' MONEY YOU OWE THEM.

YOU DID?

I DID!

OW! TH' HOUND HIT ME!

I GUESS THAT LEARNED MAMIE A LESSON, KAYO.

OH-OH! NOW IT LOOKS LIKE SHE'S GOIN' TO LEARN YOU ONE.

NOW, THAT'S THE WAY I LIKE TO HEAR A BODY BEAT A RUG.

BUT MAMIE AIN'T BEATIN' TH' RUG.

DON'T TELL ME— LET ME GUESS— HE'S COMING TO BORROW OUR LAWN MOWER— AGAIN—

NOT BAD, ANDY—

I SEE YOU'RE USING YOUR LAWN MOWER—

ER-YES— THOUGHT I'D GET AN EARLY START ON MY LAWN THIS YEAR—

BEEN AT IT LONG, ANDY?

NO— I JUST BEGAN AS YOU CAME UP THE STREET—

IN THAT CASE, YOU'LL BE USING THE MOWER ALL AFTERNOON—

THAT'S RIGHT, MR. MOOCH—

GOOD— THEN YOU WON'T MIND LENDING ME YOUR GOLF CLUBS— I'LL RETURN 'EM TOMORROW!

Little Orphan Annie

RUN, SHEEP, RUN! READY OR NOT, HERE I COME"! SO MAN COMES FOR "DADDY" WARBUCKS— BUT "DADDY" IS ALWAYS READY— WE HOPE!

DOGGONE IT, PUNJAB! DO YOU HAVE TO TAG AROUND AFTER ME, EVERYWHERE?

QUITE SO, LITTLE PRINCESS!

WHEN SAHIB WARBUCKS GIVES AN ORDER, "OR ELSE," I AM SURE I SHOULD NOT LIKE THE "OR ELSE"—

HEY! THAT PLANE! LOOKIE!

THE BUTTON! AH—THE LITTLE BELL WILL RING IN THE HELMET OF EVERY GUARD— IN TIME, I HOPE—

LEAPIN' LIZARDS! WHAT'S THAT GUY DOIN' UP THERE?

HEY! HE DROPPED A LITTLE RED PARACHUTE! THAT'S CUTE!

SOMETHIN' HANGIN' ON TH' PARACHUTE! LOOKIE, SANDY! IT'S COMIN' DOWN— DOWN— IT'LL ALMOST LIGHT ON TH' HOUSE—

C'M'ON! RUN, SANDY! IF WE'RE IN TIME WE CAN SEE WHERE IT LIGHTS!

Y!!

WHUFF!

THE IDEA IS TO SURVIVE, LITTLE PRINCESS!

HEY! WHAT'S THE IDEA?

BOOM

LEAPIN' LIZARDS! TH' HOUSE! IT'S ALL GONE! WHERE'S "DADDY"?

HAROLD GRAY

SMILIN' JACK

HELLO, SABLE, WHAT'S THE LATEST REPORT ON HOT-ROD?

—THE BOY AND GIRL THAT WERE IN TH' CAR WITH HOT-ROD AND MAGNOLIA WERE KILLED— PLUS ONE IN THE OTHER CAR!

—SABLE, THE WRECK WAS SO BAD THAT THE COPS COULDN'T FIGURE OUT WHO WAS DRIVIN' TH' HOT-ROD!

—AND THEY MIGHT NEVER HAVE KNOWN —BUT I TOLD 'EM! SABLE—I HAD TO DO MY DUTY!

HOT-ROD PASSED ME—ZIGGED IN AN' OUT OF TRAFFIC— AN' PASSED CARS GOIN' UP A HILL!

I UNDERSTAND, TIMBER, I KNOW IT WAS YOUR DUTY TO TELL!

SABLE, YOU AND TIMBER CAN SEE HOT-ROD NOW!

HELLO, SIS AND TIMBER! —SEE, I'M GLAD TO SEE YOU! MAYBE YOU-ALL WILL TELL ME—

—WHAT HAPPENED? WHY AM I HERE? NOBODY HAS TOLD ME ONE THING!

YOU HAD AN ACCIDENT, HOT-ROD, BUT WE'LL TELL YOU THE DETAILS WHEN YOU'RE STRONGER!

NO! TELL ME NOW— SOMETHING'S WRONG! —AWFUL WRONG! I JUST KNOW IT! WHY IS THAT COP BY MY DOOR?

TELL HIM, SABLE! HE'S STRONG ENOUGH NOW! HE'LL HAVE TO KNOW SOONER OR LATER!

ZACK MOSLEY 5/7

—YOU'RE UNDER ARREST AND YOU'RE GOING TO BE PROSECUTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER!

BACK HOME IN SAGE FLAT AFTER HAVING A "GO" AT THE BENGALS IN INDIA...

ALLEY! MY STARS, WE EXPECTED YOU BY PLANE!

A BRAND NEW CAR! HOW COME?

AW, I HAD A FUSS WITH THE AIRLINES ABOUT MY LITTLE "TAGGER", SO I WENT OUT AN' BOUGHT IT!

A BABY TIGER! OH, ISN'T HE CUTE!

HE SURE IS-- BUT HE COULDN'T HAVE WALKED HERE FROM SAN FRANCISCO!

WELL, NO MATTER HOW YOU GOT HERE, WE'RE MIGHTY GLAD YOU'RE BACK!

WHAT'S ALL THIS ABOUT OSCAR BEIN' SICK?

I GUESS THE SHOCK OF LEARNING THE GRAND WIZER'S BEADS WOULDN'T FINANCE HIS ROCKET JUST LAID HIM OUT!

SNIFF SNIFF

GOSH! AN' HE THOUGHT THEY'D BE WORTH MILLIONS!

YEP, BUT I THINK ALL HE NEEDS IS...

SOMETHING TO SNAP HIM OUT OF IT!

GHAA

Y'MEAN HE'S REAL? I'M NOT JUST SEEING THINGS?

COURSE NOT! THIS IS "TAGGER", MY PET BABY TIGER!

BUT LOOK... I THOUGHT YOU WERE SICK?

ME SICK? WITH A ROCKET SHIP TO BE BUILT? HAW! RIDICULOUS! I FEEL FINE!

THE BOSS JUST CAUGHT ANOTHER SABOTEUR, BOYS! HE SAID FOR EVERYBODY TO GET OFF THE JOB TILL I CHECK EVERTHING FOR SAFETY!

OKAY, MISTER! WE'RE ON OUR WAY!

CRASH!

WHAT--? HELP!

MY PAL! READY TO KILL ME TO SAVE HIS OWN HIDE, AND HE KILLED HIMSELF!

LATER--

WELL, EASY, I'VE STILL GOT TO BUILD A BRIDGE, AND MY FOREMAN SKIDROW'S IN JAIL. WANT A JOB?

NOT MY LINE! BESIDES I'M GETTING HOMESICK! BACK TO THE STATES ON THE NEXT PLANE FOR ME!

IN THE TOWN OF HALFSHOD, HIDDEN IN THE HILLS OF THE WEST...

I PREFER YOUR JOB TO MINE, MAJOR! I'D RATHER BEAT RUGS ANY TIME THAN SHOP FOR GROCERIES -- I HATE IT!

EGAD, DUNCAN! YOU DON'T SAY! WHY DON'T YOU REBEL?

YOU GOT SOMETHING THERE!

AS A NATION WE ARE PERFECTING THE H-BOMB TO PROTECT OUR PREROGATIVES FROM DICTATORIAL ENCROACH-MENT!

THAT BOMB IS A GREAT THING!

SO WE MUST GUARD OUR RIGHTS AS INDIVIDUALS! -- EGAD! WE MUST ASSERT OURSELVES -- BE BOLD AND UNCOMPROMISING!

WONDER-FUL IDEA. ALL RIGHT!

MY WORD! HELLO THERE, SNUFFY!

HI, BOYS! I'M BOUND FOR MOOGAN'S POND -- COME ON, WE'LL HOOK A FISH DINNER!

HOW ABOUT YOU, MAJOR?

UM! WELL, I -- THAT IS, ER, PERHAPS I'D -- HAK-KAFF!

EGAD, BOYS, NOT TODAY! I'VE BEEN ANXIOUS TO GET AT THESE RUGS FOR WEEKS! -- SOME OTHER TIME!

OKAY, MAJOR! WE'LL BE SEEING YOU!

SO LONG!

GOOD GRIEF, MAMIE! EVERY TIME A BODY WALKS OVER THIS RUG THEY RAISE A CLOUD OF DUST LIKE A COVERED WAGON CROSSING THE PRAIRIE.

NO NEED TO CALL TH' CLEANERS, LADY? I CAN GET IT CLEANED HERE AT HOME CHEAPER.

WILL-YAM!

OFFICER! STOP THAT MAN!

HALT!

WHAT'S YOUR GAME, BUD?

I AIN'T GOT THE SLIGHTEST IDEA. THE LITTLE WOMAN THROWED SOMETHING AT ME AND YELLED, "BEAT IT!" AND HER WORD IS LAW.

I'LL GO TWIT HIM A BIT AND MAKE HIM GOOD AND MAD. THEN WILLIE WILL PUT SOME SPIRIT IN HIS WORK.

WILLIE, I PHONED YOUR FRIENDS YOU'VE WENT INTO TH' CLEANING BUSINESS AND THEY'RE ALL COMING OVER TO COLLECT TH' MONEY YOU OWE THEM.

YOU DID?

I DID!

OW! TH' HOUND HIT ME!

I GUESS THAT LEARNED MAMIE A LESSON, KAYO.

OH-OH! NOW IT LOOKS LIKE SHE'S GOIN' TO LEARN YOU ONE.

NOW, THAT'S THE WAY I LIKE TO HEAR A BODY BEAT A RUG

BUT MAMIE AIN'T BEATIN' TH' RUG.

OH, MIN! SIGNS OF SPRING! HERE COMES OLD MAN MOOCH!

DON'T TELL ME··· LET ME GUESS··· HE'S COMING TO BORROW OUR LAWN MOWER·· AGAIN····

NOT BAD, ANDY···

I SEE YOU'RE USING YOUR LAWN MOWER··

BEEN AT IT LONG, ANDY?

NO··· I JUST BEGAN AS YOU CAME UP THE STREET···

IN THAT CASE, YOU'LL BE USING THE MOWER ALL AFTERNOON··

THAT'S RIGHT, MR. MOOCH··

GOOD··THEN YOU WON'T MIND LENDING ME YOUR GOLF CLUBS··· I'LL RETURN 'EM TOMORROW!

GRUM LOOSES THE ANCHOR OF CAPT. SLYE'S YACHT, SO IT WILL DRIFT ONTO THE NEAR-BY REEF.

ON THE YACHT'S DECK:

DON'T THREATEN JIM, CAPT. SLYE. REMEMBER, I CHARTERED THIS YACHT.

I'M BOSS AT SEA, MISS CLAIR. YOU'LL BE SURPRISED WHAT THIS CHARTER WILL COST YOU.

TAKE IT EASY, CLAIR. THEY'D SHOOT.

BRIGHT BOY, JIM..... PUNCHY, LOCK HIM UP.

BUT GRUM HAS FOULED THE YACHT'S PROPELLERS BEFORE SWIMMING BACK TO HIS SCHOONER. HE WATCHES WITH A GRIM SMILE AS THE YACHT DRIFTS HELPLESSLY TOWARD THE REEF.

THE YAC T'S BREAKING UP! THAT'LL TEACH SLYE AND HIS CROWD NOT TO BUTT IN ON MY TREASURE HUNT.

SIT DOWN, CLAIR. WE'RE GETTING OUT OF HERE. I'VE LOST MY YACHT, BUT YOUR RANSOM MONEY WILL PAY ME BACK-- BUT GOOD!

I CAN'T SWIM!

I'LL GET YOU TO SHORE, PIX.
